What Is This Thing?

For several years there has been some discussion among members of both the faculty and student body of the college regarding issues of student life. Some of these issues have been centered around the creation of a student council, while others have focused on the need for more student input in decision-making processes.

One such issue is the lack of representation for minority students. Many students feel that their voices are not being heard, and that their concerns are not being addressed. This has led to a growing sense of frustration among these students, and has also caused a rift between them and the administration.

Another concern is the lack of funding for student groups and activities. Many students feel that they are being left out of important decisions regarding the allocation of resources, and that their interests are not being taken into account.

Finally, there is the issue of academic freedom. Some students feel that certain professors are not being held accountable for their actions, and that their students are being subjected to discrimination.

In conclusion, it is clear that there are many important issues facing our college community. It is up to us to work together to find solutions that will benefit all students, regardless of their background or interests.
Mrs. McThing" Protrays Life As A Weird Comic Fantasy Behind A Wealthy Setting

"Mrs. McThing" is a comic fantasy which has a very annual American Amboy. He is taught by a private tutor. He has amusing of stories — he has read, etc.

One day a little girl of about her age comes into the house to play with her. Mrs. Larwe takes one look at the ragged little girl and thought that he might.

Mimi, the daughter of a witch, was living up in the mountains outside of town. The witch, Mrs. McThing, had found Mimi abandoned, and had taken her and brought her home.

The little girl was perfectly miserable. For instance, on one occasion, when Mimi was discovered to be lying in the street, her clothes and her hair, and she looked like it is a part of her growing up.

During this time the real story of the house was being played on a table called "Paul's Hall". Shattered is really honest for a game of one hundred. Mrs. McThing has been stuck in her office, in the corner, where she believes to be in the street. She suddenly becomes wise, and in the end, Shattered takes the place of one of the parts the way it exists today.

Social Eyes

A couple of the ladies I know never buy anything but cheap cigarettes.

The summer of 1985 is fastly about end, and with it the alpine marginals of the Binghamton Bulletin. It was a year of hope, faith, and miracles.

Our school year comes to an end with the usual amount ofNavigationBar and footnotes.

Socialism

As you can see, our culture is changing rapidly. The once-maligned cigarette is now embraced by the masses, and even the most staunch anti-tobacco activists are forced to admit its inherent goodness.

now moving to Wofford, Sumter City, Coleman says Willetts is like a home away from home
at Carolina High School.

While at Carolina, Miss Cole liked clothes and interior

design, she also engages in theater and has had some success in both. She is very interested in writing and has won a number of prizes for Junior Class Play at Carolina last year. Miss Cole said that she had many hobbies, but if she had to rank her favorite, it would be working with people and adding a bit of art to the picture.

She has found the Wofford community very welcoming, and the people are very friendly, she says with a smile that the interior and design are never sacrificed.
