ALL WC STUDENTS MAY TAKE COURSES IN FINE ARTS

Study In Department

Includes Seven Fields

Forty-four courses are offered in the department of fine arts. Designed to serve all members of the Winthrop College student body, these courses may be taken as electives as well as for credit towards a major or minor in fine arts.

The department has something to offer every student regardless of her future vocational plans. Courses are available in the fields of commercial art, ceramics, crafts, painting, photography, sculpture, and art education.

Winthrop students may take 12 hours of basic art courses during the freshman and sophomore years. These courses include figure drawing, the history of art, drawing, design and color, painting, and sculpture.

The art major of Winthrop emphasizes art history and theory and studio work.

CERAMICS STUDY

Ceramics is one of the fine arts fields which offers many practical career opportunities.

A basic course in ceramic practices, including experience in throwing, sculpting, glazing, and kiln building, is provided each term.

Students majoring in other fields may choose a minor in fine arts by taking courses in the ceramic field.

Many fine arts courses may be taken just as electives.

Fine art majors gain an appreciation of one of the oldest art media available by the purchase and use of modern art equipment and the study of a variety of art techniques. Almost all courses are taught in the state-of-the-art department facilities, and laboratory and classroom space for the fine arts department is available.

Skilled technicians of the fine arts faculty are Professor William L. McDemott, head of the department, and Associate Professor Armando del Carmen, Miss Betty L. Garrett.

Thirty semester hours are required for a major in fine arts. In the junior year the student selects his major field of study. A total of 21 semester hours must be earned in the department. A minor in fine arts requires 12 semester hours.

The commercial art area is planned to give the student basic training and experiences in each area of application of art in the industrial and commercial world.

Courses in this area teach lettering and layout design and commercial and advertising art. Art majors interested in crafts develop skill and experience which enable them to handle the entire scope of art materials.

Whether he plans to attend graduate school or enter an industrial or commercial field of work, each student is introduced to all materials in clay and glazes and to the history of ceramic art. He is given opportunities to work in his own style. Students majoring in other fields may choose a minor in fine arts by taking courses in the ceramic field.

The course is followed by an advanced study of problems and techniques in ceramic materials. Still life, landscapes, and two-dimensional work are utilized to students studying methods and techniques in painting.

In the elementary courses, various media are employed in teaching foundation experiences. Later courses give students advanced problems in painting, composition, perspective, and techniques of expression.

Students who wish to pursue their interests in sculpture may take studio courses. They are given an opportunity to work with all the sculpting materials and to develop their own individual style. Students majoring in other fields may take advanced courses in ceramics and sculpture as electives.

Sculpture Courses

The basic sculpture courses offer a practical introduction to sculpture, provide a basis in carving and clay, and introduce the student to clay making.

Students who wish to concentrate on sculpture as their major field may take sculptural composition and portraiture, finishing studio practice.

There are two art courses in the Winthrop College's Visual Art Department that are limited to only one student in each section. These are in the fields of ceramics and sculpture. In each of the two sections there is one student selected on the basis of merit and ability.

A considerable amount of new equipment has been purchased, extending the potter's wheeling and sculpturing equipment. A potter's wheel is immediately available for students who wish to take advantage of the opportunity to work in this field.

Basic theories and practices of photography are offered for beginners. The fundamental course in photography is in scientific and artistic projection, explained by practical examples. Further courses provide advanced instruction, stressing the practical use of photography and training for studio work. In the advanced course students learn to make good pictures of models, landscapes, and still lifes.

For journalism majors wishing a wide range of knowledge in this field, there are courses (including lettering, layout design, photography, figure drawing, and construction) which can be taken during the junior and senior years.

Elementary education majors find that the course in creative art and crafts for children gives them opportunities to develop their own creative skills and to gain a knowledge of creative arts and crafts. Art education majors may take the course in the junior and senior years.

The varied and extensive art program offered at Winthrop provides ample opportunities for all students to develop their artistic talents.

LEARN ART OF POTTERY—These fine art students receive actual studio practice in forming, firing and glazing ceramic ware. These courses are offered in the department designed to serve all members of the Winthrop student body who wish to take such courses. Courses are available in commercial art, ceramics, etc. in painting, photography, sculpture and art education.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLASS—Winthrop College's department of fine arts offers courses in photography to art and junior year students and students from other departments interested in the subject. Photography students have access to the school camera and to processing equipment. Above, Mrs. Mary Lothmann West, both of Rock Hill, are operating enlargers in the photographic dark room. At right, Ruth White looks at her enlarged picture as it develops.

SOMETHING FOR ALL—The department of fine arts has something to offer all Winthrop students, the many courses include painting, sculpture, ceramics, figure drawing, layout design, creative art for children, pub-

There have been four presidents of Winthrop College; David Searcy Johnson, 1904-1907; Robert E. Claypool, 1907-1915; James P. Simmons, 1915-1933; and Dr. R. D. B. McFarland, 1933-1944. Dr. McFarland retired in June 1944, Henry H. F. Elslie became the fourth president.

Winthrop Requires English Study

All Students Take Courses In English Four Semesters

Every student at Winthrop College studies English four semesters. In the fall year, he begins his study with a course in composition, which is taught the most effective writing and reading. The upper years are spent in English literature.

Since the beginning of time man has found it necessary to have some method of communicating his thoughts to other men.

Whether this method consisted of grunts or signs or initial words, the man learned about the method, the more effective his communication became. Thus, man has always striven to improve his method of communication.

And thus, the job of the Winthrop English department is to give students training in effective speaking, reading, and writing of the English language. Combined with this purpose is guidance in the enjoyment of good literature.

These students who choose to major or minor in English continue in the department after their sophomore year, taking courses in advanced literature, grammar, and creative writing. Most English majors plan to teach when they graduate. Some, however, combine English with commerce, sociology, or journalism, and plan different careers.

For students interested in writing, the English department sponsors The Journal, college literary magazine. Conversations invite and answer major and minors and majors not interested in writing, and bring together these students with the same interests. English students may select an emphasis in speech arts and dramatic arts. Here students interested in public speaking or dramatics can find the training they need.

Eight organizations on the Winthrop campus are members of national societies. They are Alpha Kappa Delta, Beta Beta Beta, Kappa Delta Pi, Kappa Pi, Nuclear Society, National English Honor Society, Phi Alpha Theta, Pi Gamma Mu, and Phi Delta Pi.

ENGLISH CLASS—Students of Miss Alice Love's English class pick their notes. All students at Winthrop have four semesters of work in the department of English. The basic courses for all students are fundamentals of English, reading and composition, and either surveys of English literature or world literature. A major in English consists of four semester hours study and a minor in sixteen semester hours.

SIGMA KAPPA KAPPA—Junior and senior English majors and minors at Winthrop are invited to join Sigma Kappa Kappa which exists through the programs, to honor those interested in and achievement of literature and the arts. Shown, left to right, are: First row—Betty Sargent, of Hagerstown, Carol Jean Moore of Byrnes, Patricia Wells of Columbia, Betty Russians of Stainless, Neva Kline, of Dallas, Katherina Stewart of Hamburg, and Dorothy Conover of Charleston. Second row—Mary Frances Morgan, of Columbia,owych, Meggan Monroe of Greenville, Diane Vining of Charleston, Bette Good of Charleston, Sue McNaught of Columbia, Scott Howard of Washington, and Marion Johnson of Sixty. Back row—H. Hampton Jarrett, faculty advisor, Annette Carroll of Goose Creek, Helen Lewis of Valley Falls, Pat Leach of Lake City, Nancy Country of Union, Sadie Livingston of Newberry, Doris Smith of North Charleston, Alice Brooks of Honea Path, Betty Watters of West Columbia, and Anita Jones of Geoffrey.

Students are fundamentals of English, reading and composition, and either surveys of English literature or world literature. A major in English consists of four semester hours study and a minor in sixteen semester hours.

WINTHROP COLLEGE—Winthrop was founded in 1864 and was chartered as a college in 1886. It is a coeducational institution and is approved by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. It is a selective college and maintains a student body of approximately 1,500 students. The college offers undergraduate degrees in arts, sciences, and education. The college also offers graduate programs in education, business administration, and fine arts. The college is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and is a member of the Association of American Colleges and Universities. The college is located in Rock Hill, South Carolina, and is affiliated with the Presbyterian Church USA.
Visitors Show Films Of Canada During Assembly

Film of Alberta, Canada, was shown by photo grapher Dick Bird at a Winthrop College assembly last week.

This was Bird's second visit to the South Carolina College for Women where he showed films of Scotland last year.

A Canadian, Bird has had a long and noted career in field of motion picture photography.

As a news photographer he has covered the British Revolution, the World War I, the Mexican Revolution, the Spanish Civil War, and strikes in the United States.

His articles on nature and photography have been published in magazines in the United States and Britain.

In recent years, Bird has done film assignments for Walt Disney's outdoor adventure series and has written picture stories for the Canadian government on life in the national parks.

Bird has continued to produce many films for his expanding lecture audiences.

Identification of Two Valuable Paintings Are Individual In Current Western Writing

A literary critic sees encroachment of individual in current western writing.

Two valuable paintings have been preserved in a Western college by a student who has not been identified.

The paintings are "The Dead Fish" by Alfred Stieglitz and "The Morning Star" by Classic Loomis. They were found in a student's room.

The student, who is a senior in the geography and geology department, has been attending the college since 1941. He is an art major and is working on a thesis on landscape painting.

Students May Minor In Geography And Geology

Two of the many courses for which a Winthrop student finds an answer when she enrolls in courses in the geography and geology department are man's adjustment to his physical environment and the study of world resources and climatic and topographic features of the earth.

Offering a minor in geography, this department is popular with students who choose its courses for elective.

It offers opportunities to become familiar with some of the fascinating peoples and cultures of other parts of the world, as well as with the geologic history of the earth.

Courses include climatic and topographic features of the earth, the study of world resources and conditions, and the study of the physical environment of the earth.

Geography courses include human geography, economic geography, conservation of natural resources, the geography of North America, and world climates.

The study of geography includes such subjects as economic geography, the study of world resources and conditions, and the study of the physical environment of the earth, as well as the study of the geography of North America.

DORM LIFE IS HIGHLIGHT OF COLLEGE CAREER

STUDY TIME — Into each life some rain must fall, and the rains of college are no exception. Whether as assigned work by one of Winthrop profs, or required reading in Bible study hour each night except Saturdays and Sundays, dormitories are quiet places from 10:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

WORK, WORK — They say love don't keep the girl in, but Linda Willis and Marion Lewis know it's true. The idea of getting free time during the week is an appealing one for dorm students who are interested in extra-curricular activities. Dormitory house managers keep the girls on their toes.

WHAT'S NEW?—Reading rooms in each dormitory provide a quiet atmosphere for study. Above, Joan Harvey and Kay Harvey enjoy their reading time. Rooms are equipped with comfortable furnishings and a reading light. The dormitory is the perfect place for a student to relax and study.

ADULT SUPERVISION—Relaxing is part of Winthrop's student privileges. A dorm manager is available to help students in any way they need. Above, Kay Harvey enjoys her time in the dormitory. She is a member of the dormitory council and helps maintain the dorm's cleanliness and organization.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT—Breakfast, lunch, and dinner are provided for students who wish to eat in the dormitory. The food is good, and the atmosphere is relaxed. Dining halls are located in each dormitory.

IT'S FOR ME—Dorm room with a view, a private bathroom, and a balcony. Dormitories are equipped with air conditioning and heating. Dorm life is a great opportunity to meet new people and make lifelong friends.

COMFORTS OF HOME—Living in a dormitory allows students to be close to campus, but also provides a sense of independence. Dormitories are equipped with washing machines and dryers, and students can have their laundry done on campus.

Adult supervision is available to help students make the most of their college experience. Dorm life is a great opportunity to learn and grow as a person.
Various Services Are Provided Students

FREE BAN KING—Among the many free services Winthrop College offers, perhaps the most important to students is the bank service. This service is available to all students who have an active account at the college. The bank service provides students with access to their funds, allows for the withdrawal of funds, and offers a variety of banking services. Students are encouraged to deposit their spending money with the bank using a regular checking account, which is available to all students who have an active account at the college. The bank service also offers a variety of banking services, including checking accounts, savings accounts, and money market accounts.

BOOK STORE—The Winthrop College Book Store offers a variety of services to students, including the sale of textbooks, supplies, and other academic materials. The store is located in the basement of the administration building and is open during regular business hours. The store also offers a variety of non-academic items, such as clothing and gifts. The store is open to the public, and students are welcome to shop at any time.

POSTAL SERVICE—Located in the Winthrop College Student Union, the postal service offers a variety of services to students, including the sale of postage stamps, the mailing of packages, and the collection of mail. The postal service is open during regular business hours and is staffed by trained postal workers.

SHOPPING AREAS—Located next to the College Book Store, the College Union offers a variety of services to students, including the sale of snacks, beverages, and other non-academic items. The Union is open during regular business hours and is staffed by trained enthusiastic staff.

THINKING ABOUT THE FUTURE—Winthrop university students can think about their future by exploring the various opportunities available to them. Students are encouraged to consider their interests and skills, as well as their future goals, when planning their academic and career paths.

PLACEMENT BUREAU SERVES ALL STUDENTS AND ALUMNAE

The Placement Bureau at Winthrop University is dedicated to providing students and alumni with resources and support to help them achieve their career goals. The bureau offers a variety of services, including resume writing assistance, job search guidance, and interview preparation. The bureau also maintains a database of job opportunities and provides networking opportunities for students and alumni. Whether students are just starting their job search or have been looking for a while, the Placement Bureau is here to help them find the right opportunity.

Noted Artists, Lecturers Appear At Winthrop

The news last in entertainment is available to Winthrop College students and alumni of Trinity and South Carolina in the Johnsonian, and features programs sponsored especially for the South Carolina College for Women.

The summer tour of Johnsonian concert artists and lecture series are planned for a scattering of events that mark significant dates and occasions. The tour will extend into late March into early April, with the last concert in early May of the Johnsonian season.

The musical tour of the concert series opens on Tuesday, April 21 at Winthrop College. The program will feature works by American composers and arrangers, including John Adams, George Perle, and Elliott Carter. The concert will be held in the Wetherill Auditorium and will feature the Winthrop College Symphony Orchestra directed by Dr. John Williams, the Winthrop College Choral Society conducted by Dr. David Rosenblatt, and the Winthrop College Chamber Choir conducted by Dr. Emily Blackman.

The lecture series begins on Tuesday, April 28 with a lecture by Dr. Jane Elliott, a social psychologist and author of the book "White Privilege: Time for a New Dialogue on Race". The lecture will be held in the Johnsonian Auditorium and will be followed by a reception in the Johnsonian Dining Hall.

The Johnsonian is proud to present these events as a way to bring together students, faculty, and alumni to celebrate the arts and culture of the South Carolina College for Women.

BIG GOLD RUSH HITS WINTHROP FOR SOPHOMORE WEEK

This year the class of 1960 chose "The 49ers" for its theme, and they had more fun than a rodent limit TV western.

Things got underway at the Tuesday assembly when the gold rush got underway. The class magic gave cheers and presented a set.

During the week, the sophomores staged a party where ore samples were produced in the Rec Hall basement.

They built the ore samples into a replica of their theme class, the miners.

Another theme puzzle was solved when several wagons were loaded in the gymnasium.

The week's events were climaxed with the sophomore Step in the Student Gymnasium.

Planning for the Sophomore Week program were Peggy McGill of Anderson, class president; Rick Granger of Columbia, sophomore class president; Ina Cottle of Florence, sophomore secretary; and Patsy Bryant of Tarkington. The class cheerleaders were:

The theme for these weeks of Sophomore Week are Givda Ja Miller of Greer, Louise Jones of Pendleton, Harriet Corter of Pendleton, Martha Vazquez of Greenville and Sally Eason of Cheraw.

LEAVING FROM SORRENTO, Four very important people leaving Sophomore Week were the class cheerleaders who were thrown in the middle of things for each assembly. Were not at their best and had trouble finding the theme decorations and costumes, they were excused from the parade because it was always the same when a daffodil killed "Big Ben".

REASONS, NOSES! This magic maker will set to work. Those who win Thursday play for keeps, week after week because things that go unproduced are not as bright as a theme parade. The last to arrive in the parade lose the contest.

SHOUTS EVERYWHERE--During the week, the class was very vocal with their "49ers" themes. The "49ers" were the yearbook staff, the College Town, the Sophomore Class, and the Sandwich Board.

The idea of a gold rush is always a favorite recreation spot with members of the student body.

BIGG'S WRESTLING--Consisting of a week's struggle with prejudice and the just plain old fashioned struggle, Bigg's Wrestling Week was the class event of these weeks. It was watched by the student body and the Prom committee. It ended with a show with the "49ers" theme. After the show, the students had a dance.

THINGS WERE VERY quiet on the Winthrop campus this fall. And then the class of 1960 found themselves popping at the North Carolina College for Women. It looked like all the TV sets in Rock Hill had been broken open and everyone, freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors wanted to see them. Card thrusters appeared from out of nowhere to make their claim on Winthrop's campus.

The idea of a gold rush is always a favorite recreation spot with members of the student body.

BIGG'S WRESTLING--Consisting of a week's struggle with prejudice and the just plain old fashioned struggle, Bigg's Wrestling Week was the class event of these weeks. It was watched by the student body and the Prom committee. It ended with a show with the "49ers" theme. After the show, the students had a dance.
PARTIES GALORE—A number of informal parties honored 1957 Miss Hi Misses of North and South Carolina who were able to attend Winthrop's annual Miss Hi Miss Weekend last year. At left the Miss Hi Misses enjoy an informal reception in Johnson Hall which followed the Winthrop Theatre's production of a bill of one-act plays. At right, the visitors stop by the office of The Johnsonian for a cake and some potato chips during their tour of the campus of the South Carolina College for Women.

PICNIC TIME—Built plain old fun was in store for the visiting Miss Hi Misses at The Johnsonian picnic on the Saturday of Miss Hi Miss Weekend. The picnic was held at the College Beach, a favorite spot for fun and relaxation among Winthrop students. In the photograph at left, a group of Winthrop students are giving an extended cheer for their visitors. At right, it's show time and nobody hogs back when Miss Zula Threlfall, the college director, serves one of her super delica-91 piats oysters.

All Students May Work On Johnsonian

Managing editor of the Johnsonian, Workhop College's weekly student newspaper, is open to all students interested in journalism. Established originally to disseminate news of the academic year, the Johnsonian is used as a laboratory for students enrolled in journalism courses and those students working on an extra-curricular activity.

The Johnsonian has been featured in a number of national and local publications for its keen sense of news. A junior religion editor and a full-time staff of men and women publish The Johnsonian each week. The Johnsonian is distributed to residence halls and dormitory buildings.

The Johnsonian has a long history of serving the student body. Founded in 1920, the Johnsonian has been a leader in student journalism and has been recognized for its excellence in journalism.

YEARBOOK, MAGAZINE OFFER STUDENTS WRITING POSTS

Winthrop College students interested in writing fiction have an opportunity to join the staff of The Journal, the quarterly literary magazine at the South Carolina College for Women.

The prize-winning Journal includes short stories, essays and poetry by any member of the student body, who writes pieces morally of publication.

At last call, The Journal sponsored its annual poetry contest in which all students were eligible to compete. These winners were selected from the December edition of The Journal, and other entries are scheduled to be used during the year. A special section of The Journal is "The Arts and Year," which reviews current developments in music, drama, arts, etc.

Serving as editor-in-chief of The Journal this year is Herbert McCallum of Florence, a senior English major at Winthrop. Angela Napier of Rock Hill is art editor for The Journal, and Nancy Stayman of Rock Hill is literary editor. Serving as poetry editor is Louise LaGoff of Richmond.

The department editor is Joyce Price of Los Angeles. Mrs. Napier is Mary Charlotte of Taylors, Robert, and Louise Lightsey of Hampton, music, Louise Bissell of Charleston, the art director. Joanna Jones of Nichols serves as business manager of The Journal and First Davis of Greenville, N. C., is exchange editor.

The circulation manager is Caroline Wright of Anderson, Betty Dooly of Hendersonville, N. C., and Martha Grace of Conway are the typists.

A yearly publication of Winthrop's senior class, The Talley, Winthrop's annual, tells the story of events of the year in picture form. Published at the South Carolina College for Women for over 50 years, The Talley is the students' permanent record of their classmates, classes and activities while they were in school.

The Talley is headed by a staff of seniors assisted by a junior staff of underclassmen. All underclassmen interested in working on the annual staff may try out for staff positions. The Talley is the editorial director of the Winthrop College Girls' magazine, "The Miss Hi Misses of North Carolina."

The business manager, whose job is to keep the staff from getting too expansively enthusiastic is Patricia Armstrong of Ula.

Jane Lewis of Winthrop is associate editor and the organization editor is Miss How of Roundout, N. Y. Miss Armstrong is the Young Women's Conference editor. Mrs. Warren, business manager of The Talley.

The present Talley staff began work on this year's annual last spring, and the 1953 edition was looking good as the printing deadline approached. Members of the staff were already being thrown around at staff meetings as they planned for the sections, feature pages and annual photography. Beside Keaton and Mr. Paul Whiter of the News Service staff were already entrusting photo assignments from the staff.

As long as the Talley is underwritten this year, Mr. Geo. Douglas, a local commercial photographer, will set up his camera equipment in the Administration Building to begin the long hard task of taking and preparing individual photos of all members of the staff body, faculty and staff.

CIVIL RIGHTS--Making an annual visit to the Win­throp campus is Mr. George Douglass of Douglas Studio in Rock Hill who makes individual pictures for the Talley of all members of the student body, the faculty and staff. Alice Davis Berry of North Charleston has her beauty struck.

ART ASSISTANT--Serving as art assistant for The Journal at Winthrop College, is Marthe Boland of Huntingburg, Indiana. Marthe is a senior English major at Winthrop. The Journal is published four times during the academic year and is distributed free to the students.

SECRET CONFERENCE--No one but The Talley staff is to know the contents of the publication until it is distributed in the spring. Here members of the staff hold a closed-door session with their executant, Mr. Price Chairman of the Charlotte Engineering Company.

ARTIST-STAFF--Serving as editor-in-chief of The Journal at Winthrop College, is Miss Davis, a senior English major at Winthrop. All artists are invited to contribute to The Journal.

HEADS TAYLOR STAFF--Serving as editor-in-chief of The Talley, Winthrop's annual, is Nancy Stone of Newberry, a senior biology major at the South Carolina College for Women.

SECRETARY OF THE TALLEY--Miss Dunlop serves as head of the publication's junior and senior staffs.

Of prose voices and one of the greatest hers voices in the world today. Also heard in concert here this year was the Ralph Hunter Choir of 18 male voices and a men's quartet, "The Cavalcade of Voices." the Hunter Choir was designed to expand to music lovers of all tastes.

All Winthrop students are given season tickets to the artist course program each year. Season tickets and individual performances are available to the general public.

On the current lecture series, Winthrop has had as guest lecturers Leica Rice, wife of a former U. S. ambassador to Russia; Dick Reid, a noted photographer, who showed film on Alberta, Canada; Andre Michalski, a member of the staff of the United Press Agency in Paris; and Virginia Farnum, a literary critic.

Skeletal to be heard late this year is accomplished Preston Rainey and Anika Cat, who will speak on "Indian Affairs." In addition to the college's annual artist course and lecture series program, prominent authorities in same fields are scheduled to appear on campus at Winthrop.

Other assembly guests this year have included TV and radio commentator Joseph McGoury, Grace Bush, poet and composer; Ernest Davis, authority on world affairs; Jeff Bode, treasurers of South Carolina; Mrs. N. C. George, Winthrop University, and Robert McDonald. Three-weekly programs are scheduled for Winthrop students. The public is invited to attend the weekly concerts. There is no admission charge.

Miss Dunlop Gives Recital

The Winthrop College department of music presented an organ recital by Miss Mary Elizabeth Dunlop at the Winthrop music faculty in November.

The Winthrop college re­ceived her Bachelor's degree in 1933 from Columbia University. She is a student of Dr. Edwin Web and an organ student of El­liott White.

PLAYS AND READY TO Go--We don't know why, but we can't find out what kind of play or plays are in Winthrop's production this season. The play is in the hands of director D. H. H., with some parts already cast. We hope to have some definite information soon. Miss Dunlop is in the photo­graphy editor of the 1952 Talley.

Junior Follies Is Major Winthrop Production

The most ambitious student event at Winthrop College each year is the production of Junior Follies by juniors of the third-year class of the South Carolina College for Women.

Follies has been a tradition at Winthrop since 1905. In 1918, a song-and-dance number was introduced into the production. In 1920, the chorus was restricted to junior women only.

It was 1930 when Junior Follies became the official title of the production. The theme for this year, which was chosen by junior women, was "From a Rib". The title was written by Junior Tollin, who served as producer.

ONE UPON A TIME—The title of Junior Follies was "From a Rib". It was the story of a woman named Winthrop. Junior Follies served as junior producer for the annual Junior Follies production.

LIFE'S A BORE—When women first appeared on earth to get in line may, he put her on a pedestal and then he expected her to stay. The women did not find this very entertaining or amusing.

SECH FUN—Swimming in the Gay Nineties was a rather daring thing to do even as modestly dressed. The swimmers were often the dominant figures in the show. The leading woman was often the "over-up" woman. Last year's "over-up" was Fantasy Land, and breathing last year's pants were the "over-up" woman. The leading woman was often the "over-up" woman. Rat Week Gets Freshmen Off To A Fast Start

Frosh Show Upperclassmen Due Respect For A Week

Said Sue Green, 1st year student: "The upperclassmen do not neglect the freshmen, they just show them the ropes."

The Freshman show Upperclassmen program is designed to help freshmen get acclimated to the college environment and to instill a sense of respect and camaraderie. The program includes various activities such as dinners, parties, and sports events, which provide opportunities for freshmen to interact with their upperclassmen counterparts.

DEAR JOHN—Rat Week provides a golden opportunity for freshmen to participate in on-campus activities and to develop friendships with upperclassmen. By working together, freshmen can gain valuable skills and become more comfortable with the college environment.

ACT LIKE A RAT—Rat Week is a fun-filled event that helps freshmen get off to a fast start in their college careers. It's a great opportunity to meet new people, make lasting memories, and create a sense of belonging.

Classes Night Program Shows Student Talent

Members of Winthrop's four classes have spent a great deal of time and money preparing for the Classes Night Program. This year, the program is more ambitious and involves the entire student body.

The program is divided into two parts: a musical performance and a dance. The musical performance features students singing and dancing, while the dance is a social event for the entire student body.

The program begins with a musical performance featuring songs and dances from each of the four classes. The performance is followed by the dance, which is open to all students.

The Classes Night Program is a great way for students to come together and enjoy each other's company. It is also a great way for students to showcase their talents and skills.

The Johnsonian is proud to present this year's Classes Night Program, which is sure to be a hit with the student body. We hope everyone will join us for this exciting event.

Winthrop College Students Are Self Governing

"The students of Winthrop College, believing that there is dignity and honor in student government, desire individual and community responsibility for the conduct of student affairs, propose the following plan of a Student Government.

This was the request made by Winthrop students in 1947 and was accepted by the Winthrop Student Government Association as the most outstanding and progressive governing organization of its kind in the state.

The judicial branch, the Executive Council, was formed in 1947 and is made up of the president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer of the organization, plus two senior and one junior student president and vice president of each dormitory.

To formulate and approve all Student Government activities, to enforce all regulations, to review work done by the house councils, and to determine penalties that may be automatically applied for infractions of certain rules as the desires of the council.

The judicial branch of the organization is the Judicial Board, known in dormitory slang as the "Jill Board," which consists of the president, vice president, secretary, and senior classes, and they determine penalties that may be applied for infractions of regulations.

Organized in 1877 was the Senate, the third branch of the Student Government Association, made up of elected representatives from each class and each dormitory. Classes elect both permanent and temporary senators, who serve for the length of their stay at Winthrop, and temporary senators, who serve one term.

The main function of the Senate is to make and review regulations that come under the authority of the Student Government Association.

When a change is desired in the student rules, the Senate passes a bill which must go through a Senate-Senator committee, and have the approval of the Governor of the College President.

This is requested by a poll of student opinion taken at an S. G. A. meeting attended by all.

A third meeting of the Student Government Association is held each month.

Under the leadership of the house president, House Councils at Winthrop College each have their own bylaws and rules within the dormitory are carried out.

In the freshmen dormitories, there is a Freshman Council that works with the house council.

Within the structure of the Student Government organization are a variety of standing committees that carry out the functions of the Senate.

These committees include: a campus council, whose duty it is to promote a reasonable standard of behavior on the campus; a campus committee, in charge of selecting arrangements and affiliation committees; a campus committee for student elections; a committee on personnel; a junior committee; a senior committee; and a handbook committee.

Every student who holds a Student Government position is elected to it by members of the student body.

Elections are held every spring to select officers for the next year, and new officers take over the duties of their predecessors on the same day that they are elected.

As it is a council of the students for the students, the Senate is composed of elected officials, and is guided by the bylaws written by the Student Government Association.

The strength of the S. G. A. lies in the support of the student body, and its success is due to the efforts of the students, who promote and encourage the changes needed to keep campus life in step with modern progress.

Christain Association Meets Spiritual Needs

The Winthrop Christian Association attempts to meet the spiritual needs of its members, all the students at Winthrop, with a broad program of activities. A new project initiated last year, in the computer lab, is the Student Fellowship held each Monday in the Administration Building Auditorium. This is the main weekly service.

Miss Elizabeth Jones is executive secretary of the W.C.A., and students compose a cabinet, which helps to further the activities of the organization and to make the influence felt by large segments of the student body. The Student Fellowship, Chapel Services, and the Foreign Student Scholarship Fund are just a few of the larger programs directed by W.C.A.

In addition there are various services, fellowships, and meetings throughout every week of the school year.

The Christian Association is responsible for the devotional programs given during the student assembly hour each Tuesday.

The Winthrop Christian Association is responsible for the devotional programs given during the student assembly hour each Tuesday.

On Thursday nights to each dormitory, devotional services are conducted by the students. These socials and devotion periods are held in alternate Tuesday evenings.

This year W.C.A. was hosting the meeting of the State Christian Association Student Seminar from Jan. 31-Feb. 2. All the church groups on campus cooperated in sponsoring this seminar, the meeting place for which was alternated among various college campuses in the state.

The Winthrop Christian Association Fund of the W.C.A. is responsible for one of the biggest drives of the year. In order to promote further understanding among the people of the world, the W.C.A. students and staff work closely with students and friends of Winthrop to raise money to bring students of foreign countries to the South Carolina College for Women. In addition this year W.C.A. will sponsor the Welford Blue Club concert in the spring, the proceeds from which will go to the Foreign Student Scholarship Fund.

The seminar program, which is an opportunity for students as it is to the expenses of the fund, was begun in 1949. Since that time students from different countries have received W.C.A. scholarships. The international students on campus this year who are sponsored by W.C.A. represent five countries: China, Korea, France, Jordan, and Bolivia.

The students take part in the numerous campus activities and occasionally are requested to visit other groups and women's clubs throughout the state.

Recreation Association Has Varied Program

Student Body Adopts Program

The student body has adopted a Wimthrop Recreation Association program, which is the first of its kind at the Carolina College for Women.

The program is designed to provide opportunities for all students to participate in a variety of activities, both physical and social. It is hoped that the program will help students to develop a sense of community and to foster a spirit of cooperation and teamwork.

The Recreation Association is divided into three major programs: the residence hall program, the P.E. program, and the physical education program.

The residence hall program includes a variety of activities, such as wall ball, bridge, and other competitive sports. The P.E. program includes a variety of activities, such as basketball, volleyball, and track. The physical education program includes a variety of activities, such as swimming, gymnastics, and weight training.

A number of individual and group activities are offered each week, and a special event program is offered throughout the year.

Whether you are physically active and like tennis, basketball, etc., or whether you are a chair sitting bridge player, you will find something to do in the program at the Carolina College for Women. The Recreation Association is open to all students, regardless of their level of physical fitness.

DOROTHY PAULINE PAYNE

VOU OVERVIEW—The Wimthrop College Recreation Association provides entertainment and activity for all students whether they are the extra time they enjoy the athletic types or just love watching the play. Bridge tournaments and bridge lessons are included in the W.R.A. program.

WATCH IT—Competitors in the Recreation Association take turns throwing the javelin to see who will be the winner. A number of individual and group activities are offered each week, and a special event program is offered throughout the year.

ON THE RUN—The hockey teams are showing plenty of action on the ice for all who want to watch. Hockey teams from each of the Wimthrop dormitories and the Town Girls' Association participated in the competition this fall. Other events sponsored by the W.R.A. include tennis, echo, basketball, and table tennis.

THE CHAMP—Beverly Ann Derrick of Columbia received some help from her classmates in a game of bowling. She was able to knock down all the pins with ease. The trophy is awarded to the member of the college family who does it best.

The Recreation Association is open to all students, regardless of their level of physical fitness.
Winthrop History Shows Growth And Progress

In December two years later the General Assembly authorized the site of the Winthrop Normal and Industrial College of South Carolina. The original bond was authorized to select a permanent site for the college. Leading citizens of Rock Hill went to work immediately to obtain the college for the interesting town. Townsend held an election on March 31, 1882, and voted a $200,000 bond issue guaranteed by the county. In addition a calendar site, Oakland Park, and 775,000 acres were contributed. Rock Hill was selected as the permanent site of the college. The first course of study meantime was enlarged to ten years.

In 1869 two junior students went from Columbia Presbyterian Theological Seminary. Their enthuseiasm and zeal for education, their financial aid and essential services for the education of women, soon followed by the more enraptured for the study of various courses in practical arts. With the aid of Winthrop Hill and others, the first annual commencement was enlarged for the support of the college. The school was named Winthrop Training School for Teachers in honor of Robert C. Winthrop at Boston, whose chair at the Winthrop Club was largely responsible for a sum of $21,000 to establish the school.

Two teachers were employed, and later in the opening of the school, a third. The first school for training teachers in the South Atlantic states, Winthrop utilized from the beginning the plan of supervised classrooms for observation and practice with graded school children. This plan of methods was continuously developed under the college operates a complete nursery through high school system, primarily for training its own teachers. The school in the little brick chapel was a success from the start. Student enrollment gradually was noted in the development and growth of that first small school in the South Carolina College of today. On December 9, 1887 the South Carolina General Assembly appropriated $25,000 to the school.

Providing scholarships for each of the 24 counties in the state, the college was developed under the leadership marked the first step toward a state school. Dr. James Pendleton Kirks, professor of modern languages, was the first president of Winthrop College. In 1890, the school was elevated to the status of a state institution, and the South Carolina Industrial and Winthrop Normal College was established by legislative act.

On December 9, 1887 the South Carolina General Assembly appropriated $25,000 to the school.

Providing scholarships for each of the 24 counties in the state, the college was developed under the leadership marked the first step toward a state school. Dr. James Pendleton Kirks, professor of modern languages, was the first president of Winthrop College. In 1890, the school was elevated to the status of a state institution, and the South Carolina Industrial and Winthrop Normal College was established by legislative act.
