9-25-1978

The Johnsonian September 25, 1978

Winthrop University
"Get the hell away from my apple!"

Tara Webb, Director of Dinkins Student Center, jealously guards his most prized souvenir from the Stabbing Royal European Circus. (Photo by A.P. Smith)

Students’ View On Macfeat-Withers Issue

BY SULA SMITH

In the last issue of THE JOHNSONIAN, President Charles L. Johnson stated reasons why he intended to close MacFeat Nursery and Withern Kinder- garden. He said that it was his intent to provide alternatives for students in true settings in the surrounding communities. He also said that he hoped Winthrop students would assist community day care in developing a richer quality for themselves. Many people do not agree with Dr. Vail. Students in particular are the hardest hit by the decision. One Home Economics major said, “He says he’s doing it for the students, but he didn’t even ask us about it.”

The greatest concern is over Vail’s belief that working in the community will enrich the learning experience. The argument has been that with MacFeat and Withern Kindergarten presently in use, the learning experience is of the very finest quality. Ann Elmber, Family Child Development major from the junior class, said, “We’re learning approaches that work right now. Why should we have to go into the community? The other nur- sery schools aren’t using those techniques. If we don’t get it here, we’ll never get it.” Carol Wright, Child Development major, also from the junior class, said, “What we’re learning is new ways of responding—how to re-direct and to instruct positively. It takes practice and we have to have someone there to help us to carry out the objectives.”

“MacFeat is a lab facility,” said Jennifer Davis, Home Eco- nomics major and junior, “It’s just like a biology or math lab. We need that kind of controlled situation.” Wright said, “I worked in a nursery the summer before my sophomore year. I had no idea of what to do, so I let the children handle the children by modeling my superiors, and instead of positive re-enforcement, I used a hand to the kid’s backside. When I came back to Winthrop and began working at the nursery, I could look back to that working experience and see what was being done wrong.”

Students also feel very strongly about Vail’s belief in Winthrop students improving community day care quality. Wright said, “I thought we were supposed to learn from them—not for the community programs to learn from us.” They also have doubts as to their effectiveness in improving these community nurseries. Instruc- tion of these programs may be skeptical of students wanting to inform them of better approach- es. Wright said, “How can we say anything without them resenting us for trying to tell them what to do?” Another question concerning the students who don’t plan on working in a day care. “I’m not even going to leach in a day care,” said Linda Baker, Home Economics Educa- tion major. “If MacFeat to learn how to raise my family and to learn what to teach others about raising their families. A community day care teacher taking care of 30 kids going to have time to teach me too?”

Time and transportation are two problems that contribute to student objection. Ten observation hours of one child are required for those taking FCD 301-331. Instructors suggest that students come at different times during the day and observe only one hour per visit. This gives them an opportunity to see the child in different moods and situations. “We can just walk from the dorm to the observa- tion booth or to the kindergarten,” Wright said. “Are we going to have to take our classes late in the day so we can get to the daycare in the morn- ing?” said Jane Wright, Educa- tion major and senior.

Students have said that they feel the quality of Winthrop College will go down once MacFeat and the kindergarten are closed. “The nursery school was my main reason for coming here,” Kimbell said. “We want Winthrop to stay of the same quality that we found it.” Wright said, “Without MacFeat and the Kindergarten I seriously doubt the programs here will be as effective.”

Mr. Edmund Lewandowski, chairman of the art department, displays student art work to Rep. Palmer Freeman, Jr., of Fort Mill and other members of the Board of Visitors. (Photo by A.P. Smith)

Twelve Visit Campus

Twelve South Carolina students, each from one of the state colleges which have been appointed to the Winthrop College Board of Visitors, toured the campus September 19-21. This is the first board of visitors authorized by the Winthrop trustees. The board will contribute individual points of view from their observations of the Winthrop College opera- tion.

Two representatives from each congressional district in the state were appointed to the board. Named to the board are: District 1—Iredell Lawluff and John M. Rivers of Charleston; District 2—Martha G. Isaac of Columbia and Harry M. Mims, Jr., of Orangeburg; District 3—Dr. James W. Gilbert of McCor-drick and Pauline W. Livingston of Newberry; District 4—James A. Neal and Stanford Y. Smith of Greenville; District-State Rep. Palmer Freeman, Jr., of Fort Mill and Dr. Martin of Winnsboro; District 6—State Rep. Benjamin J. Gordon, Jr., of Kingsport and Dr. Frank B. Lee of Florence. Mrs. Stanmore Reed of Hopkins and T. Allen Legare, Jr., of Charleston are carryover members from last year’s board.

Marathon?

BY RON LAYNE

If you are a jogger/podder runner, there’s a place you can go for advice, advancement and companionship. Whether you are a novice pavement pusher or a full-gaited distance runner, there’s a place for you in Rock Hill’s only bona- fide runners’ club, The York County Striders.

Every Wednesday night runners from Rock Hill, Fort Mill, York begin assembling behind the YMCA on Charlotte Ave. At 6:30 p.m., the parking lot becomes the gathering place for area runners who have come to discover the discipline and dividends of distance running. There are a conglomerate party of various age groups, sizes and capabilities. They are ready to run.

On January 1, the York County Striders organization was formed last summer for the purpose of giving area runners a chance to share their ideas, questions, and bits of expertise concerning distance running.

Their distance? You name it. The one milers share their views with the middle distance runners. The middle distance runners are pushing their weekly mileage up in preparation for the mara-thon. The club provides all runners a chance to realize their capabilities.

There’s a place for you with this young organization. The York County Striders runs clinics, transportation to area dis- tance races, encouragement from fellow runners and fun. The club clinics will focus on the problems that plague every runner. The club members will show you the way to get the most from your running.

Want to know more? Wednesday, 6:30 p.m. Slip in some shirts, your running shoes, then head toward the YMCA on Charlotte Ave. Go see what. The York County Strider is all about. You won’t be dis- appointed.

BY RON LAYNE

Twelve South Carolinians named to one-year terms on the Winthrop College Board of Vis- itors toured the campus Septem- ber 19-21. This is the fifth board of visitors authorized by the Winthrop trustees. The board will contribute individual points of view from their observations of the Winthrop College opera- tion.
A Story About Trash Cans?

Last week when I was wondering about what to write for my editorial, I noticed the cans and paper wrappings cluttering up the campus. I decided that it was time to make an appeal to everyone. I have a good beginning all planned out. I was going to say that Winthrop locked 100% better than it did last year—but it still doesn’t look quite good enough.

I went to Tom Webb first. Since he is the Director of the Student Center, I figured he would be the best one to tell me about the mounted trash cans outside of Dishkins. Webb said that those cans cost approximately two hundred dollars. They were able to spend that much because the money was their own. The only problem with those cans, I was told, is “as we thought it would look nice to have a plaque on them saying, ‘Lead a Good Life,’ but I guess someone thought it would also look nice to have them on their wall.”

Next, I spoke to Dr. Mary T. Littlejohn, Vice President for Student Affairs. She said that the Student Government had recognized a need for trash cans two years ago. Maintenance had always pleaded lack of funds. “The need is still very great,” she said. Thinking funds blocked the chance of getting trash cans around campus, I went to see Mr. S. K. Moore, Buyer for the Purchasing Department. I wanted to investigate prices thinking perhaps less expensive cans than those at Diskhins could be found. He told me that Mr. Drennan, Jr., Assistant to the President, had ordered ten, 15-gallon trash cans from a company in California. They had been received by Winthrop on May 8, 1978. TRASH CANS! HERE! WHERE ARE THEY? I was getting excited. It didn’t take me long to find Mr. Drennan in his office. He was on the phone instructing maintenance men to mount those California trash cans onto light standards. (They’re those white boxes on the light poles). “We’ll put them at places that seem to accumulate the most trash,” Drennan said. “If the demand dictates, we will get more.” He said that with the hectic renovation that went on this past summer, the maintenance crew didn’t have a lot of time for trash cans.

That’s OK, Mr. Drennan—at least they’re here. But now, I ask answers to my editorials. I can still make my appeal to everyone—PLEASE CHL N THIS PLACE UF, and keep it clean while you’re at it. I’m disappointed if the trash continues to be strewn all over Winthrop. Admittedly, it was a hassle to carry trash all over until you could find a place to throw it, but that’s why Mr. Drennan has come to so much trouble to get those cans mounted—so USE THEM!

Thanks,
Sala Smith

Vail May Have Made A Mistake

BY BENNY CAIN

President Vail may have made a mistake in closing MacFea Nursery and Withers Kindergarten. We praise the “pre-service experience” in a profit-making nursery may be more true to do not mean that it will “enhance dramatically the quality of experience our students have in live teaching situations.”

Commercial nurseries are not staffed adequately to provide proper learning situations for the children. In a nursery does not have time or ability to see what unimagined administrators will get along better with the Winthrop students there; the teacher’s first priority is to give attention to the child, which is not adequate anyway. Winthrop students would ease the staffing problem for area child-care units, but would this be to our best interests? Would we learn more about how to teach the Winthrop students, where children’s responses are treated experimentally so that as much as possible can be learned about their learning problems? Winthrop students with this knowledge could improve the quality of care given more than students who gain their knowledge (or lack of it) in a setting which does not cause it makes money and has no vested interest in training child-care specialists who will be hired at other nurseries.

Although public kindergartens are not profit-oriented, the same liability for the teacher to train future teachers and children at the same time exists.

This move by the administration extends the “practice teaching” syndrome of initial happiness from the schools into the pre-schools where the “how to,” the “what to” teach seems to be more important than the “why to” teach. It seems that learning “how to” teach requires an examination of the proportion, which will be made known when the Winthrop child-care laws are gone. The net result will be a lowering of the standards of a Winthrop degree in Early Childhood Education while community child-care programs are bailed out of understaffing. The degree might then be one step closer to mediocrity.

It is obvious that this move will save money for the college. It will also “streamline relationships between the college and school districts,” i.e., administrators will get along better together. Also, it will be interesting to see what unimaginative block of multi-storied modern architecture will stand a few years from now where the children play today.

If MacFea and Withers Kindergarten are closed, it is true, as Vail said, that Winthrop students will know more about how a real nursery and kindergarten operate, which is something they will find out anyway. They will learn more correspondingly less about how to teach children, which is something they may never learn adequately. If this was a mistake it will not, in the future, affect the spaciousness of the rooms, or the quality of the rooms, or the quality of the rooms. So where does the authority come from? School Policy. What? The school has a policy of how much money for the officials of the SGA is required to attend summer school. When this policy was adopted and by whom, I don’t know. I still trying to find out...

A Question Of Interpretation

BY RON BOUCH

Hi gang! Let’s forget about the MacFea-Nursery. It’s off our campus, strikes, and all that heavy stuff—let’s instead dig into some heavy book reading.

(Chorus): How heavy is it? It’s so heavy...well, let’s put this way: I think you ought to know it.

First, a few comments from our Constitution.

Article II, Section 1.4 states, “The President and Vice-President shall meet at stated times, a compensation for their services, which shall not be diminished during the period for which they shall have been elected.” Article III, Section 1.6 states in the same language that the Attorney General shall receive like compensation. Now, if you’ll bear with me, a few quotes from the By-laws:

Article II, Section 2.6 states that the President shall “attend one session of summer school at Winthrop College...” Section 2.8 states that the President shall “receive an annual compensation of one thousand dollars.” Article II, Section 6.1 states that the President and the VP shall “receive an annual compensation of eight hundred dollars.”

And, finally, Article III, Section 3.6 states that the Attorney General shall “receive an annual compensation of eight hundred dollars.”

Hopefully, the above info was more informative than boring. I must confess that before last week I was ignorant of these facts. To be sure, I was quite surprised—after all, at Wofford, top ranking SGA officials receive no compensation other than the honor and pride gained from the responsibility.

Yet, I find I have no real complaints about the law of their “salaries.” Simple arithmetic reveals these to be rather low (perhaps less than twenty-five cents per session for the President). The problem arises when I realize that the President and the VP are receiving more than the stated annual remuneration allowed in the Constitution and By-laws. How do they do this?

Don’t worry—it’s nothing sneaky and underhanded (it’s in the SGA budget)—it just so happens that the President and the VP are entitled to free summer school tuition (and in the case of the present VP, Debbie Grimes, free room and board). The question arises as one carefully reviews the above-quoted articles. There is no evidence of this privilege in either document.

So where does the authority come from? School Policy. What? The school has a policy of how much money for the officials of the SGA required to attend summer school. When this policy was adopted and by whom, I don’t know. I’m still trying to find out.

It seems to me that what we have here is a rather loose interpretation (by all concerned) of the SGA Constitution. For example, Dan Unscheier, our SGA President, told me that the free tuition was, in effect, pay for the session of summer school they were required to attend. I may be ignorant, but the By-laws seemed to make it rather clear that the ANNUAL (April to April) compensation was to be 1000 or 900 dollars. I can’t help wonder how this was distorted to the above-stated sum plus free tuition. I’m still looking for answers—hopefully, I can find some soon.

So hang on tight, dear reader, the exciting climax is still to come...
Dr. Vail, Give Us A Chance

While we were going to change, President Vail was busy making a decision that would involve the future of the education majors. As stated in THE JOHNSONIAN (Sept. 18), the main concern for this decision is for the Winthrop student. If those involved in the decision-making process were truly so concerned with us, why were we not involved before now?

According to Vail, Winthrop's kindergarten and nursery offers a "kind of sheltered environment." What we offer is an environment that provides stimulation and positive reinforcement for the child who attends the school as well as those of the education majors who work with it. True, with Winthrop's assistance the community day care centers could be of a richer quality. But why leave home? We have the facilities, the instructors, and the materials right here within the students' reach. Does President Vail believe that we are not involved in "live teaching situations" right here in our own school's facilities? "Live teaching" is definitely taking place here. There is not much difference between the children who attend the kindergarten and nursery here at Winthrop and those who want to learn, who ask "why?" and "what?" and who demand to know more. The curiosity and questions are the same. To what degree they want their answers may vary, but the questions are the same. Here at Winthrop we have a mentally stimulating environment. Why stifle and dissolve the learning experience? Why not use Winthrop as an example and branch out from it. Let the community day care centers learn from Winthrop.

When scientists study rats for cancer, they study them in a lab situation. They don't go on the streets and inject the rats with carcinogenic agents. Even if they had ways to identify the rats used, they could not expect to go out once every five hours and record their data as sound scientific conclusion. Just as they need the rats in the lab to study and collect positive data, we need the kindergarten and nursery lab situation offered by Winthrop to observe, to participate, and to assimilate our data and learn from it.

I question whether President Vail has actually visited these facilities, for if he did, he has not provided us with concrete reasons for dosing them. Is it because they are not adequate, or is it because of lack of funds, or even some sort of political pressure? If we are going to have to do without the facilities that we have protected in the past, at least we would like to know why.

Kelly Fady

Editor's Quote Book

"No plan is worth a damn unless somebody makes it work.

William Feather
Are Winthrop Students Afraid Of The Unknown?

BY KATHY KIRKPATRICK

Who'd pass up a free ticket to a performance by one of the most well-known bandleaders in the world? Who'd miss the chance to hear big band jazz performed by a group that's helped to make the sound of the world? Who'd miss the most well-known baritones in the world? Winthrop students did.

Each week, members of the Winthrop Fine Arts Committee schedule a performance by some of the most well-known artists in the world. Yet, Winthrop students are often not interested in these performances. This is unfortunate, as these performances could have a broadening effect on the student experience.

Winthrop students are afraid to experience the unknown. They are afraid to try new things, even if they are free. This is a shame, as the arts can be a powerful tool for personal growth and development.

Winthrop students are also afraid to try new things. They are afraid to go to performances, even if they are free. This is a shame, as the arts can be a powerful tool for personal growth and development.

Winthrop students are afraid to try new things. They are afraid to go to performances, even if they are free. This is a shame, as the arts can be a powerful tool for personal growth and development.

Winthrop students are afraid to try new things. They are afraid to go to performances, even if they are free. This is a shame, as the arts can be a powerful tool for personal growth and development.

Winthrop students are afraid to try new things. They are afraid to go to performances, even if they are free. This is a shame, as the arts can be a powerful tool for personal growth and development.
NCATE and NASDEC To Come To WC

BY ELLEN DODD

Representatives of NCATE (National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education) and NASDEC (National Association of State Directors of Teacher Education and Certification) will come to Winthrop this fall to determine the standard of our education. The team of representatives for NCATE will be at Winthrop from October 16 to 18 and the team for NASDEC will be here from November 8 to 10. Winthrop has been accredited since 1974 and is up for re-accreditation this year by NCATE and NASDEC. If re-accredited, Winthrop will be accredited for five years by NASDEC and seven years by NCATE. Both teams will examine our teacher education program for quality.

"Both teams will talk to the deans and department chairmen on campus. They will also be checking with the administration to determine the level of support being given to the teacher education program," said Dr. Jack Colbert, director of teacher education.

"A study has been completed for each team. The preparation for the studies was done by a special task force with representation from each school or college on campus. The task force was chaired by Dr. Don Host in the Modern Languages department. I was responsible for assembling the data that they had collected," Colbert said.

The studies contained a section from each department on campus. Every department on campus worked toward keeping their courses up to the standards of these organizations. The NCATE and NASDEC accreditation of Winthrop's teacher education programs is important to the students because it assures that the graduates of the programs will be certified in South Carolina. It also assures reciprocal certification in over 40 states," Colbert said.

Reciprocal certification reviews graduates of being obligated to take additional courses in other states to receive teacher certification in those states. Many schools across the country will not consider applicants that have finished their education in an institution that does not carry NCATE or NASDEC accreditation. The advantage of having this national accreditation is that it prepares students for their jobs, and it helps them to get jobs.

These patients may be paranoid. Paranoid delusions, such as fear that people are seeking to poison you, are not confined to schizophrenics as is generally believed, say Dr. Robert Freedman and Paul J. Schwab, two University of Chicago psychiatrists. Delusions and other severe forms of paranoia also can appear in manic-depressive illnesses, brain tumors, psychotic reactions to a life crisis, and neurosis, they report. - CNS

White Water Rafting

The Dinkins Program Board Travel Committee will sponsor a White Water rafting trip to Nantahala River in North Carolina Oct. 14, leaving from Dinkins at 8:00 a.m. and returning late Saturday afternoon.

According to Sam Thompson, Travel Committee chairman, the trip is limited to 46 people on a first-come-first serve basis.

"The Nantahala trip promises to be exciting and a good time," said Thompson, "and the cost will be between $15 and $20."

"The Dinkins Program Board sponsors low-cost trips throughout the school year, available to students and faculty," Thompson said. Upcoming trips for this semester include a trip to the State Fair in Columbia on Oct. 21 and New Orleans, Nov. 21-26 during Thanksgiving break. Sailing trips are being planned for next semester, according to Thompson.

"There will be a sign-up sheet at the desk in Dinkins and the trips will be well publicized so that all students have a chance to sign up," Thompson said.
The Beatles Top Their Own Movie

(CPS)-It's been almost 15 years since Americans discovered the Beatles and 11 years since it made Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band a favorite album.

This year, of course, it found the album's legitimate cousin back. Though neither movie nor soundtrack album is selling too well, they've already spawned a new cult of dedicated Beatles fans. Movie-goers who were in diapers when "I Want to Hold Your Hand" was first released in 1963 are flooding radio stations with requests for Beatles originals. The radio stations, in turn, have cranked up a wide variety of Beatle promotions and contests.

One such contest, beamed by Pittsburgh's WYHH-FM, showed that fans preferred the Beatles' version to Robert Stigwood's movie version. "Sgt. Pepper" featured original and soundtrack tunes, played back to back. A full 90 percent of those calling in preferred the originals. Beatles albums are selling well again, reaching heights in the Billboard ratings they haven't seen in years. Last month, the Beatles' Sgt. Pepper was re-released, this time in a new disk. These so-called "picture discs" and red, white, and blue vinyl editions available to dealers is a single of "A Day in the Life" and "A Little Help From My Friends" has also been reissued.

In contrast, the soundtrack album is selling far less than producers had calculated. Just a few weeks ago, the album was being touted as having shippered triple platinum (meaning it had pre-release orders totaling three million copies). Now only 500,000 to 700,000 copies of the album are expected to be sold. According to one record executive, RSO Records expects to take back up to two million LP's already leased.

Now that he's elected, Strauss is (supposedly) going to graw, with a primary goal of soliciting "more student involvement." The Friday Night Food Fix sponsored by the Winthrop College Cooperative Ministries for apartment dwellers in Basket and Hohiday apartments will be held on September 29 instead of the 28th. It will start at 6:00 and last until 7:15, at Wesley Foundation. We apologize for the error.

One such contest, beamed by Pittsburgh's WYHH-FM, showed that fans preferred the Beatles' version to Robert Stigwood's movie version. "Sgt. Pepper" featured original and soundtrack tunes, played back to back. A full 90 percent of those calling in preferred the originals. Beatles albums are selling well again, reaching heights in the Billboard ratings they haven't seen in years. Last month, the Beatles' Sgt. Pepper was re-released, this time in a new disk. These so-called "picture discs" and red, white, and blue vinyl editions available to dealers is a single of "A Day in the Life" and "A Little Help From My Friends" has also been reissued.

In contrast, the soundtrack album is selling far less than producers had calculated. Just a few weeks ago, the album was being touted as having shippered triple platinum (meaning it had pre-release orders totaling three million copies). Now only 500,000 to 700,000 copies of the album are expected to be sold. According to one record executive, RSO Records expects to take back up to two million LP's already leased.

The Beatles movie has, for generations. These words by Mrs. Lillie Stebbing's (ringmaster, mother of four, grandmother, Las Vegas performer and owner of a circus) are the motive of her life. Born in South Wales, England, Lillie Stebbing's backround and entire life has actually revolved around the big top. "I've seen the world several times over with the circus and for generations." These words by Mrs. Lillie Stebbing's (ringmaster, mother of four, grandmother, Las Vegas performer and owner of a circus) are the motive of her life. Born in South Wales, England, Lillie Stebbing's backround and entire life has actually revolved around the big top. "I've seen the world several times over with the circus and

Circus Minimus

BY RALPH JOHNSON

"Ten years ago, the young people started talking about 'doing their own thing', we have been doing our own thing for generations." These words by Mrs. Lillie Stebbing's granddaughter (3 yrs) performs with Lc, the baby elephant. (Photo by A.P. Smith)

TOP LEFT—Olga Korbit look out! Three of the performers of the trappr poses for an impromptu shot. (Photo by A.P. Smith)

TOP RIGHT—., . . and I can do all this with no hands." Mrs. Stebbing's granddaughter (3 yrs) performs with Lc, the baby elephant. (Photo by A.P. Smith)

RHY-7 OPEN WIDE AND SAY AHIII. John Stebbing, trainer and manager of the animals in the Royal Stebbing Circus. (Photo by A.P. Smith)

"Ten years ago, the young people started talking about 'doing their own thing', we have been doing our own thing for generations." These words by Mrs. Lillie Stebbing's granddaughter (3 yrs) performs with Lc, the baby elephant. (Photo by A.P. Smith)
L.A. Performer Coming To ATS

By Y.F. Nadsady for FOLK SCENE, Vol. 5, No. 5

(Peter Allos, a popular entertainer from Los Angeles, will perform at Cross The Street, downstairs Dinkins, Friday evening, Sept. 29th.) Peter Allos is one of the few really great live entertainers to have emerged in recent years from L.A.'s local folk club circuit, what there is left of it. He carved out his initial reputation there with a repertoire of hilari...
Hazing Makes A Comeback

BY HELEN CORDES

(CPS) — When University of Pennsylvania sophomore Robert Bazile decided to join a fraternity last year, he didn’t have any reasons to think about his health. A former member of the university trackteam, the 19-year-old pre-med major had a clean health record.

Nevertheless, on April 22, 1977, Bazile collapsed on the front steps of the Omega Psi Phi house during fraternity initiation proceedings. He died soon afterward. An inquest 10 months later determined Bazile had died of “aggravation of natural diseases of the heart.”

The “aggravation,” though, was routine Omega Psi Phi hazing. The day of his death, Bazile and his fellow pledges had been marched around the campus, tested on fraternity history, punctured on the chest if they gave the wrong answer, and finally paddled with 24-inch wooden paddles four times to emphasize the fraternity’s “four cardinal principles.”

Bazile’s case is, unfortunately, not the only one. There have been at least six hazing-related deaths in recent years, at Penn, North Carolina University, Alfred University and the University of Nevada at Reno, among others. The deaths indicate an upsurge in all kinds of hazing. Several national fraternity organizations felt compelled to remind their chapters that hazing is prohibited.

Spokesmen for two fraternities, Sigma Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, blame the reported incidents in part on tradition: “Some fraternities are getting a come-back under five months rush suspension in July, after it was revealed that chapter members had beaten a pledge with a broomstick.

Hazing seemed to wane with the general decline in Greek membership in the late 1960s and early 1970s. Now, with the Greek system’s resurgence, hazing, too, is becoming more common. Reform efforts, however, are frequently inhibited by the high turnover in chapter leadership and, sometimes by alumni.

“We don’t have a finger on the solution,” admits Jack Anson, executive director of the National Inter-Fraternity Conference (NIFC). “We know it exists, and the member fraternities will definitely revoke the chapter’s charter if the hazing’s really bad.” The NIFC employs advisors who regularly visit the members, and who may even reinstate the sanctions against hazing. But, Anson adds, “those officials can’t always be there when the hazing happens.”

In the meantime, hazing will likely continue. The names, of course, may change. When Sigma Alpha Epsilon sent its chapters a warning about hazing, Gerrett Dordri, president of the University of Northern Colorado chapter, changed the name of Hell Week to Inspiration Week. Nonetheless, Ralph Herms, who dropped out of the chapter after Inspiration Week last winter, still found the practice “old-fashioned . . . . A person really has to want (to be a member) for the stuff you have to go through.”

Mushroom trade grows

According to the American Mushroom Institute, Americans ate an average of about one pound of cultivated mushrooms per year, ten years ago. Last year that amount jumped to 2.1 pounds. An estimated yearly 380 million pounds of domestic mushrooms and 80 million pounds of imported mushrooms are currently consumed.
Who's Who At Winthrop

BY BONNIE JERDAN

Day students may pick up activity sheets to apply for membership in WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES at Dean of Students Office upstairs Dinkins, according to Richard Cummings, Dean of Students.

Activity sheets must be filled out and returned to Dean Cummings' office by Monday, Oct. 2.

Duties Of Hall Directors

Residence Hall Directors live in each hall on campus to serve students as well as maintain the living quality of the building, according to Dean Cynthia Cassens, associate Dean of Students and Director of Housing.

The Residence Directors assist individual residents in developing their personal, academic and social skills through educational and social programming, role modeling, providing resource and reference information, and developing community living based on the consideration of others and the regulations and policies set by Winthrop College. They are also in charge of the training and supervision of fourteen Resident Assistants, said Cassens.

Sound Off

Who's Who?

Should the library's hours be changed?

"It should be open till midnight and open at 7:00 in the morning."

- Alexandria Broughton-

"Yes, it should be open till 2 or 3 in the morning, especially during exam times. There are times when people are raising hell late at night in the dorms and you can't study."

-Ricardo Sarmiento-

"It stinks. I went over there at 2:15 last Sunday afternoon, and it wasn't open yet."

-Debbie Gruse-

"On weekends it should stay open the same as it does during the week."

-Cheryl Samuel-

Sound

And Silence

Is Coming

By Bonnije Jerdan

Day students may pick up activity sheets to apply for membership in WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES at Dean of Students Office upstairs Dinkins, according to Richard Cummings, Dean of Students.

Activity sheets must be filled out and returned to Dean Cummings' office by Monday, Oct. 2. Determination of qualifying students will be made by a committee of faculty and deans. Cummings said. Boarding students may be recommended to the committee by academic departments and the senior class. The committee will decide upon nominees on the basis of the students' activities and GPAs.

WHOS WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES is a national program benefiting students, according to a pamphlet produced by the program. Selections are made each fall. In addition to the local and national publicity that each student chooses for the Who's Who program receives, his complete biography will be presented in this year's edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES.

Benefits of membership are a personalized certificate presented by the school, invitations to participate in national student polls regarding major issues of the day, and free lifetime use of the Reference/Placement Service, Who's Who will prepare individual letters of recommendation and biographical material for prospective employers. The student may list Who's Who as a reference on employment applications.

"The WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES program is an integral part of the American academic community, serving both student and educator," said Dr. Frank A. Rose, former president of University of Alabama. "Throughout the years, it has evolved as a recognized institution which honors students destined to become tomorrow's leaders."

WHOS WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES is a national program benefiting students, according to a pamphlet produced by the program. Selections are made each fall. In addition to the local and national publicity that each student chooses for the Who's Who program receives, his complete biography will be presented in this year's edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES.

Benefits of membership are a personalized certificate presented by the school, invitations to participate in national student polls regarding major issues of the day, and free lifetime use of the Reference/Placement Service, Who's Who will prepare individual letters of recommendation and biographical material for prospective employers. The student may list Who's Who as a reference on employment applications.

"The WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES program is an integral part of the American academic community, serving both student and educator," said Dr. Frank A. Rose, former president of University of Alabama. "Throughout the years, it has evolved as a recognized institution which honors students destined to become tomorrow's leaders."

Residence Directors are Carol Robertson in Wofford, Laura Brooks in Bancroft, Diane Hartsoe in Margaret Nance, Kathy Trout in Lee Wicker, Tim Warner in Thompson, and Ada Watson in Richardson.

Duties Of Hall Directors

Residence Hall Directors live in each hall on campus to serve students as well as maintain the living quality of the building, according to Dean Cynthia Cassens, associate Dean of Students and Director of Housing.

The Residence Directors assist individual residents in developing their personal, academic and social skills through educational and social programming, role modeling, providing resource and reference information, and developing community living based on the consideration of others and the regulations and policies set by Winthrop College. They are also in charge of the training and supervision of fourteen Resident Assistants, said Cassens.

Who's Who At Winthrop

By Bonnie Jerdan

Day students may pick up activity sheets to apply for membership in WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES at Dean of Students Office upstairs Dinkins, according to Richard Cummings, Dean of Students.

Activity sheets must be filled out and returned to Dean Cummings' office by Monday, Oct. 2. Determination of qualifying students will be made by a committee of faculty and deans. Cummings said. Boarding students may be recommended to the committee by academic departments and the senior class. The committee will decide upon nominees on the basis of the students' activities and GPAs.

WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES is a national program benefiting students, according to a pamphlet produced by the program. Selections are made each fall. In addition to the local and national publicity that each student chooses for the Who's Who program receives, his complete biography will be presented in this year's edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES.

Benefits of membership are a personalized certificate presented by the school, invitations to participate in national student polls regarding major issues of the day, and free lifetime use of the Reference/Placement Service, Who's Who will prepare individual letters of recommendation and biographical material for prospective employers. The student may list Who's Who as a reference on employment applications.

"The WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES program is an integral part of the American academic community, serving both student and educator," said Dr. Frank A. Rose, former president of University of Alabama. "Throughout the years, it has evolved as a recognized institution which honors students destined to become tomorrow's leaders."

Residence Directors are Carol Robertson in Wofford, Kathy Trout in Lee Wicker, Tim Warner in Thompson, and Ada Watson in Richardson.

Residence Directors are Carol Robertson in Wofford, Kathy Trout in Lee Wicker, Tim Warner in Thompson, Diane Hartsoe in Margaret Nance, and Ada Watson in Richardson.

Sound Off

Who's Who?

Should the library's hours be changed?

"It should be open till midnight and open at 7:00 in the morning."

- Alexandria Broughton-

Yes, it should be open till 2 or 3 in the morning, especially during exam times. There are times when people are raising hell late at night in the dorms and you can’t study."

-Ricardo Sarmiento-

"It stinks. I went over there at 2:15 last Sunday afternoon, and it wasn’t open yet."

- Debbie Gruse-

"On weekends it should stay open the same as it does during the week."

-Cheryl Samuel-

(Would she smile?)

WHOS WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES is a national program benefiting students, according to a pamphlet produced by the program. Selections are made each fall. In addition to the local and national publicity that each student chooses for the Who's Who program receives, his complete biography will be presented in this year's edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES.

Benefits of membership are a personalized certificate presented by the school, invitations to participate in national student polls regarding major issues of the day, and free lifetime use of the Reference/Placement Service, Who's Who will prepare individual letters of recommendation and biographical material for prospective employers. The student may list Who's Who as a reference on employment applications.

"The WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES program is an integral part of the American academic community, serving both student and educator," said Dr. Frank A. Rose, former president of University of Alabama. "Throughout the years, it has evolved as a recognized institution which honors students destined to become tomorrow's leaders."

Residence Directors are Carol Robertson in Wofford, Laura Brooks in Bancroft, Diane Hartsoe in Margaret Nance, and Ada Watson in Richardson.

Residence Directors are Carol Robertson in Wofford, Laura Brooks in Bancroft, Diane Hartsoe in Margaret Nance, Kathy Trout in Lee Wicker, Tim Warner in Thompson, and Ada Watson in Richardson.

Sound Off

Who's Who?

Should the library's hours be changed?

"It should be open till midnight and open at 7:00 in the morning."

- Alexandria Broughton-

Yes, it should be open till 2 or 3 in the morning, especially during exam times. There are times when people are raising hell late at night in the dorms and you can’t study."

-Ricardo Sarmiento-

"It stinks. I went over there at 2:15 last Sunday afternoon, and it wasn’t open yet."

- Debbie Gruse-

"On weekends it should stay open the same as it does during the week."

-Cheryl Samuel-

(Would she smile?)
Eagles Finish Third In King's College Invitational Tournament

By Bill Floyd

The Winthrop College Soccer team finished third in the Kings College Invitational Tournament held in Bristol, Tenn. Sept. 15 and 16. Friday, Sept. 16 proved to be a bad day for the Eagles as Liberty Baptist blanked the Eagles 3-0. Winthrop clearly outplayed Liberty throughout the match, outstanding Liberty on goal shots 38-27. Two defensive breakdowns proved to be fatal to the Eagles. Saturday's consolation game saw the Eagles pick up their first win of the year over Longwood College of Virginia, 4-3. Winthrop attacked very well with a dominating offense as the Eagles outshot Longwood 37-13. Emmanuel Oguma scored first for Winthrop with Longwood quickly counterattacking to tie the score at 1-1. Winthrop's second goal came with a Coco Suarez assist from Frankie Griffin. Less than five minutes later Longwood struck back with two goals. Frankie Griffin scored off an assist from Steve Gibson to take the lead for good and to take the win over Longwood 4-3. Coach Caada expressed disappointment over the third place finish and stated the lack of playing experience as the Eagles' main problem.

Despite the rocky start, Caada said the team still showed good spirit and determination for the rest of the season. The Eagles are in action again against Wofford in an important NAIA District Six match scheduled to begin at 4 p.m. on Wednesday.

High Hopes For Eagles Volleyball

The 1978 Winthrop College Women's Volleyball schedule finds the Eagles playing 17 dual matches and four tournaments. The Eagles will attempt to improve last year's 35-15 record which placed them third in the state and in AIAW Region II. The University of South Carolina and the College of Charleston, first and second respectively, in the state last season, are featured opponents for Winthrop again this fall.

Western Carolina, Elon, and East Tennessee State are out of state foes on the schedule. Winthrop will play in tournaments at UNC-Greensboro, Francis Marion, and Appalachian State, in addition to the annual state tournament:

"I feel we have a good schedule," Coach Linda Warren said. "We meet many different teams, and the tournaments will present us with playing experiences under different situations." "We will have to adjust to the different levels of competition and accept the challenges."

Other scheduled dual matches include meetings with Coker, Converse, Benedict, Limestone, Lander, Furman, Coastal Carolina, UNC-Greensboro, and Clemson.

The Eagles' home opener will be Oct. 3 in a dual match against the College of Charleston and UNC-Greensboro.

Remember that the Winthrop Women's Volleyball team begins its season tomorrow against Clemson. The home opener is October 3 when the Eagles face College of Charleston and East Tennessee State in a dual match. Let's support the Lady Eagles!

Intramural Scoreboard

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>FLAG FOOTBALL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SOFTBALL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>WOMEN'S LEAGUE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CO-ED LEAGUE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>UPCOMING GAMES</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Mon. Sept. 25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tues. Sept. 26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wed. Sept. 27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thurs. Sept. 28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mon. Oct. 2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Flag football games are played on Sims Field, behind Sims Building; and softball is played at The Shack next to the soccer field.

Golf Association Planned

Tom Webb, Dinkins Director, and Risher Brabham, campus minister, have begun preliminary plans for forming a Winthrop Golf Association to promote golf as a club sport among Winthrop students, faculty and staff.

According to Webb, a golf association at Winthrop will give beginners a chance to develop skills, as well as offer members an opportunity to compete with clubs from other colleges.

The association may encourage the addition of an intercollegiate golf team to the athletic department, Webb said.

Among the activities Webb and Brabham are planning are workshops during the winter months, in which those who may have mastered the swing will learn golf rules and etiquette. Local pros will be invited to lecture at the clinics.

The association may establish handicaps and help promote tournaments at the college farm, said Webb. Funds for the support of the association and the tournaments will come from membership dues.

Although the Winthrop Golf Association is now only in the planning stages, interested golfers may contact Tom Webb, ext. 2249, or Risher Brabham, 3277-5640, to learn of further developments or to contribute ideas.

Soccer Club

The Rock Hill Soccer Club will face the Mitchell Soccer Club of Greenville at Rock Hill Municipal Stadium on Cherry Road at 2 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 1, according to James Caada, Winthrop's soccer coach and a member of the Rock Hill club.

A number of Winthrop students and faculty play for Rock Hill Soccer.

We Goofed

OOPS! We goofed! The College of Charleston is not the Buccaneers; they are known as the Cougars. Sorry.
Conferences On The Humanities

A conference to explore the present and future perspectives, purposes, and prospects of the humanities will be held at Winthrop College Oct. 9-10.

Titled "The Humanities: Perceptions, Purposes, Prospects," the conference will bring some of the nation's leading scholars together to discuss the humanities in higher education and in society.

Although designed for higher education administrators, educators, and non-humanists, the conference is open to anyone concerned about the humanities.

Thomas S. Morgan, acting dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Winthrop, and Joyce Owstall, professor emeritus at Davidson College, are coordinating the conference. Morgan said the meeting should be useful to higher education administrators, school superintendents, teachers on every level, librarians, college and high school students, state officials concerned in higher education, members of the governing boards of institutions of higher education, architects, museum personnel and business leaders.

Model UN Already Underway

The Model United Nations has received greater response from North and South Carolina high schools than ever before, according to Jody Guy, the student coordinator for the organization.

Applications of the high schools received letters about two weeks ago inviting their students to attend the Model U.N., and already the Model U.N. has 33 positive replies. Registration for the conference, which will run April 18 through 21, is subject to student meeting, involving issues that confront the different countries in the world, and is run by an all-student staff.

Diplomats from the United States and Canada will attend the Model U.N.

"Students interested in an academic challenge, as well as a thoroughly enriching experience, should get involved in this event," Guy said.

The General Assembly in session. Scenes from last year's Model United Nations II (JOHNSONIAN PHOTO).

Library Fines Increased

BY LASHIELLA MACK

The Ida Jane Dacus Library policies on fines and lost books have been changed because students have not been obeying library policies, according to Laurnese R. Mitlin, assistant professor and assistant college librarian for Public Services.

Service charge on books varies, but stays eight days or more will be 15 cents. "The reason for this change is because the library has seen unusually high results in the library having to raise its prices to help pay part of the cost of sending out overdue notices," said Asst. Librarian Mitlin.

Fines on two-hour reserve books will be $1 per day during the first 24-hour period the book is overdue. After two hours of collection, of over one day, the book is overdue. There is no fine charged. "This change was made to encourage students and teachers to return them as quickly as possible because of the great demand," according to Mitlin.

If the book is lost by a borrower, the borrower may pay the replacement cost of the book, plus any accrued fines, service charges, and penalties. A fee of plus a $5, plus non-refundable processing fee. This fee pays part of the cost of replacing the book. Any student who pays all fees of lost book is automatically reimbursed.

"Students accounts which are not paid promptly to the library will be sent a bill. If the student has not paid all fees within 14 days of the library, the bill will be referred to the Winthrop College collection. An additional $5,000 collection fee (non-refundable) will be placed on all other charges. This collection fee is a part of the cost of collecting the delinquent account. If it is lost, it is considered a total loss. If it is found and paid for, it has been paid for, the cost of the book will be refunded, but no other fees or penalties will be refunded."

"Don't let your fines go uncollected. Every student involved in the system or database is an automated system. If you avoid fines, we risk them back to the cost of sending out overdue notices," said Mitlin.

"The library has the right to avoid fines, we must take measures to ensure the timely return of books."
W.C. Gets New Legal Advisor

BY LYNDAL HADDOX

There is a new face on campus and one well worth remembering—Mrs. Lois G. Ely. Mrs. Ely, originally from Chicago, Ill., is the new Legal Advisor for Winthrop College.

As Legal Advisor, Mrs. Ely gives legal counsel to the college and is assistant to the president. She also teaches Economics 305.

Mrs. Ely comes well qualified for her position. She graduated from the University of California at Berkeley and went immediately on to get her law degree from the University of Chicago. She then received her master's degree in History and Political Science from Fairleigh Dickinson University, where, as she said, "I finally found a place I could graduate summa cum laude.'"

Mrs. Ely has led an interesting career since the completion of her education. In addition to having a general practice she has worked for an international corporate law firm, Baker and McKney (which is now the largest firm of its kind in the world). Perhaps one of her most impressive achievements of all is that she was the first woman to serve as Prosecuting Attorney in Berkeley County, New York.

When asked how she became interested in her field, she replied, "International trade has fascinated me since childhood. My home was often visited by people from all over the world."

Winthrop College is lucky to have Mrs. Ely serve as Prosecuting Attorney for an additional of the Public Interest.

Interview--Dr. James D. Horst

BY TOMOKO TAKAHASHI

Dr. James D. Horst, associate professor of German, spent seven weeks in Germany last summer participating in two three-week seminars with 40 other professors from 11 different countries. Horst was invited to Germany by the "Goethe Institute," a German government organization which provides training and cultural information for German language education.

The seminars were held at Nurnberg and Gottingen. At Nurnberg, the emphasis was on getting a better idea of Germany and its citizens today.

Horst said that lectures were given on German and international economics, freedom of the press, and foreign workers in the federal republic. Another topic discussed was the unemployed problem, relatively nonexistent in Germany, which has four percent unemployment.

The seminar also involved city planning and the environmental concerns, problems of education, the situation of foreign workers' children, terrorism and democracy, and problems of pollution.

Visiting professors toured a newspaper company, various industries, the employment office, schools, and the public transportation system.

Wine consumption per capita in Washington, D.C., is nowhere else in the country. According to the Wine Institute, annual sales of wine is 5.14 gallons of wine per inhabitant of the nation's capital. — CNS

Winthrop Adds To Faculty

BY CYNTHIA J. WILSON

Three new faculty members have joined the Department of Chemistry and Physics, Dr. Joe B. Davis, chairman of Chemistry Department, said.

They are Andrea G. Deaton, Curtis L. Hollabaugh, and Dr. Michael Sebhatur.

Deaton, professor of chemistry, is a native of Kentucky. She is impressed by the interest Winthrop students take in their education. A recent graduate of Eastern Kentucky University, Deaton admits she feels like a student.

The only female addition to the staff, Deaton has not encountered any sexual discrimination in the chemistry department. "The field is really open for women in chemistry. Many companies are seeking chemistry major," Deaton said.

Deaton lives in Rock Hill with her husband. In her spare time, she enjoys handcraft and playing the piano.

Hollabaugh, professor of physics, is a native of Pennsylvania. He has spent the last five years working on his doctor's degree in physics at Washington State University in Pullman.

"The students here have made a favorable impression on me," Hollabaugh said. "I haven't found anyone I dislike."

Displayed on his office shelves, he has a variety of eye-catching minerals. They weigh from less than an ounce to 15 pounds, and were found in every place from Utah to Spain to South Africa. Mineral collecting is a hobby you never grow tired of because there are always new ones to collect," said Hollabaugh.

Hollabaugh lives in Rock Hill, and finds the Rock Hill-Charlotte area "a nice place to live."

Dr. Sebhatur, professor of physics, is a native of Ethiopia. While in Ethiopia, Sebhatur earned his Bachelor of Science degree in 1969. Upon completion of graduate school at Clemson University in 1973, he became assistant professor at North Carolina State. For the past two years, Sebhatur was a physics professor at a Pensacola junior college in Florida.

Commenting briefly on the faculty and students at Winthrop, Sebhatur said, "I find everyone friendly."

Sebhatur lives in Rock Hill.
The South Carolina International Women's Year Committee has donated its records to Winthrop College. The collection consists of 1,417 documents and 18 type recordings to be stored in Winthrop's Dacus Library archives.

Ron Chesnut, Winthrop archivist, said the reports provide background information on the activities of the South Carolina International Women's Year Committee.

Marcella W. Davis, committee chairman, said about giving the records to the former state women's college, "We recommend Winthrop submit to all higher education institutions in the state a listing of the holdings so that research on South Carolina women shall be an ongoing process."

Included in the archives are the organization's minutes, financial records, workshops and guidelines, brochures and articles. Also available are the ERA-South Carolina pertinent materials.

Women's Right are long overdue both to business women and homemakers. For example, South Carolina did not ratify the Women's Suffrage Amendment until 1963. The reason for S.C./IWY is that women who have been divided by race and color are now uniting in South Carolina to share their history of struggles and hopes for better futures.

A state meeting was held June 10-11, 1977 in Columbia. The following are facts taken from the Final Report of the State Meeting.

1. Governor Bradley Harvell, Jr. expressed support of feminist views in his welcoming remarks.

2. Ethel Allen, Philadelphia City Councilwoman said one of the greatest handicaps to the advancement of women is women's inhumanity to other women. According to the national report of the June '77 state meeting, the average woman voted 42% at Rock Falls. The wage gaps between women and men are widening while the job markets become narrower.

3. Stereotyping begins early in life. One man present at the workshop used athletics as an example of women's weakness in sports-a stereotyped male role. However, examples such as Billie Jean King definitely prove female athletic ability.

4. The little old lady next door represents another expectation of the older woman. Today more women are living their own lives. Most women are objecting to the image of forgetful, senile, and illiterate. With advanced medicine age 65 is no different than 45. In today's society a strong, intelligent physically able, "senile shoe wearing" elderly lady should not be forced to retire.

South Carolina is one of only three states which do not have a Fair Employment Practice Law. A South Carolina law says it is against public policy to discriminate, but there are no penalties or procedures to implement the law. Sex discrimination may not be as visible today as in the early 70's. However, it is still a problem. While many non-discrimination laws are on the books, there is a lack of emphasis to enforce the regulations.

A workshop discussion was held on the demoralization of women, both in ads and programs, presenting women in "women roles". Some members questioned the true essence of violence many expressed concern of violence in children's programs. One member stated that in their opinion some PC and horror movies are more destructive to children than rated shows. It was suggested that those concerned about this project by visiting television stations and writing letters.

The little old lady next door represents another expectation of the older woman. Today more women are living their own lives. Most women are objecting to the image of forgetful, senile, and illiterate. With advanced medicine age 65 is no different than 45. In today's society a strong, intelligent physically able, "senile shoe wearing" elderly lady should not be forced to retire.

BSU
The BSU choir will practice on Wednesday (Sept. 27) at 5:30 p.m. at the BSU Center, 620 Oakland Ave. Admission is open to all students, Rev. Bob Porterfield, director, said.

Kathy Worley, a Winthrop student, will lead the program for BSU's "Undergraduate in Action" Oct. 29 at 6:00 p.m. at the BSU Center, 620 Oakland Ave. Admission is open to all students, Dena Lucy, assistant director, said.

The theme will be "Confrontation," centered on people confronting people and people confronting problems. All students are invited to attend, Worley said.

BY NANCY MITER

BY NANCY MITER

BY NANCY MITER

BY NANCY MITER

BY NANCY MITER

BY NANCY MITER

Intervarsity News

Intervarsity Christian Fellowship, an interdenomina tional fellowship on campus, invites new students to attend a meeting Wednesday, Sept. 27, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 230, 9:00 for discussion, singing and fellowship.

An IVCF conference on "Jesus: Redeemer-King in the West" will be held on Friday. The facility will also be available on Saturday for any student organization upon request. Students should be directed to the Student Activities Office for more information.

Intervarsity, Peggy Keister, ext. 3005.
New Nursing Degree

Through a satellite program fostered by the Medical University of South Carolina on the campus of Winthrop College, practicing registered nurses in the Redmond will be able to earn baccalaureate degrees in nursing without interrupting their work.

The cooperative effort between the Medical University and Winthrop was made possible by a Nursing Special Projects Grant of $196,697 from the Public Health Service of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Marcia Curtis, dean of the College of Nursing at the Medical University, and Charles E. Vail, president of Winthrop College, announced the joint program Wednesday (Sept. 13).

The satellite program was initiated at the request of Vail to meet the expressed need of registered nurses living and working in the Catawba-Wateree area of the state.

All required coursework for the bachelor of science degree will be offered at Winthrop and in nearby clinical facilities. Faculty members from the Medical University will be assigned to Winthrop to direct the nursing courses. Students will take coursework in basic sciences, the arts, the humanities and social sciences under Winthrop faculty members.

Thomas Morgan, acting dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Winthrop, said initial screening of prospective students will begin this month.

"A team of ten from the Medical University, Jacqueline McEachern, will interview interested students on the Winthrop campus this fall," he said. "Nursing coursework, however, will not begin until second semester in January of 1979."

Morgan said a letter is being sent this week to more than 200 registered nurses in the Catawba-Wateree area explaining the program.

"These persons have already expressed a desire in working on a bachelor's degree in nursing," he said.

Morgan said the program was set up to allow RNs in this part of the state to earn a degree with minimal expense and little interference with present career pursuits.

Truman Scholarship Offered

Students who will be juniors in 1978-79, have a GPR of "B" or better, and are preparing for a career in government are eligible for the Harry S. Truman Scholarship, according to Dr. William W. Daniel, Chairman of the Honors Council.

The Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation, established by Congress as the official Federal memorial to honor the thirty-third President of the United States, "The purpose of the Foundation is to recognize President Truman's high regard for the public trust, his lively exercise of political talents, his broad knowledge and understanding of the American political system, and his desire to enhance educational opportunities for young people," Dr. Daniel said.

The scholarship covers tuition, fees, books, room and board up to $5000 maximum and is renewable for four years covering junior and senior year, plus two years of graduate study.

Dr. Daniel said, "This is a very generous scholarship, but the major difficulty is identifying qualified students. Freshmen, sophomores, and all interclass students are urged to apply."

"All required coursework for the bachelor of science degree will be offered at Winthrop and in nearby clinical facilities. Faculty members from the Medical University will be assigned to Winthrop to direct the nursing courses. Students will take coursework in basic sciences, the arts, the humanities and social sciences under Winthrop faculty members."

Thomas Morgan, acting dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Winthrop, said initial screening of prospective students will begin this month.

"A team of ten from the Medical University, Jacqueline McEachern, will interview interested students on the Winthrop campus this fall," he said. "Nursing coursework, however, will not begin until second semester in January of 1979."

Morgan said a letter is being sent this week to more than 200 registered nurses in the Catawba-Wateree area explaining the program.

"These persons have already expressed a desire in working on a bachelor's degree in nursing," he said.

Morgan said the program was set up to allow RNs in this part of the state to earn a degree with minimal expense and little interference with present career pursuits.

Calculators For Statisticians

The Psychology Department has new Texas Instruments 55 calculators installed for student use in the basement of the Bancroft building this year, according to Dr. Baumgartner, an instructor within the department.

The installation of these new calculators now allows each student to have the use of one. In previous years, two or more students had to share a calculator. This cuts down on the time that it takes for a student to learn a given assignment.

According to Dr. Baumgartner, psychology statistics students can now, with the help of these new calculators, learn a correlation coefficient within three or four class meetings. In previous years, it has taken students up to one semester to learn one.

These new calculators are also much more efficient and sophisticated than the ones used in previous years. The college has a total of five Winthrop. They now have many functions automatically that had to be done previously by hand.

New Nursing Degree

The South Carolina Area Health Education Center, regional hospitals, local and regional health councils, the Commission on Higher Education and the South Carolina State Board of Nursing were all involved in planning the program.

For more information, write to the Coordinator of Nursing Education, College of Arts and Sciences, Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S.C. 29733.

News Briefs

Voter Registration

The Political Science Club will sponsor a voter registration drive on the 26th and 27th of September in the Dining Student Center, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., according to Pope Bayer, president.

The club encourages all students who are not registered to take advantage of this opportunity, so they can vote in the upcoming November election. Students that are already registered but will not be in their home town during election time should make sure that they register for an absentee ballot.

Foley said "I would like to encourage all students to exercise their constitutional rights, and make their voices heard."

SEA To Meet

Student Education Association will meet at Dinkins Wednesday, Sept. 27 from 8:30 to 7:30, according to Donna Rice, vice-president.

All education majors are invited to attend the meeting and help to plan the program for the year. The purpose of the association is to keep education majors informed of new trends in education.

Show To Meet

Show, the Student Honors Organization at Winthrop, will hold an organizational meeting on Tuesday, Sept 26, at 8:30 p.m. in Dinkins Auditorium, according to Alexander Broughton, Honorable Council.

The C&S Bank, Winthrop branch, will sponsor a Voter Registration drive this week to more than 200 registered nurses in the Catawba-Wateree area explaining the program.

"These persons have already expressed a desire in working on a bachelor's degree in nursing," he said. Morgan said the program was set up to allow RNs in this part of the state to earn a degree with minimal expense and little interference with present career pursuits.

Morgan said a letter is being sent this week to more than 200 registered nurses in the Catawba-Wateree area explaining the program.

"These persons have already expressed a desire in working on a bachelor's degree in nursing," he said. Morgan said the program was set up to allow RNs in this part of the state to earn a degree with minimal expense and little interference with present career pursuits.

Presidents of the C&S Bank, Winthrop branch, have announced several special services to be offered for students.

News Briefs

C&S Bank

Officers of the C&S Bank, Winthrop branch, have announced several special services to be offered for students.

Students may cash any out-of-town checks at the bank located downstairs in Dinkins, if an ID is presented. The bank will issue travelers checks, give change, and accept Master Charge payments.

Students must pay their telephone bills at the bank. The bill must be presented with the exact amount of money.

The C&S Bank welcomes students to open savings or checking accounts in their Dinkins location. They cannot issue loans there, but appointments can be set up with the main office to discuss a loan. Loan payments can be made at the bank.

Grocery Raffle

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority will hold a Grocery Raffle beginning Sept. 18 and ending Sept. 28 with tickets being sold during this time for $50 in Thomson Cafeteria and from the members of the sorority, according to Annette James, president.

James said that the winner of the drawing (Sept. 28) evening will be awarded a bag of groceries. The groceries will consist of dry goods that can be used by anyone.
"Hester Street"—A Review

"Hester Street," which was shown Sept. 19 at Joynes Center, concerned the new laws of European immigrants to New York City in the year 1896. The star of the movie, a handsome Russian fellow named Jake, works in a clothing store (a very nasty one) and lives in a terribly overcrowded apartment house and, I think, loves a lady named Mamie. Now, this lady named Mamie has saved up $375 (she is a Polish immigrant who has lived in America for ten years). Well, everything went wrong, and Mamie and Jake are in love. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the one of its non-tobacco products.

"Hester Street" was filmed in black and white, which was sort of a disappointment at first but was eventually possible to overlook. The black and white was not all appropriate, for the time period of the film. The old piano music was disappointingly old-fashioned, and also appropriate. The acting was a marvel, especially Robert Lesser as the lawyer, Swan Rozes as Jake, and whoever the lady was who played the landlady, Yiddish was spoken throughout most of the film, but captions were conveniently included. Carol Kane, who played Gitl, was good, and she elicited the viewer's sympathy throughout the whole movie. That poor woman. Her husband killed her and insured her, and when she wasn't doing that, he was ignoring her. Half the movie was over before she finally got the opportunity to smile. Joey, Gitl and Jake's little boy, was a deploring little kid, but he played his part well and I'm sure everyone fell in love with him in no time.

The film as a whole was imaginatively done and did have, in a few places, some really cute parts that allowed the viewers to laugh a little. It wasn't really meant to be a love story, I'm sure for me, give it a bad review, but it wasn't good enough for me to write anymore about it.

ZETA PHI BETA

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority will attend the Zeta Phi Beta Undergraduate Retreat at Morris Brown College in Atlanta, Georgia, October 6-8, according to Janet Adams, president.

The purpose of the retreat is to provide students in the sorority from Florida, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina to learn more about the society and compare ideas from each chapter. Adams said, "she hopes everyone will be on the same page in the following nine weeks.

Zeta Phi Beta will also hold their Achanonian Party in Din-kin, Sunday, Sept. 22, to attend a Rush Party Sunday evening September 17 in the Zeta Phi Beta room, 101 Margaret Naone. Those deciding to join the sorority will attend the party on October 1. According to Adams, this will be the beginning of a learning period for the new members. Initiation will take place in the following nine weeks.

AFRICAN ART EXHIBITED

A special traveling exhibition titled "Concepts of Self" in African Art" will open at the Winthrop Gallery of Art on Oct. 1 through Nov. 12, said Edmund D. Lewandowski, chairman of the Art Department.

The exhibition, sponsored by the Center for African Studies at the University of Florida, will be installed by Gordon N. Ross, professor of African Art at the University of Florida Gallery. The show includes 36 works of sculpture provided by 10 African artists from 10 different cultural groups in West and Central Africa.

The pieces themselves represent a cross-section of items used in traditional African culture and include masks, statues, and other artistic expressions found in African countries.

SPEECH AND HEARING SCREENING

The Department of Communications has announced that speech and hearing examinations will be conducted for all entering students during the first two weeks of the fall semester. Students must take the test or enroll in Writing 101, but the test may be taken at any time during the first semester. We apologize for this error.

ENGLISH CLUB TO MEET

Robert Neil Bittisow, Winthrop's Resident Professor and Director of English and Communications, will speak on "Humor in Writing" at the first meeting of the English Club, Wednesday, Sept. 27 at 7:00 p.m. in the home of Dr. Earl W. rodman, 2103 Rock Hill. The concert is open to the public.

ENGLISH CLUB

Robert Neil Bittisow, Winthrop's Resident Professor and Director of English and Communications, will speak on "Humor in Writing" at the first meeting of the English Club, Wednesday, Sept. 27 at 7:00 p.m. in the home of Dr. Earl J. Rodman, 2103 Rock Hill. Snacks, soft drinks and beer will be served. Dr. Wilson resides at 417 Clarendon Place, Rock Hill.

PROFICIENCY TEST

All students must take the test or enroll in Writing 101, but the test may be taken at any time during the first semester. We apologize for this error.

PHILIP MORRIS SPONSORS COMMUNICATIONS COMPETITION

Philip Morris Incorporated has announced that it is sponsoring a competition called Marketing/Communications Competition for College Students. The purpose of the competition is to provide students with a practical and realistic business project, bringing them into direct contact with the business community.

Philip Morris Incorporated, one of the world's largest cigarette companies and producer of a broad range of beverage and tobacco operating companies or its non-tobacco products. Student chapters of professional organizations or ad hoc committees of no less than five students at the undergraduate, graduate or professional levels; runners-up will receive $500 grants; and other finalists will receive $100 grants who has lived in America for ten years. Well, everything went wrong, and Mamie and Jake are in love. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture.

The competition is to provide students with a practical and realistic business project, bringing them into direct contact with the business community.

A $1,000 grant will be awarded to the winning entries at both the undergraduate and graduate levels; runners-up will receive $500 grants; and other finalists will receive $100 grants who has lived in America for ten years. Well, everything went wrong, and Mamie and Jake are in love. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture.

The competition is to provide students with a practical and realistic business project, bringing them into direct contact with the business community.

A $1,000 grant will be awarded to the winning entries at both the undergraduate and graduate levels; runners-up will receive $500 grants; and other finalists will receive $100 grants who has lived in America for ten years. Well, everything went wrong, and Mamie and Jake are in love. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture.

The competition is to provide students with a practical and realistic business project, bringing them into direct contact with the business community.

A $1,000 grant will be awarded to the winning entries at both the undergraduate and graduate levels; runners-up will receive $500 grants; and other finalists will receive $100 grants who has lived in America for ten years. Well, everything went wrong, and Mamie and Jake are in love. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture.

The competition is to provide students with a practical and realistic business project, bringing them into direct contact with the business community.

A $1,000 grant will be awarded to the winning entries at both the undergraduate and graduate levels; runners-up will receive $500 grants; and other finalists will receive $100 grants who has lived in America for ten years. Well, everything went wrong, and Mamie and Jake are in love. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture.

The competition is to provide students with a practical and realistic business project, bringing them into direct contact with the business community.

A $1,000 grant will be awarded to the winning entries at both the undergraduate and graduate levels; runners-up will receive $500 grants; and other finalists will receive $100 grants who has lived in America for ten years. Well, everything went wrong, and Mamie and Jake are in love. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture.

The competition is to provide students with a practical and realistic business project, bringing them into direct contact with the business community.

A $1,000 grant will be awarded to the winning entries at both the undergraduate and graduate levels; runners-up will receive $500 grants; and other finalists will receive $100 grants who has lived in America for ten years. Well, everything went wrong, and Mamie and Jake are in love. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture.

The competition is to provide students with a practical and realistic business project, bringing them into direct contact with the business community.

A $1,000 grant will be awarded to the winning entries at both the undergraduate and graduate levels; runners-up will receive $500 grants; and other finalists will receive $100 grants who has lived in America for ten years. Well, everything went wrong, and Mamie and Jake are in love. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture. But, Jack is a wise man and demands that he give back the money he has borrowed from her to buy furniture.

The competition is to provide students with a practical and realistic business project, bringing them into direct contact with the business community.
Best tilt of the day!

Good times are great times for the easy taste of Budweiser