Attendants For May Day Are Chosen

Were'n't we 'party'! One of our newsmen...

But that was the few. Most of us were neither extremely nor inappropriately dressed.

She was ready to celebrate. She might even get a chance to wear her new brown hat with the white...

It wasn't Fate intervened, and the absent Dean's Day in bed. Call it anything you want to—Destiny, Klismet, or just plain mumps.

Some statistics from the registrar's office astounded us, and we'll post 'em on for your amusement.

The percentages of the grades this semester were almost the same as those last semester—a difference of 0.4% more A's and 0.8% more B's.

The registrar smiled and casually remarked that there has been no great change in grade percentages in the last five years.

There seem to be things we never knew about words. A friend was talking about a recent lecture that tries to describe the way that Miss Pink made the origin of words so very interesting.

Fraser Reviews Procedure Leading Up to Radio Privilege

Urging that student leaders and faculty members make clear his motives and attitudes on the dormitory room radio question, Dean Mowat Fraser reviewed before a committee of dormitory hostesses and student leaders the procedure and philosophy that led up to the granting of permission for students to have radios in their rooms.

On February 15, I sent a letter to student senate members and to faculty committee members, and to all other people on the campus possibly interested, outlining the request for radio, and the suggested procedure for consideration of the question.

Dr. Fraser emphasized the fact that there was no attempt to lessen prestige of dormitory hostesses or of faculty committee members. "Nothing was further from my mind," he said.

Radios Are Voted In By Students

Committees to Regulate Use Elected

With practically unanimous approval, corridors of the four dormitories voted in unrestricted use of radios and assumed responsibilities of the issue at corridor meetings Tuesday night.

Use of radios in the dormitories went into effect at 8 o'clock Thursday night after a joint meeting of the Senate and Student Government association.

The granting of radios by Dean Mowat G. Fraser, and President Shelton Phelps climaxed a two-year consideration of the subject. For the past two weeks the problem has been before the student body in weekly night student government meetings.

Monday night Dean Fraser met with dormitory hostesses, members of the faculty, senators, and the student body to discuss all possible causes of complaints about radios.

Commenting on the responsibility taken by the students, Helen Bryant, president of the senate, said, "Never before have Winthrop girls displayed such cooperation."

Telegraphic Meet Swim Squad To Be Chosen

A qualifying swimming meet will be held Sunday at 4:15 o'clock to determine the squad which will swim in the final meet Wednesday at 4:30 o'clock in the gymnasium...

The telegraphic meet, the results of the best swimmer from each school for each of the events will be judged, and from the complete list of records, the four best swimmers will be determined.

The national official scoring method will be employed to decide the relative standing of the schools.

Class team captains will comprise a committee on administration for judging the events. Conley Smith will captain of the freshman team, Mariah Claxson of the sophomore, Catherine Easterlin of the junior, and Virginia Simmons of the senior team.

The events of the meet will be as follows: 20 yard free style, 40 yard free style, 20 yard breast stroke, 40 yard breast stroke, 20 yard back stroke, and 80 yard free style relay (four swimmers).

The student body is invited to attend the meet.

The columnist 'round on the front page has the nicest way of toasting orchids like and you, and one wonders if one might taste a bouquet her way. Have you noticed what shining (literally) example 'er hair-do's are?

Where From Here?
Well, girls, we've got radios. They're ours now. Let's play 'em and enjoy 'em.

North Dormitory needs replastering, badly. Huge pieces of plaster from ceilings fall in room after room, at all times of the day.

consider his criticism.
All of which chatter is apropos of nothing. Borrowed that phrase from McMillan. I must confess. She has a pat way of putting things.

A thousand pardons, ladies. But shurrro end the king's language be a queer one, who w'r wurrds so much like one to another 'tis a nice tempting to pull a pun upon ye.

Clearly An Emergency
Developments on the campus within the last year make imperative a State appropriation for the College over and above the amount needed for ordinary expenses.

Pause Before You Buy
We enjoy listening to a radio, but a squeaking, shrieking, stately receiving set is worse than not having a radio at all.

Shining Student Apples
Recently Dr. Fraser warned us against electing "popularity seekers" to campus offices.

'It Seems To Me . . .'

The Johnsonian invites the campus to say what it thinks. You may want to comment on something. You may want to criticize. You may want to inform. Put a note to The Johnsonian in the mailbox in the post office lobby. Publishable material must be signed by the real name of the writer. Libelous and abusive statements, unless accompanied by facts clearly warranting, will not be carried. Material which The Johnsonian feels might be used to injure Winthrop colleges will not be published. The Johnsonian encourages those who are advantageously placed to bring to our attention any such material. Particularly do we trust names connected with the way we handle our job of reporting the College community. Advance criticism of The Johnsonian will lead the list of unacceptable material.

THIS SOCIAL CAMPUS

And big things happened on this social campus because of the Y conference held here last weekend. Friday night—the first night of the week—CHERYLINE WYATT led guests and hostesses (Y cabins) in a sing-along. ELIZABETH CLELAND and her social committee served hot chocolate and cakes.

Despite from speeches and a pause to refresh the speakers was the coffee hour on Saturday morning. "Fun and Frolic" Miss Johnson tell that night—"The Three Little Kittens" was the PUPPETEERS' first public performance. "A Thrill for Caroline" Dr. JAZZELL'S hit of the fall, by Marquette—were part of the entertainment. Finishing the evening with just the right touch was the refreshments of ice cream and macarons.

last weekend in Florence.

MISS MARINA ASBRY had as her guests Friday night MR. and MRS. B. W. CLINE. Miss HENRIETTA NILES, graduate of Winthrop who is now teaching in Hartsville, spent last weekend on the campus. Miss. FRANCES SPAIN, head of the library science department, had as her guests over the weekend her aunt, Mrs. J. O. WILSON of Anderson, and her cousin, Miss CAROL LAMSON of Lander college, Greenwood.

The check, presented in an Easter program, was the scene of a sleek supper for the A. CAPPELLA CHON and Miss WARDLE Friday afternoon. DELLA JO MARSHALL was in charge of hilarious entertainment. Prizes were captured by SUZIE CLARY, BETTY WOOD, and FRANCES DAY.

Mrs. MARY ONA MATHEWS and Miss RUTH ROLLINGS entertained their bridge-book club Monday evening at Mrs. MATHEWS'. This club was organized several years ago for faculty members. The club members buy books and circulate them among themselves, and at the end of the year, the highest score in bridge is given an extra book.

Sunday afternoon, the Senior Order will have the sophomore class over for after-dinner coffee in Johnson hall.

THEY LEAVE THE CAMPUS: VIRGINIA HALLWAY and CAROLINE JOHNSON spent last weekend in Charleston. BETTY WINTERDA, FRANCES WHITEHEAD, and CAROLINE BAILEY attended pledge dances at N. C. State. CAROL RICHARDSON, and FLORENCE and SARAH MCCOY spent the weekend in Chapel Hill, N. C., at the track meet. Miss ALLEN TURNER spent last weekend in Charlotte. CAROL MCCOY was the guest of CAROLYN DOUGLAS at her home in Kingsport last weekend.

JEAN SELLERS and CYNTHIA McLAUGHLIN spent

Naudain to Talk on "Gas in Warfare" at Chapel

Dr. Glenn G. Naudain, head of the chemistry department, will speak in assembly Wednesday on the use of gas in warfare, according to Dr. Paul W. Wheeler, head of the English department and chairman of the chapel program committee.

The purpose of his speech is to correct mistaken ideas and to give additional information about the use of gas in modern warfare.

Bradfield Speaks to PTA

Miss Stella Bradfield, instructor in psychology, will speak on "The Nursery Child" at a meeting of the Nursery School Parent-Teachers association 4 o'clock Wednesday at the home of Mrs. W. E. Fort Jr.

Captains of Class Basketball Teams Are Chosen

Captains of the class basketball teams were elected Tuesday in preparation for the tournament which will begin March 7, according to Miss Maude Causey, instructor in physical education.

Ines Kelly was elected captain of the senior team; Beulah Maude Eaddy of the junior team; Helen Shuler of the sophomore; and Elizabeth Mahon of the freshman.

Juniors will meet sophomores in the initial game of the tournament at 4 o'clock Tuesday in the gymnasium. The clash between freshman and seniors will begin at the half period of this game.

On Tuesday, March 14, freshmen and juniors will play. The seniors will be against the sophomores at the half. The freshman team will combat the sophomore team, and the juniors will play against the seniors Wednesday, March 15.

The team winning the most games in the series will be champions. In case of a tie, the play off will take place Thursday, March 16.

Two Names Added To Honor List

Names of two students were omitted from the honor list for first semester, according to a correction from the registrar's office.

Vivian Pittman, senior from Bishopville, ranks as one of Winthrop's 23 "top high", with an all A record on all academic work, and Dorothy Carnes, freshman from Bishopville, made the distinguished list.

Stokes and Tribble Attend Math Meet

Dr. Ruth Stokes, head of the mathematics and astronomy departments, and Sarah Tribble, senior from Rock Hill, attended the annual meeting of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics in Cleveland, Ohio, last Friday and Saturday.

Dr. Stokes took the place of Miss Hortense Rogers, supervisor at Winthrop Training School, as the delegate from South Carolina. Sarah represented the only undergraduate branch of the council in the United States.

"Stage Door" Tells Tale Behind Lives of Stage-Struck Girls

The struggles of 20 girls, rich and poor, talented and otherwise, all affairs with the desire to succeed, crystallize into "Stage Door".

The movie deals with the romance, humor, ecstasy, tragedy of girls who hitch their wagons to the star of theatrical fame. The spotlight is focused most sharply on Katherine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers, and Adolphe Menjou. In addition, Andrew Leeds endows the picture with a spiritual quality.

Paradoxically, "Stage Door" is what sophisticates think they want, and common, ordinary folk agree with them.

Eight Debate at Wingate Tourney

Eight sophomores members of the Debate's League, campus forensic society, will participate in a practice tourney sponsored by Wingate college at Wingate, N. C., next Friday through Saturday. Those who will attend will be announced later, according to Dr. Warren G. Keith, head of the history department.

Contests in debating, oratory, extemporaneous and after-dinner speaking will be held.

Evelyn Wood, senior from Chester, will attend to help with the contests.

SPORTS

By EDITH GIBNEY

Here's something to satisfy your advanced archer's hunger for new thrills—bicycle archery. One rider concentrates on pedaling and the other does the shooting. (So if you're not so skilled as a cyclist, it'd be wise to get teamed up with one of the young peddlars in the administrative office.) On signal the archer rides at top speed down the firing line and releases arrows at targets along the way.

It's swimming and basketball these days! What with dormitory yards in full swing, and two weeks of basketball practice already tucked away, there's no doubt as to what is occupying the Winthrop sport woman's afternoons.

It's good to see Catherine Amme and Catherine Everitt warming up on the old springboard—and so—we noticed Mamie Kendrick doing some mighty keen diving the other day.

And Mary Kneese and Inez Kelley are still tops in caging the old basketball. But the frosh have some equally interesting material to display. And the juniors and sophs haven't been playing tiddie-d-winks this past week either. Both classes are showing up fine in the work out. There's no predicting who'll take the basketball up this season.

Yipee! "Big circle left and half way back! Break and swing your opposite—then your own." These calls will be familiar about the gym the rest of the semester, for Miss Fugitt's two (near: hundred) classes in square-dancing will be whooping it up in regular order. There'll be no chance of these ladies being well-floored at "mountain-resort square dances" this summer.

The funniest thing we've seen in a long time was the expression on Laura Ellerbe's face when she realized what she was really saying when Miss Post, in the Recreational leadership class, asked her to sing rapidly "We in the main, oh we in the main" to the tune of "My Country 'Tis of Thee".

Navy Discarded for Unusual Color Effects on Dean's Day

Compliments in navy blue at Winthrop! The idea would have been preposterous, ridiculous, beyond the scope of the imagination a year ago. Yet, Tuesday, navy blue clad girls were the exception, not the rule. For the first time in Winthrop's history, Dean's Day was celebrated—a holiday which promises to rival Washington's birthday and Founder's Day in popularity.

Girls grinned idiotically about nothing. Teachers looked with a new interest at their ugly ducklings coming to Mt. in new feathers. Walking down the hall became an adventure. There was no telling what color combination would next amaze the eye.

Such colorful eyes feasted on bright pinks, yellows, blood-reds, purples. Plaid, all-colored striped blouses, and enormous checks were prime favorites. A young maiden dressed sedately in a dark

Dr. Hampton M. Jarrell, professor of English, spoke on the relation of poetry to drama at a meeting of Masquers, campus dramatic organization, yesterday in the Masquer's room in Johnson hall.

Student Returning After 13 Years Notes Drastic Changes

A freshman in 1926, a sophomore in 1928, Everedelle Hartzog of Denmark, S. C., has returned to get her B. S. degree as a home economics major.

Changes during 13 years! So many changes that the Winthrop of 1926 looks back with astonishment and incredulity to the Winthrop of 1939.

Everedelle recalls that back in her freshman days there was neither Brevard nor Kinarad hall; radio rooms and dormitory kitchens were simply pipe dreams of pleasuring students.

All of the 1939 town-trotters who spend their time either on the way to or from Rock Hill would have perished in misery from amnesia. Students could go to town only once a week. Some of the joy of the jaunt was spoiled then by a girl's meeting a hat just like her own every few feet on the street. Uniform dresses aren't half as bad as uniform hats.

green silk dress and high headed shoes walked side by side with a dinky young rhapsodist in a red Angora sweater, a green checked skirt, and white accessories. The post office was a swirl of color; the dining room looked like a vast Easter egg array.

Mrs. Gibson, ironically enough, appeared in neat navy blue and white. A holding on to Winthrop costumes, a reminder that there would come tomorrow! Members of Joyce had planned to surprise students by dressing in navy. For some obscure reason, however, the plan fell through.

One girl changed her costume three times—progressing from extreme to bizarre colors. Winthrop went on a gala spree—drunk on color. Wednesday, however, saw colored aviators placed regrettably in trunks and colored navy blue donned once more.

Spelling Match Reveals Student's Unwitting Wit

It was in Miss Pink's freshman English class. Students, shaking in their socks, were sent to the board. They were told to spell the word given out, and to make a sentence illustrating the use of it.

way, white said collar and cuffs. Woe to the unlucky girl who was late to meals or absent without an iron-clad, hoodproof excuse. A proctor sat at each table and called the roll. The board sat in solemn convulsion one time, because a sleep-head had slumbered through supper.

"It's a far cry from the Winthrop of then to the Winthrop of now, and Everedelle Hartzog, for her part, takes Winthrop with the 1939 trimmings.
