With Elizabeth Anderson on the side

Our ego has been deflated to its faintest; our "litry" efforts have been ignored and we are impressed by that fact several times a day.

Please, Please! Won't someone join us in our campaign to enable everyone to get into and out of the post office without getting bruised and battered? Please, Please, PLEASE sign by the upper door and leave by the lower one.

Being unconventional in respect to post office traffic laws is a sure-fire way to lose friends and alienate people.

● Bull sessions do get around to Book occasionally and the latest enthusiasts are truly fun.

◆ "Disand," "Wine," "The Care-Free," and "How We Are Sill," are among our best-read books.

When you begin to get that too-ecstatic feeling, you should have mentioned frivolity. It will make you giggle, gurgle, and coo with delight—as care-free as Ferdinand or Christopher Robin at their most carefree.

● Do you like the theater? Do you sit and yearn to see good plays and wonder what Helen Hayes, Katherine Cornell, and the Lunts are doing in this season? We do, so we decided to find out.

Reading the theatrical advertisements and reviews in the New York Times and the New York World-Telegram (both may be found in the library) isn't, of course, even comparable to buying a ticket and going to the plays themselves, but it's cheaper and at least you know what you're missing.

Radio dramas, especially On the Air, help immensely and the library has a number of files of just a season or two ago in book form. Try 'em. They're fun.

● Somehow we like the white-uniform-for-artist-course idea. It's brighter than row on row of navy blue and does make us feel like an artist a little more dressed.

Course up. We may feel sort of silly in white in mid-winter, but right now it's fine.

And didn't everyone have beautifully Monday night? When an audience as large as that acts grown-up and bean-around—we'll, we just feel proud to be a part of it.

● What with the weather being so gimpish, so positively luscious, so simply too, too, (My, how we do go on!) the great out of doors is calling us.

So, instead of sitting inside trying vainly to write a readable column, we wish we were walking through miles of woods, eating a picnic, crunching people, talking (between bites of course) with a handsome male in brown tweed, with a pipe, of course.

But, here we all.

Freshmen to Sing Sunday

The Freshman Glee club, under the direction of Lloyd Bender, will sing the choral "Blessed Jesus" at Vespers Sunday evening in Johnson hall.

Anderson Leads Other Counties In a Final Enrollment Count

In a county-by-county competition, the 1938-39 enrollment at Winthrop, Anderson leads all others, with the exception of York, with an enrollment of 90 students, while Jasper county foots the list with only four girls enrolled.

Sixteen states are represented with a total enrollment of 1840. Of these 1840 are from South Carolina.

The itemized enrollment follows:

Abbeville	29	Marlboro	15
Albin	43	Monckberry	31
Albion	15	Orangeburg	31
Anderson	90	Orangeburg	31
Bamberg	18	Pike	31
Barrow	15	Richland	45
Beaufort	6	Saluda	8
Berkley	19	Spartanburg	31
Calhoun	39	Santee	28
Charleston	86	Union	28
Cherokee	7	Williamsburg	28

Nineteen Bid to Book And Key

Scholarship Basis For Selection of New Members

Nineteen seniors have been named bids to Book and Key, campus honorary scholastic fraternity. Students are elected to membership in Book and Key on the basis of scholarship attainments. Book and Key at Winthrop corresponds roughly to the national scholastic fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa.

The following girls received bids: Mary Ellen Adams, Cross Hill; Secretary: Mary Barnes, Manning; Annie Laurie Donald, Society Hill; Louise Fant, Anderson, vice-president; Nancy Faris, Clover; Maxine Funderbuck, Lancaster; treasurer; Elizabeth Hughton, Fairfield; Elizabeth Kennedy, Lancaster; Kathryn McColson, Society Hill; Lucy McKeown, Chester; Jane Morgan, Union; Mamma Katherine Ritchie, Albertville; N. C. president; Judith Rogers, Orangeburg; Sara Tribble, Rock Hill; Missie Miller Turner, Sumter; Amelia Verone, Johns Island; Patricia Walker, Walterboro; Mary Ellen White, Greenville; and Bertie Wolpert, Loris. Officers receive their names automatically according to scholastic average.

Book and Key members are required to have a quality point ratio of 2.5, with at least 75 percent of their work in the liberal arts and of a non-professional nature, for at least six consecutive semesters at Winthrop.

All former presidents and last year's members have been invited to the initiation of the new members Saturday. Those who have accepted so far are Grace Stueckey, Crystal Theodor, Dorothy Rogers, Kate Hardin, and Anna Phillips. Dr. Donnis Martin, professor of ancient languages, and Dr. John W. McCain, professor of English, are the faculty advisers for the Book and Key.

Four Added To Beta Alpha

Three ex-officio members and one regular member were initiated into Beta Alpha, honorary commercial club, at a meeting in Johnson hall Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Veda Brice and Miss Marietta Abbey, instructors in the commercial department, and C. C. Stone, supervisor of commerce in the Training School, are the new ex-officio members. Ruth Williamson, senior from Norway, is the new regular member.

Refreshments were served after the initiation.

Y Secretary Speaks

Miss Elizabeth Stinson, Y secretary, will speak at Vespers Wednesday night.

Stately Marshal Puzzles Dancer

He was one of the dancers from the Mordkin ball, graced, bewitched, she was a marshal, stately, straight and proud for the first time in her new white uniform and regalia. He strode around her, the gaze, then he circled around her, and finally burst out:

"I had been everywhere—Ruey, Etalle, Engalen—everywhere. I had seen everything and I thought I knew all de answers to all de questions, but I don't know les: 'Vot are you und vot are you doink!'"

Fifteen Girls Receive Kappa Delta Pi Bids

Fifteen bids to Kappa Delta Pi, national education fraternity, were recently initiated according to an announcement made by the president, Annela Verone.

Membership to the club is limited to seniors and is based upon the qualifications of scholarship, social desirability, and keen interest in education.

Girls to whom bids were sent are as follows: Belle Henningway, Eliza Bus, Elizabeth Kennedy, Elizabeth Ulmer, Augustus Colburn, Patricia Walker, Nettie Wells, Margaret Wise, Frances Murphy, Lucy McKeown, Nancy Faris, Marguerite McCanta, Mary Cary, Mary Hart, and Rose Deane. Present members are Amelia Verone, Elizabeth Shepard, Florence Williams, Maude Miller Turner, Ruth Benson, Louise Fant, and Annie Louise Donald.

The Writers' Club Selects Eight Girls For Membership

At a meeting of the Writers' club last Thursday night eight girls were admitted to membership. They are as follows: Phyllis Harris, Elizabeth Culpepper, Mary Margaret Phillips, Morelle Gipsman, Alice Bryan, Alice Blake, Sallie Kelly, and Rosanne Goss. Qualifications for membership include ability to do original writing and congeniality. The membership is limited to twelve. The other members are Margaret Blanton, Margaret McMillan, Elizabeth Shepherd, secretary, and Sarah Rosenbush, president.

Miss Chlo Fink is faculty sponsor.

Calvert Speaks on Radio Program

Miss Mary Calvert, instructor of sociology, was guest speaker at the weekly Winthrop radio program Tuesday evening in Johnson hall. She was accompanied by two seniors, Anne Tilghman, Marion, and Katherine Brasham, Batesburg, were also on the program.

Musical items were furnished by the string ensemble, under the direction of Emmet Gore, the College Glee club and soloists, under the direction of W. B. Roberts, and Lloyd Bender.

Biddle, Hargrove Speak

Mark Biddle, instructor in music, and Mrs. John Hargrove, hostess of Joyce hall, spoke at the October meeting of the Training School Parent-Teachers association Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Biddle's subject was the organization of the Training School band and he also illustrated the difference in American made and foreign made instruments. Mrs. Hargrove's topic was, "Making the Community Safe for Children."

Kennedy Vespers Speaker

The Rev. James B. Kennedy, pastor of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church, Spartanburg, will speak at Vespers Sunday night in Johnson hall.

150 Students To Attend the State Fair

Annual Trip to Be Taken Thursday To Columbia

About 150 Winthrop seniors, marshals, class presidents, and the two upper-class glee clubs are scheduled to make the traditional trip to the State Fair, in Columbia, on Thursday.

Buses will leave the College from Main building at 8:15 in the morning, so that the girls will have time to have breakfast at the regular hour in the College dining room. All girls must be at the bus station in Columbia by 6 p.m. A hot supper will be served in the dining room when the students return.

Since students will be the guests of the Fair association, they will pay no admission to the fair grounds. Round-trip tickets will be $2.00.

Mrs. Hardin asks that all girls send for their permission on the Dean's office may be saved the last minute rush. "Remember, your uniform is your ticket to the Fair—wear it," said Mrs. Hardin.

Goggans Named To State Board of Education Post

Miss Sadie Goggans, professor of education, has been appointed to the State Board of Education, succeeding the late R. C. Burt, superintendent of Rock Hill city schools.

Governor Johnston announced the appointments at a meeting of the new members Thursday, Oct. 6. Miss Goggans is the only college representative on the board, but she says that she will also represent elementary and high school viewpoints. Her special field of interest, she says, is rural education, and she places emphasis on the curriculum.

Psychology Club Issues Bids To Five Students

Alpha Phi Zeta, honorary psychology fraternity, issued formal bids to five students this week. Student elected as new members are: Marguerite Speer, Charleston; Anne Tilghman, Marion; Mary Lou Price, Gilbert; Anita Miller, Fairfax; and Betty Adams, Florence.

Guests Attend Ballet

W. B. King of the Associated Press and Murray Bennett, telegraph editor of The State, attended the artist course Monday night as guests of the College.

ATHLETIC GROUP DEMONSTRATES ALL FIELDS OF ACTIVITY

A demonstration of all the activities offered in the physical education department, featuring a night hockey game, will be presented in an arena on the athletic field Monday evening at 6:30.

The exhibition is especially for the freshmen who will choose the activity clubs in which they are most interested; however, all students are urged to attend.

As a climax to the demonstration, two teams from the hockey club will compete in a night game on the lighted hockey field.

Activity clubs represented on the program are: basketball chairman, Harry Edna Kneever; hockey chairman, Inez Kelly; tennis chairman, Dolly Stead; swimming chairman, Catherine Easterlin; recreational sports chairman, Beulah Mandy; bowling chairman, Frances Legare; sailing chairman, Thelma Hicklin; tumbling chairman, Mary Sanders; archery chairman, Laura Mae Brown; and dance chairman, Betty Lewis. During the program special dance attractions, managed by Katherine Anne, chairman of entertainment, will be given.

The Curtis String quartet, which will appear here Wednesday night as the second Artists' course number, had the same personnel since its organization twelve years ago. The members of the widely acclaimed group are: Jascha Brodsky, first violin; Charles Jaffe, second violin; Max Aronoff, viola; and Orianda Cole, cello.

All Topics of Conversation With Mordkin Lead to Ballet

"Art is not a quick lunch" vehemently stated Mikhail Mordkin as he expounded his philosophies. "Something good is never built up soon—it takes hard work for a long, long time."

Seated on the steps outside the dressing room after the performance of his ballet, company Monday night, Mr. Mordkin talked to the State Board and frankly about his conceptions of the dance. His deep voice raged, rumbled, almost roared, as he supplemented his quite excellent English with intense, dramatic gestures and facial expressions.

Although he is a short, rather heavy-set man well in his fifties, one has the impression of youthful vitality and an almost boundless strength. His enthusiasm is most keenly contagious; he catches hold of one's imagination with his first gracious smile, holding onto it tenaciously with his other sincerity. Everything he discusses ends by being in some way connected or contrasted with his one love, his art—the ballet.

A premier dancer and ballet master of the famous Imperial Ballet of Moscow, Mr. Mordkin voluntarily spoke of Soviet Russia. "I am not a communist, but something changed my mind. Perhaps the world will be ready for communism after two or three thousand years. I do not know."

Beaming, he spoke on. "But now I am very happy to be an American citizen. America has been good to me and I would like to give it something from my art—I want to give to America a foundation for the ballet like that of the Russian Imperial School."

"Americans make fine dancers; all they need is time, study, technique."

Freshman Glee Club Elects Officers

The Freshman Glee club elected officers at a meeting of the group this week.

The new officers of the club are as follows: Carolyn Guess, Denmark, president; Vivian Major, Greer, vice-president; Nancy Cogswell, Darlington, secretary; Mary Wardlaw, Abbeville, treasurer; and Elizabeth Weathers, Bowman, pianist.

Convention Hears Sextet

The Winthrop college sextet, accompanied by string ensemble, sang at the State convention of the Water Works association Wednesday night at the Andrew Jackson hotel.

Winthrop to Hear Curtis Quartet

Europe Acclaims It America's Most Talented Group

The Curtis String quartet, acclaimed in Europe as the most outstanding American ensemble to tour the continent, will give a performance of chamber music in Main Auditorium Wednesday evening as the second Artists' course number of the season.

For 12 years the quartet, consisting of Jascha Brodsky, first violin; Charles Jaffe, second violin; Max Aronoff, viola; and Orianda Cole, cello, has traveled to every corner of the country giving concerts, broadcasting over the radio, and making recordings. The personnel of the ensemble has never changed since it was organized in 1927.

The Curtis quartet was invited to London in 1928 to represent the United States during the Silver Jubilee of the late King George V. While in Europe the group gave concerts sponsored by Lady Astor, the American embassy, the English houses of parliament, and the League of Nations in Geneva.

Mrs. Mary Curtis Bok, patroness, has provided the ensemble with a collection of rare old instruments, each instrument an example of the celebrated old Italian violin makers. Both violins were made by Stradivarius. The one used by

Graham Calls Discussion of Activity Fees

In an attempt to administer student activity fees fairly and justly to student organizations on the campus, A. M. Graham, business manager, called a meeting of student representatives from all academic organizations listed in the college catalog Tuesday in Main auditorium.

The meeting was the result of a petition to the business office asking that all or no academic or departmental organizations receive a cut of the fee.

Mr. Graham stated two procedures, one of which will be adopted. They are (1) to reduce the number of organizations to the original set-up and reduce slightly the fee, or (2) to increase the fee about double to include all 45 or more organizations.

Enrollment Now 1640; Freshmen Lead With 650

Have you noticed the wild condition of the junior physical education majors lately? Well, they're all in the last stages of pernicious anemia as a result of the demand of Miss Tingley (the blood-thirsty) for corpses. The poor girls have lances their fingers and drawn millions-billions of erythrocytes, leukocytes, and thrombocytes. Just as the faded ones were threatening mutiny, Hemoglobin Tingley announced that frogs would soon replace the maidens as blood donors.

You rhythm-bone's who just can't wait for physical education classes to end so you can rush to the start "Tutti-Frutti" a twirling should curb your voracious enthusiasm, for there are classes in season all over the gymnasium, and the deafening strains of "Give Me Some Tutti-Frutti" can be most annoying to teachers and students alike. The Athletic Association provides the combination radio and vic for your pleasure, but you should wait 'till the day's classes are finished before using either.

Seen around

"E." Rogers boasting of the "gold's eye" she made in archery... Julia Thomas back on the campus for the week-end telling the world that teaching is bluffon is something grand—especially the moonlight for humping... Cappy Covington seated on turf of athletic field with typewriter in lap pecking out a story while two nearby frolicers play a snappy game of hop-scotch.

It was Miss Lee, Miss Calvert, Dr. Stokes, and Dean Hardin whom we saw engaging in a strenuous game of bingo at the fair. It's certainly noising how the Winthrop faculty goes in for exercises.

Monday afternoon the tigers'll be roaring, the devils raging, and the goat bleating down the hockey field, for Monday is the first official practice day for unrecrascement! Hockey's in the air! And we're looking forward to witnessing the best hockey ever played at Winthrop!

Don't miss the sports exhibition under flood lights on the athletic field next week. All sports will be represented, and you'll see Winthrop's best at their best.

Winthrop girls conclude that football is a great game—for what else has had such power of attracting Clemons men Winthrop-way. And trips to Davidson are also attracting to that game.

There'll be no more arrow-hasting for Miss Casany's tomopolitans (archers). Twenty yards of burly strung up behind the targets are proving to be a great help to those bow-widders who haven't quite mastered the art of hitting the target.

WINTHROP TO HEAR CURTIS QUARTET

Mr. Brodsky, known as the "Hall" was made in 1649, and Mr. Jaffe's violin was made in 1715 and is known as the "Marquis de Riviere" from whose collection it came. The viola was made by Nicolo

Arati, the teacher of Stradivarius in 1677. Experts judge it to be the finest viola in the world. The solo was made by Domenico Montagnana, the celebrated pupil of Stradivarius, in 1729, and is acclaimed to be one of the finest of its kind in existence.

Clubs Choose Chairmen

At an athletic board meeting last week, the Athletic Association selected as chairman for 'our athletic club: Elizabeth Vermeer, junior; baseball club: Deulah Maude Eaddy, junior, recreational sports club: Thelma Hicklin, sophomore; outing club; and Frances Legars, senior, boating club. Katherine Anne, vice-president of the Athletic Association, was appointed chairman of the poster committee.

Five Girls Are Drum Majors For New Band

Leaders Selected From Group of 50

Five drum majors for the new, organized band were chosen from fifty students who tried out for the position in a contest in Music hall auditorium this week.

The five girls chosen were Peg Williams, freshman from Clemons, Mandy Morgan, freshman from Hyman, Sarah Geer, freshman from Anderson, Agneline Towill, sophomore from Batesburg, and Rebecca Sealy, freshman from York.

After the first try-outs, Mark Biddle, director of the band, selected ten girls who were most suited for the position to enter the final try-outs. According to Mr. Biddle, the competition was so great that it was necessary to ask W. B. Roberts and Ray A. Furr to help him in selecting the winners. This committee elected the five girls to be official Drum Majors for the band.

Volunteer Groups Exchange Teams

The Student Volunteer has completed plans to exchange deputization teams with Columbia Bible college and Furman university. The organization expects to send the Winthrop team to the former college sometime within the next month as the first exchange.

The Volunteer group has also planned varying programs for each meeting: first week, a musical program; second week, program on foreign missions; third week, program on home missions, and the fourth week of each month will be given over to an outside speaker.

The club has also decided to support a foreign student in school, probably one in Africa. Miss Stella Bradford has been elected faculty sponsor, and will serve as adviser to the organization.

A. A. U. W. Reception

A reception in honor of the new members of the American Association of University Women will be given in Johnson hall Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Isabel Watkins of Columbia, who is the state president of the A. A. U. W., will be the speaker. The hostesses for the reception are as follows: Mesdames A. W. Huckle, C. W. Frew, Don Matheuse, W. H. Hope, Jr., Misses Isabel Potter, Pattie Dowell, Mary Calvert, Julia Post, Florence Andrews, Dean Kate Hardin, Dr. Helen Buswell, and Dr. Elizabeth Johnson.

Kiwanians Hear Sextet

The Winthrop sextet, composed of Augusta Cathran, Helen Wallace, Mima, Totolis McKean, Christine Riley, Eleanor Huggins, and Nan Sturgis, sang at the Kiwanis club meeting Tuesday at the Andrew Jackson hotel. The sextet was accompanied by Marguerite Sanders.

Eight Perform in Recital

Eight students performed on the student recital Wednesday afternoon in Music hall auditorium. Those on the program were: Louise Kinard, Mary Garner, Mary Margaret Phillips, Pauline Harsell, Frank Elliott, Alla May Walker, Anne McMichael and Marnette Sanders.

Winthrop Vies with Tin Pan Alley as Home of Hit Tunes

A new tune that becomes a hit, a new song that will be whistled on every street corner, a new jingle melody that will be played on every radio program—that is what may become of Meadors Lunn's new song—"Why Do I?"

Meadors, a sophomore from Florence, has not only written a song—words and music—but she has had the song copyrighted, contracted, and is in a fair way of having it published.

"Why Do I?" plaintively asks the title of the song and "Why Did You"—that is, why did you write the song?—the composer was asked. "I just wrote it this summer when I didn't have anything else to do." Then with a slight smile, she added, "It—ah—my inspiration is tall, old, handsome, but not dark."

The copyright is an official document with a very imposing-looking seal and the date, September 12, 1932—probably the birthday of a future song hit. Meadors has made a contract with Stan Tucker, New York, who has criticized her song and judged it to hold vast possibilities. He will handle all the business and practical aspects of the song—the number of copies sold, the movie rights, the profits from the sale.

While at Ocean Forest hotel this summer, Meadors met David Burnside, orchestra leader. He made an orchestral arrangement of her song and is to play it over the Columbia network very shortly. This performance will be the debut of "Why Do I?" before the public.

Already, the composition has been recorded in the United States navy catalogue of songs.

Mr. Griffith of the Griffith school of music, Atlanta, Ga., has invited Meadors to give her interpretation of the song over WGST in Atlanta. "But," Meadors avows, "I just can't stand there. I'm not nearly good enough, you know!"

Margaret Putnam Makes Speech on Danforth Award

Margaret Putnam, senior of Laurens, spoke at a meeting of Delta Sigma Chi on Wednesday afternoon on the Danforth Scholarship which she was awarded for the past summer.

The Danforth scholarship, awarded every summer by Mr. Danforth, president of the American Youth Foundation, to majors in home economics, includes a two weeks stay in St. Louis, Mo., as a guest of the Baiton Furze Co.

For two summers Winthrop has been represented at this conference by the major in home economics who has made the most outstanding record during her junior year.

Man In Hospital Says Hospitable

The "cannon ball" that sent a man to the Winthrop infirmary wasn't an overshot from the Spanish civil war, nor was it a gun salute to welcome the Mordkin Ballet—but a misplaced bowling ball that, rolling off the top of the piano, smashed the thumb of Maiz Zlatin, musical director for the ballet.

After Mr. Zlatin had been treated over to the infirmary and whisked, he proudly exhibited his bound thumb and exclaimed, "I like this place—it's all so very hospitable."

W. T. S. Plays York Plays

Winthrop Training School plays York high next Friday. Last year Training School won with a score of 7-6 in the last minute of play, and this year rivalry is keen. Coach Blakely expects all members of his team to be well and ready for this game.
