THE OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE STUDENT BODY OF WINTHROP COLLEGE

VOL. 14, NO. 5

ROCK HILL, SOUTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1936

SUBSCRIPTION, $1.00 A YEAR

Featured Facts

One day of formal club rushing tested the originality of upperclassmen considerably. A great variety of entertainments, however, resulted from the effort to put forward the best foot.

National politics seems to bother Winthrop girls very little. We have seen one London button; outside of clubs and classes, though, we have heard no comment about the presidential election.

Each year members of the graduating class assert that they will not come back to visit the college; they who were campus figures of importance the year before are looked upon as strangers when they return for visits after graduation. But each year they come back at least once.

When Tupper proofs start coming back a mighty wall goes up at the results. A confounding thought is that it is always a shock to see a picture of one's self, but after a little time spent in studying it, the realization comes that it's not as bad after all. Those who can't compare themselves after the picture has "grown" on them might remember that their most attractive features—personality—is seldom evident in photographs.

According to the last two speakers we've had at Winthrop—John Erdman and Danny Reed—there is no disputing one thing: Students get out of a college course what they manage to dig out of their teachers.

FORUM PLANS CARNIVAL PARTY

President of the Sophomore Forum Names Committee for Halloween Party

Sophomore Forum is planning a Halloween Carnival for the sophomore class on October 31, at 9:30, in Hoddy basement, according to Ann Tilghman, president of the group. Committees appointed for this affair are as follows:

Entertainment: Anne George, Elizabeth Edna Bell, and Ruth Benson.

Decoration: Judith Rogers, chairman; Margaret Tidmarsh, Charlotte Leinier, and Lois Baker.

Poster: Helen Callahan, chairman; Jean Sallers, and Anna Wilson.

Refreshments: Anne George, chairman; Mary Highaton, and Anne Frazer.

Program: Virginia Harmon, chairman; Ruth Addison, and Clara Matzen.

Miscellaneous: Anne Cox, chairman; Quince Hollings, Mary Elizabeth Green, and Margaret Moseley.

Anna Wilson has been elected secretary of the group. Mrs. Hampden Jarrell is the adviser of Sophomore Forum.

SOCIAL CLUBS PLEDGE GIRLS

Two Hundred and Thirteen Rushes Accept Bids to Membership

SHORT RUSH PERIOD

Initiation to Be Held at Beginning of Second Semester

Two hundred and thirteen girls have pledged social clubs after a period of rushing which ended on Tuesday, October 12. Formal rushing was in progress only the day before; students then signified their choice by accepting an invitation to a banquet. Formal initiation will be deferred until the early part of second semester, since there is a scholastic average requirement.

The list of pledges is as follows: Kappa Delta Phi—Beth Addison, Helen Connor, Mary Fife, Emma Morris, Winnie Taylor, Margaret Walsh, and Nancy Watts. Upsilon Tau Epsilon—Libby Talbert, Beatrice Rents, Julia Orice, and Margaret Stringfellow. Beta Alpha Delta—Marie Masters, Dorothy Phillips, Elizabeth Richardson, and Louise Coward. Sigma Omega Delta—Martha Orr, Virginia Lewis, Mary Johnson, Emily Jolly, and Jane Wright. Phi Sigma Kappa—Katherine Hanley, Ida Harriet Watson, Edna (Continued on Page Three)

Dual Phone System Causes Confusion

This business of having an inside and an outside phone system sometimes mixes things up considerably.

One of our students chanced to go to the Registrar's office to get an address of a last year's graduate. Upon being informed that the Registrar did not have it, she called Mr. Mitchell at Training School on the inside phone, to secure the address of her friend.

The introduction of a discussion on forming a Congress of Southern Youth will conclude the agenda.

The Model League Assembly was organized in the spring of 1929 as a part of the class of World Politics and Imperialism. It has as its purpose to encourage the study of world problems, to train students in public discussions, to get cultured students together on the basis of encouraging intellectual activities, to stimulate interest in world problems, to assist the History Department in its project of teaching students through group activities, and to bring Winthrop students into contact with students of nearby colleges.

While she was holding the receiver, waiting for Mr. Mitchell to look through his files, the outside phone in the Register's office rang. The caller was Mr. Mitchell himself, wishing to inquire the address from the Registrar.

Receiving no aid there, he referred his conversation with the student on the inside phone, and left her the address was not on his record!

Senior Forum Will Sponsor 'Opera Hour'

A Saturday afternoon "Opera Hour" in Johnson Hall will be sponsored by Senior Forum, according to Elizabeth Postor, of Greenville, president of that organization.

The social committee of the Y. W. C. A. will give light refreshments at these entertainments, to which everyone will be invited.

Mrs. J. H. Marion spoke to Senior Forum at its meeting Thursday, October 6, in Johnson Hall.

Supervisor

MR. THOMAS NOEL,
who is in charge of the Winthrop evening classes, which began this week.

MODEL LEAGUE TO CONVENE

Bobbie James, Chairman, Announces Agenda for Conclave

Bobbie James, chairman of the eighth annual Model League of Nations Assembly, has announced the temporary agenda for the conclave to be held here, December 11 and 12.

The temporary agenda includes an address on the European situation followed by a round table discussion on this subject; and discussions on "What can be done to strengthen the League?" and "What can be done to bring world peace?"

After these discussions, the South Carolina branch of the annual national branch of the Model League will be held.

MR. DANNY REED TALKS IN CHAPEL

Founder of Town Theatre Gives Brief History of His Work

"You are now getting fuel you will be able to use in later life," asserted Mr. Danny Reed, manager and founder of the Town Theatre in Columbia in assembly Wednesday October 14.

In his talk Mr. Reed emphasized the importance of women in directing community affairs, stressing especially cultural development. He insisted that Winthrop students realize the roles they would assume when they are graduated.

In speaking of the Town Theatre of Columbia, Mr. Reed told that it was the outgrowth of an idea of the Columbia business faculty, which was an important dramatic organization throughout the state.

He stated that while he was stationed at Camp Jackson during the war, Miss Martha Dwight, then society editor of The State, enlisted him in the promotion of a Town Theatre. Thus began that organization which is now a vital part of the cultural life in Columbia.

Mr. Reed, North, and Brewster, too, deserve credit in opening their doors to the homeless flock from the dim dark dormitories of South and Rodney.

To SPEAK AT VESPERS

Mr. S. J. L. Crouch, Presbyterian preacher from Clemson, will speak at Vespers Sunday, at 8:30, in Johnson Hall.

COLLEGE BEGINS EVENING CLASSES

Winthrop Senior's Teach Courses; N. Y. A. Finances Project

MR. NOEL SUPERVISES

Commerce, Music, and Physical Education Open to Night School Students

Women of Rock Hill and vicinity who desire instruction in voice, dancing, swimming, bookkeeping, typing, and shorthand, are offered the opportunity of attending the night school conducted by Winthrop College. Mr. Thomas W. Noel, professor of commercial science, and Miss Sadie Coppage, professor of education, of the college faculty, are in charge. Classes were begun Monday night, October 12.

No tuition is charged there, entrance to the night school, and no credit is given. Students of other schools are not allowed to attend. College finances are not involved in any way; nothing is paid the supervisors. The teachers, who are chosen from the student body, are paid through the N. Y. A.

Students teaching the classes are: swimming, Neil Jackson and Dee Bryan; dancing, Jessie Teague and Dee Bryan; voice, Sarah Agnes Johnson; bookkeeping and beginning typing, Marie Fletcher; swimming and intermediate typing and advanced shorthand, Mamie Heroday Davis; beginning and intermediate shorthand, William Reeves.

In speaking of this, the third annual night school at Winthrop, Mr. Noel said: "Leisure time spent lately may have great influence in later life toward both mental and financial profit." Mr. Noel has been handling evening classes for eighteen years, although he has been at Winthrop for only three years. He directed evening classes at Georgia Tech before coming here.

Excerpts From John Erskine

Excerpts from lecture on "Appreciation of Fine Art" given by John Erskine students, October 9:

"True art is knowledge that ends in performance."

"The Athenian Greeks learned the arts for the express purpose of performance."

"The Roman idea of culture was to be a man and a pairwise with a wife."

"Greek slaves were the sole persons who practiced the arts, or arts of service still exists about an artist."

"The way athletics is taught is prophetic of how everything should be taught."

EDUCATION CLUBS HEAR BARRON

Banker Speaks on Financing Public School Sys-

Advocating governmental support of education, Mr. John C. Barron, Rock Hill banker, asked in his speech to the Education Club, Thursday, October 9, "Will the government support and not replace?"

Mr. Barron stated that, in his opinion, the federal government should levy taxes on all states and require that the money be used for the public school system. Just as now the state levies taxes on every county and redistributes the money throughout the state.

He stated that while he was stationed at Camp Jackson during the war, Miss Martha Dwight, then society editor of The State, enlisted him in the promotion of a Town Theatre. Thus began that organization which is now a vital part of the cultural life in Columbia.

Mr. Barron, North, and Brewster, too, deserve credit in opening their doors to the homeless flock from the dim dark dormitories of South and Rodney.

Plans Discussed for Installation of National Fraternal

Impassable Roads Necessary Changing Retreat From Edge to Rocky Bottom

Impassable roads, due to rain, necessitated changing the annual Y. M. C. A. retreat, October 8-11, from Camp Adger to Camp Bowlin. Eighty Winthrop students and thirty-six staff representatives from twelve Carolinas colleges and universities.

The campuses that were represented are: Clemmons, Presbyterian College; Wofford, Erskine, Furman, Woman's College, Furman, Converse, Columbia College, Limestone, Newberry, and Winthrop.

Mrs. Neusner, president of the state-wide organization, presided at the meeting. New officers who were elected are: president, A. C. Payne; Clemmons vice-president; Mary Sutton, Spartanburg; and secretary, Rachel Johnson.

Features of the weekend included a hike Saturday afternoon and a camp fire Saturday night. The theme of the conference was "Making Christ Real."

Attending the conference from Winthrop were Mrs. W. C. Hodges, state president; Mrs. Edna Estelle, state secretary; Mary O'Dell; Elsie Plant, Elsie Atkinson, Evelyn Bruck, Virie Cross, Virginia Harmon, and Miss Elsa Wardlaw.

Plans were discussed for making Beta Alpha a national fraternity; and means of raising money to accomplish this purpose were considered.

Plans were discussed for making Beta Alpha a national fraternity; and means of raising money to accomplish this purpose were considered.

On October 16 and 17, attending the meeting were Dr. Helen G. Macdonald, state chairman of the committee on international relations of the A. A. U. W., who spoke on the Herald-Tribune Forum which recently attended in New York, at a state meeting of the American Association of University Women to be held in Charleston, Friday and Saturday, October 16 and 17.

Attending the meeting are Dr. Helen K. Bussell, Miss Lola Black, Mrs. James P. Kinard, Miss Margaret Gregg, Dr. Eloise Green, and Mrs. Kate Glenn Hardin, representatives of the Rock Hill chapter of A. A. U. W.; Mrs. R. E. Basa, president of the local chapter; Dr. Edward McCall, state chairman of the committee on fellowship; and Miss Mary E. Preyer, state chairman of committees on legislation.

At an International luncheon, Saturday, Dr. Elizabeth Johnson will introduce Dr. Sylva, speaker of the Committee on Fellowships, and Dr. Helen G. Macdonald will introduce Dr. Lucille Delano, speaker of the Committee on International Relations.

Dr. Roberta McCall, general director of A. A. U. W. headquarters in Washington will be the chief speaker at the state meeting.

Miss Laura E. Ebrough, professor of sociology at Greenville Woman's College and Furman University, is state president of the A. A. U. W.

To the former rushes, of days not thumb-scarred them for you. Your faults were overlooked and your virtues magnified.

But now you're sent in your bids. All of the clubs rushing you, have selected one. The others are withdrawing from the picture and some yet—now that your club feels more at home with them, and the need of devoting to you all their time, began to crop up to an awful let down.

But what a relief for us who have town, the upperclassmen trained had to do the rushing!

WE APOLOGIZE

The Johnsonian restrains the hand which was so generally dealing out pats on the back last week.

There seems to be an opinion that we took too much for granted—that the Literary Societies have not, after all, decided to allow the marshal election to be taken out of their hands. When we reviewed the facts—that each society had voted to abandon control of the selection in favor of some plan which it approved—we considered the action a vote to give over control. We realize, however, that the final step has not been taken. If we, by our news account and editorial, gave the impression that it had, we are sincerely sorry.

The Johnsonian attempts to present news impartially and interpret it correctly. If there is a feeling, even among a few of our readers, that we have not done so, we have failed.

This time accept our apologies.

KEEP TO THE RIGHT

Ten-thirty in the morning: the bell rings for second period classes to end, and immediately the daily stampede to the post office begins. Utter confusion reigns in the corridor unless the hostess of the Main Building is there to avert it—unless she is there to tell us time and again to enter by the back door and to leave by the front door.

Utter confusion reigns also inside the post office itself. Those of us who wish to wait for the mail idly stand about, causing, at times, so dense a crowd that it is almost impossible to get through. And such congestion is entirely unnecessary, for there is ample space in front of or behind the post office where we may wait just as well as inside.

Then after the mad rush is over, the post office looks as if utter confusion has reigned throughout. The floor is littered with all sorts of scrap paper or notices that have been left ready.

All this tumult and disorder we have. Yet, we might very easily maintain orderliness by keeping to the right down the corridor, by entering at the back door, by leaving immediately through the front door, by utilizing the waste-basket, if necessary, on our way out, and by keeping to the right up the corridor.

It's worth trying.

WHAT KIND OF GOVERNMENT?

When we ask for a privilege the question often arises: Does Winthrop have individual student government, or does it have government by a board?

"Too many students are unwilling to assume responsibility for enforcing the rules and regulations. The board member and her room mate observe the rules. The student next door to a board member may observe the regulations. The girls down the hall often feel, however, that they should get by with all they can." Such charges are frequently made.

What shall our attitude towards these charges be?

We necessarily see that our shirking of responsibility in carrying out rules and regulations shifts the responsibility to the shoulders of board officials. Student government, however, is possible only as students individually respect rules and cooperate with members of the student government board.

If the student thinks a regulation is unnecessary, let her show her disapproval of that regulation, not by violating a rule, but by having a new regulation introduced in the Senate. We are granted the right of expressing our wishes through the Senate. Let us use that right.

That students are interested in student government is evidenced by the recent action of the dormitories on radios. The spirit of cooperation shown by students on this occasion is what is needed to make student government work.

Let us, then, have student government and not board government.

ONLY YESTERDAY . . .

Thirty years ago at Winthrop: Students were not permitted to leave the college after than once in two weeks, and then only when accompanied by teachers, except to attend church on Sunday.

College regulations required that the students spend a part of every Monday in "regulating their wardrobes, repairing clothing, and such like duties."

Since there was only one day's holiday at Christmas, students came to the college with the understanding that they were to remain till the end of the session.

In the list of articles that the students should bring with her were included "a spoon, knife, and glass, for individual use in the dormitory room."

Winthrop Day By Day

Diary: Went home with the roommate for the week-end and found it customary in the township to have all visitors start in a solo at church. Was made to comply with custom but I fancy the pillars of the church will find it not too soon to make a change in their unwritten laws. Attended the first Artist Course number, in the form of a most delightful lecture. John Erskine, author of "The Last Leaf," life more than most would be happy half of. He has lovely hands and can arch one eyebrow at a time, so that makes him all right. Later, the evening found me engaged in the bull session. Work sometimes piles rather high top of the desk and things but I'm always a sucker for anybody's bull session.

Kitty Davis admits that the circus keeps her spirits dignified with its fast—on the eve of Training School pupils asked her where she got the nickname "Toots Babe."

The maids in North (nausea, Annabel, Lib, and Eddie), prove quite enteraining on rainy afternoons, serenading while window washing. The favorite numbers were "Jacob's Ladder" and a couple "Swing It, Boy," harmonicas.

There doesn't seem to be a particularly good reason for including this bit of Chit-Chat, but it sounds good anyway: "These lines do not make me weep, but there is a tear which would fill whole lacrimationes as I read" ... You Freshmen who don't want to appear too homely might try writing it home ... Most eager to leave Lou Klough.

Something for breakfast Sunday morning—one-half cup salted peanuts, with one and one-half cracked bananas spread on brown bread toast, and topped with a squirt of mayonnaise.

Books In Brief

The Tragedy of Niobe, by Anatole France and Dr. Lyman.

Mosley dull. Too much an autobiography of Boweau.

National Velvet, by Eland Bagnold.

An unselfish and beautiful story of a little girl who loved horses.

There is an article in the October Harper's by Dr. Hutchins of the University of Michigan on "Complaints to Higher Education." It is addressed to Winthrop girls because President Phelps and Dr. John Erskine have already started us thinking of the "Whys and Wherefores" of modern higher education.

Tabo Errors On Dates Listed By Co-Eds

Boston, Mass.—ACP—Women of Boston University have recently disclosed that particular girls against certain dates, with whom they wouldn't care to date again, and it sounds like a fairly reasonable list of criticisms:

"Don't pull all the time."

"Don't spend less than $75 for a dinner."

"Don't wear red neckties and don't go without garters."

"Don't kiss on the first date."

"Don't eat onion, chive, gun, or drink when out on a date."

"Don't get a gal to spend any money."

Do You Know?

(Editor's Note: The Johnsonian is running a series of questions about things every Winthrop daughter should know. The answers will be given next week.)

1. How many columns are there on the front of Kinnard Hall?

2. Where is the statue of the Winged Victory?

3. What famous building does the Training School resemble?

4. Not that it pertains to Winthrop, but you'll be expected to know—What are the Seven Wonders of the World?

5. What building on the campus is supported by flying buttresses?

6. What is the entrance to the long corridor in front of the Post Office called? Why?

JUST LINES

Dear Mother,

Another weekend gone and I find that I have as much work planned, but incomplete, upon my hands as ever. Life is, a perpetual gear at things to do but not to be done.

As to the box—don't fool me!

It's the real answer to a colleague's prayer. But just as all other things, a box must end—and, well I hope, mother dear, that you can read between just lines.

The picture above are improving, but much to my distress, I hear that they are going to cut out all the love scenes! But maybe that is another of those rumors started to scare off Freshmen.

I am, however, a first Artist Course student and Dr. John Erskine, I enjoyed what I could hear very much, but the bitch came in when everyone laughed at just the things I didn't hear! Which brings me up to the place where I can quote a Freshman sister of mine. When I asked her what she said to the Art Course, she said, "Why no, I can't even draw a straight line."

Love,
SALLY.

Over a million students entered institutions of higher learning this fall. Thirty-three of each hundred of the 1925 high school graduates are now college freshmen.

The Gamma Phi Betas at Oregon College had to seat their "rubbed ones" on planks stretched across saw horses because the house was being remodeled at the time.

A survey at the University of Maryland showed that sororities with the lowest scholastic averages were well above the frats boasting the highest marks.

Design yourself to famous names in sports. A few weeks ago it was James Fenderson Cooper at Marquette. Now Benjamin Franklin, at the University of Detroit, is working at tackle.

A student preparing another teacher's lesson while in class.

No, because as far as I'm concerned it doesn't exist.

All the grades I have for students are taken from their papers—and none of the papers I have are from the students' own handwriting. Each student is assigned a number, which she uses throughout the course. Any "dingle-plunking," therefore, is merely wasted effort.

What particular annoyance do you find most irritating in your class room?

Now Winthrop's serious thought for the day is: we canvas our own campus—and according to the girls who thought the thought up, it's been a thought for many a day:

I am so lonely when you're gone.
It leaves me in despair;
But don't be too conceited;
It's the same when you are there.

Now Winthrop's serious thought for the day is: we canvas our own campus—and according to the girls who thought the thought up, it's been a thought for many a day:

Dimples Thomas Wins Impromptu Contest at Meeting

The Maristis, upholding the negative side of the query "Resolved: That this body endorses Roosevelt for President," overwhelmingly defeated the Humans, upholding the affirmative side, at a meeting of the Debaters' League, Wednesday, October 14. Dimples Thomas won the impromptu contest held in connection with the meeting.

Virginia Willis, assisted by Mama Kathie, Jessie, Anna Sheppard, and Margarette Zeiger, spoke for the Humans.

Madelaine Padgett lead the argument of the Humans, with Dimples Thomas, Linda Taylor, and Jo Jones assisting.

Mary Sheldon, speaker for the Humans, assisted by Frances Hall and Marie Boone, expressed the opinions of the back-benchers.

Miss Louise Peace To Wed Mr. Jewell

Of general interest to the Winthrop student body is the engagement of Miss Louise Peace, of the college office staff, to Mr. Alexander Paulkner Jewell, of Rock Hill, which was announced October 3. Miss Peace is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Peace, Jr., of Andrews.

Men Students Wish To Wash Own Clothes

Associated Collegiate Press "Art and you shall receive" is the motto of men students at John Tarlton College.

These cadets have rebelled against paying out money to have their washings done. They wish to eliminate the expense of "washers" a shirt" by laundering their own clothes. So they get to play in early November, and with the proceeds they intend to buy a washing machine.

Prospects of success are not 100 per cent, but the men of Tarlton realize that if their performance is satisfactory, "play day" will mean "pay-day" and ultimately "wash-day."

Freshman Scores Show Wide Range

Scores ranging from a low of 22 to a high of 272 were the results of the psychological examination given recently to 400 freshmen by Dr. W. R. Rogers, head of the Psychology Department.

The average is 122 and the average, which has not been definitely determined yet, is about 141 or 142. This examination, which was presented by the American Council, tests general information rather than intelligence, according to Dr. Rogers.

Home Economics Conference Meets

Seniors majoring in Home Economics will attend the District Conference of Home Economics Teachers to be held at Winthrop Training School, Saturday, October 17, from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M.

This conference is the fourth of twelve District Home Economics conferences being held this fall, part of the state program for Home Economics, to give home economics teachers instruction and assistance with their year's program of work.

Music Club Hears Federation Members

Mr. H. W. Robinson, president of the Rock Hill Music Club, and Mrs. Ned Z. Thomas, director of the Music Department, of the District Federation of Music Clubs, were guest speakers at a meeting of the Music Club, Thursday, October 15.

Since the College Music Club plans to join the Federation, Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Thomas discussed the advantages of being a federated club.

After the discussions, the College satirist sang "Thy Beaming Eyes" (McDowell), and Elizabeth Crum played a solo on the new Hammond organ.

"Freckles" Brings to Screen Brown, Stone, And Weilder

Tom Brown, Carol Stone, and Virginia Weilder head the cast of "Freckles," which will be presented in Main Auditorium, Saturday night, October 17, at 7:30.

"Freckles" is a homespun drama that has been sold from the novel of Gene Stratton-Porter. Dramatic, yet lacking in comedy, "Freckles" is photographed in an atmosphere of rustic locales, known to the hearts of Puritans readers.

The story, following the novel, tells of the struggle of a young boy, the product of an orphanage institution, in his endeavor to be a useful member of society. "Freckles" (Tom Brown), weary after training many others, arrives at a home camp to teach swimming. He immediately forms a friendship with Laurie Lee (Virginia Weilder), and Mary Ardell (Carol Stone). His acquaintance with Mary, aided by the pranks and schemes of Laurie Lee, blossoms into a romance.

The relation of their many adventures and the solution of their mix-ups prove quite thrilling.

POETRY CLASS HEARS SANDBURG

Poet speaks at Davidson on "Hyacinths and Blasphemy"

"Hyacinths and Blasphemy" was the title of Carl Sandburg's address at Davidson College, Monday night, October 12, which members of Dr. Wheeler's class in contemporary poetry attended. The theme of the lecture was on American trends toward social democracy. Sandburg read several of his poems, some of which were humorous. Playing his own accompaniment on a guitar, he sang ballads from his collection entitled "The American Songbag."

The following day, at Davidson:

Dr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Dr. Jarrett, Miss Goggans, Evelyn Brock, Louise Baxton, Eddie Beckenbaugh, Elsie Corley, Patricia Walker, Reba Davis, Mary Balle, Anna Rosenblum, and Catherine Hunley.
