First public forum deemed successful

BY SULA SMITH AND BETH TUCKER

The first Public Forum, organized by the Student Government Association, was held in Thompson Cafeteria Nov. 1. The forum focused on issues that have recently caused controversy—parking tickets, basketball tickets, and the MacFeat-Witters issue. Committee members listened to questions concerning student parking registration and complaints concerning student hall fines. The first question concerned parking registration, which was later defined as any noise over what is required and in what is common. Fines for offenses were reduced from parking registration and fines.

Questions on parking were primarily directed to Denman. Students were mainly concerned about the determination of distribution of parking tickets, plans to increase parking, and where the money went from parking registration and fines. He also said that the money was to be used to increase parking, and the distribution of parking tickets, resident hall fines, and money for basketball games and other extracurricular activities.

Students also learned of a new activity complex. Locations for the 7,000-seat complex were used for basketball games and other events. Students also learned of a new activity complex. Locations for the 7,000-seat complex were used for basketball games and other events. Students also learned of a new activity complex.

Costumes, games, and goodies

BY LESA WRIGHT AND BONNIE JERDAN

Halloween was "happening" at Dinkins, Tuesday, Oct. 31.

The sweet smell of cotton candy greeted Winthrop's trick-or-treaters as they entered the land of costumes and games. Scattering from booth to booth were play-gar batteries in pink lights and Boppers, a Raggedy Anne with orange hair, and a fat orange pumpkin complete with green stem. A white horse walked through the crowd, accompanied by its scullery, and grated.

The egg slaughter booth, for the second time, offered a $2 fine for a "do not disturb" sign. Call of Door meetings break a "do not disturb" sign, for a $2 fine, absence from a mandatory hall meeting, and $20 and going out for a mandatory fire drill is $10.00, a fine for a $10, second offense is $15.00.

The mac and cheese booth, which specializes in Mac and cheese, allowed students chances to relieve their frustrations. The egg slaughter booth, the Mac and cheese booth, the pumpkin booth, and the whipped cream booth were also present.

The Mac and cheese booth was a major reason. Students were informed that the booth would be allotted extra tickets going to the Booster Club. There will be 200 sets of tickets available for supporters of the team. Each visiting team will be allotted 200 sets of tickets. Students also learned of a new activity complex. Locations for the 7,000-seat complex will be used for basketball games and other events. Students also learned of a new activity complex.

Matters concerning MacFeat are now open until a decision is made. Burns said, "This is a serious matter and the committee needs to begin work promptly."

According to Burns, the committee should be appointed by Wednesday, November 8. "There's one member I'd like to appoint to that committee who's not here today," he said.

"I don't think we can set a time limit on this. But, I'm hoping they (the committee) will get to work right away," said Burns. Also on the agenda were the selection of an architect for the proposed $5 million field house and the addition of men's intercollegiate baseball. The Board went into executive session and proposed a $5 million field house and the addition of men's intercollegiate baseball. The Board went into executive session and proposed a $5 million field house and the addition of men's intercollegiate baseball. The Board went into executive session and proposed a $5 million field house and the addition of men's intercollegiate baseball. The Board went into executive session and proposed a $5 million field house and the addition of men's intercollegiate baseball.
Decisions, decisions

BY RON HOUCH

One fine day a while back, I was preparing for a test that I thought I had studied well enough to succeed. But then, on the day before the exam, I lucked out. I picked up a notebook and found it filled with notes from another professor. I had assumed this was just a coincidence, but when I went to class the next day, I noticed everyone staring at me as I walked by. I was surprised to find out that the notebook was filled with notes that I had never seen before. I realized that I had made a mistake in preparing for the exam, and I felt terrible. But then, to my surprise, I found out that everyone had made the same mistake. They had all studied from the same notebook, and everyone had failed the exam. I was shocked and devastated. I had never thought that I would fail an exam, and I was embarrassed to tell my friends and family. I didn’t want to admit that I had made a mistake, but I knew that I had to. I apologized to my professor and the students, and I worked hard to improve my grades. I learned that it’s important to be honest and to admit your mistakes. It’s not easy to admit that you’ve made a mistake, but it’s the right thing to do. I hope that others will learn from my experience and avoid making the same mistake I did.
Business administration offers opportunities

BY SUSAN CODY

Luanna Done, Career Counselor in the Placement and Career Planning Office, 147 Banchroft, encourages students to take a close look at the Business Administration Field especially if they are undecided as far as a career is concerned.

Done said that Business Administration offers numerous opportunities for the person seeking his or her first job. "In many cases, students can get an office job with some high school training and lots of enthusiasm and entry-level such as receptionist or bank tellers can provide an excellent business background and often lead to higher paying positions with more responsibility," Done said. "Those who go on to college will find that the Masters of Business Administration is one of the hotests degrees going and many companies look to M.B.A. graduates to fill their management training positions."

Business is especially open for women and minorities since Congress gave the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission the power to bring lawsuits against companies not complying with EEOC standards, according to Done. She said that several court decisions against large, well-known firms have meant all businesses are reviewing their hiring, promotion and pay policies. "This means two things," Done said. "First, more and more college-educated women and minorities are finding exciting opportunities in business especially in accounting, finance and management, and second, salaries for so-called "women's work" go up to satisfy the EEOC, men who don't have college are finding jobs like secretary, bank teller, and telephone operator attractive."

Rock to raise cash for campus

A Rock-a-thon, sponsored by the Student Government Association, will begin at 9 p.m., Friday, Oct. 10, in Thomsen Cafeteria, according to Debbie Grimes, vice president of SGA.

The purpose of the Rock-a-thon, which will last until 7 a.m. Saturday morning, is to raise money for the college. Some proposed projects which the money will go toward are an Eagle blanket to be displayed in the cafeteria and a lighted outdoor campus map, Grimes said.

Students who want to rock in the Rock-a-thon must have sponsors who agree to pay a certain amount of money (25 cents minimum) per hour that the student spends rocking. Sponsor sheets are available in the SGA office, upstairs in the same building, according to Debbie Grimes, vice president of SGA.

The first annual Turkey Bowl flag football championship will be held Tuesday, Nov. 7 at Sims Field. The league champions-determined by final season records-play each other for the Turkey Bowl championship.

The NFC season winners with a record of 7-1-1 are the Youag Bucks. Team members include Ricky Brown, Toby Claffy, Eddie Eargle, Ricky Ford, Butch Forrester, and Ricky Guill. Also Jamie Holt, Steve Kirby, Ned Marshall, Bubba Sharpe, Buddy Thompson and Chuck Welch. These two teams will battle it out for the Turkey Bowl championship tomorrow night at 5:00 (Nov. 7).

Turkey Bowl Championship

The first annual Turkey Bowl flag football championship will be held Tuesday, Nov. 7 at Sims Field. The league champions-determined by final season records-play each other for the Turkey Bowl championship.

The NFC season winners with a record of 7-1-1 are the Youag Bucks. Team members include Ricky Brown, Toby Claffy, Eddie Eargle, Ricky Ford, Butch Forrester, and Ricky Guill. Also Jamie Holt, Steve Kirby, Ned Marshall, Bubba Sharpe, Buddy Thompson and Chuck Welch. These two teams will battle it out for the Turkey Bowl championship tomorrow night at 5:00 (Nov. 7).
Study Series: Part 3—Hitting the books

BY SIDNEY A. BREEZE

This is the last part of the study series. It is simply a list of books and pamphlets within the Winthrop campus which are designed, specifically, to help you to study.

- THE STUDENT'S GUIDE TO GOOD GRADES, or, SURVIVING THE UNDERGRADUATE JUNIORS. Kathy Craft and Brenda Hatcher, 182 pp., $2.45.

- IMPROVING STUDY AND HOMEWORK BEHAVIORS, Steven M. Zilberblatt, 96 pp., $3.00.

- HOW TO STUDY IN COLLEGE, Walter Park, 270 pp., $4.25.

- HOW TO STUDY SUCCESSFULLY, Harry M. Bannan and Lawrence M. Bannan, 49 pp.

- THIS IS THE WAY TO STUDY, Howard B. Brown, 106 pp.

- HOW TO LEARN EASILY, George Van Ness Dearborn, 221 pp.

- STUDY IN DEPTH, Doris Wilcox Gilbert, 207 pp.

- HOW TO STUDY, A.M. Jordan, 97 pp.

- HOW TO TAKE TESTS, Jason Millman and Walter Park, 176 pp.

- HOW TO STUDY SUCCESSFULLY, Clifford T. Morgan and James Deese, 153 pp.

- BEST METHODS OF STUDY, Samuel Smith, 151 pp.

- HOW TO LEARN FASTER AND BETTER, Thomas F. Stanton, 67 pp.

- BASIC STUDY SKILLS, J. Wayne Wrightsman, Dorothy Leggit, and Stanley Reid, 177 pp.

There are several books on reading comprehension and teacher-student relations. All of the books just listed are in the BF section, on the ground floor of the library.

Violinist featured

The dashing young violinist Daniel Helfetz will join the Charlotte Symphony Orchestra on Saturday, Nov. 11 at 8:15 p.m. in a performance of the Sibelius VIOLIN CONCERTO at Dana Auditorium. Helfetz, prize-winner of both the International Tchaikowsky Competition and the Merriweather-Peabody Competition, is widely acclaimed by audiences, conductors, and critics as one of the most fiery and charismatic violinists of our time.

This performance, second of four in the sold-out Saturday Series, will open with a SERENADE FOR WINDLAYSERS by Richard Strauss and conclude with Beethoven's timeless classic, SYMPHONY NO. 7 IN A MAJOR. Sibelius' CONCERTO FOR VIOLIN AND ORCHESTRA reflects his great love of themes of epic proportions being his native Finland. CGS Music Director Leo Deebens will conduct the concert.

Daniel Helfetz, who studied with Efrem Zimbalist and Ivan Galamian, has played to rave reviews with the orchestras of Philadelphia, Cleveland, Los Angeles, and Washington, D.C. He also starred recently in an unprecedented nationwide television program for CBS on the "Art of the Unaccompanied Violin."

The Saturday Series waiting list of people wanting to attend has now grown to 80. Subscribers unable to attend are therefore urged to call the Symphony Office at 332-6136 as soon as possible to turn in their seats for a tax credit so others may enjoy the concert. Seats released in this manner are re-sold for $9.00 or $3.50 for students.

An evening of concert and jazz

BY RICHARD PODMORE

The Winthrop Concert Band and the Jazz Ensemble will give a concert at eight o'clock p.m. on Nov. 9 in Byrnes Auditorium. The concert is free to the public.

The Concert Band, a 56-member group directed by Mr. William Metambar, will play during the first half of the show. The band will feature pieces by Ralph Vaughan Williams, Shorter-Koch, Clifton Williams, and Haydn Wood. Steve Blackman will play the kazoo.

(Continued on page 11)
The last round-up

BY RALPH JOHNSON

Tuesday is election day, and everyone is expected to do his or her patriotic duty and vote. It is for this reason that we are offering this mini review on the candidates who are running for office in this state.

Governor: The two major candidates who are running for Governor are Democrat Richard Riley and Republican Ed Young.

Riley is a native of Greenville, South Carolina and has served for 14 years in the state senate. Riley's main emphasis is on education with special regards to public education. Riley says that as Governor, he would work to get the public back into public education.

Edward Young is the Republican candidate for Governor. Young is a former sixth district congressman. He feels very strongly about the right to work law and is a firm supporter of nuclear development.

In the much heated South Carolina senatorial race, the two candidates vying for the office are incumbent J. Strom Thurmond and Charles "Pop" Ravenel.

Thurmond, 75, is a former governor and judge of South Carolina. Twenty years of senate service under his belt, Thurmond, who prides himself on the fact that he enters in his constituency, is seeking what he calls his last term. Thurmond, who favored the passing of the Kemp-Roth Amendment to cut taxes (this law was defeated), feels that there are no real issues, and he prefers to run on his record.

Charles "Pop" Ravenel caused quite a stir in South Carolina in 1974 when he came from nowhere to almost win the governorship. Ravenel, who feels that South Carolina needs a change, is a strong supporter of measures to curb inflation and recently sent his proposals to do this to President Carter. Ravenel, who is a Harvard-educated businessman, favors a tax cut for farmers.

The race for Lieutenant Governor is being run by John Stroud and Nancy Stevenson.

Nancy Stevenson is a native of Charleston, South Carolina and has served two terms in the State House of Representatives. Stevenson feels that an emphasis should be placed on education in the primary grades, especially grades one through three.

John Stroud, who is making his first bid for public office, is a former special consultant to Governor James Edwards. He is a strong supporter of business and he will work to recruit business to this state.

In the fifth district congressional race, incumbent Kenneth Holland is running unopposed.

These, then, are the major offices and the contenders. Although South Carolina is primarily a Democratic state, a few of the Republican candidates stand strong chances of winning. The highly-contented senatorial race is unique in that it gives Strom Thurmond this major challenge since getting elected to the senate in 1934.

In the long run, it is you, the voter, who will decide.
You’ve come a long way baby

BY LYNDAL HADDON

I guess the saying, “You’ve come a long way baby,” really is true. I know that when I was younger I was pretty much interested in architecture, too. It has always been a secret wish of mine,” said Erin.

When asked about her future plans, Erin replied, “I am working towards a degree in music. I have four records done for my first album. I don’t have a record company yet, but I am going ahead anyway. I have a really friendly producer in Lake Geneva, Wisconsin,” explained Erin. “They were interested in leasing me a studio for the next year. I can’t wait to get started.”

But how to do it?” said Erin. “I played for about a year or two before I started paying.”

SNEA-SSEA meeting

The Student National Education Association-South Carolina Education Association will meet Wednesday, Nov. 8, 5:30-7:30 p.m. in Wibben 306, according to Cathy Campbell, Chairman of the Publicity Committee.

The speaker for the meeting will be Dr. Jim Colbert, professor of Education. He will speak on the National Teacher Certification Examination (NTCE).

All members are requested to attend.

SGA minutes

The first order of business for the October 25th Senate meeting was the appointment of Robby Sacco as Day Student Senator. The Senate then heard from Dr. John Beltz of the Traffic and MacPeet and Withers.

These committees are to give their reports the following meeting or the November 1st meeting.

The fine policy was amended to allow $100 per student to go to the President’s Ball. A recommendation was made to request that guidelines for the pay of employees of the three college publications be drawn up and referred to Academic Affairs.

The new Arrow Chevries

Tastefully designed to look well outdoors or indoors. Lightly brushed 70% cotton, 30% polyester fabric in beautiful, classic plaids. Semi-wrinkle, no iron. Matched center pleat and pockets.

Long sleeves $17.50

Belk Menswear, ROCK HILL MALI on Cherry Rd.
Abracadabra.
I sit on his knee.
Presto chango,
and now he is me.
Hocus pocus,
we take her to bed.
Magic is fun;
we're dead.

MAGIC
A TERRIFYING LOVE STORY

JOSEPH E. LEVINE PRESENTS
MAGIC
ANTHONY HOPKINS, ANN-MARGRET
BURGESS MEREDITH, ED LAUTER
EXECUTIVE PRODUCER C.Q. ERICKSON
MUSIC BY JERRY GOULD
SCREENPLAY BY WILLIAM GOLDMAN,
BASED UPON HIS NOVEL
PRODUCED BY JOSEPH E. LEVINE AND RICHARD P. LEVINE
DIRECTED BY RICHARD ATTENBOROUGH

PRINTS BY DE LUXE, TECHNOCOLOR
R.

STARTS FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10TH AT A THEATER NEAR YOU
CHECK LOCAL NEWSPAPERS FOR THEATER LISTINGS
BY BONNIE JERDAN AND SIDNEY A. BREEZE

A face-to-face encounter with Kenny Loggins

"I'm a goal-oriented person. I like to have goals."

How does one go about getting an interview with a popular rock artist? Sometimes it can come as an unplanned surprise, as two Johnstonian reporters discovered at the recent Kenny Loggins concert in Charlotte, Oct. 24.

Of course, we had anticipated the possibility of actually speaking with Loggins, but the idea of actually interviewing the experienced reporters from an obscure college newspaper, bluffing their way backstage to a big-time star's dressing room, seemed too far-fetched. Rather, our noble aim was merely to acquire a

"I'm a goal-oriented person."

When we explained our desire to get a picture of Loggins, one of them very pleasantly informed us that he was busy disconnecting their equipment.

When we explained our desire to get a picture of Loggins, one of them very pleasantly informed us that he was busy disconnecting their equipment.

"I have a couple left in my briefcase. Be back in a minute." And off he went.

Meanwhile, the policemen roped the stage, now that the lights were out, and the treated backstage. Hesitantly, we followed.

Behind the stage, we huddled together, commenting on the gear that was packed and carted off, and marveling at our good fortune to make it this far.

Presently, we noticed a room to the side where we recognized a few of Loggins' band members going in and out. We also noted among them our friend Thompsons.

"Be right with you," Thompsons said with a smile. "I have a couple left in my briefcase. Be back in a minute." And off he went.

Finally, Thompsons emerged from the dressing room, presenting Breeze with a photograph of Loggins. "Do you want it autographed?" he asked.

We agreed readily, and Thompsons returned to the dressing room.

Right through that little door was the enchanting musician whose mellotone and players were on the stage had held us spell-bound throughout the performance. When we peeked in at his long hair, jeans, and Loggins T-shirt, and asked him in the door, he leaned closer.

"Yeah? Yeah?"

"Why don't you ask Bob Messina split up?" Breeze detected his blunder as soon as it came out of her mouth.

"Bob?" Loggins took a couple steps back, laughing. "That's Jim, isn't it?" he pointed to his food where he names "Kenny and Jimmy" were lettered.

Loggins pointed an imaginary gun to her temple and pulled the trigger.

The reason is, we'd been together for six years, and we thought we'd move on and go on our own," Loggins explained. "Some people consider everything as training for something. Others just go with the flow and take everything as it happens. That happened with Jim. It could have been preparing me for this." He waved his bottle of Firewater. "This could be my apprenticeship for something else.

Loggins took a swig of water.

"I'm a goal-oriented person. I like to have goals."

He flashed another smile as we thanked him for the interview and prepared to leave.

"See ya next year," was his parting call as the overwhelmed and slightly shaken reporters walked out of the room.

"Did you get to see Kenny Loggins?" asked a lingering female fan in awe as we finally let out all our excitement. We answered in the affirmative, and the she asked how we did it.

"We just walked through the door," answered loudly.

We stropped off across the deserted coliseum floor and grabbed an empty bottle of Bianco for a souvenir.

Photograph of Loggins, which the concert promoters were unable to provide, to accompany the concert view?

I like to have goals."
Review:

Loggins comes alive

BY SIDNEY A. BREEZE

It was unfortunate and embarrassing that such a diminutive crowd, about one-fourth the seating capacity of the Coliseum, showed up to greet Kenny Loggins and his opening act, Player, to Charlotte last Tuesday, Oct. 24. You see, we here in the Rock Hill area did not get the opportunity to see big names such as these too often.

First of all, Player (not to be confused with the local group, Flair) came on stage. Their lighting was fantastic, the group members were good, and only a few chords fell out. The group performed their hit, "This Time I'm In It For Low," "Baby Come Back," and "Prisoner Of Your Love," and kept the audience rocking. I could only keep asking myself, "What are they doing as an opening act? They should be headlining." Despite the EXTREME loudness, I was impressed, and their hour on stage was quite good.

We had to wait 45 minutes until Kenny Loggins came on. But the beginning of his show was quite impressive and exciting. It began with a cloud of smoke, a dark stage except for a street lamp, and the skilled manipulation of a lone flute. The audience went crazy. Then Loggins came on. The audience went crazier. The overpowering smell of reefer filled the air. Player was forgotten by the end of the first song.

Loggins, after noting the small size of the Charlotte crowd, but discovering how enthusiastic they were, commented, "You may be small, but you're powerful." He seemed to have the audience with him for the entirety of the concert. "Danny's Song" - (Loggins): "Everything Is-what?-(Crowd): "GONNA BE ALL RIGHT!"

There had been rumors going around that Stevie Nicks was going to show up to do "Whatever I Call You Friend," but alas, it was not so. The audience went wild anyway.

"Angry Eyes" lasted for almost 15 minutes, and showed the exuberance of Loggins and his band, and also put the crowd into a lower pitch.

It took a five-minute ovation to bring him back. He did two songs and left. It took a seven-minute ovation to get him back again. For his very last song, "Celebration," Loggins told the crowd, "This one is dedicated to you." And we appreciated it.

Loggins moved well, sang well, performed well, and gave a good show to his audience. He also has a great band. The concert was worth my six bucks, even in these times of inflation.

Kenny Loggins

LANGSTON'S
TOWNCENTER MALL
Rock Hill, S.C.

FINE MEN’S CLOTHING AT REASONABLE PRICES

OVER 30 YEARS EXPERIENCE

"We Tailor What We Make"

PHONE 328-0143
Joynes: providing contemporary knowledge for the public

BY MARSHA ATCHISON

Changes in society constantly create new needs for knowledge. In response, Joynes Center for Continuing Education offers a program of timely interest. Joynes’ new, non-academic function explores the role of the new life as an independent being. “Opening Doors for the Qualified Handicapped” informs employers of this often overlooked portion of our population.

The programs are spontaneous, “Half of them are initiated by Winthrop staff,” said Dean Lawrence Joiner, Director of the center. Some programs may be un projects from the community at large.

Joynes Center has specific responsibilities to Winthrop College as the “Space Broker.” All non-academic functions are assigned to Joynes. A master calendar of all such events is kept in the center. “We have more requests for space than we have space to utilize. This is a nice switch. At one time, it was not like this,” Joiner said.

Joynes Center has specific responsibilities to Winthrop College as the “Space Broker.” All non-academic functions are assigned to Joynes. A master calendar of all such events is kept in the center. “We have more requests for space than we have space to utilize. This is a nice switch. At one time, it was not like this,” Joiner said.

Nothing in present-day American inflation even begins to match the German inflation of half a century ago. But the story of Germany’s catastrophic inflation provides a useful historical example of what can happen when inflation runs wild.

On August 8, 1923, the mark reached 5 million to the dollar. By December, it was 50 billion. The worst was yet to come.

The German monetary crisis got under way during World War I, when the Berlin government preferred to finance the war by borrowing rather than raising taxes. On the eve of the war, the official exchange rate stood at 4.2 German marks to the dollar. By early 1919, the mark had fallen to 10,000 to the dollar. By mid-January, the exchange rate hit 100,000 marks to the dollar. By mid-June, it had tumbled to 200,000.

In this situation, workers needed wheelbarrows to carry their pay. Prices increased from hour to hour. An American tourist remarked that “the price of a meal often increased between soup and nuts.”

The worst was yet to come. On August 8, 1923, the mark reached 5 million to the dollar. By December, it was 50 billion. Nothing in present-day American inflation even begins to match the German inflation of half a century ago. But the story of Germany’s catastrophic inflation provides a useful historical example of what can happen when inflation runs wild.

Eaglettes established

BY BONNIE JERDAN

The Eaglettes, a Winthrop Athletic Service Organization, was recently established to promote Winthrop College athletics, according to Kelly Gordon, chairman.

The main function of the 44-member group is to hostess athletic events. This involves seating the spectators, monitoring the hospitality room for coaches and referees, and running errands for the press.

The Eaglettes, a Winthrop Athletic Service Organization, was recently established to promote Winthrop College athletics, according to Kelly Gordon, chairman.

The main function of the 44-member group is to hostess athletic events. This involves seating the spectators, monitoring the hospitality room for coaches and referees, and running errands for the press. Other duties of the Eaglettes are making banners for all athletic events and being available for special athletic events. Their first event was the Eagle Club Rally, held in MacBryde Cafeteria Oct. 26. Along with the Eaglettes, the pep band, cheerleaders, and basketball team attended the rally.

Beyond the restraints of political as it relates to the..
Average student costs up 7.8 percent this year

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CPS) - Tuition and other student charges at the nation's four-year colleges and universities for the 1979-80 session are 7.8 percent higher than the same charges last school year. Those charges include tuition, required fees, and room and board.

That's the finding of a National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges (NASULGC) study of more than 100 four-year colleges. The increases, moreover, are about a full percentage point over the inflation rate from July, 1977 to July, 1978.

Nevertheless, half of the schools surveyed called inflation the major cause of the student charges increases. A third of the respondents said the increases were needed to maintain program quality and the rest cited added staff and faculty salaries, inadequate state funding, and the absence of alternative revenue sources.

Twenty-four schools, though, managed to resist increasing student charges this year.

The NASULGC annual cost surveys in 1969, when the median total undergraduate was $1287 per year for residents, and $1910 for non-residents. In 1978-79, median charges for residents is $2221 and $3408 for non-residents.

The ten schools with the highest total resident charges were: Cornell ($4133), Temple ($3480), Univ. of Vermont ($1186), Univ. of Pittsburgh ($174), Univ. of Colorado ($3051), Univ. of Rhode Island ($251), Ohio State ($287), Penn State ($2534), Univ. of Cincinnati ($2674), and SUNY-Environmental Sciences ($2523).

An evening...

(Continued from page 4)

The Human Development Center of Winthrop College is a major program of South Carolina's University Affiliated Facilities (UAF). The other major UAF program is located on USC's campus. These two components receive assistance from a consortium of 28 schools scattered throughout the state. This statewide network of colleges and universities can and does act in concert with UAF goals under the leadership of its Director, Dr. Carolyn M. Smith.

The UAF provides training, research and direct services in order to benefit the developmentally disabled. Winthrop's Human Development Center (HDC) is involved in all of the major goals but primarily operates as the model UAF diagnostic and treatment facility. As a demonstration clinic, HDC evaluates about seven (7) clients per week and treats approximately seven hundred (700) clients PER YEAR.

Accurate communication is always needed to help maintain trust. I hope this letter improves the quality of information about HDC because we need others' confidence in order to train Winthrop's students and serve South Carolina's developmentally disabled children.

Sincerely,
John F. Batkins
Clinical Coordinator

Editor's Note: Mr. Batkins, Thank you for writing. I am deeply sorry for the errors in the story about the Human Development Center. There is no excuse for the inaccuracies. We do make mistakes, and I regret that we made such errors in the reporting of such an important facility. Again, I apologize.

The study also had rankings for total non-resident charges. The schools with the lowest total charges for non-resident students were: Alabama A&M ($1140), Univ. of Arkansas-Pine Bluff ($2159), College of the Virgin Islands ($2159), Univ. of Arkansas-Fayetteville ($2321), Delaware State College ($2325), Alcorn State Univ. ($2354), Kentucky State Univ. ($2578), Southern Univ. ($2582), Tennessee State Univ. ($2643), and Univ. of Texas at El Paso ($2621).

Hooper

In addition to an increased membership in the ensemble, Don Rogers, Administrative Assistant to the Dean of Music, says that enrollment in the department has increased at least 10 percent each year since 1974. He attributes this increase to an improved public relations program and a new scholarship grant.

Step into fashion with our comfortable savings

The Cobbler's Bench

TOWNCENTER MALL, ROCK HILL, S.C.
803/328-2305

Bass
since 1974

The Cobbler's Bench

Open 10-6
Opening 10-9, Nov. 10
10% discount for Winthrop College Students Nov. 6-11
Bring Your I.D.
Winthrop 6 Presbyterian 1

The Winthrop soccer team defeated Presbyterian six to one in an Intercollegiate soccer match played Oct. 24 in Clinton, S.C. Tim Peay paced the Eagle scoring with two goals while Carlos Gonzalez, Brian Cotter, Frankie Griffin, and Emmanuel Oguama all had one goal each for the Eagles. Goalkeeper Bob Bowen had another fine game but had his chance for a shutout in the last minute of the match. The Eagles had 50 shots on goal to only 15 for the Blue Hose.

South Carolina defeats Eagles 4-1

The Winthrop soccer team fell to the South Carolina Gamecocks four to one in the Intercollegiate soccer match played Oct. 25 at the soccer field.

Winthrop played a strong match, but the Gamecocks proved to be too strong for the Eagles. Tim Peay scored Winthrop's only goal of the match. Coach Casada was optimistic after the match, saying, "We played a good match against a quality team today." USC is ranked number 5 in the South.

Winthrop defeats Francis Marion 8-5

The Winthrop Eagles soccer team virtually assured themselves a spot in the NAIA District Six playoffs by defeating Francis Marion eight to five in a match played Oct. 27 in Florence.

Carlos Gonzalez scored four goals, the second time this season he has done such a feat, setting a school record. Tim Peay and Allan Rikard both scored two goals each. Wes Jenkins had three assists and Pend Armstrong added two. The Eagles finished their District Six play for the season with a 8-3 record.

Coach Casada said the success of the team had come from making personnel changes in the middle of the season. "We moved Frankie Griffin to fallback. He made a sacrifice for the good of the team," Casada said.

Eagles in NAIA District Six Playoffs

The NAIA District playoffs are scheduled for Nov. 10 and 11 in Greenville, S.C., according to soccer coach Jim Casada. Coach Casada hopes for a good turnout of Winthrop students for the tournament. Tickets are on sale at Coach Casada's office in Kibler Building, room 307. Tickets will cost $1.00 for each of the two matches to be played. Seeds for the tournament have not been given as of today, so Winthrop's opponent for Friday's match is not available.
A quick look at the basketball team

As Winthrop College initiates men’s basketball, head coach Nick Gordon re-enters the world of coaching after a one-year layoff, the Eagles’ outlook for the 1978-79 campaign can be termed “competitive” considering it is a first-year team. But what Winthrop lacks in experience, the Eagles will compensate for with height and depth.

Believed to be the tallest team in District 6 history, Winthrop has eight players 6-8 or taller, four of whom are at least 6-6. Height is a mark of a Nick Richardson-coached team.

Heading the list of big men are the Creamer twins, 6-10 Donnie and 6-4 Ronnie. Both have two seasons of experience. They were idle last year after pioneering to Winthrop, but they used the year to hone their skills. Donnie has the inside track on the center position and has advanced so much that Gordon calls him the most improved player on the team even before the season starts. Ronnie, a smooth forward with a good inside game and an outstanding offensive rebounder, is expected to be a difference maker.

The Creamers are not the lone giants on Gordon’s first team. He also has two of the NAIA’s 1977-78 coaches of the year, Alan Ouns, a 6-11 mountain, at North Greenville Junior College for one semester before jumping on the Winthrop bandwagon. Also adding depth to the center position is 6-8 Jim Gibson, a freshman from the talent-rich area of Mansfield, Ohio.

Joining Ronnie Creamer as possible forward candidates are freshman Tim Baxter (6-6) of Rock Hill; freshman Donnie Godwin (6-8) of Colfax, Texas; and sophomore Kevin Mahoney (6-7) of nearby York Comprehensive High and junior Gary Adcock (6-5) of Kannapolis, N.C. Added to the fine crop of forward prospects is an abundance of guards—Nick Gordon has never had.

Junior Dave Hampton (6-1) of Germantown, Ky., followed Gordon from Newberry as did sophomores Benie Bennett (6-1) of Gable and Rich Rice (6-3), also of Mansfield, Ohio. Too, in sophomore Robin Ellenburg (6-11) of Gastonia and freshman Carl McGee (6-6) of Charlotte, N.C., and Gordon has a fine array of guards. Any two of the locals could start. Doug Schmieding (6-3), also a freshman from Eastside High, is listed as a guard, but may see action as a small forward.

The Eagles will employ the same zone defense that Gordon used successfully during 14 seasons at Newberry: a continuous zone designed to free a man with an 8-10 foot shot. The single pivot will be paired by the standard two-guard, two-forward setup. However, Gordon may capitalize on his team’s versatility by using a double pivot with two wings and a point guard whenever the opportunity arises.

Eagles to have four big men on the court at one time. Gordon may use a three-guard offense on occasion.

Winthrop will employ a controlled fast break-off run and shoot. Against zone defenses, the Eagles will play for the high percentage shots, freezing the outside shooters and feeding the ball inside to the big man for the easy shot.

Defensively, the Eagles will play man-to-man. All five players will attempt to rebound a missed shot, simultaneously guarding their men until the ball has been rebounded. Some one-on-one situations will be installed as will full-court man-to-man presses, as needed.

Gordon has lined up an attractive, yet competitive, 23-game schedule for the Eagles’ first year of play. But all but five of the contests are with District 6 foes. Highlights of the slate include three doubleheaders—one featuring the NAIA’s second-ranked team in 1978, Gardner-Webb College. The Eagles open the season on the road against Winthrop College—Gordon’s junior college alma mater—which will be playing its first game as a four-year institution.

Making the District 6 playoffs is the lone goal for the Eagles this season. Should the Eagles accomplish that, it would mark the first time for a first-year team in District 6. According to Gordon, the Eagles could be a very good basketball team or just an average District 6 team, but he says “we will not be a bad team.”

The excitement on the Winthrop campus regarding the first men’s team will add incentive for the Eagles. However, the Eagles will have to call Sullivan Junior High gym “home” until a planned sports complex is built. The tiny, borrowed quarters will make the home-court advantage somewhat questionable.

Gordon and all of the players have been looking forward to opening the season after sitting out a year. Winthrop students and the citizens of Rock Hill have added tremendous support and enthusiasm for the program. 1978 will be a year to remember for Winthrop College as the first men’s basketball team takes to the hard-court.

Members of Winthrop’s basketball team prepare for the upcoming season. The team practices daily. (Photo by A.P. Smith)
SCHLITZ

Schlitz Makes It Great

Words by
RALPH RYDHOLM
BURT MANNING
THOMAS HALL

Music by
RALPH RYDHOLM AND
BURT MANNING

Beer Makes It Good (There's Just One Schlitz) There's No Debate

(Nothin' Else Comes Near) Beer Makes It Good (When You're Out Of Schlitz)

Schlitz Makes It Great (You're Out Of Beer)

So When It Comes To Beer Why Make It Good

Schlitz Makes It Like No Other Could Schlitz Makes It Great!!
Big band jazz comes to WC

ROCK HILL—Count Basie will swing into the big-band sound of jazz at 8 p.m., Nov. 13 in Byrnes Auditorium on the Winthrop College campus.

William Count Basie and his 18-piece orchestra will blend simple, subtle tunes with brassy maneuvers of the 1978-79 Fine Arts Association Series.

Critics have hailed Basie's band as the greatest of all jazz bands. It has won the International Office Poll and the Readers Poll in Downbeat, Pittsburg Courier's award for the 'Greatest Contribution to Popular Music,' the Hall of Fame in Playboy, the Readers Poll in France's Le Jazz Hot, and "The Greatest Ever" and "New Star" categories in the Musicians Poll of Leonard Feber's 1956 Encyclopedia Yearbook of Jazz.

Basie's band grew out of the Bennie Moten Orchestra after Moten's death in 1935. The orchestra is still a favorite accompaniment of Frank Sinatra, Tony Bennett, Ella Fitzgerald, Fred Astaire, and many other stars.

"Basie leads the band with the piano. He seldom gives any visual signal other than a nod or a look. In slow tunes he moves along with his soloists, making cryptic musical comments and jokes about what they are playing, and he decorates ensemble passages with apparent garlands of notes. In fast numbers, he moves down into the lowest inaudible chords that have literally made his listeners and his musicians shout," according to one critic.

In addition to Count Basie and His Orchestra, the Fine Arts Association Series includes:

"Carmina Burana," a choral work by Carl Orff, performed by collegiate choral groups with the Charlotte Symphony on Jan. 22, 1979.

Maryland Ballet on Feb. 15, 1978, to substitute for the Atlanta Ballet, which cancelled a scheduled Sept. 13 appearance.

Panist andre Watts, performing with the Charlotte Symphony, on March 13, 1979.

Anthology ready for submissions

The Anthology, Winthrop's literary magazine, is now accepting submissions, according to Ellen McDowell, editor.

"We are accepting submissions of poetry, short stories, essays, song lyrics, photographs and drawings," said McDowell. "The literary work should be sent in legal-sized envelopes typed on regular 8½ by 11 paper with the author's name, address and telephone number in the upper left-hand corner."

Authors who would like to have their work considered for the President's Prize for Poetry or the Robert F. Lane Fiction Award should indicate which works will be entered, according to McDowell. Art work and photographs should be submitted with a short attached to each work bearing name, address and telephone number. All materials should be addressed to the Anthology, Box 6875, Winthrop College.

News briefs

Registration set

Open registration for second semester will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 28-29 in McBryde, announced Jane Tucker, Director of Records and Registration.

Advisors will be available for consultation Nov. 18-19. Schedule bulletin will be issued prior to advisement.

Registration will take place from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m., both days.

Tucker said that she plans to have summer schedule bulletin available on the days of open registration so that students may use these in planning schedules for next semester.

Bank open Tuesday

The C&S Bank in Distinct Student Center will be open election day, Nov. 7, which is a school holiday, according to bank officials.

Baptist Student Union

Pat Terry, a contemporary Christian singer from Atlanta, will be in concert at Queens College in Charlotte Monday, Nov. 6.

Anyone interested in going should call BSU for further details, according to Dawn Lucy, assistant director.

Lucy said that Rev. Ernest Mehaffey from the Missions Department of the State Baptist Convention will speak at BSU Thursday, Nov. 9 at 6:00 p.m.

They will perform after church, which will lead the devotion at the Soup and Sandwich luncheon Monday, Nov. 13 at 12:00, according to Terry.

Wesley/Neuman Westminster

Rev. Randy McSpadden, director of Westminster, will lead the program, "What Does It Feel Like to be Hungry?" Tuesday, Nov. 7 at 6:00 p.m. at the Wesley Foundation, according to Delia Lucy, director.

Rev. Randy McSpadden, director of Westminster, will lead the program, "What Does It Feel Like to be Hungry?" Tuesday, Nov. 7 at 6:00 p.m. at the Wesley Foundation, according to Delia Lucy, director.

Rev. Randy McSpadden, director of Westminster, will lead the program, "What Does It Feel Like to be Hungry?" Tuesday, Nov. 7 at 6:00 p.m. at the Wesley Foundation, according to Delia Lucy, director.

Keller's lecture changed

Psychologist Fred Keller's lecture has been changed from 8 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 9 at Johnson Auditorium.

Pep rally planned

Cheering squad captain Nancy L. Lindsay announced the first pep rally of the season to take place on Nov. 17 in McBryde cafeteria.

According to Lindsay, the cheering squad is planning a free disco on the night before the pep rally. Plans have not been completed for the disco. A tentative date is Nov. 16.

Eagles club dinner

Winthrop cheerleaders were guests at the Eagles Club fund-raising dinner on Oct. 26 in McBryde cafeteria, announced Nancy L. Lindsay, captain.

According to Lindsay, the program, which included a speaker, was hosted by Coach Nield Gordon.

Lindsay said that Gordon introduced the cheerleaders, the Eagles Mascot, basketball players, and the Gold Gloves, whose main duty is to serve as hosts to the visiting basketball teams.

According to Lindsay, about 60 people attended the dinner.

A E Rho initiates

Alpha Epsilon Rho just initiated five new members Oct. 25, at 8 p.m.: Sara Smith, Sharon Christy, Curtis Morris, Nancy Ritter, Junior; Phoebe Lark, Junior; and Pamela Jean Brunson, Senior. The three continuing members are Kathy Kirkpatrick, President; Kenneth Ritter, Vice President; and David Payne, Nancy Ritter was elected secretary, according to Kathy.

"We discussed plans for the coming year which will include some work that will be done in conjunction with WNSC-TV in Rock Hill," Kirkpatrick said.

Also discussed were "plans that will inform the public about events at Winthrop and plans to learn other aspects of television production such as video-editing," Kirkpatrick said.
Get four words off your next Anheuser-Busch® Natural Light.

Here’s the way to get the most popular naturally brewed light beer without saying a word.

Just hand this to your bartender. You’ll get a great light beer with a refreshing taste that only comes from using nature’s finest ingredients, just like the label says.

Oh, and if you want to order more than one without saying anything, feel free to make some copies.

Cut this out and give it to your beertender.

One Natural Please!

Good for one ice-cold Anheuser-Busch Natural Light at the regular price.