EVALUATE LAST YEAR'S WORK

Committees to Consider Rules on Rides, Light Cuts, and Week-Ends

Members of the Senate met Saturday, September 26, to evaluate the eighteen rules and resolutions which they enacted last year.

Rules providing most discussion during the evaluation were those concerning light-cuts, week-end leaves of absence, and riding to and from town.

The group voted to refer these rules to committees appointed by the President of the Senate. These committees will consider the rules, and try to formulate some solution to present before the Senate at its next meeting in November.

The committee appointed to consider rides is composed of Virginia McKelhen, chairman, Treva Driggers, Louise Elgish, Elizabeth Kelly, Marsha Moore, and Dr. Jurell, faculty adviser.

On light cuts, the committee is composed of chairman, Mary O'Neill, Anne Pruitt, Rose Rüdnick, and Virginia Walker.

CLUB DISCUSSES SPANISH REVOLT

Peach Kirkland Wins After Dinner Contest

"Resolved: That the United States should support the loyalist government in Spain," was the query discussed at Debaters' League meeting in Clio Hall, Wednesday afternoon, September 30, at 4:30.

Peach Kirkland was the winner of the after-dinner contest held in connection with the meeting.

Topics of the contest were songs from the Hit-of-the-Week Parade. The speakers and their subjects were: Marsha Jo Jones, "I'm an Old Cowhand"; Marie Jo Jones, "The Moon"; Jean Sellers, "The Regrets"; Monica Meigs, "Ode to the Real Thing Comes Along"; and Peach Kirkland, "These Foolish Things Remind Me of You."

Orchestra Gets Start By Playing At Silent Pictures

Winthrop's College Orchestra will this year observe its twenty-seventh birthday. Quite differently from the orchestra as we know it today—with its strings, percussion, and brass and wood-wind instruments—from what it was in the early days of its history. During those early days when first organized by Mrs. Sidney Adams, of Rock Hill, the orchestra was composed only of violins and piano.

Mrs. Adams, a private violin teacher of the city, had been asked by the college to give two afternoons a week to instructing five students who wished to study violin, but could not because the college had no violin teacher. When Mrs. Adams agreed to teach, she found there were nine instead of five who wished to study with her. With these nine violin students at a nucleus, Mrs. Adams organized the Winthrop College Orchestra.

JUNIORS ELECT REPRESENTATIVE

M. E. Martin of St. Matthews to Be Member of Athletic Board

M. E. Martin, of St. Matthews, was elected athletic representative of the Junior Class at a meeting Wednesday, September 29. He was on the varsity baseball team for two years, on the basketball team for two years, and on the hockey squad last year. He is a member of the Phi Delta Theta Social Club and member for the Forestry and Scouting.

Freshman Class Elects Representative

Edith Geary, of Greenville, was elected to represent the Freshman Class on the Athletic Association board at a meeting of the class held Thursday night, September 29, in Main Auditorium, at 8:30. The class then selected the user as its mascot. During her four years at Greenville High School, Edith represented four track letters for participation in volleyball, basketball, basketball, and track. Edith served as vice-president of the Athletic Association and president of the Athletic Club her junior year. During her senior year, Edith was president of the Athletic Association. She was also a member of the Athletic Committee in charge of all games. Edith was president of the Girl Reserve, and advertising manager of the school annual her senior year. Edith also served as a counselor at the Y. W. C. A. Camp Bureau, at Cedar Mountain, North Carolina.

Featured Facts

National honorary fraternities are particularly busy at present sending out bids to students with high qualifications. The question of the value of these fraternities is, consequently, being raised at many colleges. Are the national organizations so much greater service than local groups that they justify the extreme distinction in membership fee?

Someone has got into the habit of appropriating new magazines placed in Johnson Hall. The Y. W. C. A., which supplies the magazines, is greatly distressed.

When high school students are bored by the teacher, they grow restless and noisy; college students freeze up and stare into space. The former reaction does cause the teacher to change the subject.

Even in 1936 freshmen will over their weekly chores. Is this an annual affair at all colleges?

The walls of the third floor and tower rooms of Main Building afford a review of girls who have been at Winthrop for many years past. All of the walls are decorated thickly with names of students who have wandered through the unused rooms.

The "temper of the times" is clearly evident at Winthrop. A short while ago, girls bragged about how little they studied; this year they seem to "stud" in telling how hard they study.

FACULTY HOLDS SOCIAL MEETING

Program Carries Out Japanese Motif—Dr. Phelps Speaks

Combining the professional and the social, the Winthrop faculty held its first regular meeting Thursday evening, at Johnson Hall. It was the first of the series of professional-social faculty meetings announced by President Phelps at the beginning of the present session.

The lobby was decorated with Japanese lanterns, flags, and parasols. Japanese incense burned, creating a foreign atmosphere.

Dr. Phelps spoke briefly, opening the meeting. Then Miss supervisors, dressed in a Japanese costume, which she brought from Japan this summer, spoke on Japan as a country expressing both beauty and efficiency.

Miss Constance Wardle sang two selections, "A Song from Kiso," a Japanese folk song, and "Un bel di vedremo," the aria from Madame Butterfly, by Puccini. Mr. Roberts played on the organ "Sovereign Reign," the national anthem of Japan.

Tea which Miss Mims brought from Japan was served with cakes and red milks.

Elementary Ed. Club Gives Party

Approximately one hundred members of the Elementary Education Club and Training School supervisors were guests at a garden party, given by the club, from 6:30 to 7:00 o'clock, Tuesday, September 29, at the home of Misses Sallie Goggin and Dennis Lockard.

The guests were met at the gate by a member of the social committee who let each guest choose a fortune from a punchbowl Fortune Teller.

Throughout the half-hour, Ann Thompson played piano selections. Punch was served from a table in the center of the garden.

The social committee of the club is composed of Coriella DeChamps, chairman, "Deek" Usher, Mildred Pace, Martha Abernathy, Edna Adams, Elizabeth McCollum, and Ruth Betts.

YOUNG DEMS ADMIT MEMBERS

Programs Will Feature Outside Speakers and Informal Debates

Thirty-four students were accepted as members of the Young Democrats at a meeting of the club in Winthrop Literary Society room of Johnson Hall, at five o'clock. Lou Knight, president of the organization, explained the purpose and history of the Young Democrat club and discussed plans for the coming year.

Meetings are to be informal and top-of-year debates are in service as programs. Outside speakers are to be invited to each meeting to be held the second Thursday in every month in the Winthrop Literary Society Room of Johnson Hall. A social meeting is to be held once monthly. Three dances are to be given during the coming year, the first of the series being a Thanksgiving Hop.

A delegation from Young Democrats is to be sent to Columbia soon to visit the legislature while in session, and the home of the governor.

Miss Mary Calvert, sociology director, has been chosen sponsor for the coming year.

ALPHA PSI ZETA NAMES OFFICERS

Carolyn Estes and Ruth Betts Are Vice-President and Treasurer

Carolyn Estes, senior, of Winthrop, and Ruth Betts, senior, of Marion, were elected vice-president and treasurer, respectively, of Alpha Psi Zeta, psychology fraternity, at a meeting Thursday, September 24, at the home of Annie Row Clawson.

The list of officers is now complete. The president, Miss Rose Clawson, and the secretary, Kathryn Faria, having been elected last spring.

GIRLS IN SOUTH HAND RADIOS IN

Group Demonstrates That Student Cooperation is Possible

Radios, forbidden in the students' rooms, were voluntarily turned in by their owners in South dormitory Wednesday night after a house meeting which led up to this spontaneous action of the group.

The decision to make the unprecedented move was the result of the opinion among the girls that the administration would be influenced by an act of group cooperation. They felt that the voluntary surrender of their radios, long prohibited in the rooms, would demonstrate their willingness and ability to act together in a matter which affected the group.

Girls who live in South have been asked to a high pitch of enthusiasm by the course they have taken. They hope that other dormitories will follow the example set by South, in order that such a test of group action may be college-wide, and therefore more nearly indicative of the general feeling of the student body.

Daring Snake Meets Death By Broom

A snake wandered Monday night through the halls of North Dormitory on a brief trip of exploration—until it met three girls. The report is that the snake acted heroically in the fray. He bore with stoic calm the strikes of the young women; he attempted to glide nonchalantly away when he saw the cruel weapons he must encounter—three brooms; he even struggled against the walls which confined him. At last, though, he died—a victim of three heartless Winthropians.

Education Club Elects Officers

Helene Pfiffer, Fannie Louise Wilson, Annie Margaret Graves, and Coriella DeChamps were elected vice-president, recording secretary, corresponding secretary, and treasurer, respectively, of the Elementary Education Club at a meeting in Johnson Hall, Thursday afternoon, September 29.

Gladys Guyton, president of the club, formally received twenty-five new members into the club and chairman of the various committees made report.

GIFT OF SEMINARY

Dr. John McSwain and Mayor Carothers of Rock Hill Speak

In a mid-afternoon service in Winthrop's Amphitheater, Dr. John McSwain, representing the Columbia Presbyterian Theological Seminary, introduced to President Shelton Phelps the chapel which is Winthrop College's birthplace.

Mrs. John Harrove, President of the Alumnae Association, presided at the exercises held Tuesday, September 29.

Following the invocation by Dr. J. W. Shackford, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church, Dr. Shelton Phelps expressed appreciation to the Columbia Theological Seminary for the gift of Winthrop's birthplace. He stated that "the building" will be rebuilt on the campus and it will be dedicated and re-consecrated to the ideals which are synonymous with the word of Winthrop. "The daughters of Winthrop and those privileged to serve them," he said, "will cherish, and will protect this memorial of their college's birth so long as life lasts."

In responding, the Honorable Erwin Carothers, Mayor of Rock Hill, paid tribute to Winthrop's founder, Dr. D. B. Johnson. He named the many visions that had been realized into worthwhile things through the untiring efforts of Winthrop's founder. He also expressed the pleasure that Rock Hill felt in being able to

COMMITTEE ISSUES RULES

October 13 Is Only Day on Which Social Clubs May Rush

Standards Committee established rules for social club rushing at a meeting Friday night in Johnson Hall. The rules for 1936-37 are as follows:

1. Date cards must be placed in the hands of Liane Walker Ockelford, secretary of Standards Committee, by 10:30 on Sunday night, October 11.

2. Date cards will be put up to the post office by members of Standards Committee by 12:30 on Monday, October 12.

3. All rushing acts to return date cards, including letters to the club presidents by six o'clock Monday night.

4. Rushing begins and ends Tuesday, October 13. Dates to appear on (Continued on Page Four)

Meet "Budget", Guardian Of Johnsonian Copy

Formerly an equestrian and clubman, Dave Miller is now interested primarily in work pertaining to literature. "Budget," as he is familiarly known around the Johnsonian office, has without so much as a high school education, attained the position as the only copy on the staff of our college publication.

More than that, he has made himself indispensable to The Johnsonian. For seventeen years he has worked for the Record Printing Company, the company which has been arduous him from time immemorial to get "the copy" for which he asks in his quiet, soft-spoken voice.

Prior to his position as handyman to Mr. Brooks, he spent his time and interest on race horses, a job which, naturally, took him to such sport centers as Atham and Clarendon. Once he even went to the Rocky Mountains. When asked if he liked to go up North as far as

New York, he replied, "Only for a short visit." He also mentioned that his former work had no attraction for him any longer and that his sole ambition in life is to work for Mr. Brooks.

Since his resignation and withdrawal from all clubs and organizations, save the "spirit Courier," he has much time to spend on religious activities and the education of his seven children, all of whom now go to school.

"Budget," who is slightly more than five feet four inches tall and weighs 135 pounds, has a mustache, eyes that are light blue, and refined tastes—prefers cigars to mentos, pipe and cigars to cigarettes, quiet, modest living, to extravagance. Says he, "I like to eat, to sit in a chair, to like to have, to be liked."

When asked how he liked granting interviews, "Budget" smiled and answered, "I like it." And that's the way we rest our copy after that number, from Blackstock, who has made his home among us in Rock Hill.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1938

FROM US, THE STUDENTS

To the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of South Carolina—particularly our friends, Dr. John McSwain, Dr. F. W. Gregg, Mr. J. H. Marion, Jr., and Mr. J. B. Carter—and to the board of directors of the Columbia Theological Seminary, we, the students, wish to express our thanks for the gift of the chapel which is the birthplace of Winthrop College.

We are grateful also for the privilege of moving that chapel from Columbia to our campus here in Rock Hill.

This chapel, of which we have often heard in accounts of Winthrop's history, will no longer be just an abstract mental picture for us. Now, it will be an actual part of our institution which had its beginning in Columbia.

We feel that we could have no more fitting tribute to Dr. D. H. Johnson than the reconstruction of this chapel as a shrine to his memory. It was in that very building that he brought to life his dream to educate the women of South Carolina.

Again, to the Synod of South Carolina and to the Seminary's board of directors, we say, "We thank you"

WHAT'S QUIET ABOUT IT?

Do we have a quiet hour at Winthrop? It is true that two hours and fifty minutes are set aside each school night for a study period. Too often, however, we forget that this period has been designated as quiet hour.

We change the furniture in our room, put up new pictures, practice the latest dog, and utterly ignore the fact that the girls below us may be studying for an important quiz.

In the halls we joyfully hail our friends and shout greetings from one end of the hall to the other. We congregate in the halls in groups to hear choice bits of gossip. We simply forget that in most of the rooms on the hall, girls are studying in order to pass.

Quiet hour is not an arbitrary regulation imposed on us. Quiet hour, like every reasonable regulation, has grown out of a need—the need of a period in each day relatively free from disturbance, a period in which we may study.

Many girls on the campus work during the afternoons. Others use the afternoons for recreation. Quiet hour is the only time these girls have to study.

Let us, therefore, make our study period a true quiet hour.

THEY CAN

When the girls in South handed in their radios Wednesday night, they demonstrated clearly two things: Winthrop girls can take the initiative and they can cooperate.

Too often we become afflicted with the idea that the student are incapable of working as a group for some commonly desired end; we feel, perhaps, that all suggestions, all plans, come from some source other than the student body. Here, though, is a group which is a cross-section of Winthrop's girls. This group met, discussed, and acted volitionally.

Winthrop girls can do it!

THE SENIORS OBJECT

How often do you see a student slowly and majestically ascend the front steps of Main Building? Not often, we fear. And yet it is only to such treatment that the front steps of Main Building should be subjected. For they are the Senior Steps.

Since the dedication of the stairs to the Senior Class, the two hundred and fifty seniors have tried to guard jealously their monopoly on them. Now, however, they find that juniors, sophomores, and sometimes, even freshmen, are tripping up and down steps liberally presented to the seniors. The seniors resent such liberties. There are not many deferences of this sort paid to seniors at Winthrop, and those that are accepted should be observed with good grace—or they lose their effectiveness.

Let the seniors use their steps in solitary glory. Some day you'll want to do the same.

ONLY YESTERDAY . . .

Thirty years ago at Winthrop: Students were not permitted to leave the grounds oftener than once in two weeks, and then only when accompanied by teachers, except to attend church on Sunday.

Parents were requested not to send boxes of eatables, except fruit, to their daughters, as such boxes were "productive of excess, sickness, and loss of time."

All juniors were required to take courses in cooking.

Winthrop Day By Day

Struggle while thinking! To solve problems, make confessions or, in short, find a solace amid great strife, try a turn on back campus. For riding time before supper, Oakland avenue serves nicely. For immediate mailing, circle Cherry Park a couple times.

Name enigma: "Missis" Fuller has three brothers—two of them are named "Cavin," two have the middle name "Phillips," and her name is Caroline Phillips Fuller. They are not family names, or rather, were not. Laveria Ellery's "Lava" is a combination of the initial letter in the names of five of her suitors—the change they are the five pre-ent names she's ever heard—and I dare not argue the point.

Mrs. McEride never has a chicken cut to include the "polly book"—this she does to avoid scrambling over the mail to get her about two firm McAlpine we sent mailing out five copies of last week's "Johnsonian." Remembering her answer to why she came to College, as it appeared in that issue (namely "to make a better wife for my future husband"), we're inclined to think she's taking advantage of a little free advertising.

Monasmy: Senior whose appearance has changed least since her sophomore year is Mary Coy. C. Freeman wrote home that registration at Winthrop is a career. She stated further that she "weighed" at the end of the line for hours—no, certainly not as otherwise I guess she didn't miss it far.

Worst adding agency: Instructors who dictate notes including "rhythm," "xyphi," "lychra," or some other such spelling too papers.—Promotion to Freshman for some Miss.—From Pulp to Paper.

Seniors... On the Warp

Open warfare has been declared. The Senior Class of '38 has sounded its battle cry now—and for a just and righteous cause: do they cannot show their militant fervor. The honor and dignity of their group has been violated.

The scene of battle centers around the front steps of Main Building. This place of prestige, visited to them by the Class of '36, has been handed down from generation to generation, and is wholly their, for their own sakes. Some desperate souls, seeking imperial power, in the face of certain death (suicidal to all transgressors), have dared taste of this forbidden fruit.

The fight is on—Seniors have been appointed to stand guard at all times. To any underclassman, woman or child, seen on, by, or approaching these steps (for emphasis, we repeat the front steps leading into Main Building), will be taken before the Court of Seniors for the safeguarding of Senior privileges, and due punishment will be dealt to each transgressor.

This prohibition has been approved by college authorities and is backed by the Spirit of '38. The Senior class is ready to raise the flag of Trans and engage availed signs of arbitration on the part of underclassmen.

Thank you for your kind attention and may you be reminded that the Seniors expect the hearty cooperation of each of you, in keeping inviolable their sacred trust—the Senior Steps.

THE SENIOR CLASS.

SCIENCE HALL

With the faith of Columbus and the spirit of an out-of-uniform freshman facing Mrs. May Miller Gibson, I went exploring the other day.

A sophomore suddenly conceal her ignorance, especially from freshmen, not being the possession of a pointer stick. I decided to allow hitherto unknown parts of the campus to make my acquaintance. My ulterior motive is the prevention of my further embarrassment when encountered by lost freshmen inquiring the whereabouts of so and so.

My first adventure occurred here nearly to the edge of Science Hall. The mediator of climbing numerous steps for as a time as I was unaware of being above third floor until I heard a thud, and felt a vibration and looked up to perceive a

Books In Brief

Teachers' choice of "best books read during the summer" do not differ greatly from those of the students. A few were mentioned: "Social Foundations of Education," by Counts, and a book on forestry; and favorite were "The Last Puritan," "North to the Orient," "I Have Four Apples," and Robert Frost's new book "The Ruben R. JUST LINES

Dear Mother, "Rubbing" is about the most exciting and the most popular activity at Winthrop. We freshmen are beginning to feel that we're more than just last year's high school seniors (as one sophomore so kindly put it). We're asked to one party after another, invited on walks around the campus, walks to classes, and walks to the student center. We're taken to town, to the picture show, and to the shack. About the only hitch I can find is that I can't tell which club is asking me to stay. But all is not gold that glitters, and soon shall come the day of reckoning and all the other bris saying that will fit the occasion—initiation is just around the corner of every little bit and I'm sure those corners are not like Mr. Hoover's. I think the training of my voice was all in vain. Last week a number of us school-apprised freshmen gathered in a room and practiced singing our class song and our Alma Mater. At the completion of our—shall I say concert?—we marched out into the hall, expecting to be met with admiring glances. Instead, the secretary was absolutely deafened! That's the power in our singing!

About The Gym

Numerous shades and patterns of shorts, slacks, and calottes being reported by gym suits—end you freshmen? ... Mary Ferguson and Oina Legare taking tennis rackets to recreational sports class to play deck tennis! Might be excusable for freshmen—but seniors! ... Swimming parties every Saturday night.

Rose Buchnick taking a running dive down the stairs so that the sore muscles resulting from use in natural dancing will all hurt at the same time rather than the usual slow rippling ache. ... Barney Houser wondering how long 'till he be before every muscle will be worked on and jammed becomes natural to extent of being unnoticeable.

Kathryn Kelley—South Carolina's only Olympic star who placed on the American women's track team—is the sister of our own Ena Kelly!

Knows why the senior hockey enthusiasts are smiling? Ruth Sturlys—varnish fullback her freshman year who has been out of the game is back this fall. ... And "Lalita" Hill has decided to join the senior cohorts and learn the game. ... Juniors are at it again—expect to walk away changed—but they'll have plenty of competition. Predictions out of order—lines alone will tell.

One-Minute Interview

Lilla Bush, senior, was bombarded with three questions for our interview of the week. What do you think of the social life at Winthrop? There's not enough formal social life. What would you suggest to remedy the situation? More student participation in various organizations. Do you think formal dinners, requiring a certain amount of dress, advisable? A formal dinner once a week might not be bad. More than that dress for dinner, though, I think formal dress for Arts Course numbers would be a grand idea.

"Ann of Green Gables" Stars Shirley, Brown

"Anne of Green Gables," starring Anne Shirley and Tom Brown, will be presented in Main Auditorium, Saturday night, October 4, at 7:30. The story revolves around Anne Shirley, who is adopted by a middle-aged brother and sister (O. P. Hagg and Helen Westler), through a slip-up on the part of orphanage officials. The couple had ordered a boy, and received an awkward, red-haired, and freckled little girl. The emotional punch centers on whether the youngsters, whose mind eternally carries her into worlds of fantastic Utopia, will take root in the heart of hard-boiled Miss Westler, or not.

She finally does. Then follows a series of kid scrapes brought on by hearty remonstrance against uncomplimentary country gossip of the neighbors. Childhood romance blooms between herself and Tom Brown, son of the man who stole her. Don't miss this popular show. It is the time-honored "ugly duckling" theme with all the garishness!

It is very comforting to be able to say that if somebody does not agree with you, there must be something the matter with his glands—Prof. H. J. Morris, M. V. Medical School.

ALUMNAE CONDUCT EXERCISES FOR REMOVAL OF CHAPEL

aid in the removal of the chapel.

The Reverend Mr. John McSwain, representing Councils Presbyterian Theological Seminary, expressed the pleasure with which the shrine was presented to Winthrop. He pointed out the fact that the founder of Winthrop is a hero of the nation, and that he would live forever in the memory of those who have been and those who will be influenced by Winthrop students. In concluding, Mr. McSwain stated that the persistence of Miss Lella Russell, Alumnae Secretary, had made that memorable day come to pass.

Following Dr. McSwain's response, the exercises were concluded with the singing of "America the Beautiful," and the benediction by Dr. P. W. Gregg, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Rock Hill.
