This is it. College. You have, as they say, arrived. You're at the beginning of what is known as your college years, a topic about which everyone seems to have an opinion, though none of those opinions are quite the same. We at The Johnsonian would like to make a few generalizations for you. But we can't. Oh, we could say that these are the years of freedom from responsibilities, of the care-free life. But if you wind up working at a part-time job to pay your rent or as president of the SGA you won't spend that much time feeling carefree and irresponsible. Or we could say college is hell—an endless array of all-night term papers and cramming for exams. But that's not quite the truth either. Just what college is happens to be something we aren't prepared to define. We aren't even prepared to give advice. Because some of us, as juniors and seniors, know less than when we began. Or maybe we just found out how little we know—about people, about ourselves, about life. What we can say about college, is just to do it. Jump right in the middle of it—classes, friends, clubs, parties. Taste a little bit of it all.

In the meantime, we'll try our best to let you know about all the things you can get into at Winthrop. We'll make mistakes sometimes, and when we do it's your job to let us know about it. And we'll dazzle you occasionally. Let us know about that too. We don't turn many letters away from P.O. Box 6800, WCSI.

And hey, we wish you luck. Here's looking at you, kid.
Welcome to Changes

Winthrop Is A Whole

What?
I can hear a half-dozen people exclaiming, "How can the editor of our newspaper call Winthrop a whole?" Well, the word is WHOLE - once as in empty hole, but as in a system of parts working together as one. Winthrop IS a whole and it is important for you freshmen to sense the unity.

Anyone having anything to do with Winthrop is a part of the whole. You all now have a common bond. You will share your environment, your experiences, and your lives. For four years you will live and learn with a large group of people, people together who make up a unique system which couldn’t be produced anywhere else. You need to be proud of this whole - you will make it what it is, together.

You need to generate a feeling of recognition for one another. Ten years from now when you meet someone for the first time and discover that you both went to Winthrop, you will experience this feeling of recognition. Suddenly you’ll both have a common element and it will feel good to have something to share.

You can begin by enjoying some good feelings now.

We all need to train and to see ourselves as a total. Others see us as a total. When the chorus travels it isn’t just a chorus from Rock Hill; it is the Winthrop Chorus. When the Dance Theatre participates in a workshop, it is first recognized as a part of Winthrop. This year when our basketball team travels to another school, they will be the team from Winthrop. Not only does it represent sports, but it also represents the whole of Winthrop. We need to start feeling and acting like a team. Let’s show those other schools that we’re into ourselves. We’re proud to be from Winthrop.

You need to make things happen here, not only during the week, but on weekends too. Students, dorm and day students alike, experience Winthrop as a total. Sports tournaments, marathons, beer bussis, and concerts are sponsored just for Winthrop.

This feeling of "one" is not only for the students. The faculty, staff, and administration are included in this effort to unite. I’d like to see participation in activities where students and faculty could do something together besides study. We would like to achieve a better balance of work and play between the two halves. Work and you?

The possibilities are endless. We’re all intelligent human beings with ideas and interests of our own. Let’s communicate outside the classroom as well as inside and generate more of an interest for everyone.

So Winthrop is a whole - but in no way is it empty! It’s packed full of people to meet, things to learn, and experiences to enjoy. Get into your whole, freshmen, and welcome to this experience called Winthrop.

Freshmen- This is It!

Welcome to the college scene. I’m sure you have received that overwhelming feeling of being part of it all: the atmosphere, the college administration, staff, and student officials already. I’m equally certain that you have been showered with “welcome” notes and “handouts” in the mail. The people “welcome” were given in the utmost sincerity. Yet, I feel the need not just to say “welcome,” but to inform you about some of the problems you may encounter. There ARE problems in college. Many range from simple red-tape to personal problems. These problems, however, can be handled and coped with by slightly by simply “re-aligning” some of your living habits.

The first week in the dorm will convince you that there is no (or very little) privacy in the dorm! After contending with everyone else on your hall, you are still faced with dealing with your roommate. I hope that the roommates are as they say the "salt of the earth" and will give you any problems, but if it does, the Housing Office will be more than glad to help. The people in this office are well aware that all roommate situations don’t work. They are more than willing to help with these matters. Your privacy will also all be infringed upon; you live in a dorm with communal baths. These may really seem like the “pluses” at first, but it is really a nice place to meet the people on your hall and make new friends!

For some, the drastic change that college brings about in your life-style, causes personal problems. Many people experience homesickness and miss their familiar environment. Winthrop is well staffed with a fine counseling center that will listen attentively and with concern. I’m sure you will probably want to discuss your problems with friends, family, clergy, etc. Know that the counseling center is there to help.

Problems, when we take the time to analyze them objectively, can be a positive part of our total learning experience. College can present some “bad moments” but those “bad moments” will seem trivial when you really start having fun. Deep and lasting friendships are built on many of the good times you will experience, so take an active part and have a LOT of fun!

Something to Consider

One of the most confusing aspects of college grading is the threat of "zero" on the probation and ineligibility. A student will be placed on academic probation if he fails to maintain the determined grade-point-ratio scaled for expected progress. Academic ineligibility or suspension occurs if the probation GPR is not improved by the following semester.

A basic GPR has been established for every "gross hour" attempted while in college. Students have to have a 2.0 in order to graduate. This scale marks progress towards graduation, and if a student fails to meet these standards, he is placed on academic probation.

According to Dr. R.D. Houk, Vice-Provost, "All this has to do with determining a grade-point-ratio needed to stay in school. The college wants students who are serious about their education, and this is one way to tell who is, and who isn’t." He said, "Winthrop’s scale is a continual curve. It isn’t stepped as some college’s scales are. In accordance with other South Carolina colleges we’re not that different, we just give a little more leeway.

"The scale is determined by the faculty and depends on the purpose and goal of the school," he said. "Every school will be different because of the different faculties and student populations.

The scale is based on the formula 2 x Gross Hours taken/10 divided by Gross Hours taken (up to 132). (See page 34 in the catalog). "Gross Hours" have been defined as the cumulative hours attempted by a student. This includes transfers and hours and exam credit hours as well. Gross hours are all the hours registered for or 12 the hours completed. If a freshman registers for 15 hours, drops a course and completes 12 hours, his gross hours remain at 15 for that semester. Gross hour are cumulative throughout a student’s entire college career. According to the scale, a student with 15 gross hours needs a 40 to avoid academic probation. Thirty hours require a 1.00.

45 hours require a 1.29, and 60 hours require a 1.42 GPR. Any student with a less GPR than a 1.29 will be placed on academic probation.

Dr. Houk said, "A student has to be here for two semesters before becoming academically ineligible. The first semester he does not meet the standard, he will be probated. The student then has the following semester to pull up his GPR. If he fails to do so, he will be academically ineligible. This means the student will have to wait a summer and then a full semester before re-entering on a restricted course load." He said, "There isn’t any way for a freshman to be academically suspended the first semester. He can make as low as a GPR as 0.0 and still be allowed to return on probation of course." The GPR scale is designed to continue on a gradual curve upward for students should be making progress towards graduation. The scale provides attempts to mark this progression.

The Shack, as this handsome, three-story building is known, hosts dances, retreats, beer busts and other activities. The lake area is also a favorite location for joggers and each year is used for the Eagle Run, a four-mile jaunt for students and faculty.

Half a mile from the main campus is the College Farm. In Winthrop's early days, the College's 400-acre farm supplied most of the dining hall needs. The dairy and farmlands have been transformed into a nine-hole golf course, soccer, baseball and other sports fields and a nursery. The large lake is known for its bass and catfish, plus an occasional turtle.

ATS...ACROSS THE STREET, WINTHROP'S OWN LITTLE GETAWAY

Across The Street is located in the basement of the Dinkins Student Center and serves as Winthrop's own pub. Only Winthrop students and their guests are allowed, which lends to an exclusive atmosphere. When asked what exactly is ATS, Jonathan Haynes, resident bartender and a junior special education major from Anderson, said, "ATS is a place to get away from the dorms without ever leaving the campus." Convenience is what makes ATS a big hit. On those cold winter nights, who wants to get in a cold car and drive through town when ATS is right on campus? John said, "Lots of folks come over from "Ida Jane's" (the library) to take a break at about 9:30 each night." So, if your affections with Ida Jane gets too heavy, take a break over at ATS, where there are people always out to have a good time.

"We serve soft drinks as well as alcoholic beverages, and plenty of popcorn," John said. He is particularly proud of the popcorn, as he is presently the head gourmet chef at ATS. Drinks are served in three sizes, prices ranging from 20 cents to 35 cents. Beer is 50 cents a glass and $2.30 for pitchers. Popcorn is 35 cents a basket.

Entertainment is provided by the Dinkins Program Board each week, usually on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights. Musical entertainment ranges from bluegrass bands, such as Tommy Hollow and WCHW, to easy listening such as folk sounds of Daydream and Scott Benarde. On occasion, there is disco too.

The only drawback to ATS is that it closes at 11:30 on weekdays. "We're not always appreciated when we cut the lights on when it's time to close," John said. ATS is open until 12:00 on weekends for an added hour of pleasure.

Check out ATS sometime soon. Friends are always made at the "Across the Street" Rathskeller.

A Look At Winthrop

Directly behind Davis Library is the Withers Building, once known as the training school. It once served as a teaching lab for Winthrop student teachers and a kindergarten through 12 grade educational facility for the Rock Hill Community. In 1968 the building was renovated to house classrooms and offices for the School of Education.

Kinard Building, named for Winthrop's second president, James P. Kinard, houses the history and English departments as well as the School of Business Administration. The main classroom building, Kinard is a place every student knows well.

Peabody Gymnasium is the home of a brand new swimming pool, a natatorium the architect called it. The main building houses the physical education departments and classrooms, as well as a dance studio, a bowling alley and a gym. Named for the Peabody Education Fund which helped Winthrop get started financially in the 1890's, it also supplies ten courts for tennis buffs. Winthrop's sports program includes women's basketball, volleyball, field hockey, tennis and softball, as well as men's tennis, soccer and basketball.

The Tillman Building was erected on the Winthrop campus, south of the campus. Standing in the yard, it is a fine example of architecture, and has been the home of the physical education departments and offices. The Tillman Building was once known as the training school. It once served as a teaching lab for Winthrop student teachers and a kindergarten through 12 grade educational facility for the Rock Hill Community. In 1968 the building was renovated to house classrooms and offices for the School of Education.

Thurmond Building houses the School of domestic science, but also such things as testing children's sleepwear.

Byrnes Auditorium, built in 1939 to seat 3,500 people, is the home of Winthrop's School of Music. Byrnes contains numerous classrooms and practice rooms, as well as a recital hall with a pipe organ and an auditorium with a magnificent $10,000 organ of its own. Byrnes hosts student activities like Chimes Night and Junior Follies and also special productions and performances sponsored by the Fine Arts Series.

Johnson Hall is the home of Winthrop's communications and drama departments. On the first floor an intimate auditorium with seating for 370 people is ideal for the productions of the Winthrop Theater. This active group is involved with children's theater and a high school drama festival.

Rutledge Building is Winthrop's art headquarters. This building was once Carnegie Library, the result of a $20,000 gift from the Andrew Carnegie Foundation in 1894. Edmund Lewandowski, internationally acclaimed painter and sculptor and head of Winthrop's art department, has recently developed a rigorous 42-hour art degree for students preparing for professional careers in the visual arts. There are two art galleries as well as classrooms and workshops for Winthrop's artists.

Joyner Center for Continuing Education is a facility which has served thousands of individuals from both campus and community with non-credit classes, workshops and special programs. Joyner hosts an annual Writer's Conference which has featured such names as poet Donald Hall and editor Gordon Lish.

The Ida J. Dacus Library takes care of the more serious side of college life. Completed in 1968, the building was designed to link traditional campus buildings with more modern structures like the neighborhood Dinkins Student Center. The Dacus Library has over 500,000 library pieces and a seating capacity of 1,250.

Choosing a career and a path to attain career objectives are among the most crucial decisions a person must face. Many are faced with simply selecting a major field of study. Others must cope with the problem of securing satisfying employment. The Office of Placement and Career Planning at Winthrop College is committed to helping you deal with decisions that can assist in identifying and applying career choices for a satisfying career in the world of work. It is the job of the Placement and Career Planning Office to assist you as you progress through your four years at Winthrop from selecting a major field of study based on personal interest, to securing employment upon your graduation.

The Placement and Career Planning Office can help you with these types of problems. Even if you don't have any problems, the staff would be glad to talk with you and show you around the Placement and Career Planning Center. Other services include:

The Placement and Career Planning Center is open Monday through Thursday from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and Friday from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Want to be a student senator, join a fraternity or sorority, be a member of the programming board, or just want to know how? Then come to the Student Government Association's "Open House". The Open House will be upstairs in the Dinkins Student Center on September 4, at 7:30 p.m. All students are invited to attend. Every organization will be there, find out their role on campus and join one or two!

Restaurant Rating, Or “The Indigestion Suggestion”

BY RON LANE

Picture this. You’re sitting in your room, checking the time, when suddenly you’re confronted with the thought of having to decide what to eat. There are options everywhere—pizza, sandwiches, even a few fast food places. It seems like there’s something for everyone.

But what if you’re not really hungry, but you’re just looking for something to eat? That’s where this column comes in. It’s time to tackle the issue of what to eat when you’re not really hungry, but you’re still looking for something to eat.

First, let’s consider the option of pizza. There are so many places to choose from, but which one is the best? We’ve narrowed down the options to five: The Munchies, The Golden Palace, The Hungry Bull, The Harbor Inn, and The White Horse Ltd.

The Munchies is a popular choice among students. It’s located across the street from the dorms and offers a wide variety of food, from pizza to sandwiches. However, the prices are a bit on the high side.

The Golden Palace is another popular option. It’s located on Cherry Rd. and offers a complete deli menu, a giant baked potato, and domestic and draft beer. The prices are moderate.

The Hungry Bull is a great option if you’re looking for something to eat late at night. It’s located on Cherry Rd. and is open late on weekends.

The Harbor Inn is a classic place to grab a meal. It’s located on Main St. and offers a variety of seafood dishes, including Tilapia and Shrimp. The prices are moderate.

The White Horse Ltd. is a favorite among students. It’s located on Main St. and offers a variety of sandwiches, jazz music, and live entertainment. The prices are moderate.

We’d rate them in the following order: The Munchies, The Golden Palace, The Hungry Bull, The Harbor Inn, and The White Horse Ltd. Each has its own strengths and weaknesses, but overall they all offer a good dining experience.

So, if you’re looking for something to eat, but you’re not really hungry, give one of these places a try. They’re all located within walking distance of campus and are sure to satisfy your cravings.

That’s all for now, but don’t forget to check back next week for more Indigestion Suggestions!
Crawford Health Center - More Than A Doctors' Office

Crawford Health Center, located across from Peabody pool, serves every full-time student, day and resident alike, as well as part-time or graduate students who have paid the health fee.

The Health Center is staffed by six rotating physicians headed by Dr. Lewis Bartles, three registered nurses, a laboratory technician, a clerk and a nurse's aide. Medical specialists in the community are consulted in unusual and serious cases.

Any additional lab work required is referred to a private laboratory or to the State Lab in Columbia at the student's expense. A doctor is on call at all times for the Health Center or at the emergency room of York General Hospital.

Nurses are on duty in the Health Center from 8:00 a.m. until 10:00 p.m. Monday thru Friday. The doctor's hours are:

- Monday: 3:00 p.m.-5 p.m.
- Tuesday: 8:00 a.m.-12 noon
- 1:00 p.m.-4:00 p.m.
- Wednesday: 1:30 p.m.-4:30 p.m.
- Gym appointments only Thursday: 8:00 a.m.-12 noon
- 1:00 p.m.-4:00 p.m.
- Friday: 1:30 p.m.-4:30 p.m.

When a student needs to consult the Health Center, he or she is asked to sign in at the clerk's desk before being seated. Students are asked to bring their ID card.

If immediate attention is needed, a nurse or doctor is summoned. Every student should have a medical record on file in the Health Center. The records have been carefully reviewed by the nursing staff and medication allergies or any specific problems noted. If a doctor prescribes a medication, the prescription can be filled at the Health Center at a reduced rate.

For emergencies that occur when the Health Center is closed, dorm students should report to the resident director, the resident assistant, or the desk clerk on duty in the dorm. Calls for transportation from dormitories to the emergency room must be authorized by these staff members.

On Wednesday from 1:30 p.m.-4:30 p.m. the Health Center provides complete gynecological services. Students are asked to make appointments with Mrs. Carey Player between 8:00 p.m. and 10:30 p.m.

The registered nurses at Crawford Health Center are Mrs. Anne James, Nursing Supervisor and Administrative Assistant, Mrs. Dorothy Wright and Mrs. Carey Player.

The Health Center staff is concerned about the students' welfare and is there to serve you.

Officer James Fudge does his duty

If you own a car and plan to use it, or keep it on campus this year, there are a few things you should know.

First, your car must be registered within 24 hours of your arrival on campus. Register it at the College Security Office between 8 a.m. and 12 p.m. any day of the week for $4. That fee will get you a Winthrop registration sticker, which goes on the left side of your rear bumper. You'll need to re-register your auto every year you attend Winthrop.

Second, once you register your car, you need to know where to park it. Don't park in E areas, they're for employees. If you're a resident student, then S parking is for you. If you live off campus, stick with D. Then, there's always Open Parking for anyone with a valid Winthrop registration. Areas marked by E, S, or D Parking Only signs are open parking areas during the period from 4 p.m. until 7 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Keep in mind too that the maximum legal speed limit on college property is 20 miles per hour. That's so you can stop for pedestrians at marked crossways — THEY have the right of way.

If by chance you fail to heed these regulations, here's what to expect:

Moving Vehicle Violations:
- $5.00 1st violation
- $10.00 2nd violation
- $15.00 3rd violation and loss of motor vehicle privileges for up to one year

Parked Vehicle Violations:
- $2.00 1st violation
- $5.00 2nd violation
- $7.50 3rd violation
- $10.00 4th violation and loss of motor vehicle privileges for up to one year

For more information, contact the College Security Office at ext. 2201.
