ON THE CASUAL SIDE Elizabeth Anderson

Southerners are sometimes a trifle annoyed with the fuss that most Yankees and Westerners make over our charming drawl; but we believe here we've all become charmed with the English accent now.

Miss Grace Hadow's interesting talk in chapel Wednesday was undoubtedly a little more interesting, because of her broad A's, waddy's, raver's, clarks, and so forth.

Class discussions and ball sessions are very similar in many ways. For instance, have you ever noticed how invariably personal and general discussions start, and how they inevitably end with personalities and specific cases?

A good ball session might bring up the question of why Connie Mary named her twins Eskiel and John. Someone thinks Eskiel is an ugly name, 'cause a boy named that used to tie her braids in knots down in the fourth grade.

A typical Winthrop noon which is mooned year in and year out betrays the alth of social life. We're not arguing R. S. V. P. that point but we do think the women should moon a little less often.

A number of Rock Hill women have invited small groups of students to teas and parties. Some of the girls don't bother to acknowledge the invitation, others accept and just don't appear at the party.

The hostesses never know how many guests to expect or how much refreshments to prepare. The thoughtfulness of a few who "don't care" keeps others who might enjoy a cup of tea in a charming home from being invited.

Even the most ultra-modern versions of Emily Post write chapters in etiquette books on the French phrase "Respondez Si Vous Plait."

Helen Jepson, Prima Donna, Comes as Next Artist Number

A glorious voice, an unusual intelligence, a winning personality—that is Helen Jepson, who will appear as the third artist course program, November 10. Miss Jepson is a beautiful woman whose phenomenal development has been phenomenal; she has some of the vocal charm that was Mary Garden and some of the exquisite warmth that was Lucrezia Bori.

Freshmen Elect Smith President

Marshall, Duvall Are Cheerleaders; Wells Is Pianist

Connie Smith, Bishopville, was elected president of the freshman class at a meeting Tuesday night in the gymnasium. Other officers elected were: Mary Marshall, Greenville, and Elizabeth Duvall, Cheraw, cheer leaders, and Lila Wells, Greenwood, pianist.

Connie, who has been acting as freshman class chairman, was graduated from Bishopville high school last June. There she was senior cheer leader, a member of the Beta club, and played on the hockey and basketball teams.

Mary graduated from Greenville high school last June. She was cheer leader for three years, and was voted the girl with the most personality her senior year. She was also on the newspaper staff.

Elizabeth graduated from Cheraw high school. She was a member of the Beta club, the National Honor society, the tennis and basketball teams, was assistant editor of the annual, and was cheer leader during her junior and senior years.

Lila graduated from Greenwood high school, where she was secretary of the senior class, salutatorian, and a member of the student government board.

Winthrop secret sang at a banquet Friday night at the Masonic temple in Charlotte. Dr. W. W. Rogers, head of the psychology department, was principal speaker.

Y Schedules Lecturer On Family Life

Morgan Holds Discussion Group Here Nov. 2-4

Mrs. Mildred Inkeep Morgan, lecturer and discussion group leader, will be the guest of the Y November 2, 3, and 4.

Mrs. Morgan presents profoundly important and intimate problems of family relationship in and out of matrimony, adjustment, parent-child relationships, problems of adolescence, and marriage and the home. She has an understanding of psychology and the needs of students.

Majoring in child welfare and parent education, Mrs. Morgan has completed the residence requirements for her doctorate from Teachers College, Columbia University; her master's degree in religious education from the same institution.

Beta Pi Theta Invites Ten to Membership

Beta Pi Theta, national honorary French fraternity, has issued ten invitations for membership. The following were invited to join: Dr. Margaret Buchner, instructor in modern languages (honorary); Helen Lee Barge, York; Mary E. Darby, Honca Path; L. Ruth Dixon, Ridgeway; Edith Gentry, Greenville; Virginia Herring, Andrews; Nancy Elizabeth Hopper, Spartanburg; Margaret Sims, Fort Mill; Margaret Wiggins, Holly Hill, and Florence Wilson, Leesville.

The requirements for membership are three years of college French, scholastic ability, and interest in the language.

Other officers of Beta Pi Theta are: Caroline Sande, president; Anne Laurie Donald, vice-president; Elizabeth Hughton, secretary; Mary Ellen Adams, corresponding secretary; Mary Robinson, treasurer.

Editors Attend State, National Conferences

The members of the journalistic staffs of the campus will be welcomed over the country next week-end.

Louise Fant, editor of The Johnsonian, will leave Wednesday for the Associated Collegiate Press convention in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Members of the editorial council of The Johnsonian, Elizabeth Anderson, Jean Phifer, Sarah Shine, and Sarah Rosenblum will attend with the S. C. Press association convention at Rock Hill.

Margaret Blanton, editor of the Winthrop Journal, Margaret McMillan and Cappy Covington, members of the Journal staff, will also go to the State convention.

College Directory Issued Tomorrow

The college directory of students, faculty, and officers is now in process of being mimeographed, and will probably be available to those wanting copies by Saturday, according to John G. Kelly, registrar.

The directory has a complete list of students with course, class, dormitory, post office box, and parents' name and address. There is also a list of teachers and officers with residence, residence phone, post office box, and classroom or office.

Debaters Send Three to N. C. Collegiate Meet

Mrs. Mildred Inkeep Morgan

Mary Robinson, senior from Pageland, Mary Ellen Adams, senior from Cross Hill, and Sara Taylor, senior from Lexington, will accompany Dr. Warren G. Keith, head of the history department, to the North Carolina collegiate legislative assembly at Raleigh, North Carolina next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Mary will go as parliamentary of the Senate, Mary Ellen as parliamentarian of the House of Representatives, and Sara as a delegate from Mecklenburg County.

Winthrop is the only South Carolina college invited to the assembly.

Kennedy Refutes Tatler Rumors of Price and Size

The price of the 1938-39 Tatler will be $4.00, the same as last year's. It will be made every year. The pay days are stretched out for the nine month period for the convenience of the students.

"If you pay by installments of 50 cents for eight pay days it will be easier on your pocket book," suggests Elizabeth.

Another rumor about the Tatler is that it will be smaller. Elizabeth says that it may not be quite as thick, but the size will be changed in no other way.

Members of the student who will make the trip are Anna Dizon, Helen Wallace Sims, Wilhelmina Stuebeck, Mildred McKeithen, Jane Kennedy, Nan Sturgis, accompanied by Mary Christine Loomis.

An will talk on Winthrop, Friday at the district meeting.

42 Schools Present At Conferences; New Group Meets Today

Zirbes Speaks To Both Groups; Mitchell Praised

Approximately 100 superintendents and principals from 44 South Carolina school systems ended a two-day conference on the campus yesterday, observing and discussing the new education at work in the elementary school.

Dr. Laura Zirbes of the Ohio State university headed the discussion groups following classroom observation in the Winthrop Training School.

The conference, the first in a series of annual events, expected to be held at Winthrop college, opened Wednesday morning with observation. The visitors heard Miss Grace Hadow of Oxford University, England, in an address at noon Wednesday.

Wednesday afternoon President Shelton Phelps addressed the group, followed by the first appearance of Dr. Zirbes at the Winthrop Training School auditorium. Dr. Zirbes continued her discussions Wednesday evening in Johnson hall.

Curriculum Study Group This Afternoon

The second of two statewide education meetings opens this afternoon at 3:30 in Johnson hall with the South Carolina Commission of Revision of Curriculum in session. Dr. Laura Zirbes will address the group, and Superintendent M. E. Brockman, chairman of the steering committee, will preside.

The South Carolina committee for the Revision of the Curriculum grew out of a series of meetings of teachers and superintendents in Greenville in September and December, 1937, to observe and discuss education improvements. At the conclusion of the December program, the South Carolina Education association appointed a committee of 23 interested teachers to formulate a program for educational improvements.

This committee met during the state teachers' convention in Columbia March 22 and suggested that an increase be made in membership. At a meeting of the steering committee at Superintendent James H. Hope's office September 26, 1938, the committee was increased to 140 or 150 teachers to work on a curriculum revision program over a period of four or five years.

At the meeting this afternoon an educational program similar to that of adjoining states will be formulated.

The Winthrop college Board of Trustees will hold its annual fall meeting here, Monday.

The ex-officio members of the board are: Hon. Olin D. Johnson, governor of the state, and chairman of the board, Columbia; Hon. James H. Hope, state superintendent of education, Columbia; Hon. R. J. Jeffries, chairman of the Senate committee on education, Walterboro; Hon. K. M. Newton, chairman of the House committee on education, Anderson.

Elected members of the board are: J. A. Sprull, Cheraw; W. D. Davis, Liberty; Mrs. W. L. Daniel, Greenwood; W. J. Roddy, Rock Hill; Mrs. George M. Stuebeck, Winthrop; Angus B. Macaulay, Chester; and C. L. Cobb, Rock Hill.

N. Y. Buyers on Campus

Eighteen or twenty New York representatives of the Association of Wheelers will visit Winthrop tomorrow morning. These men, representing a buying capacity of between 150 and 200 million dollars annually, will visit the Rock Hill Printing and Finishing company.

Psychology Students Honored by Faculty

Approximately two hundred psychology students were entertained at tea Wednesday afternoon by Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Rogers and Miss Stella Bradford at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Rogers on College avenue. The guests called from four until six.

Mrs. Rogers met the guests at the door and invited them into the reception room. From there they were directed into the parlor where Miss Bradford entertained.

Completeness in every room were the profuse arrangements of dahlias and roses. Dr. Rogers grew the flowers in his garden.

Members of Alpha Psi Zeta, honorary psychology fraternity, assisted the host and hostesses.

In the dining room Helen Tindal, president of the fraternity, poured tea. A lace cloth with an arrangement of "Jane Cowell" dahlias was used on the table.

Dr. Rogers took many of the girls through his garden before bidding them adieu.

Naudains Entertain Men of Faculty

About thirty-five men of the Winthrop campus were guests Wednesday night at supper at Graydon, the Catawba river home of Dr. and Mrs. G. G. Naudain.

The guests were welcomed by Dr. Naudain in the large, rustic living room where an early fall and seasonal decorations added to the thoroughly congenial tone of the "party."

In the dining room a single long table was set with a ham and salad plate. The "Hallowe'en" motif prevailed here too.

After supper the men smoked and talked around the fire.

Miss Lonsy L. Landrum, State Home Demonstration Agent, attended the series of meetings held at Lexington, Ky., for the interest of rural women.

Every night after supper the girls of McLaurin hall serve after-dinner coffee, a custom initiated last spring by Miss Esther Swanson, former hostess, and sponsored this year by Miss Mary McDonald, the present hostess of South.

Various students volunteer to be hostesses. They serve hot, black coffee in varied colored cups, and occasionally mints or cookies are also served to the guests who gather in the parlor.

Each girl contributes to a fund which makes the coffee hours possible. Miss McDonald and Mrs. J. B. Towill, assistant hostess of McLaurin, are present. Dean Kate Hardin is a frequent visitor.

Dr. W. D. Maginnis, head of the education department, spoke to the Rotary club of Winnsboro, S. C., Tuesday afternoon on "Boys' Work."

Adelaide was graduated from Winthrop last year cum laude. While a student, she was a member of Beta Beta Beta, Book and Key, Kappa Delta Pi, and Phi Gamma Mu.

Mr. Pope was graduated from Clemson college in '24. Since that time he has received his master of science from Louisiana state university, and at present he is professor of horticulture at Marthas Berry college in Rome, Ga.

Girls Serve After Dinner Coffee Nightly in South

Students whose birthdays fall between August 22 and October 23 were guests of the Y at a Zodiac birthday party yesterday at 6:30 in Johnson hall.

Horoscopes for the two signs—Virgo and Libra—were read. The large group was then divided for games and contests. Refreshments of coffee and star-shaped cookies fitted into the theme of the party.

Elizabeth Cleland, social chairman, and Miss Elizabeth Stinson, assisted by the social committee of the Y, were hostesses.

Tea Honors Dr. Zirbes

Honoring Dr. Laura Zirbes, principal speaker of Education conference, members of Kappa Delta Pi have a tea in Johnson hall, Thursday afternoon. Guests included the members of the Training School faculty and principals of South Carolina attending the conference here.

year she was graduated from Curtis, 1930, she scored a successful debut with the Philadelphia Grand Opera company.

Then followed a trying period of opportunity hunting. She was selected for a solo part in a leading radio program and gave such a distinguished performance that she was "starred". Gatti-Casazza, while listening to one of her broadcasts, became impressed, summoned her to his office, and awarded her a Metropolitan Opera contract.

Since her debut opposite Lawrence Tibbett, he acclimating presence has greeted brilliant performances of "Faust", "La Boheme", "Martha", "Otello", "Thais", "Lady of Camellias". She scored a magnificent triumph in "La Traviata", which marked a new mastery in the shaping of her material.

This vital soprano has a fine rhythm which carries her performance safely over the most dangerous spots. The splendid, honey-colored voice fits itself superbly to her impersonation, yet, with precisely the right intensity to make it carry.

Miss Jepson's phrasing has vigor and movement even in those coloratura passages where lesser singers are content to calculate problems of pitch and breath exclusively. The upper register of her voice is comparable in its purity of timbre and intensity of vibration to violin tones. The lower register is like a viola tone in its warmth, richness, and amazing wealth of clear overtones. She uses her voice like an instrument with astonishing ease and superlative facility.

Miss Jepson—the personification of youthful charm—blessed with a beautiful voice, and a spontaneous flair for the stage; hers is, indeed, an enduring glamor!

No one has ever denied that a pillow is a knapsack.

Traditions Keep Winthrop Abreast of Best in Education

New ideas in student life are constantly being heralded in various and varied publications of the nation. Winthrop's innovations from abolition of social clubs to changes in color of canteen chairs appear in every issue of The Johnsonian. Newspapers throughout the state run stories and pictures of the bigger changes on the campus.

But seldom does Winthrop news make large metropolitan dailies. Although from a recent issue of The New York Times it would seem that what is novel to some of the larger universities has already become tradition here. For instance—

"Four enterprising Radcliffe students have started a little shop for providing snacks after evening hours of study." (The Y canteen.)

"Columbia university has undertaken an intensive survey of each member of the freshman class to provide a basis for guiding the students in an intelligent plan of elective work in their junior and senior years." (Freshman placement and aptitude tests are established customs at Winthrop.)

"Sixteen new members have been chosen for the Rutgers university glee club." (The newly-formed A Capella choir are ninetees, Winthrop girls.)

"New York university announced undergraduate honor rolls based on an average of B or better." (When Winthrop announces its distinguished list only those who make a 2.5 quality-point rating are included.)

"Cornell university is attempting to develop a workable plan for student self-government which will include among other things definite powers of action in matters affecting student conduct (the Student Government Board), playing a vital role in freshman orientation."

Home Ec. Clubs Sponsor Halloween Carnival

A carnival, sponsored by Phi Upsilon Omicron, national home economics fraternity, and Delta Sigma Chi, campus home economics society, is to be held in the gymnasium Saturday night after the show. There will be music, dancing, side shows, a chamber of horrors, lobbying for apples, throwing pennies, shooting at targets, fortune telling and bingo.

Hot dogs and lemonade will be sold as refreshments.

There will be a small fee for each entertainment, but no admission will be charged to enter the carnival.

Debaters Elect Chairmen

Marion Mayfield, senior of Denmark, and Mary Darby, junior of Hones Run, were elected social chairman and chairman of publicity, respectively of the Wade Hampton literary society, October 28th.

Plans for the Dixie Forensic tournament, to be held here December 1-3, were discussed at this meeting.

According to legal notice of the General Election for State and County officers and state-wide Constitutional Amendments, the people of the State will be called upon to go to the ballot box again on the second Tuesday of next month, November 8th, to cast their votes. At this election there will be several Constitutional Amendments to be voted upon, two of statewide effect and four of a county nature, one of them pertaining to the City of Rock Hill.

The most important proposal at the ballot box at the coming election is a Joint Resolution amending the State Constitution so as to remove therefrom the long time three mill property tax for school purposes. The revenue derived from this three mill state-wide levy is returned to the 46 counties. There are opinions in certain circles that to abolish this levy, there is a danger signal ahead; therefore, it behooves taxpayers to give careful and serious consideration to this proposal before casting their ballots.

It may be of interest to know that before an Amendment to the Constitution can be put into legal effect a following General Assembly has to ratify the vote of the people. The taxpayers should not be confused in respect to this proposed amendment. If it is adopted at the election and ratified by the next Legislature, the revenue from the three mill property tax will be switched in the form of a similar levy in the individual counties and perhaps School Districts. Legislators, look before you leap!
