

Fall 12-20-2010

Tillman Award Given to Business Student, and Other Graduation Stories

Winthrop University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/winthropnews2010>

Recommended Citation

Winthrop University, "Tillman Award Given to Business Student, and Other Graduation Stories" (2010). Winthrop News 2010. 183.
<https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/winthropnews2010/183>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Winthrop News and Events Archive at Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Winthrop News 2010 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. For more information, please contact bramed@winthrop.edu.

12/20/2010

SHARE

All NewsArchivesRSS News FeedsWinthrop in the News

Tillman Award Given to Business Student, and Other Graduation Stories

Quick Facts

- Patel expects to enter an M.B.A. program in the fall, possibly at Winthrop, in order to work in international trade and relations or for a business consultancy firm.
- Patel was one of about 270 students given their degrees at the ceremony. Some graduates from August also participated.

Lisa PatelKaren GilsonTravis and Traci Pauls

ROCK HILL, S.C. - Senior Lisa Patel received the Tillman Award at Winthrop University's fall commencement exercises on Dec. 18 at Winthrop Coliseum.

The Tillman Award is the university's highest academic honor. Established in 1940 to honor former S.C. Governor Benjamin Ryan Tillman, the award recognizes the graduate who has most consistently met the demands of academic excellence. Patel, who is originally from Birmingham, England, earned a bachelor of science degree from the College of Business Administration in three and a half years. She studied international business and has traveled extensively in Europe, Asia and Africa.

A member of Alpha Lambda Delta, a national honor society for high-achieving freshmen, and Beta Gamma Sigma, the national scholastic honorary society for students of business administration, Patel is an avid fan of soccer. She expects to enter an M.B.A. program in the fall, possibly at Winthrop, in order to work in international trade and relations or for a business consultancy firm.

Patel was one of about 270 students given their degrees at the ceremony. Some graduates from August also participated.

Among other students graduating on Dec. 18:

- Karen Gilson's mother was diagnosed with lung cancer in the summer of 2006 and passed away in November. "Throughout my mother's illness and after her death, I received numerous e-mails of concern and support from Dr. (Merry) Sleigh, associate professor of psychology. Her first priority was my emotional and physical health, followed by offers to assist me in completing my coursework for her class." Gilson said Sleigh didn't know that she had decided not to continue her education. But something happened, Gilson said. "I suddenly realized that if she had not given up on me then perhaps I should not either and that I at least owe her the courtesy to finish the classes I had started. She had nothing to gain from me, as she was not my academic advisor nor someone with whom I had a previous relationship; she was simply an educator doing what great educators do." Gilson earned her bachelor of social work degree on Saturday and plans to pursue her master's degree at Winthrop.

- Twins Traci and Travis Pauls of Blackville, S.C., graduated together. The two were in a car accident in December 2007 on I-77, a wreck that left Tracy in a wheelchair. She returned to Winthrop in 2009, earning a general communication disorder degree with a minor in biology. Traci will undergo physical therapy this summer in Atlanta, Ga., before heading to graduate school . Her brother, who majored in sociology and minored in psychology, is interviewing for jobs and hopes to attend graduate school to work in student life or student affairs.

- The first three McNair Scholars – Shanequa Bryant in biology, Brandi Jefferies in early childhood education and Alfie McCloud in economics – graduated this December. The program, named for the late astronaut Ron McNair of South Carolina, helps first-generation college students get into graduate programs.

[\[Back to Previous Page\]](#)

IN THE HEART OF THE CAROLINAS

| | | | | | |
|--------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|----------------------------------|--|--|------------------------------------|
| A-Z Site Map | Board of Trustees | Email | Finance & Business | Office of the President | Tuition & Fees |
| Accessibility | Calendars | Emergency/Safety | Financial Aid | Online Learning (Graduate) | Visit the Campus |
| Alumni & Friends | Directions | Employment | Library | Records & Registration | Visitors Center |
| Arts | Directory | Family Programs | Majors & More | Residence Life | Wingspan |