4-10-1978

The Johnsonian April 10, 1978

Winthrop University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/thejohnsonian1970s

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/thejohnsonian1970s/187

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the The Johnsonian at Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Johnsonian 1970-1979 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. For more information, please contact bramed@winthrop.edu.
"Drifters" Share "Sounds"

Warm and simple, yet with the razzle-dazzle stage style that's lived for 20 years, the Sounds of the Drifters will perform in concert at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 15, at Winthrop College. Tickets for the Winthrop Come-See-Me concert are now on sale at the Record Cellar in the Rock Hill Mall, Music World in Rock Hill's Towncenter Mall, and Dinkins Student Center at Winthrop. Admission is $2 for the public, $1 with a Winthrop ID.

The Sounds of the Drifters to appear at Winthrop.

Homecoming Scheduled
At Winthrop, April 14-16

More than 500 alumni are expected to attend traditional homecoming activities at Winthrop College April 14-16.

Special reunions are scheduled for all classes ending in "2" and "7." The class of 1952 will be celebrating its 50th anniversary; the class of 1928, its 60th; and the class of 1963, its 25th.

PKP Nominations

Nominations for the Phi Kappas Phi Excellence in Teaching Awards are now being accepted. This is an annual award presented to the professors considered by the students to be outstanding teachers.

This year, contrary to past procedures, the entire student body has the opportunity to make nominations. In making a nomination the student should consider these points: 1) preparation in and knowledge of subject matter, 2) enthusiasm for and interest in material presented, 3) interest in students and receptiveness to their ideas, 4) ability to motivate students by making class sessions stimulating and challenging, 5) fairness in grading, 6) ability to present material clearly and logically, 7) overall success as a teacher.

Any student desiring to make a nomination can obtain a nomination form from the information desk in Dinkins, the library, the Admissions Office or the Winthrop Public Affairs Office, (603) 323-2236.

RAPE!
BY MARY THOMAS

Most cases go unreported. The FBI estimates that one out of every two victims reports the crime to the authorities. Of the Winthrop coed came to this reporter rather than Campus Security or other authorities because, "I don't think I could identify him," said the woman, and I don't see any point in going through an interrogation and reliving the whole thing in front of someone else if there's nothing they can do about it. I didn't want to let people know, though, that rape is real, even at Winthrop, and that they should be careful not to go out at night if at all possible." Yes, rape is a reality on the Winthrop campus and Mrs. Cary Player, Crawford Health Center matron, says this is the third rape case that she's heard about this semester. She urges students to try to go places in groups of two or more, and to know who they are going to when they'll be back. While that may sound like an intrusion on privacy and independence to some of us, the resulting safety may help someone from having to go through the experience this coed had.

Here's her story. "I was walking back from Roddery after visiting a friend there Tuesday, March 14. I the Health Center, so only those of us who had to be in Rock Hill were here. I walked out the door that faces Brenzale about 12:30 a.m. and started out through the grass toward Security when a man jumped me from behind. I passed out once, and I think I screamed. I woke up and saw him on top of me. I passed out again. His face ... I saw it every night, but it's always so distorted that I don't think I could identify him even if it was someone I know. I'm sure, though, that I'd never seen him before.

"Since then I've felt kind of paranoid, like I just don't know what to do. When I went to a doctor finally, they said it was too early to tell if I was pregnant, and he didn't even examine me. He just said to wait and see.

"I've always thought I had my head together pretty well, but I just don't know. Pretty soon, I'll be looking for a job, and probably going home to my family, but if I'm pregnant ... well, even if I'm not, I'll feel really strange. It's not something that's easy to talk about, and I hope my family never has to know.

"I had pretty ordinary plans. Someday, I was going to get married and have children ... if I am pregnant, well, I don't believe in abortion unless it's absolutely necessary. I feel like this rape thing has robbed me of the chance to share, maybe even of the chance to choose the father of my child.

"In spite of what's happened to her, this coed says she is not bitter about life. "I know my life will be better, even if it's the way it is. I really accept it, and some times I wish the earth would open up and swallow me, but I know that I'll pass in time. It's hard to face your friends and wonder if they see a change in you, or what they'd think if they knew."

"It's happened to me. That's over, and I have accepted it. I just don't want it to happen to anybody else."

Where Can You Go?
York County Rape Crisis Council estimated that 90 women have been raped in the county since May. FBI estimates place the figure at 150. It could happen to you.

If it does, where can you go for help? If a rape is reported to Campus Security, the attendant on duty said she would first see a sergeant who does, "but..."

Crawford Health Center offers a medical examination: If the victim wants it, and night nurse Cary Player said she witnesses them, "anything I can for you." The Health Center staff will assist a victim in reporting a rape, but will not report it without her consent.

The York County Rape Crisis Council was formed solely to help rape victims and to try to prevent any more rapes from happening. The council, which can be contacted directly or through York General Hospital, the Rock Hill Police Department, York County Sheriff's Department, Catwba Center for Growth and Development of Divine Saviour Hospital, advises the victim to receive proper medical attention, "to preserve or present evidence or not to bathe, change clothes or wait before calling a doctor because physical evidence such as semen, hair or possibly skin she scraped off under her nails may be destroyed."

The Rape Crisis Council pointed out that a 1977 law states that the past sexual experiences of a rape victim cannot be exposed as a judge considers it necessary. Of the six women the council has worked with, two pressed charges, and one man has already been convicted. The other is awaiting trial.

The council also tries to educate the public "to prevent rape." You should walk in well-lighted places, keep your doors and windows locked, and change some between your father as a "quick-sticks" weapon. Other avoidance techniques include not picking up hitch-hikers and going directly to a police station if you find yourself following someone.

Mrs. Player of the infirmary said the best thing to do is "not to walk alone. Find someone to walk with you, like a 'buddy' system." One York County Rape Crisis Council worker advised, "If there is no alternative, submit. It's better to be alive than dead."
A Final Critique

The tradition of handing over THE JOHNSONIAN to a newly elected editor for the last two weeks of the school year has some basis in practical common sense. After all, the policy enables the old editor to do some last-minute business and to begin preparing for his successor. Even though this editor poured blood, sweat, and tears into TJ, many other staff members did the same.

SOUNDWAV was our first and probably most successful attempt at handling student opinion. Only the personal touch of Sudie Taylor enabled the success of such a venture. Other articles written by Sudie characteristically touched on some aspect of human interest. A hard worker, Sudie's style and encouragement were indispensable.

Ralph Johnson writes about people like Sudie, although his forte was in the coverage of political people on campus, in Rock Hill and South Carolina at large. With absolutely no background in journalism, only interest, Ralph painstakingly produced one article after another only for me to hand them back to him. His persistence and willingness to start over again was the key. He was a true professional, but it paid off to all concerned. Today, TJ has another good producing or eating after another only for me to hand them over to the student editor. Ralph always handled bad news better than Ron Hough.

According to the Board of Publication guidelines, the publication advisor is expected to read all material containing opinion. The material omitted from Ron Hough's column was done so at my suggestion. The material that follows then, produces those parts that the advisor might have summarily eliminated. Nor did they seem to care whether their or her advice was taken or not. You should hear me: I wouldn't have written the damned thing!

I'm not going to repeat that section of column: by the time you read this the information will be obsolete. The information wasn't so earth-shaking or mind-boggling to be of importance to us all; however, the few of you who actually have just might have benefited.

And there is just the point, fellow students. If the material might have been informed, whereas they weren't. This paper is informed, I hope, by your formation for you, the students.

Yet someone, somewhere, has subverted that idea. What they have done to public information is to hide it from us. We never know, but they sure as hell don't figure it to be an informative news source.

Hopefully, that concept will change.

Until then, it does, you are the ones being ripped off. You are the ones missing out on pertinent info. You are the ones paying more for less. No, you are not going to be unsure of anything you read in this mg.

Hey, am I pleased! See ya.

Note From THE JOHNSONIAN Advisor

According to the Board of Publication guidelines, the publication advisor is expected to read all material containing opinion. The material omitted from Ron Hough's column was done so at my suggestion. The material that follows then, produces those parts that the advisor might have summarily eliminated. Nor did they seem to care whether their or her advice was taken or not. You should hear me: I wouldn't have written the damned thing!

I'm not going to repeat that section of column: by the time you read this the information will be obsolete. The information wasn't so earth-shaking or mind-boggling to be of importance to us all; however, the few of you who actually have just might have benefited.

And there is just the point, fellow students. If the material might have been informed, whereas they weren't. This paper is informed, I hope, by your formation for you, the students.

Yet someone, somewhere, has subverted that idea. What they have done to public information is to hide it from us. We never know, but they sure as hell don't figure it to be an informative news source.

Hopefully, that concept will change.

Until then, it does, you are the ones being ripped off. You are the ones missing out on pertinent info. You are the ones paying more for less. No, you are not going to be unsure of anything you read in this mg.

Hey, am I pleased! See ya.

Note From THE JOHNSONIAN Advisor

According to the Board of Publication guidelines, the publication advisor is expected to read all material containing opinion. The material omitted from Ron Hough's column was done so at my suggestion. The material that follows then, produces those parts that the advisor might have summarily eliminated. Nor did they seem to care whether their or her advice was taken or not. You should hear me: I wouldn't have written the damned thing!

I'm not going to repeat that section of column: by the time you read this the information will be obsolete. The information wasn't so earth-shaking or mind-boggling to be of importance to us all; however, the few of you who actually have just might have benefited.

And there is just the point, fellow students. If the material might have been informed, whereas they weren't. This paper is informed, I hope, by your formation for you, the students.

Yet someone, somewhere, has subverted that idea. What they have done to public information is to hide it from us. We never know, but they sure as hell don't figure it to be an informative news source.

Hopefully, that concept will change.

Until then, it does, you are the ones being ripped off. You are the ones missing out on pertinent info. You are the ones paying more for less. No, you are not going to be unsure of anything you read in this mg.

Hey, am I pleased! See ya.

Note From THE JOHNSONIAN Advisor

According to the Board of Publication guidelines, the publication advisor is expected to read all material containing opinion. The material omitted from Ron Hough's column was done so at my suggestion. The material that follows then, produces those parts that the advisor might have summarily eliminated. Nor did they seem to care whether their or her advice was taken or not. You should hear me: I wouldn't have written the damned thing!

I'm not going to repeat that section of column: by the time you read this the information will be obsolete. The information wasn't so earth-shaking or mind-boggling to be of importance to us all; however, the few of you who actually have just might have benefited.

And there is just the point, fellow students. If the material might have been informed, whereas they weren't. This paper is informed, I hope, by your formation for you, the students.

Yet someone, somewhere, has subverted that idea. What they have done to public information is to hide it from us. We never know, but they sure as hell don't figure it to be an informative news source.

Hopefully, that concept will change.

Until then, it does, you are the ones being ripped off. You are the ones missing out on pertinent info. You are the ones paying more for less. No, you are not going to be unsure of anything you read in this mg.

Hey, am I pleased! See ya.

Note From THE JOHNSONIAN Advisor

According to the Board of Publication guidelines, the publication advisor is expected to read all material containing opinion. The material omitted from Ron Hough's column was done so at my suggestion. The material that follows then, produces those parts that the advisor might have summarily eliminated. Nor did they seem to care whether their or her advice was taken or not. You should hear me: I wouldn't have written the damned thing!

I'm not going to repeat that section of column: by the time you read this the information will be obsolete. The information wasn't so earth-shaking or mind-boggling to be of importance to us all; however, the few of you who actually have just might have benefited.

And there is just the point, fellow students. If the material might have been informed, whereas they weren't. This paper is informed, I hope, by your formation for you, the students.

Yet someone, somewhere, has subverted that idea. What they have done to public information is to hide it from us. We never know, but they sure as hell don't figure it to be an informative news source.

Hopefully, that concept will change.

Until then, it does, you are the ones being ripped off. You are the ones missing out on pertinent info. You are the ones paying more for less. No, you are not going to be unsure of anything you read in this mg.

Hey, am I pleased! See ya.

Note From THE JOHNSONIAN Advisor

According to the Board of Publication guidelines, the publication advisor is expected to read all material containing opinion. The material omitted from Ron Hough's column was done so at my suggestion. The material that follows then, produces those parts that the advisor might have summarily eliminated. Nor did they seem to care whether their or her advice was taken or not. You should hear me: I wouldn't have written the damned thing!

I'm not going to repeat that section of column: by the time you read this the information will be obsolete. The information wasn't so earth-shaking or mind-boggling to be of importance to us all; however, the few of you who actually have just might have benefited.

And there is just the point, fellow students. If the material might have been informed, whereas they weren't. This paper is informed, I hope, by your formation for you, the students.

Yet someone, somewhere, has subverted that idea. What they have done to public information is to hide it from us. We never know, but they sure as hell don't figure it to be an informative news source.

Hopefully, that concept will change.

Until then, it does, you are the ones being ripped off. You are the ones missing out on pertinent info. You are the ones paying more for less. No, you are not going to be unsure of anything you read in this mg.

Hey, am I pleased! See ya.
Cabaret Winthrop Style

BY SUDIE TAYLOR

"Nothing quite like this has ever been done at Winthrop."

The difference is the musical comedy review, "Oh Coward!" playing Wednesday through Sunday nights, April 13-15 in McKelvey's Faculty/Staff Lounge. Curtain is at 8 p.m.

Tatlin is raising her meunmenta: Sheree Wilson of Greenville measures Tatlin for a hat to wear in the Winthrop College Theatre production of "Oh Coward!" Both are members of the cast and Winthrop students. The performance—a musical revue of Noel Coward works, will be April 13-15, presented cabaret-style. (Winthrop College photo by Pete Pepinsky)

Taking her measurements: Sheree Wilson of Greenville measures Tatlin Taylor of Greer for a hat to wear in the Winthrop College Theatre production of "Oh Coward!" Both are members of the cast and Winthrop students. The performance—a musical revue of Noel Coward works, will be April 13-15, presented cabaret-style. (Winthrop College photo by Pete Pepinsky)

"Nothing quite like this has ever been done at Winthrop."

The difference is the musical comedy review, "Oh Coward!" playing Wednesday through Sunday nights, April 13-15 in McKelvey's Faculty/Staff Lounge. Curtain is at 8 p.m.

"Oh Coward" promises to have something for everyone. Director Beasley hopes to see more in the round shows. "If it's successful there is no reason we can't do more arena productions."

"I think it will prepare me since I want to work in a hospital as a dietetics specialist. Since food is necessary for everyone, dietetics is an open field."—Dipak Parikh; Soph.

"I expect my college education to give me experience in my field. I hope to get a job, but a degree doesn't guarantee anything. I plan to go into whatever I can get."—Romona Bryant; Sr.

"I expect an opportunity to develop skills for a better paying job, a development of creative ability, and an expansion of perception. In world and personal affairs. Most of all I expect self-improvement from my college education."—Richard Archer; Sr.

Village Greenhouse

10% Discount With Winthrop I.D.
149 HERLONG AVE.
VILLAGE SQUARE SHOPPING CENTER: ROCK HILL, S.C. 29730
Male Leads Winthrop’s SGA

New student body officers have been elected at Winthrop College for the 1978-79 school year.

A. Daniel Unscher of Sumter was elected president of the Student Government Association, the first male in Winthrop’s history to hold that office.

Deborah Jennie Grimes of Fort Washington, Pa., was elected vice president, and Julia Marie Gilbert of Greenville was chosen attorney general.

The student body officials will take office April 17.

SGA President

Unscher, who lives at 926 Oakland Ave., Rock Hill, is the son of Arnold J. Unscher, 5435 Plantation Drive, Sumter. Born in Honolulu, Hawaii, he is a junior business administration major. A graduate of Sumter’s Hillcrest High, Unscher is a dean’s list student at Winthrop. He is a member of the orientation staff, vice president of Dentina Program Board, a day student senator, a member of the student life, activity fees and housing committees. He is an alumni scholar.

Vice-President

Grimes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Grimes, Jr., 1216 Nash Drive, Fort Washington, Pa., is a junior international design major. A graduate of Upper Dublin High in Fort Washington, she is dean’s list senator, a junior class senator, a member of Delta Zeta Sorority, Phi Upsilon Omicron and Winthick (home economics organization), and a member of the orientation staff and the student activities fees committee. She is also a member of women’s varsity golf team.

Attorney General

Gilbert, daughter of Mrs. Doris F. Gilbert, 11 Collingwood Drive, Greenville, is a junior elementary education major. A graduate of Southside Christian High in Greenville, she is vice president of the Society for Collegiate Journalists, assistant public defender, and co-editor of the Tailor yearbook. She is a dean’s list student.

Editor’s Quote Book

Make yourself an honest man, and then you may be sure there is one less rascal in the world.

Thomas Carlyle

WINHROP’S FIRST CHEERLEADERS SELECTED

Thirteen students from the senior, junior, and sophomore classes were selected as Winthrop’s first group of cheerleaders on March 28, according to Weldon Gordon, Athletic Director.

“Over one hundred students were originally interested and we offered a clinic attended by over 30 participants. They tried out in front of a panel of judges not connected with Winthrop,” Gordon said.

Valleena Bice, Barbara Perry, and Nancy Lee day were the seniors chosen. Valerie Bridgeitt will be an alternate. From the junior class, Charlene Sullivan, Gwynn Henry, and Jean Bishop were selected with Sharon Greene as the alternate. Tammy Finley, Lisa Workman, and Cindy Ferrall will be sophomore cheerleaders, with Paula Barnes as alternate.

NEW STUDENT BODY OFFICERS—New officers of the Student Government Association at Winthrop College are, left to right, Deborah Grimes of Fort Washington, Pa., Daniel Unscher of Sumter and Julia Gilbert of Greenville. Unscher is the first male to be elected SGA president at Winthrop. (Winthrop College photo by Joel Nichols)

GRAND PRIZE

10 speed bike

YOU DON’T HAVE TO BE A PRO TO PARTICIPATE!

Best time for all five events wins!

EVERYONE IS A WINNER

Sponsored by GRANT BEVERAGE

In case of rain, 7:30 in McBryde Cafeteria

FREE DRAFT BEER upon presentation of entry bib
Sixty Years Of Folly

BY PHOEBE LARK

The first Junior Follies performance, "H-Bombs," was presented in 1926 in Peabody Gym and consisted of acrobatic stunts, animals, clown, and a side show. For nearly 60 years the spring-time event has attracted parents, friends and professionals from all over Rock Hill and throughout the state.

The preparation for the Junior class production, which is designed to raise money for the Junior-Junior dance, has been basically the same. But over the years Junior Follies have had the chance for production rearrangements.

The class of '46 presented "The Winthrop Follies" in the Clemson College Chapel in addition to the presentation in what was once known as the college auditorium, at Winthrop. In the early '50s the Junior classes staged parades on campus as well as in the downtown Rock Hill area and the Junior class reunion, Rockettes presented a feature of the annual production. And after all of the preparation to attract an audience, the admission charge during that time was 25 cents for children, 35 cents for Winthrop students and 60 cents for adults.

The present day Junior Follies, two co-chairmen are selected one year before the actual performance. At the beginning of the spring semester, a great amount of excitement is stirred up as committee members organize for weeks of tedious work and practice. Some participants are responsible for writing an original script while others creatively paint yards of muslin for a backdrop. Still other members contact individual businesses in Rock Hill and the surrounding area asking for donations for Follies. The Junior class is responsible for continuing the tradition of not revealing details of Follies until the night of the performance. In order to keep the details secret, the follies committee gives a cover up performance. "The cover up there is also gets the students interested enough to stay for the weekend to see the actual show," said Anita Holland, co-chairman for Junior Follies.

With all the bustling and busting, it is a wonder that the production was so well organized. Anita Holland attributes this to the class members. "We chose people who were hard workers and who knew how to use their special talents." "Ordinarily it takes an hour to hang a backdrop, but we had such organization that we hung 3 in one hour," she explained.

When asked if she learned anything from the annual production, Ms. Holland laughingly replied, "After it's over, you realize you don't have to attend meetings every night!"

No Folly For The Jr. Follies

BY RALPH JOHNSTON!

If you missed it, you still have a chance to see it on April 15. If you saw it, go see it again; it is well worth it. This year's Junior Follies was probably one of the most entertaining student activities held so far this year. Under the talented and innovative direction of Sharnie Wilson, follies consisted of musical score with a simplistic yet strangely symbolic story line. The story is a familiar one. Two college graduate co-eds, unable to find work in their fields, are forced to work in a second rate diner in order to survive. They are actively seeking adventure and excitement, and the things that they get into are simply hilarious. The underlying theme, it would seem, concerns friends. The play says that even if you never see a person again, you will always have the memories of that person. Memories are forever.

The play, which was written by members of the junior class, clearly showed the literary talent of our rising senior class. The play will be presented again at April 15, which is Parent's Day. An added feature of the program for that day will be the announcement of those rising seniors who were named to Senior Order.

Phyllis Ariel busting out a Dolly Parton song.

NOW
ALL YOU CAN EAT AT FREDRIC'S

ALL THE DELICIOUS FISH, FANTASTIC CHICKEN OR BOTH; including potatoes, slaw, salad bar, hot rolls, hushpuppies and onion rings you can eat. Just 2.99.

Our menu is complete with many selections. On or about April 12 we will be open 24 hours—and will never close again. At that time we will start serving the best breakfasts around, at very reasonable prices.

Fredric's
Formerly CEDRIC'S
1158 Cherry Road 366-3353
Whether you're diving or catching your breath, the Winthrop Pool is a great place to escape midsemester blues.

R.H. Holds Mini-Marathon

The Come-See-Me Road Race, Rock Hill's first mini-marathon, will be held April 15th in conjunction with Rock Hill's annual fun weekend known as Come-See-Me.

The race will consist of three courses—a half-marathon of 13.1 miles; 10,000 meters or 6.2 miles; and a two-mile fun course for non-serious runners and children. Anyone may enter, and trophies will be awarded to winners of the two longer courses in various age categories.

The road race is sponsored by the Rock Hill Y.M.C.A. and the Rock Hill Parks and Recreation Department. Y.M.C.A. Director Robert Hope, a member of the South Carolina Governor's Council on Physical Fitness, and Jack Holzman have mapped out the courses along residential streets. Both of the longer courses will take runners past beautiful Glencoe Gardens which should be ablaze with azaleas.

"All three courses begin at 10 a.m. at Dinkins Student Center at Winthrop College and are on mainly flat ground with a few rolling hills," said Hope. "I've been helping to promote marathons all over the state and am excited that we're finally going to have one in Rock Hill."

Hope says there are at least 175 serious runners in Rock Hill involved in active jogging program, and he expects hundreds of entrants from all over the state.

Entry fee for all courses is $3.00 and each entrant will receive a Come-See-Me Road Race T-shirt with Glen the Frog, symbol of Come-See-Me, on it.

Entry forms may be obtained by writing the Rock Hill Y.M.C.A., Box 3028 CRS, Rock Hill, S.C. 29730 or may be picked up at any of the Rock Hill Neighborhood Centers or at the Y.M.C.A.

Runners may also want to enjoy many of the other activities of Come-See-Me weekend—most of which are free to the public. Events include a huge fireworks display, concerts, arts and crafts shows, plays, a frog-jumping contest, planetarium show, Special Olympics for the mentally retarded, fashion show, antique car show, tennis tournament, and dances. It all takes place April 14th-16th.

TRAMPS

Discotheque & Backgammon Club
Hwy. 17 Windy Hill Setn. N. MYRTLE BEACH, S.C.
"Tramping Ground Of The Atlantic"

The most exciting disco in town invites you to spend your Easter and summer vacations with us.

Find out why everyone on the East Coast is talking about TRAMPS!\n
BE A CONTESTANT IN
ROCK HILL MALL'S
PLAYMATE BIKINI CONTEST
Contest Will Be Held At Rock Hill Mall
On Saturday, April 15, At 3 p.m.
Contestants Must Be Between The Ages Of 18 To 25.
PRIZES: 1ST Place---$75 (plus trophy)
2ND Place---$50
3RD Place---$25
“Playboy” Playmate,
JANICE SCHMIDT
Miss February 1978 Will Help Judge
CLIP COUPON BELOW AND RETURN TO ROCK HILL MALL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION, ROCK HILL MALL, ROCK HILL, S.C. 29730
NAME:
PHONE:
ADDRESS:
AGE:
REMARKS:
Excuse Me, Have You Seen My Oil Rig?

BY ROSE HOUK

(Last week, the federal government announced that it was going to sell offshore land to interested oil companies off the South Carolina coast.)

It sounds like another Bermuda Triangle. Rumors of huge offshore oil rigs and platforms disappearing from their firm footing into the Gulf of Mexico in the wee hours of the morning. The U.S. Geological Survey responded by investigating these reports, issued May, 1977, told what happened to Pennzoll's A-5 well on the fateful night of November 6, 1976.

Pennzoll had drilled seven exploratory wells before drilling the ill-fated A-5 well in the High Island Block A-563, a tract about 90 miles off the Texas coast in the gulf. The platform was installed in January, 1976 and the drilling of the A-5 well began October 8, 1976. The well was to be bored 6,634 feet deep, straight into the sediment of the seabed floor.

As soon as the drilling began, the operators noticed loss of circulation in the drilling mud. A liquid mud solution normally pumped into the hole to seal the well against the mud pressure losses. Pressure was re-established, but then a fantastic accident occurred—of one too many for the 35-man crew during the next two or three weeks.

Due to a heat build-up, a contact in the main control panel short-circuited. Ordinarily, back-up systems could have bypassed this, but copper melted down into the power cable, hitting one that directed control of the drilling equipment. Power was lost on the rig for 12 hours. When it was restored, the drill pipe would not turn. It got stuck because when the drill is stopped the uncontaminated geologically recent sediments in the Gulf tend to swell, and the wall of the hole "gapes" the pipe, according to Glen Fitzell, a USGS petroleum engineer who helped investigate the blowout. "It's like trying to get a foot out of the mud," he said.

For 12 days this is what the crew tried to do. It may have been during this "fishing" and jarring operation that a leak in the surface pipe developed. A USGS investigator thinks. But the casing was not checked after the drill was free, and the leak was not detected until more mud was lost and bubbles appeared.

On the afternoon of November 3, the mud pumps were shut down briefly for routine operations. Saltwater began to flow up the hole. The crew immediately turned on the pumps and tried to stop the water flow with heavier mud. They used all the mud they had, 3,000 sacks and radio calls for more supplies went unanswered until it was too late. Whether more mud would have helped the situation is doubtful, Fitzell said, because it would have not stopped the leak. Three efforts to "kill the well," or bring it under control, were complicated by the underground flow of saltwater. But the signal of really serious trouble was the appearance of bubbles on the east sides of the platform. 'The crew knew the well was telling them something was wrong—that some way or another the drill mud and gas were escaping from inside the pipe, and大气 on the surrounding formations, Fitzell explained. Then they knew they had more than a well control problem. "This is always cause for alarm," he said.

From then on, the gas zones continued to flow, filling the well and out on the hole until finally the extreme pressure of the gas had thrust it through the earth, and a crater in the sea floor was formed.

Boats evacuated the crew members to safety, where, on November 6, at 2:55 a.m., they watched the $30 million rig and platform fall 45 degrees, and in five minutes be swallowed into a thousand-foot oval crater. Observers said geysers shot into the air 50-100 feet.

The platform's legs literally fell out from underneath it. Although the platform's design was adequate for the sand and silt in which it was anchored, "no platform would be expected to remain erect through a casing incident like Pennzoll's," according to the AGS. Pennzoll later took television cameras down and found the crater measured more than 325 feet deep. No trace of the rig and platform is still visible from seafloor inspections, and the construction of events surrounding the blowout was possible only through interviews with crew members and knowledge about the region, said Fitzell.

How much gas was lost in the blowout? Between November 6, 1976 and January 4, 1977, the USGS estimated that a little more than one billion cubic feet of the gas, about one and a half million dollars worth, was lost. Under protest Pennzoll has paid the federal government $274,000 for the lost gas. Penznol hit the只想 to drill the Oiler Continental Shelf in 1973 when the U.S. Interior Department offered the tract to a consortium of oil companies, paying $1.6 million for the chance to see any of the 5,760 acres of the seabed or the deposits underlying it contained oil or gas.

Although Pennzoll did provide funds for research on the environmental effects until three months after the accident, no contamination of the water was found at that time. Researchers from Texas A&M analyzed water samples but found that the gas had rapidly dispersed and most of it evaporated into the atmosphere. The USGS district office monitored the boiling seas daily, and saw some evidence of sediments suspended in the water, apparently digested from the crater. No oil was involved in this particular blowout.

What can be done to advert such disasters in the future? The USGS has written letters to district supervisors telling them to monitor operations when problems of this type occur. Specifically, operators are advised not to jar or fish for a stuck drill pipe without some kind of pressure test being performed afterward to ensure that the casing has not been split. In most cases, rig changes tend to exceed the value of the recovered drill pipe, after so many days. Why did they put so much time and effort into recovering the pipe? Because they wanted to get to the target zone that was supposed to contain what they were after—the gas, Fitzell said.

"It's like a guy dining on a bald tire," he said. "You try to make it because you think you can, but sometimes you don't." And this time they didn't.
Job Hunting Got You Down?

Dear College Senior:

Today you came to me for a job interview. From the faint scent of your shoulders as you walked out, I suspect you’ve been turned down before, and maybe you believe some seniors just can’t find jobs.

But I hired a college senior today, you see. One was so special about her? Not experience, neither of you had any; not grades, you both had the same average. Attitude, A-T-T-I-T-U-D-E! She did her best to impress me. That is where she edged you out.

She wasn’t dressed like Easter Sunday, but that wasn’t necessary. Her clothes were clean and her hair was neat. She had all the information typed neatly on her application. She didn’t ask to borrow a pen.

She didn’t start to chew gum or smoke during the interview, and she wasn’t afraid to smile or to look me in the eye. She didn’t keep looking at her watch, giving me the impression she had something better to do.

She took the time to ask me some questions - to find out how “we” operate and what her day-to-day tasks would be. I think she will keep her eyes open and work for me like she would work for herself.

She was willing to start at that point where I could afford to pay. Someday she will get to the point where she will have more authority over others and a better pay check.

Maybe jobs for college graduates aren’t as plentiful as they once were, but there are jobs. You may not believe it but employers are looking for young men and women smart enough to go after a job in the old-fashioned way.

If you have the vague idea of what I’m trying to say, let it show the next time you look for a job. You will be held and shodden above the rest.

For both our sakes - get enthusiastic. Don’t be afraid to sell yourself.

Sincerely,

The Boss

---

Summer Job Service

A representative from JOB SERVICE will be taking applications for summer and part-time jobs in the Rock Hill—York County area. The JOB SERVICE VAN will be parked in front of the Placement and Career Planning office at Bancroft Hall. Students must register on:

Park: April 15, 10 a.m.-2 p.m.
Wed., April 19, 9 a.m.-2 p.m.
Thurs., April 20, 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

This will be the last visit for the JOB SERVICE this semester. Students who miss the JOB SERVICE VAN can fill out an application at the JOB SER.

---

Records / Tapes / Accessories

THE RECORD CELLAR

BRING THIS COUPON AND WINTHROP COLLEGE I.D.

And Get

ANY REG. $4.99 Album or Tape For

Void After APRIL 15

(ALL TAPES GUARANTEED 1 YEAR)

LIMIT ONE PER CUSTOMER

NAME

ADDRESS

---

WENDY'S

OLDFASHIONED HAMBURGERS.

CHILL & FROSTY

WINTHROP STUDENTS -10% DISCOUNT

AT WENDY'S

(With valid College I.D.)

EAT AT WENDY'S AND ENJOY OUR HOT-N-JUICY HAMBURGERS

WENDY'S in Rock Hill Across From Rock Hill Mall

---

Election Results

Class elections, Student Government Association elections and the election for the Editors of the three publications have been completed. The results are:

Rising Sophomore class: President, Tongiaowein, Vice-President, Reubie Adkins, Secretary, Semyray Storer, Treasurer, Laura Homman and the Sophomore class cheerleader is Page Doll.?.

In the rising Junior class the president is Ruthie Ayers, Vice-President, Debra Toller, Secretary-Treasurer, Bechav Batchelor, Junior Follies Co-Chairpersons will be, Christen Sherman and Donna Massey. Cheerleader are Jane Polansky and Beth Amick.

In the rising Senior class the officers are: President, Judy Kingsport, Vice-President, Kathy Gibson, Secretary-Treasurer Sandy Thompson. The Cheerleader is Rhonda Robbins. Junior-Senior prom committee will be headed by Janet Adams and Claude Brown.

In the elections in the SGA judicial branch the public prosecutor is Donnie Campbell and the Public Defender is Robin Stilson.

Register Early For Fall

Early registration for first semester 1978-79 will take place in McBryde Hall on April 25 and April 26, 1978. Each presently enrolled student, excluding May graduates, will be sent registration packets the week of April 10. May 1978 graduates should go to the Admissions Office if they intend to return to Winthrop for further study.

Students needing assistance in planning their programs should consult with their advisors during the week of April 17-21 or at times set up by their respective academic divisions.

EAT AT WENDY'S AND ENJOY OUR HOT-N-JUICY HAMBURGERS

WENDY'S in Rock Hill Across From Rock Hill Mall
Rock Hill says, "Come-See-Me"

There's no other weekend in Rock Hill, S.C. that you can ride a steam-powered train, join in a race meet and enter your favorite frog in a jumping contest. No, there's just no other weekend like Come-See-Me, April 14-16!

And if you like your weekends a little more mellow, you can lay back amid beautiful azalea gardens and listen to jazz ensembles, watch a unique fireworks display, see plays, concerts, art exhibits, crafts, a multi-media planetarium show, and much more. And most of it's free!

"Something for everyone is a terrible cliché," says 1978 Come-See-Me Chairman Dave Wipperman, "but we really do think we have something planned almost anyone will enjoy!"

He can back up his claim with a long list of activities. "The Best Friend of Charleston," a replica of the first steam locomotive to pull a train of cars in regular service, will be back in 1978 and probably be a big favorite with children. Short rides will be offered and an exhibit car will be on display Saturday afternoon of Come-See-Me.

The Come-See-Me Sky Show, a firework extravaganza in uptown Rock Hill Friday evening, is expected to draw thousands of spectators.

And on Saturday morning hundreds of runners will be racing from Winthrop College through Rock Hill residential areas and past flowing Glenelg Gardens in a mini-marathon, 10,000 meter race and a 5 mile run course.

The Museum of York County will be presenting throughout the weekend a special planetarium show that explores the possibilities of extra terrestrial life - "Footprints in the Sky." To complement the show, an Apollo moon rock, almost 4 billion years old, will be on display.

Also at the Museum will be the S.C. State Collection of Oils and Acrylics, a patio art show by the Artist League of the Museum, five animal shows, a strolling musician and a pencil artist at work.

Shows on Saturday at the York Town Center Mall include performances by outstanding area musical groups - New Hope Gospel Chorus, Greg Hill, classic guitarist, Marlan Brown, Virgil Sealy, Choral Society of Northwestern High School; a dog obedience demonstration by Marty Belt, a nationally known Dog Designs, Ltd. of Rock Hill, and a three-hour afternoon show by the amiable and western performer Tom Smiley, who will be joined by Jeff Lewis, westernclad. Also at the Mall will be the first bird of the season, a photography exhibit by the R.H. Negatives Photography Club and a unique car show on the parking deck.

Sports events during the weekend include the Come-See-Me Junior Tennis Tournament sanctioned by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association and the Southern Lawn Olympics Track Meet for handicapped children, and the Rock Hill Church Slow-pitch Tippert Softball Tournament at Arcade Ball Park.

The traditional Frog Jumping Contest will be held Sunday evening at City Hall Plaza. Prizes will be awarded to those who can make their move and the total distance of the first three hops is more important than the technique used. The competition will be held by the Home Builders Association of York County with 70 booths displaying area homes and garden products and services.

Other exhibits include a Needle Arts Show at Pawell Park Recreation Center, the Spring Traveling Art Show and the Vernon Grant Art Show at Winthrop College, and a craft and antiques display during open house at the Senior Citizen Center.

And nighttime activities during Come-See-Me offer just as much variety. Friday night after the fireworks, a disco dance will be held on the parking deck.

Saturday night there will be a western square dance at York Hill Mussestral Stadium to benefit the American Cancer Society.

Friday and Sunday evening at the College of the Bible will be the lively music show. "Oh, Coward," will be presented cabaret-style with voices and dance. The Saturday night at Winthrop a Sounds of the Drifters Concert will be performed.

Comput-A-Grade

The students mark their answers on keypunch cards which are fed into the computer. Two copies of the computer printout are provided for each student, one for the student and one for the instructor's files.

The computer tells the student the correct number, minus any and the number needed for competency in each area. The addition to grading each paper, the computer tells the instructor how many students missed each question. "If a large percentage of students are missing the same question, then something is wrong with the lesson or the teaching," said Ms. Land.

Ms. Land.

The instructors are also provided with a range of scores, high to low. "Many people might think the use of computers would be dehumanizing," said Ms. Land, "But it gives us more time to spend with each individual student."

Ms. Worthy added that the time the teacher and Ms. Land gain can be spent in their teaching methods. "We can now spend more time improving lectures, revising test items and giving more individual tutoring and conferences," she says.

PLANT PROTECTION

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has granted 11 new and amended plant certificated of protection to U.S. and foreign plant breeders for additional cruciferous vegetables, lettuce, lima beans, rice, sesame, soybeans, spinach and parsley. - CNS
ENTERTAINMENT WEEKLY

BY RON LAYNE

Imagine that! I get to bow out of the college news writing game in the same year that Carol Burnett bowed out of the weekly series sidekick role. "It's so sad that we've had this time, together."

No. It will never work. For one thing, I'm a lousy singer, and, besides, even if I sang my ear, no one could see me. I guess we each have to write our own exits, though I suppose Jean-Paul Sartre would tell us that there is "No Exit." I drew that in for the English majors.

So, what would you like to hear? A little humor? Well, I haven't been doing any funny lately, but I suppose I could tell you about some of the more telling satiric I've been working on.

THE GOODBYE SQUIRREL. Richard everybody likes a good love story, so I'll give you one. A young actor moves to New York, hoping for aheartbruks of ahit . Shows the struggles andput up with people like me.

I could go on, but I don't think I really have the time or

You didn't like that one. Anyway, here's the rest of the story:

I hope you make you proud. Every- ing thing I want to bleed from my
elbow, I'm so glad that squirrels really do

Try this one.

LOU GRUNT. The conflicts andconstipations of a big city editor.

Maybe I should go back to

LOOKING FOR MR. MOUNDS BAR. A candy addictbattles obesity by disco-ing herfunny off, only to die of aterminal case of the fits.

THE WORLD'S GROSSEST

LOVER. Eroticism with theemphasis on the ROT. Thedirty old man from the

STAR WHORES. Need Isay more?

SATURDAY NIGHT CLEAVEAGE. A National Geo-graphic documentary on adisco craze with special atten-tion given to the American

GROSS ENCOUNTERSOF THE NERD KIND. The trials andtribulations of college ad-

hancement with the em-

GROSSEST BROTHERS. Theput up with people like me.

I could go on, but I don't think

If I really have the time or

No sob stories from here on out, just a few thank you's. First, to all the girls in Dinkins the other night (Kathy, Lee, Ginny, Gail, and, of course, Frances), thanks for making me aware that I am "the Party writer." I never really considered myself in that light (i.e. "I saw the Light"). Phineas always seemed, and, for that matter, always will seem to be one of the noblest characters I've ever had the pleasure to meet. I told you earlier, I haven't been feeling funny lately, so Phineas has been having his fun without me. I hope he isn't gone forever. As for the rest of the stories that evoked hostility andthe social issues, they stand.

Perhaps this time we've had the pleasure to share a type-writer with at one time or

But there is one more to

Me: "I didn't invent that kind oftime for STAR WARS or evenCLOSE ENCOUNTERS. I in-

ANNIE HALL isn't just "a comedy," it's high comedy, and high com-

(Continued from m page 2)

Thus, I challenged the re-

Looking at the column today, I see that Ron Hough was, as usual, anything but accurate. I was also unable to verify that Ron check-

Finally, I am no censor except perhaps when irrepressibleand unnecessary are concerned, and in journalism we call that"biasing." As an author I abhor cen-

have, he'd have had the opportu-

time to let someone else have

ATTENTION FACULTY: Graduates student desires to "house-sit" for faculty for the entire summer or vacation weeks in exchange for living quarters. References. Reply to Box 5054, WCS.

TJ/ENTERTAINMENT PAGE ELEVEN

Allen, Keaton And Hall

BY KATHY KIRKPATRICK

You'll have to excuse me. I'm a Woody Allen/Diane Keaton/ANNIE HALL fan. It's a wicked condition of heart and humor characterized by an occasional "lade-da" weekly stroll to an analyst, and the daily rendering of the Groucho Marx quip. "I wouldn't want to be-

A young actor moves to New York, hoping for aheartbruks of ahit . Shows the struggles andput up with people like me.

I could go on, but I don't think

If I really have the time or

No sob stories from here on out, just a few thank you's. First, to all the girls in Dinkins the other night (Kathy, Lee, Ginny, Gail, and, of course, Frances), thanks for making me aware that I am "the Party writer." I never really considered myself in that light (i.e. "I saw the Light"). Phineas always seemed, and, for that matter, always will seem to be one of the noblest characters I've ever had the pleasure to meet. I told you earlier, I haven't been feeling funny lately, so Phineas has been having his fun without me. I hope he isn't gone forever. As for the rest of the stories that evoked hostility andthe social issues, they stand.

Perhaps this time we've had the pleasure to share a type-writer with at one time or

But there is one more to

Me: "I didn't invent that kind oftime for STAR WARS or evenCLOSE ENCOUNTERS. I in-

ANNIE HALL isn't just "a comedy," it's high comedy, and high com-

(Continued from m page 2)

Thus, I challenged the re-

Looking at the column today, I see that Ron Hough was, as usual, anything but accurate. I was also unable to verify that Ron check-

Finally, I am no censor except perhaps when irrepressibleand unnecessary are concerned, and in journalism we call that"biasing." As an author I abhor cen-

have, he'd have had the opportu-

time to let someone else have

ATTENTION FACULTY: Graduates student desires to "house-sit" for faculty for the entire summer or vacation weeks in exchange for living quarters. References. Reply to Box 5054, WCS.

TJ/ENTERTAINMENT PAGE ELEVEN

Allen, Keaton And Hall

BY KATHY KIRKPATRICK

You'll have to excuse me. I'm a Woody Allen/Diane Keaton/ANNIE HALL fan. It's a wicked condition of heart and humor characterized by an occasional "lade-da" weekly stroll to an analyst, and the daily rendering of the Groucho Marx quip. "I wouldn't want to be-

A young actor moves to New York, hoping for aheartbruks of ahit . Shows the struggles andput up with people like me.

I could go on, but I don't think

If I really have the time or

No sob stories from here on out, just a few thank you's. First, to all the girls in Dinkins the other night (Kathy, Lee, Ginny, Gail, and, of course, Frances), thanks for making me aware that I am "the Party writer." I never really considered myself in that light (i.e. "I saw the Light"). Phineas always seemed, and, for that matter, always will seem to be one of the noblest characters I've ever had the pleasure to meet. I told you earlier, I haven't been feeling funny lately, so Phineas has been having his fun without me. I hope he isn't gone forever. As for the rest of the stories that evoked hostility andthe social issues, they stand.

Perhaps this time we've had the pleasure to share a type-writer with at one time or

But there is one more to

Me: "I didn't invent that kind oftime for STAR WARS or evenCLOSE ENCOUNTERS. I in-

ANNIE HALL isn't just "a comedy," it's high comedy, and high com-

(Continued from m page 2)

Thus, I challenged the re-

Looking at the column today, I see that Ron Hough was, as usual, anything but accurate. I was also unable to verify that Ron check-

Finally, I am no censor except perhaps when irrepressibleand unnecessary are concerned, and in journalism we call that"biasing." As an author I abhor cen-

have, he'd have had the opportu-

time to let someone else have

ATTENTION FACULTY: Graduates student desires to "house-sit" for faculty for the entire summer or vacation weeks in exchange for living quarters. References. Reply to Box 5054, WCS.

TJ/ENTERTAINMENT PAGE ELEVEN

Allen, Keaton And Hall

BY KATHY KIRKPATRICK

You'll have to excuse me. I'm a Woody Allen/Diane Keaton/ANNIE HALL fan. It's a wicked condition of heart and humor characterized by an occasional "lade-da" weekly stroll to an analyst, and the daily rendering of the Groucho Marx quip. "I wouldn't want to be-

A young actor moves to New York, hoping for aheartbruks of ahit . Shows the struggles andput up with people like me.

I could go on, but I don't think

If I really have the time or

No sob stories from here on out, just a few thank you's. First, to all the girls in Dinkins the other night (Kathy, Lee, Ginny, Gail, and, of course, Frances), thanks for making me aware that I am "the Party writer." I never really considered myself in that light (i.e. "I saw the Light"). Phineas always seemed, and, for that matter, always will seem to be one of the noblest characters I've ever had the pleasure to meet. I told you earlier, I haven't been feeling funny lately, so Phineas has been having his fun without me. I hope he isn't gone forever. As for the rest of the stories that evoked hostility andthe social issues, they stand.

Perhaps this time we've had the pleasure to share a type-writer with at one time or

But there is one more to

Me: "I didn't invent that kind oftime for STAR WARS or evenCLOSE ENCOUNTERS. I in-

ANNIE HALL isn't just "a comedy," it's high comedy, and high com-

(Continued from m page 2)

Thus, I challenged the re-

Looking at the column today, I see that Ron Hough was, as usual, anything but accurate. I was also unable to verify that Ron check-

Finally, I am no censor except perhaps when irrepressibleand unnecessary are concerned, and in journalism we call that"biasing." As an author I abhor cen-

have, he'd have had the opportu-

time to let someone else have

ATTENTION FACULTY: Graduates student desires to "house-sit" for faculty for the entire summer or vacation weeks in exchange for living quarters. References. Reply to Box 5054, WCS.
at graduation
you’ll be graduatesome

Everyone says that your college years are the best years of your life. That may be so, but they’re sure not the richest. And that’s where McDonald’s can help. We’ve got enough good, hot food to keep you going through exams, spring breaks and the games. And still leave you enough money to have some fun. So stop by McDonald’s for your next meal or snack. We can go through college together.