One of the most frequent criticisms of colleges is that they are not efficient and interest in world affairs. This criticism is not unfair. Colleges are often criticized because they are more interested in their own goals than in those of their students. However, the worst of these criticisms is that they are not efficient. Colleges do not produce as many graduates as they should, and their graduates do not have as much knowledge as they should.

I have heard about the opportunists and advantages that lie ahead of you in college. However, you must be aware of the fact that there are also many disadvantages. You must be aware of the fact that you are not alone in these experiences. Many other students have had similar experiences. It is not unusual for students to feel overwhelmed by the amount of work and pressure they face. However, you must remember that you are not alone in these experiences.

The truth is that there are many opportunities for success in college. You must take advantage of these opportunities and make the most of your time in college. Remember that you are not alone in these experiences.

1956 Sees End Of Two Familiar WC Traditions

By JOYCE VEERUS

Traditions have long been the elements at the gates of Winthrop College. Winthrop spent its days into the hour, however, two Traditions, no longer.

No longer is there the awarded picnic season the traditional luncheon. Rather, there are the annual freshmen luncheons, whose season is a mere six weeks. And, the tradition of the freshman wall hangings is no longer seen by many. For the freshman wall hangings were the main one for the walls of every student's room. Without the freshman wall hangings, the students would have to find something else to brighten up their rooms.

Winthrop's last freshman wall hanging was hung in 1956, the year that the freshmen wall hangings were discontinued.
