Featured Facts

Looking towards June 1, seniors spent their spare time discussing whether they're glad or sorry and what are the prospects of a job.

The observation has been made frequently of late that a teacher cannot be judged by the length of the line before him on registration day.

A head of one of the departments was heard to say recently that the students are working much harder this year than they did last year.

As Dr. Hart, the visitor on the campus sponsored by the Y, gave as his opinion that students are more intelligent and know more about religion than the students of a few years ago.

Seniors who walked over Training School at the beginning of the semester are mourning now that they must give up their pupils.

As usual Juniors are becoming frantic over the lack of executive ability in their class. They are certain they have no one to fill even the major positions.

So far Thaw's secrets are all secrets. And those in charge assert that they are well satisfied with the progress being made. There has been no announcement of the results date.

Three alumnae were overheard last week-end as they compared notes on the literary society of which each had been members.

A student remarked recently that social life at Winthrop was more vivid than at home.

Senior Order Initiates Four New Members

Dr. Shelton Phelps conferred the final mark of membership into Senior Order upon Martha Lang, Jennie Toung, Virginia Walker, and Marguerite Zeigler, Saturday night in Johnson Hall.

Dr. Clyde M. Hill, of Yale, Makes Address for Occasion of "Women Thinking"

16TH ANNUAL EXERCISES

Alumnae Hold Reunion Week-End Preceding Annual Observance

Dr. Clyde M. Hill, chairman of the department of education of Yale University, spoke on "Women Thinking" at the sixteenth annual Founder's Day exercises held January 11, in honor of David Bancroft Johnson, who in 1856, established a teacher training school which later became Winthrop College.

Approximately 50 alumnae attended the annual reunion celebrated for January 10-12 to coincide with Founder's Day. President Editha Phelps, Dr. James R. Kinard, Miss Florence Mims, Senator Strom Thurmond, of Edgefield, Mrs. John Harprow, and Miss Lela Russell met with the alumnae. Mrs. A. E. Zeigler, of Springfield, was appointed president of the central district, to take the place of Miss Lucia Davis, who died in 1935.

Katie Colter, Student Government Association president, led the academic procession which opened the exercises. Miss Mary Gray Pope, president of the Athletic Association, headed the student line.

The Rev. J. I. Lupo gave the invocation, and the Rev. W. F. Peyton said the scriptures. The Winthrop (Continued on Page Four)

JUVENILES HEAR OF "OLYMPICS"

Tableaux, Talks, Dances, and Movie Feature Performance at W. T. S.

To show the contrast between the ancient and modern Olympics, the fifth grade of Winthrop Training School presented a program consisting of tableaux, talks, dances, and a movie at Training School chapel, Tuesday, January 13.

Tableaux were given by the children concerning the origin of the Olympics in Greece. Elizabeth Boyd told of early Greek games for children. Sara Harlow described victories recently in Greece. Miss Nancy Peinado told of the early Olympic games, and Elizabeth Boyd of the crowning of the winners.

Tableaux of children at play, the early Olympic games, and the crowning of winners were given. A group of students did a chorut routine. Miss Paula Hamann and a group of students did a chorut routine. Miss Paula Hamann and a group of students did a chorut routine.

Miss Lila Taylor, supervisor, directed the program.

Semi-Annual Competition Tests Students' Talents

Enthusiasm students who have been invited to take part in the semi-annual competition. So enthusiastic was this that the persuaded one of her friends to do the same thing. In fact, she would wake her friend herself. The alarm set, she went to bed. The alarm ringing, she began to dream. Her friend got into her clothes, she got up, and went to awaken the other student.

Speaker

DR. CLYDE M. HILL, Yale University, made the address on "Women Thinking" at the sixteenth annual Founder's Day exercises, Monday, January 11.

Matrimony Should Not Interfere, Dr. Hill States

"Women should not let matrimony interfere with their chosen profession—especially if it be teaching," said Dr. Clyde M. Hill, Yale University professor, when asked for his opinion as to what should be woman's status in society.

"It's my ambition for every woman," he continued, "that she make a desirable marriage, but it is extremely foolish to invest in marriage and to neglect her education because of the impermanency with which teaching is regarded by many young women that they do not go into with their eyes closed and preparation. He believes that women should enter the realm of teaching with the intention of making a lifetime career, and when their matrimony should continue to teach just as their husbands continue their work. In regard to women's duties as housewives, he said, "It is because they are becoming more efficient in the field of home-making that they can leave their homes in charge of skilled employees and pursue their own careers."

Dr. Hill expressed the belief that every woman should have some absorbing interest outside her home. "It is necessary, he said, to keep her home from becoming dull and humdrum.

Anything in which woman is interested, he thinks, could be a focus for her activities outside the home, whether it be teaching, civic improvement, local dramatics, politics, or any other of the countless fields which challenge her thoughts and energies.

Dr. Hill also made statements about woman's place in politics. Without hesitance and quite emphatically, he declared that politics as a field holds as much to women.

Dr. Phelps Attends Meeting Of Colleges

President Shelton Phelps is attending the twenty-third annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges, being held in Washington, at the Mayflower Hotel, Thursday and Friday, January 14-15. The theme is "Contributions to Liberal Education in the College."

The last feature on the program is a tour of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Friday afternoon. Ten members and friends of the association will be guests of J. Edgar Hoover, director.

Following his return Saturday morning Dr. Phelps will attend a meeting of the Quince alumnae.

Students Hear Dr. Stanley Jones

Twelve Winthrop students went to Columbia Tuesday, January 5, to hear Dr. E. Stanley Jones, well-known foreign missionary to India. Miss Margaret Hoffman, Miss Gladys Smith, and Mr. Thomas Noel accompanied the group.

Shavers May Accompany New Sprinkler System

From an authoritative source comes additional information on the sprinkler system. It is stated that the sprinkler system that has been installed will serve a double purpose. Firstly, it will be used to extinguish fires. Secondly, and perhaps more important, it will provide each girl with an individual shower. For Mr. Graham has described the sprinkler system as a system composed of little boxes, to be placed over the head of the bed, which will pop automatically as soon as a fire breaks out, thereby showering the girl beneath it.

Faculty Members Take Courses

Seven members of the Winthrop faculty are also classed as students and are continuing their work in different departments. They are Miss Orla Smith, Miss Mamie Norman, Miss Lillian Walker, Miss Norma Gunter, Miss Janette Ariesburn, Mr. Emmet Dove, and Mr. Thomas Noel.

These courses are taken for academic credit to prevent summer school work elsewhere. Despite the fact that faculty members are classed as special students and are members of the faculty, they are required to prepare this work as any other student.

French Department To Sponsor Movies

The French department will sponsor four movies in French during the month of February—"Coché," February 1; "Le Cendee de M. Perce," February 8; "Madame Bovary," February 15; and "Le Huisier," February 22.

Classroom Bromides Form Imposing List

There's one in every class who says: "After I see a new word come up I'll see it everywhere I read." "Omnibus and treasury really aren't so far apart."

"Worthmore is that when we say 'I'll, we mean one person; and we use it instead of 'I'd of you'."

"It's really not the one who makes the best marks who is the greatest success after he finishes school."

"Truth really is stronger than fiction, isn't it?" "Really, the world is such a small place."

"You just can't change human nature." "You don't have to go to church and sing hymns to be a good Christian."

"When you think about it, it's usually a cover-up for an inferiority complex." "There's one in every class and heaven help us when it's the teacher."

S. C. ENGLISH TEACHERS MEET

Group to Discuss Problems Relative to Teaching of English

All heads of English departments in South Carolina colleges will be the guests of Winthrop College, February 15, by invitation of Dr. Paul M. Wheeler, head of the English department.

After having luncheon in the college dining room, the visitors will meet with the English teachers of Winthrop for an informal discussion of problems relative to the teaching of English.

This is the first time an attempt has been made to bring together the heads of college English departments to a discussion of the common problems.

PI KAPPA DELTA ACCEPTS THREE

Walker, Zeigler, and Stokes Are New Members of Forensic Fraternity

Marguerite Zeigler, Virginia Walker, and Adelle Stokes have been accepted as members of the Winthrop Delta chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, the national honorary forensic fraternity.

The Winthrop chapter was founded during the fall of the past year. The purpose of Pi Kappa Delta is "to stimulate progress in speech development, to promote the interest of intercollegiate oratory, debate, and public speaking by encouraging the spirit of intercollegiate fellowship and brotherly cooperation."

Y Social Committee Gives Informal Tea

Five informal teas will be given during excursions from 8 to 9 in Johnson Hall by the social committee of the Y. W. C. A., according to an announcement by Nancy Besty, chairman of this committee.

MISS POST TO STUDY IN N. Y.

Head of Department Given Leave of Absence; to Work for Doctor's Degree

Miss Julia Post, head of the physical education department of Winthrop College, has been given leave of absence for second semester to attend Teachers College, Columbia University, where she will do research work for her doctor's degree.

Miss Post's study will be on the status of physical education in the high schools of South Carolina. She will gather her data from interviews with superintendents, as well as from actual observation. In March she will go to New York and continue her work in Columbia University.

As yet no work has been definitely chosen to take her place while she is away, according to the president's office.

"It's hard to get away," said Miss Post when questioned as to her feeling about leaving.

Martha Jo Jones Wins Oratorical Contest

Martha Jo Jones was winner of the oratorical contest held in connection with the International Relations Club meeting, Wednesday, January 13, at 4:30. Marjorie Jo, as winner of this contest, will represent Winthrop in the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament to be held here in March.

Virginia Willis and "Dot" Robinson, senior, and Annie White and Louise Boone, juniors, were chosen to represent the I. R. C. in the annual junior-senior debate to be held in February.

South Carolina Union Meets

Weldon Callison and Winston McComb had charge of the program at the meeting of the South Carolina Union, Tuesday, January 12. A special hour followed the program.

WINTHROP ADDS FIFTEEN COURSES

Eight Departments Open Up New Fields Next Semester

BEGINS JANUARY 26TH

Members of Curriculum Committee Inaugurate Changes

With the addition of fifteen courses in eight departments the second semester at Winthrop will begin January 26.

New courses in chemistry, education, history, home economics, and mathematics, psychology, and sociology were approved by the curriculum committee, composed of Dr. Kinard, Miss Gullinger, and the heads of all departments.

The courses include: Micro-Qualitative Analysis, which consists of drill in the technique of working with small quantities of materials.

The Teacher and Public School Administration course presents to the teacher the relationship between class rooms and the administrative organization of public education. History of Education includes the origin and development of ideas of American education.

Consumer Education, a course offered by the department of Home Economics, includes buying points for consumers and actual experiments in comparison of various articles on the market.

Advanced Analytic Geometry is a study of the theory of matrices and determinants with applications to solution of systems of linear equations and to the geometry of space. The Department of Music offers (Continued on Page Four)

Norwood, Rogers, Jones, Loft, and Metz to Represent Class

Margaret Norwood, Elizabeth Rogers, Kitty Jones, Redert Loft, and Bertha Metz, have been elected to represent the Freshman class in the Winthrop Senate.

Margaret Norwood, of Laurens, is a commercial major, a pledge of Pi Sigma Phi social club, and a member of the Freshman Debaters' League.

Katharine Jones, of Norfolk, is a pledge of Pi Sigma Phi social club, and a member of the Freshman Debaters' League.

Elizabeth Rogers, of Florence, is a pledge of Pi Sigma Phi social club and a member of the Freshman Debaters' League.

Redert Loft, of Columbia, is a member of the Freshman Debaters' League, the chapel choir, and a pledge to Gamma Sigma social club.

Bertha Metz, of Norway, is a member of the Freshman Debaters' League.

Student President Describes N. Y. Convention Thrills

"I didn't go to a night club, but I had a marvelous time," said Katie Colter, president of the Student Government Association, of her trip to New York for the National Student Federation convention Dec. 28-Jan. 1.

Among the things which Katie said as her greatest thrills were a tour of the National Student Federation convention Dec. 28-Jan. 1.

"It was drinking beer, but I wouldn't let it bother me," she said; and seeing Helen Hayes in "Victoria Regina."

When she arrived in New York, Katie said she was terribly afraid the taxi-driver would take advantage of her ignorance of the city and give her the place on route to her hotel. "But he must have carried me directly there because he charged me only forty-five cents, and that's what I'd been told it would cost," she remarked.

Faculty Advisers Work Overtime To Lessen Number of Frosh Failures

Forty-Three Teachers Under Dr. Wheeler's Guidance Give Counsel

Forty-three Winthrop teachers spent many hours last week re-arranging treatment and advising them as to their next semester courses.

Counselor

Throughout the semester freshmen have had faculty advisers with whom they might discuss their problems of adjustment to college work.

DEAN DISCUSSES EXCUSE TYPES

Office Expresses Skepticism at Some of Letters Received

"Those whose excuses are the most absurd are the ones who dislike to be questioned," revealed Dean Hardin in a recent discussion of excuses handed in by Winthrop students.

She had at hand 70 excuses used here during the Thanksgiving holidays.

"Some of them," said Mrs. Hardin, "are ridiculous. Each one to accept them when the parents write from home that such as is stated on the excuse is true."

There are some excuses which, of course, are more commonly used than others. Among these are dental treatment, eye treatment, illness in the family, and marriages.

Going back a few years—and it was worth it even if Frederick Allen was another style—Dr. Martin in fancy gaiters and Miss Stevenson with cane, had derby cake-walked as in 1943.

"This atmosphere soon descended at the suggestion of the Three Floridians girls of 1968. No sheriff of the 'good old days' could have resisted the charms of Mrs. Wardlaw, Miss Terry, or Miss Dowell as they sang 'Come Here Mine'."

Then came Elliott Madson and her four strong men who danced with our Florida girls. Miss Brewer, as the French waltzer, and Mr. Noel, Dr. Jarrell, Mr. Gore and Mr. Hollis as the American soldiers furnished the romantic touch to the program.

As there will be no issue of The Johnsonian next week, the next paper will appear January 28.

COLLEGE DAY PROGRAM GIVEN

Twelve Students Participate in Exercises at Lancaster

Twelve Winthrop students went to Lancaster to participate in College Day exercises at the Methodist Church on Sunday morning, January 15.

Katie Coker spoke to the assembly about Student Government and Athletics at Winthrop. Miss Nussner represented the Y. W. C. A. Annie Rosenblum told about the three Winthrop publications.

Jessie Treasue represented the classes and described school life in the college. Virginia McGuffee outlined the work of honorary organizations and the Debaters' League.

The Winthrop Glee Club, composed of Christine Riley, Sara Agnes Johnson, Eleanor Caghaman, Virginia McKeithen, Anna Dixon, and Eva Pale, sang two religious songs: "I'll Thine Ever" and "Praise, Hope, and Love."

Following the assembly the students were guests at dinner in the various homes.

Freshman Hits New High In Musical Debut

Miss Craygall outstanding, outstanding Miss West, recited the true story of "Frankie and Johnny"—one the more purified by the white robe outfit which replaced the provincial black velvet—begin the musical extravaganza presented by Winthrop faculty members and accompanied by Mary O'Neil.

Dr. Edwards Discusses Marriage Preparation

Dr. R. H. Edwards, director of religious work and faculty member at Cornell University, visited the campus Thursday, January 14, as part of his itinerary on a 5,000-mile tour of the South.

Dr. Hart plans to visit as many Southern campuses as possible, to obtain material for a book he intends to write in collaboration with his wife.

While at Winthrop, Dr. Edwards conducted a discussion on "Preparation for Marriage" at the Wesley Student Room, Thursday afternoon, and met the advisory board of the "Y" at an informal party given by Miss Wardlaw, Thursday night.

Author of seven books, Dr. Edwards is also director of the board of Hiram W. Foundation at Haddam, Connecticut.

He will address the Freshmen's Conference being held at Atlantic at Emory University, Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, January 16, 17, and 18.

Just What You Need for Early Spring We Invite You to Take a Look at Them

Excerpts From Founder's Day Address By Dr. Clyde M. Hill

"Matrimony no longer relieves women of the necessity of having minds trained to think. American households are no longer havens of rest for the mentally incompetent, ignorant, and inefficient."

"It is natural and proper and highly desirable for all women, no less than those in the highest ranks, to belong to that vast fraternity of the noble matrons educating matrons."

"The 'art' of liberal education for women is to be found in the attitude of mind developed rather than in the mere accumulation of facts and the mastery of techniques."

"The woman's college must cultivate in its students a cosmopolitan, liberal spirit, tolerance, open-mindedness, and a genuine desire to improve humanity."

"For home-making, for civic performance, for the professions, for practical philanthropy, the urgent need of the hour is for more women thinking." Of this fact let the women's colleges take notice.

"We have too many people teaching in our colleges who take pride in being conservatives in a bad sense, and who, to defend their position, must be contented in the worst sense."

Books in Brief: Farewell Romance—Gilbert Frankau

Absorbing story of human problems and personal struggles. Accurate picture of the post-war English scene, and as Douglas West says, "Mr. Gilbert Frankau can tell a story, and I sometimes wonder whether that is not the one gift indispensable in a novelist."

It Did Happen—And In Training School

Despite the persistent efforts of students who have for the past semester undergone the worry and hair-tearing which often accompany teaching in Training School, some of them have completely failed to impress their students with their unusual mental gifts.

The other morning, in the course of a first grade reading lesson, one little girl, exasperated at being asked to read day after day, inquired in a serious tone, "Can't you read?"

"Why, yes, Ann, I can read," answered the unsmiling student-teacher.

"Well, why do you keep making me read to you?"

Katie could imagine herself standing in the street in the pouring rain waiting for an armlessly to stop the bus, but another convention came to her rescue and showed her the little round waiting station. Once on the bus, she sat down and prepared to enjoy her ride. Finally the bus driver turned to her and queried, "Lady, have you put your ticket in the slot?"—to which our president answered apologetically, "I'm sorry, but you'll have to show me how. This is the first time I've been on one of these things."
