The University of Tennessee captured first place in the WC Invitational Tournament on Saturday, Feb. 19, as they defeated last year's winner, Anderson College.

Anderson placed second in the tournament, College of Charleston, third, and the WC Eagles placed fourth. Each of these teams are seated for next year's tournament automatically, without having to compete in preliminary games.

Winthrop held a consistent winning streak of 6 games going into the tournament. The Eagles took the first two of the games that they competed in, and lost the last two.

First, slated against University of South Carolina, the Eagles pulled an easy lead in the first quarter and held it throughout the game, defeating the Gamecocks, 79-69. On Feb. 19, the Eagles met the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Competition proved to be stiff as the lead volleyed back and forth between the two teams. After several ties, and with the threat of overtime competition, WC rallied to defeat UNC-G, 81-74.

Anderson defeated WC by 5 points, 80-75. The second loss of the tournament for Winthrop was handed to the Eagles when the College of Charleston won, 89-72. Basketball Coach Linda Warren said "We played consistently good basketball. The invitational is a good preliminary to the State Tournament, to be held in March."

The other teams competing on Thursday, Feb. 17, were: Longwood College, 85 vs Eastern Tennessee, 63; University of Georgia, 71 vs Eastern Carolina, 54; University of Tennessee, 85 vs Western Carolina, 48.

Friday, Feb. 18 saw Anderson College defeating University of Georgia. College of Charleston, 85; Longwood, 106; and defeating Appalachian State University.

The newly organized booster club is looking for a name, according to Dr. F.I. Brownley, vice president of planning and development.

The purpose of the organization will be to provide financial aid for the advancement of intercollegiate activities at Winthrop, and to offer friends and alumni of Winthrop a chance to serve the university in its intercollegiate endeavors.

A $25 prize will be given to the chosen name. All members of the campus are eligible to contribute their suggestions. Clemson has IFFATY- can you imagine how famous the person is who came up with the idea? So, send your ideas to THE JOHNSONIAN, P.O. Box 6800 Winthrop College.

Change Proposed

Academic Council met last Monday, February 21 and discussed several recommendations for the faculty. One recommendation was to change the requirements for graduation from a final to a cumulative GPA.

Dr. Richard Hoak, vice provost, said that most schools operate on a cumulative system, all grades would count towards the overall GPA whereas with the final system, a student could select the best 122 hours to be counted in Latin.

The council also recommended that there be a change in the academic probation and suspension requirements. Other recommendations was the adding of a minor in anthropology and the dropping of the major and minor in Latin.
In Conclusion

It's quite feasible to believe that some of you are growing tired of reading about rape. And this is understandable. As a matter of fact, this is the least issue in which we plan to pursue the subject of rape. Then we will move on to other issues. But perhaps there are a few things we must say in conclusion. First, we can't overemphasize the importance of reporting any unusual behavior incidences. No matter how awkward one may feel about the situation, no action on our part will be taken unless the incident is reported. Secondly, we should encourage all students (male and female) to stay on the backs of your representations. The laws need to be changed and we know that during a rape case, the past history of the victim (or supposed victim) can be brought to the attention of the court! However, the defendant's past (even if he has committed murder, rape, and 28 robberies) cannot. There is a bill presently in the Judiciary Committee of the state house which will change this. Unless we continue to pursue the issue, the bill might not ever be passed. Thirdly, we encourage you to support the ERA. Yes you, what does ERA have to do with rape? We say a lot. The ERA would be a psychological boost for women and men. Women would be treated equally and men would have to avoid rape and the national Congress to do away with discriminatory laws. Let's face it-in a rape case, the plaintiff has little or no chance-the number of reported rapes are few in comparison to the actual number of rapes. The number of arrests are fewer, and the actual number convictions are even fewer. Juries are hesitant to convict a rapist.

Finally, we would recommend that anyone (especially you, hopefully trying to expand your mind) stay abreast of the changing views and laws on rape. Be aware. Don't stay in a closet assuming that nothing will ever happen to you. A man can rape, a woman can, too. Never assume that it's okay to write and discuss rape because you've never been raped. That's not the issue. The issue is that with increased awareness and higher risks in our society, some rapes will happen, and maybe, some rapes will never occur and that's an accomplishment. S.N.

Food For Thought: Going Bananas

Debbie Kalster

Hela granola, mis amigos and welcome to another fun-filled edition of The Big WC (I know you Winnies love it out there). Hope all of you are having a great spring season! We've had some comparable states of mental equilibrium as the onslaught of bananas comes and goes, especially with that glorious spring break practically peeping just around the corner. Lifesavers. In light of that approaching vacation and what it signifies, I have decided to diverge from my usual mode of delivery in order to add a little color to this topic. The colorfully adorable bananas are yellow and blue (lovely, don't you think?). Besides performing such prescribed duties as distinguishing the sun and sky, respectfully, the colors yellow and blue are part of the finest and proudest bunch of individuals ever to inherit the title of American dietary cocktail: Chiquita bananas. (oo-la-la). Not only have these tropical entities established a fine mixture of commerce and respectability, but they have also completely transformed the tradi­ tional status of bananas here in the States. No more is it an exclusive Sunkist-Washington Delicious-Bowling Green-Benbridge, as Chiquita has made its appearance, which shows no signs of shrivelling.

Behold the Chiquita Nationalist Anthem:
I'M CHIQUITA BANANA AND I WANT A THING OR TWO ABOUT BANANAS TO MAKE YOUR DAY.
YOU KNOW, ONE HUNDRED CALORIES IS NOT VERY MUCH.
SO WHILE YOU'RE ON A DIET, WHY NOT PICK UP A BANANA?
CHORUS: DID YOU KNOW BANANAS ARE VERY GOOD FOR YOU?
THEM ON YOUR FEET/FEED THEM WITH THE 3 TBS. OF WATER (ONE PART OF BANANA/3 TBS. WATER. ALTERNATELY).

Why do I bother to enlighten your eyeballs about these common characters in our eating scenario? Well, namely because I want all of you out there to stop taking bananas for granted. That's right. It's high time we all started paying respect where it is due. I mean, just look at some of the injustices that are heaped upon our "yellow friends:" buying a bunch (a complex social unit in itself) and then allowing them to become malnourished and thoughtlessly throw them into grocery bags (do you realize the emotional problems that result from being flung against a can of dog food?).

So take it from CHIQUITA! It's a healthy breakfast (did anyone ever gas you when you were an adolescent?). And so forth. It is up to us to mend our free society. As long as we live in harmony with the banana. Our cultural interaction can only be fruitful.

As a final stage in my discussion of the banana, I would like to state that it is now prohibited (besides the fact that it is illegal) for you about the advantages of his outside of him.

Americans are said to be living in a free society. A free society is a place where a man can stand up in some dumpy little bar after spending a hard day in the mill and say to all who are within earshot, "The president of this country is a... Real F--r!" Now that guy can say anything he wants as long as he has someone to listen. (one of my friends and I were able to listen to Chiquita! CHIQUITA! CHIQUITA! Chachacha... (REPRISE)

Ah, that stirs even this national consciousness. What an experience. I think I hear faint peepings in the distance... If only all of us would follow the example of bananas: sticking together among ourselves, and supporting each other through every disaster until they are forcibly torn apart. Oh, to belong to a bunch of freinds who are true to each other, and strong. Bananas never reject their bruised, battered, or malnourished counterparts. Neither do we get wrapped up in self-destructive, pseudo-dramas of personal rebellion. They are a peaceful producer, adhering only to each other for their social and emotional fulfillments.

Then they factor in the consequences of bringing the concept of the green-to-yellow color reaction process is quickened (did you ever grow a tomato when you were an adolescent?): and so forth. It is up to us to mend our free society. As long as we live in harmony with the banana. Our cultural interaction can only be fruitful.

Dear Editor:

I have come to our attention that student teachers who must stay on campus during Spring Break will not be provided meals by the college service. We feel that this is a terrible injustice to those of us who must stay here. Why haven’t some provisions been made for us? Just exactly what may we ask are we supposed to do for meals during that week? In previous years provisions have been made for those who must stay on campus. Why not this year? It has been pointed out that only a small percentage of students are involved in this. (Only about 60 are estimated to be staying on campus this time.) Yet a good number of Winthrop’s student body will have to practice teach at the campus this time. Yet we would like to forget us?

Dear Editor:

The purpose of this letter is to highlight the recent edition of T.J. We would like to express our appreciation to our chief, Mr. Layne, for his hard work and dedication. We feel that the publication of the book is a significant achievement for our school. We are proud to have won the competition and we hope that this will motivate our students to continue to improve their writing skills.

In conclusion, we would like to thank Mr. Layne and the T.J. staff for their hard work and dedication. We are confident that the book will be well-received and will continue to inspire our students to achieve greatness.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor:

In response to your editorial of 2/14/77, I would like to correct your comments where you erroneously stated that the International Student Club changed its status to "open to all students in order to receive funds." My dear Ms. Nolan, this is not the case.

The International Club is, and always has been since its inception, open to all students on the Winthrop campus. As evidence of this, let me quote out of a Matter of Black Week which is sponsored by the Association of Ebonites. You stated that the white performer was laughed at when he was on stage; this is true. However, what you failed to mention is that the song he was singing was comical. He (the singer) stated that the audience were laughing at the song. Also, you called the whites of this college prejudiced because there were few whites there. There were whites there, however, were you there?

As a final note, let me say that before you attempt to belittle, criticize or call names, it would seem wise that you have all your facts straight. There is only one excuse for gross ignorance and that is laziness. Your laxity in reporting the real problems of Winthrop is amazing. If THE JOHNSONIAN continues on its present course, perhaps you might consider changing your name to the Winthrop College National Egalitarian.

Sincerely,

Ralph Johnson, secretary
International Student Club

Actually, the lighter side is an attempt to get a chuckle out of potentially dangerous situation this country. Soon, we may be facing the fact that the only warmth we will find from the winter's chill is a pocket lighter. Kind of makes you shudder, and not just from the cold. But the guessing game and wire or write your congressman. Get somebody in motion to find out how much this energy crisis is real and how much is contrived.

This winter has made us face the fact, even if the energy is out there, we don't have a very good chance of getting producers to release any more of the stuff than they are willing to give up. So we sit, a little colder, with an extra pair of Jesus on and wonder and wait.

If it's not contrived, if it isn't an attempt to raise prices and profits, then maybe it's time to get more than mad. Maybe it's time to get ready, for tomorrow, that is.

Turning down the thermostats is great. It shows a change in attitude and a willingness to face some discomfort to help the other members of this club we call America. But thermostats aren't the only thing we should be turning down.

The next time you walk into McDonald's or Hardee's take a look at the paper you toss in the trash after finishing that hamburger, fries and large coke. Pretty substantial bit of pulp product. Isn't that what you're buying when you pay for these Big Macs? Some day we may be refusing to register in order to save plastering the Black Ball.

Ms. Kletter,

In light of the recent weather I reckon the spring thaw has begun. However, the thoughts that you expressed in your recent article (Eneuma) remain within the winter freeze. I feel that they will stagnate the culture of the Winthrop Campus even more. You are flat out asking the people (or any other important element lacking when you approach the subject you did) if you wish for something to take place. If you wish for someone to react in a physical, and meaningful way, you should carry a big stick and drive your knuckles on the ground. While bloodshot eyes roam to the whisper of "I want to kill someone!" with these personal characteristics openly displayed for all to observe, you will get reaction. Go get 'em killer!!!

2. Lt. Commander Data
3. Worf
4. Kimmory
5. Sanitation is a great thing and it needs to be done right. Americans go out of their way to sanitize life, but are we going too far? Is it worth wasting all that effort when we can just turn the thermostat down a little while we sleep?
2001: May Be Here Early

Admitting that speculation about future development in space is "a very scary process," an accomplished physicist and aerospace professor has suggested that a space community could be established, equidistant from the earth and moon, by the 1990's.

Gerard K. O'Neill of Princeton University has written a book exploring, through scientific and technological know-how, the "possibilities" of space development. The book THE HIGH FRONTIER: HUMAN COLONIES IN SPACE MORROW, 58.95 is filled with enough well-documented ideas to make even Spock and Captain Kirk dance with glee.

O'Neill believes that thousands of earthlings now alive would be able to live and work in space, in an "island" of space colony located in orbit around the moon. In the book, O'Neill says that personal living conditions in space should be at least as desirable and healthful as the most favorable areas on earth.

Did you ever think as you crossed the lawn of campus you were cutting across someone's former backyard and barn lot? That is just one of the more interesting aspects of the historic McCorkle-Fewell-Long house, presently owned by an English professor and his wife-Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Lane-on 639 College Avenue.

The white, two-story, ten room house was originally built in the late 1800's and characterized of a S.C. upcountry plantation home. Listed in the "York County Sites Survey" the house is believed to be one of the oldest in Rock Hill.

The Lane's home has had three known previous owners, the oldest being the McCorkle family which bought the land the home sits on, including Winthrop's front lawn, in 1845. The next owners were the Fewell's in 1850, though it is unknown if the house was already built at that time. The home was occupied by Samuel McDuffie Fewell, noted trial justice and his family, till the late 1880's. Before the turn of the century Winthrop bought the backyard and barn lots, of the home. The two later century owners were the Alexander Long family.

The Lane's acquired the aged, green-shuttered home 14 years ago. Some of the home's interesting aspects, Dr. Lane pointed out, include four bathrooms and six fireplaces. "That was the time before central heating," Dr. Lane stated.

Like the past owners do the Lane's plan to stay, a while? "Well best with the ivy and heating," Dr. Lane smiled, "we're really happy with it.

The Cat's Pajamas

BY BARONE JAYNE

"Well I can see why my head, in the crumbling wreckage of all that I wanted from life..." Al Stewart.

That was the notion, the author of the title song which is the title cut on this album, and the key to this record. "Year of the Cat" continuing to climb the charts, the artist may very well be swimming in greenbacks.

No small feat when you consider that the song that drew all the attention to the album is a six minute and forty second mammoth masterpiece. Of course YEAR OF THE CAT, the title cut has been taking some cutting on the AM waves' version, but it still comes across as a very mellow, easy listening bit of vinyfied vocal and instrumental work that leaves you wanting to hear more. Pay close attention to the Andy Powell string arrangements and Pete Wood's keyboard raps, especially in the song's intro, it's a bit of a tour de force. This is an album with several cuts.

Some songs are almost injured by Stewart's uncanny ability to come up with a limitless number of words with the same rhyme. At times, he is walking a very tenuous line. Some cuts, like "Shadow," threaten to send him plunging into that bottomless void of monotony, but those moments seem fleeting, saved by the grasps of the contributing musicians.

YEAR OF THE CAT. Some cats are very near purrfection.

Be In The Know

By Sheila Nolan.

"We can't really say what the cause/courses of the recent outbreak of reported attempted attacks, exhibitions, and harassments are. Programs such as ROOTS, the articles in THE EVENING HERALD, and various T.V. shows tend to bring deviants out. Of course, another speculation is that because of recent articles in THE JOHNSONIAN, students are becoming more willing to report incidents. I would hope this is the case. And if this is the case, then we can't really call the incidents an outbreak since they would have been occurring all along," said Dr. Mary C. Littlejohn, vice-president for Student Affairs.

This was one of the comments made by Dr. Littlejohn in a recent interview concerning the recent attempted attack reports. In the past couple of weeks, security has received two reports of attempted attacks. (See the Feb. 21 issue of T.J.), two reports of harassment, and three reports of exhibitionism. The two separate harassments involved an unidentified person walking around campus following female coeds as they walked from classes and the library. Two of the exhibitions took place in the Alumni parking lot, and one in the parking lot in front of Wofford and Richardson. Littlejohn's main emphasis was placed on the fact that the single most effective means of combating such acts is for students to report incidents and immediately.

"Students must take the individual responsibility of reporting incidents. No action can be taken unless it is reported. Besides, there can be no possible embarrassment to an innocent party."

The procedures involved in reporting an incident are as follows: make a report to security, security will then type the report and students will have the opportunity to read it, and finally, if an incident is reported immediately, security will go to the scene. Littlejohn emphasized that there should be no delay in reporting an incident.

Under the Rock Hill City Code, a person who acts suspiciously should be reported. The code reads as follows: "No person shall willfully or unnecessarily interfere with or disturb, in any way or in any place, the students or teachers of any school or college in the city attended by women or girls, or loiter about such school or college premises or act in an obnoxious manner thereon, or enter upon such school or college premises, or loiter around the premises except on business, without the permission of the principal or president in charge."

According to Littlejohn, there has been some talk of having an escort service on campus. Students have suggested using the fraternity or maybe a men's intramural team as possible sources for escort services. Such actions as installing gates on each entrance of the tunnel between Roddey and Rutledge will be undertaken by the administration in order to hamper or deter would be attackers.

"Students can do their part in discouraging would-be attackers by walking in pairs, walking in lighted pathways, and by reporting any overt attacks and/or suspicious behavior," said Littlejohn.

According to Littlejohn, it is hoped that such events will die down. However, until it does, students are encouraged to follow the above mentioned suggestions.

Attention Summer Student Workers

According to Peter Caporossi, Director of Financial Aid, students planning to work on the Winthrop campus during summer school, 1977 and/or the academic year 1977-78 are required to fill out a work card for each work period.

These cards may be obtained from the Financial Aid Office, 112 Bancroft beginning February 25, 1977 and they should be completed and returned by the following dates: Summer School, 1977-March 15 and Academic Year 1977-78-April 30.

It should be noted that in order to qualify for on-campus employment, a student must have a minimum overall GPB of 2.0 (or have made at least a 2.0 for the spring semester).

To be eligible for all types of financial assistance, each student must file a Parent's Confidential Statement, a Basic Opportunity Grant application, and a Win­throp Application for Financial Aid. No job assignment will be made until these forms are received.

President Carter's speechwriter responded to a request from THE JOHNSONIAN for information concerning the existence of UFO's. The Johnsonian request was based on Carter's campaign promise to tell the American people any information that might be made available to him concerning UFO's if he were elected President. We wrote to the President indicating that we hoped to be the first to ask about the UFO question following his election. Last week, a Presidential aide responded.

The Johnsonian hopes that President Carter will respond to our request by sending us some information before he releases to bulk of what he will say to the American people concerning UFO's. Johnsonian Advisor Robert Bristow said, "It seemed to me the journalism student could gain some confidence knowing that the public servant has a responsibility to the people, and that if he asks a legitimate question, we should expect an answer. Whatever we get, the response from the White House bears that out.''

The first recorded sighting of a UFO occurred in 1947 over Mount Rainier. National preoccupation with UFO's, or flying saucers, seems to run in cycles, and according to recent Gallup polls, about six per cent of the adult population believes in them. The Air Force Blue Book Project, closed in 1969, where the government decided none of the over 12,000 cases clearly indicated the existence of extraterrestrial, or outer space vehicles, contains 701 unsolved cases. Several theories have been put forth on why people see UFO's. Sociologist Donald Warren thinks people who report UFO's lead lives not set in a consistent framework or structure and like the thought of better worlds somewhere.

Another theorist, psychiatrist Lester Grinspoon, says people who see flying saucers undergo complete regression toward "seeing the object as a maternal breast." Many people however, just have a sense of "something out there" that science cannot yet explain when they report UFO's.

The Johnsonian has worked with the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Pam Walker of Omaha, Neb., is the returning veteran. Liz Forrest of Georgetown, a ranked letterman is back from last season's S-8 dub. The Winthrop Eagles will be one of the teams to watch.

The schedule is as follows: March 3, Erskine, 3 p.m.; March 14, at Coker, 2 p.m.; March 17, at Erskine, 2 p.m.; March 21, Coker, 2 p.m.; March 24, at Western Carolina, 3 p.m.; March 25, at Mars Hill, 2:30 p.m.; March 28, Queens, 3:30 p.m.; March 31, at Francis Marion, 2 p.m.

April 1, Western Carolina, 1 p.m.; April 4, Baptist College, 2 p.m.; April 6, at Charlotte Country Day, 1 p.m.; April 11, at Queens, 3:30 p.m.; April 13, Presbyterian, 2 p.m.; April 18, Columbia College, 2 p.m.; April 21, SCAAW Tournament at Clemson and April 26, Columbia College, 2 p.m.

With a new coach and an expanded schedule, the Winthrop Men's Tennis Team eagerly awaits the start of the spring season. The Eagles will take on 26 regular season opponents before the NAIA District Six Tournament to be held in Clinton on April 22-23. According to tennis Coach Richard McKee, a native of Charlotte, "That's a big challenge." He takes over the job of coaching the team from David Rankin.

A three-time All-American at UNC-Chapel Hill, McKee has been readying the Eagles for the coming season since Jan. 17.

Sophomore Wayne White of Rock Hill is listed at number two spot, followed by Rock Hill junior Macky Rawls, number three; freshman Curtis Hancock of Chester, number five; and junior Jim Poege of Rock Hill, number six. Also battling for starting berths are Sandy Litaker, a Columbia freshman, and David Payse, a sophomore from Rock Hill.

In doubles competition, Lynn and Rawls are listed first; Hester and White, second; Hancock and Poege, third.

McKee, who doubles as pro at a local country club, said the "Eagles will be competitive with everyone on the schedule. We are approaching the season with a positive outlook." This is only the third season of intercollegiate tennis for men here at WC. The Eagles were 3-4 in 1975 and 1-12 in 1976.

Exercise Equipment

Students who are getting ready for warmer weather and a chance to work off a few pounds outside, might be interested in Winthrop College's equipment room (located in Peabody Gym on the ground floor, beside the swimming pool.)

The room features equipment such as bicycles, basketballs, footballs, golf equipment, etc., which may be checked out with a valid W.C. ID.

Equipment may be checked out only during scheduled hours. These hours are listed as: Monday-Friday 3-8 p.m.

A weight room (located across the street from Peabody in the covered area) is also available to men and women during the same hours above. Check with the equipment room about using this facility also.

Finally, the swimming pool is still filled with water and is available to Winthrop Students, faculty/staff, families of Students who live in the WC apartments, families of faculty/staff, and guests (10 years or older) of students at scheduled times.

Many students are not aware of the opportunity to check out a bike (great exercise and fun too) or a ball to stay active, so here it is.

The Winthrop College men's golf team will be in rebuilding year with only two returning lettermen, but Coach David Gover says the Eagles may field the best team ever.

Only Ben Johnson of Rock Hill and Ricky Burgess of McAdenville return from last season. But an outstanding crop of newcomers will give Winthrop the potential for a strong team.

The newcomers are Jeb Moore, Ed Rhodes and Gary Wright, all of Rock Hill, and Stan Overby and Royce Whitesides of Chester.

The trend in collegiate golf is for tournament play, and Winthrop is following the lead. Three tournaments are on the spring schedule.

The Eagles open the season at April 11 in a home match with USC-Spartanburg and Davidson at the Fort Mill Golf Course.

Other outings are: March 12-13, Edisto Golf Classic at Orangeburg. April 7-9, S.C. Intercolligate Tournament at Hampton; April 12, UNC-Charlotte at Fort Mill, 1 p.m.; and April 18-19, NAIA District Six Tournament at Etowah Valley Country Club near Hendersonville, N.C.

Fore....

The Winthrop College men's tennis team had good results at the NAIA District Six Tournament held in Clinton last weekend.

Junior Macky Rawls posted a 2-0 record to advance to the quarterfinals before losing to Richo Buss of Erskine in a 6-1, 6-2, 6-4 decision.

Winthrop's other singles player, Ed Rhodes was defeated in the opening round.

In doubles play, Macky Rawls and Ed Rhodes also made it to the quarterfinals but were defeated by Richo Buss and Ken Williams of Erskine.

Senior Wayne White was defeated in the third round but remained a threat for the rankings.

The Eagles posted one victory in the doubles at the tournament.

The Eagles are off to a good start in the spring season with a new coach, Richard McKee, who is expected to lead the team to new heights.

Nuclear Physicist Lectures On UFO’s

"Flying Saucers ARE Real" was the title of an illustrated lecture presented by nuclear physicist, Stranton T. Friedman at Centraida College. Friedman is the only space scientist in the western hemisphere known to be devoting full time to UFO’s. Since 1970, he has lectured to overflow crowds at more than 300 colleges in 45 states.

He was one of the few scientists featured in the NBC-TV Documentary, "Ufo’s: Do you Believe?" broadcast nationwide on December 15, 1974, and seen by more than 44% of TV viewers. His unique professional background includes 14 years of industrial experience, the development of advanced nuclear and space systems such as nuclear aircraft, nuclear rockets, fusion rockets, and compact nuclear reactors for space applications.

Friedman has also worked on the Pioneer 10 and 11 spacecrafts which have flown out past the planet Jupiter.

"After 17 years of study and investigation, I am convinced that the evidence is overwhelming that Planet Earth is being visited by intelligently controlled vehicles from off the Earth. The Cosmic Watergate is being treated like the Mad Hatter’s Tea Party, but progress is being made as more and more professionals get involved in UFOlogy—the scientific study of UFO’s," said the 41 year old scientist from Hayward, California.

Friedman’s talk covered five large scale scientific studies. Air Force data not generally discussed, UFO landings, reports of creatures, travel to the stars, and the arguments of the educated nonbelievers. Many slides were shown during the program and a question and answer session followed.

Friedman would be happy to receive UFO sighting reports in writing at the lecture or sent directly to him at the UFO Research Institute, P.O. Box 502, Union City Ca. 94587. Witness names will not be used without permission.

Chimps May Help Predict Earthquakes

Chimpanzees may be able to help humans predict earthquakes, because they seem to become abnormally restless when tremors are on the way. "We believe we have the first scientific evidence there are behavior changes that precede earthquakes," a group of researchers from the Stanford University School of Medicine said to a meeting sponsored by the U.S. Geological Survey.

"But to prove it conclusively, we will have to predict the next earthquake," the scientists said. Watching chimps for hints of earthquakes is not a new idea. Chinese scientists reported that abnormal livestock behavior was noted before a major quake struck the city of Hancheng this year. Dr. Helena C. Kraemer, associate professor of Biostatistics, said the possible connection between chimps and earthquakes first emerged when she was conducting a study of chimps at the school’s Outdoor Primate facility—which is adjacent to the San Andreas fault.

She said observers at the facility noticed "unraveling behavioral changes" among the chimpanzees prior to a series of minor earthquakes last June.

Marijuana—Hope Against Glaucoma

On a five-acre tract at the University of Mississippi at Oxford, the federal government is growing what it is calling, burning and otherwise destroying wherever, it finds it elsewhere in country-Mexican and Turkish, varieties of Marijuana.

The illegal weed, grown by the National Institute for Drug Abuse and described by one institute official as "good stuff"—is used in federally approved marijuana research projects. Instead of being hand-rolled into scraggly "JOINTS" the marijuana is packaged into cigarettes containing one gram each of marijuana into capsules containing THC, the active ingredient of marijuana.

In a few weeks, Dr. John C. Merrill, a Howard University Hospital ophthalmologist—a physician who specializes in diseases of the eye—will become one of the nation’s few federally sanctioned marijuana distributors.

Over the next two to three years, Merrill will distribute the weed—which is sold illegally for about $35 an ounce—free to 50 persons with severe rates of glaucoma, a serious eye disease, to determine if marijuana will help control the effects of the disease.

The ultimate goal of the marijuana research on glaucoma is the perfection of a "marijuana eye drop," Merrill said.

Carter administration officials seem to be ready to go ahead with a fiscal higher education budget for 1977 that may mean a major cutback of money allocated for use in financial programs geared towards the higher education system of this country.

The news may mean a drastic cutback in this country’s National Health Student Loan program (NDSL). The budget request could mean a cut of $582 million and would reduce the number of available awards to 885,000.

An Emerging Nation

By Sadie Taylor

A nation three years young in self-government, Papua, New Guinea is "trying to find her way."

So stated Paulus Manate—ambassador from Papua and representative to the U.N. February 28 before two small groups at Dinkins Auditorium on Winthrop campus.

Mr. Manate established his country as a struggling one, self-governing independence came from Australia on December 1, 1973. Papua, New Guinea, part of a larger island an located south of Australia, is trying to rule her won 2.5 million person population.

A film shown by Mr. Matane told Papua, New Guinea's story. Ruled at one time by the Dutch, British, German, and Australians, and plundered terribly during WWII, Papua New Guinea is accepting modern civilization slowly. Westernization has brought modern medicine, well-connected air routes, and extended roads, criss-crossing the jungle terrain. Free education flourishes, especially with the addition of the University of Papua, New Guinea in 1966.

Throughout a parliamentary government exists, assisted by Australia on foreign and defense affairs. Papua, New Guinea is still essentially village ruled. Establishing unity where 700 languages are spoken is difficult. Mr. Manate pointed out that the country is quite subsistence with natural resources of copper and timber. Agriculture prevails and industry is not well developed. Fish are also raised, as is rubber. Sheep are raised, with fish as a staple from near yearly.

Papua, New Guinea, as Mr. Matane pointed out, remains unspoiled as she copes with change and modern adjustment.

Papua, New Guinea is an emerging, tiny nation that relies on her people, supporting no one particular country. As Mr. Manate stated, "Papua, New Guinea wants to be friends of all."

Twenty area educators met at Joyce Center for Continuing Education Saturday, Feb. 12, to organize a regional chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, a professional education fraternity.

The guests met with Winthrop faculty staff and students to discuss educational opportunities. Representatives from Winthrop's five academic divisions also met with interested students. Counselors from the admissions office, placement and career planning and financial aid were present to talk with the visitors.
