Conley To Be Fifth Chairman In '48 Series

Eugene Conley, one of America's leading tenors, will appear as the 1947-'48 series in the Washington college concert series on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Conley was born in Massac County, Illinois. He began his career by singing in the choir of the First Baptist Church. He studied music in such musical centers as Detroit and New York, which opened in his work for great engagements with such leaders as Toscanini.

His operatic career was cut off for some years while he was in the army, but immediately on his release in 1918, he resumed his career in New York City, scoring an outstanding success.

Mr. Conley's operatic appearances, beginning in 49 as a Baritone, have taken him to all parts of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Sweden, Costa Rica, and Peru.

100 Librarians at WATS Saturday

To discuss problems of the development of school libraries, a meeting of librarians was held at the Washington college library on Saturday afternoon.

The school of librarianship at the university of Chicago will conduct the sessions.

Miss Jane Anne Day, school librarian of Columbus, Ohio, was one of the speakers.

Choir Girls Sing at DAR Meeting

Several patriotic numbers were sung by members of the choir under the leadership of Miss Florence Elam. May 19 was the closing session of a recent meeting of the Daughters of the Revolution held at the home of Mrs. John Lunden on Market street.

The group included "America's" Carol Carroll, "Oh! My America, My New Famous Woman" (Vaughn Williams), "Shades of the Republic" (Beecher), and "Hymn to Columbia.

First speaker was Priscilla Goumbeau. Zelma Griffin, Adeline Grubbs, Aline tubes, Dorothy Lounsberry and Marguerite Young will represent the choir.

"Big Man On Campus"

The "OMG!" on campus last week was Metropolitan baritone, Robert Rossellini. Rossellini, who is on tour with his pianist, Elizabeth Cason, who also on tour with her pianist, was shown on campus.

Pink Elephants Revealed To Students As One Object Of Faculty Member's Rare Collection

By BARA HALL

Do you ever dream of pink elephants? Meet "Pink elephants." Well, Ms. Pink Elephant is the English department's newest member. When she was a student at the University of Iowa, there was a rule that any student who was observed in the English department was subject to observation by the English department faculty. This rule has since been abandoned, but there are still a few stragglers who continue to wear pink elephants. These stragglers are mostly members of the English department, but there are also a few who wear pink elephants just for kicks. The pink elephants are usually seen in pairs, but occasionally a group of three will be spotted. They are made of felt and are approximately 12 inches in height. The elephants are designed to look like the traditional pink elephants, but with a twist. The ears are larger and more pointed, and the trunk is longer and more expressive. The elephants are intended to be humorous and are often used as a way to liven up a dull lecture or discussion. They are also used as a way to honor or remember a beloved colleague or friend. If you happen to see a pink elephant, feel free to take a photo and share it with others. You never know when your photo might go viral!"
