Elizabeth Rogers

ON THE CASUAL SIDE

I decided that a chance of getting a letter was worth even getting ambushed in the ten-thirty post office mail.

The letter was fine, but now I doubt if it was worth the effort.

I dutifully joined in the throng winding in the back door. I got to the door, took a deep breath, and plunged into a mob of turning, twisting, snoring, wedged-together females who definitely had forgotten that they were supposed to be "little ladies".

Someone dug an elbow into my floating rib, a flying fat pencil-well-sharpened—"judged" into my solar plexus.

Desperately fighting my way out I tripped over a nervous hophead with their eyes glued to the bottom row of boxes.

Now, I'm no architect, but I think it might help matters to remove the partition and let us expand into the hall.

Of course, the removal of support might cause the auditorium to sink into the P. O. But at the moment, I'd rather be crushed all at once, than little by little in that post office jam session.

We looked at the clock in the hall and decided since it was ten to eleven we might as well start to church. We reached front campus, looked at the tower clock, and nearly lost our Sunday morning calm.

It was eleven fifteen.

The other day we went to the library at 11:30 to read a few magazines. Glancing up after awhile we were startled to see that it was after one o'clock.

We gathered up our pencils and dashed all the way across the campus to get ready for dinner.

Imagine our passing cheer on learning that the library clock was an hour fast.

It's no joke to start to class with five minutes to spare, to get there, and find that we're five minutes late.

Isn't there some way to regulate the clocks? Some regulation—operation—or something is needed.

Cause at present our sad state is that "clocks, clocks, everywhere, and not a one alike".

Psychology is a great thing. So is food. And food led to out psychologically is tops.

It seems that this food idea is really taking hold on the campus.

Everyone's doing it. Food Miss Black invited the cast of the Beta Thought Pi Theta play to cook breakfast at her home one morning before play practice.

Lots of teachers—at least one or two—have invited their classes to informal picnics and teas.

The Johnsons every week has pots of hot coffee and boxes of crackers (cheese is sometimes provided, but you spread your own) for the laboring reporters.

Food will soothe the weary worker. In fact, all dieting aside, there's no better way to get on with work than to let us eat.

Mystery Play To Be Given By Masquers

Clarkson and McArthur Take Leading Roles

"The Mystery of the Masked Girl", a three-act thriller by Christine Grey, will be presented by Masquers, campus dramatic organization, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Johnson hall auditorium.

Starring in the mystery play, jointly produced by Dorothy Cameron and Marguerite Tidmarsh, will be Ann Clarkson in the role of Judith Atkins, an ambitious young university student, and Lucy McArthur, who plays the role of Ann Bradley, Judith's best friend.

The scene of the play is laid in a house near a university campus, and as the curtain goes up, the characters are found in a somewhat baffled state of mind as to who is the masked murderer of Walter Eames, a chemist who has recently discovered an important formula.

Members of the supporting cast are as follows: Kate Wheeler as Mrs. Moss in whose bearing house the scene is laid; Adelaide Paris as Moira Moss, her daughter; Elizabeth Mansfield as the maid, Hilda; Jean Winter as Rose Lamm; Mary Tremaine; Caroline Riley as Miss Plenden; and Reba Smith as Miss Conley.

The play is under the supervision of Miss Florence Mims, assistant professor of spoken English and public speaking.

Girls are invited to bring their dates to the performance.

Debaters Take Ten Honors At Salisbury Meet

Winthrop debaters won four firsts and six seconds places in the South Atlantic female tournament at Salisbury, N. C., last week.

Miriam Ezell, Chemist, won first place in situation oratory and second in oratory. Mary Darby, Due West, gained a first in argumentation and a second in problem solving.

Mary Ellen Adams, Cross Hill, took first place in speech to hostile audience and second in impromptu. Mary Barnes, Manning, won second place in formulating group opinion and second in radio speech.

A team composed of Mary Barnes, Mary Ellen Adams, Edith Bodenbaugh, and Mary Darby won first place in team debate, and second in regular debate.

Cop college's new campus social center has been named "cocktail lounge".

Helen Howe Makes Her Work The Main Interest of Her Life

Back stage after the performance Monday evening, Helen Howe professed to be wrapped up solely in her career. Laughing-eyed, she asserted that she wouldn't, if given the chance, be anything except a caricature.

Miss Howe realized during her college days at Radcliffe that she had a talent for dramatics. Enthusiastically she entered into all college productions. Later she studied at the Theater Guild School of New York. She writes her own pieces and enjoys doing it.

Brown hair worn carefully but fashionably, Helen Howe makes an attractive picture. Surprisingly enough she is unmarried. "Too busy" is her explanation.

Hobbies do not interest Helen Howe. She is a woman with her heart in her work, and no time to give to outside hobbies. She says, "Human beings are my vocation and my avocation. I travel all over the country to study all kinds of people".

The selections Miss Howe gave show the mark of this study. Amusing but thought-provoking, her presentations were pungent, remorseless satires.

When she is not touring the country, Helen Howe can be found at her home in Boston.

Three Named "All Round Best" Athletes

Grace Punderburk, Frances Lezzer, and Mary Edna Kneese were named the "three best-all-round athletes" for the year 1938-39 at a joint meeting of the Y, Student Government, and Athletic Association in Main auditorium Monday night.

These girls were chosen by the executive board of the Athletic Association. Factors considered were sportsmanship, scholarship, skill and leadership.

Grace, from Andrus, is president of the Athletic Association. She has participated in basketball, hockey, and baseball four years, and has made basketball and hockey varsities. She was class hockey manager her sophomore year, secretary of the physical education club, and chairman of the recreational sports club her junior year, and has also been active in swimming and bowling. She is a member of the "W".

Naudain Appointed to War Department Post

Dr. Glenn G. Naudain, head of the chemistry department, and a lieutenant colonel in the United States army reserves, has recently been appointed head of the Information Intelligence Section. He is headquartering the section in the office of the chief of the chemical warfare service in Washington, D. C., but Dr. Naudain will go there only in case of war.

Dr. Naudain was formally appointed to the Production Division, Edgewood arsenal, Maryland.

Crouch at Vespers

Dr. L. J. L. Crouch, pastor of the Fort Hill Presbyterian church at Clemson, will speak at vespers Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock in Johnson hall auditorium.

The A Cappella choir, directed by Miss Constance Wardle, instructor in voice, will furnish the music.

Fraser Reports Faculty Vote

"All legislative action must be approved by the Faculty committee." It was not until last Friday night that I learned of this statement in the constitution of the Student Government Association. Saturday, accordingly, I told the Faculty committee that the final decision concerning student use of radios was still in its hands. It decided without hesitation or dissenting vote to let the present legislation stand.

I publish these facts for two reasons. First, I do not want anyone to think that I, or any one else concerned, believes in ignoring a constitution. To circumvent an unwritten precedent may, in my opinion, be an administrator's duty when more truly democratic practices require it. But to ignore an unworkable constitutional provision is, I think, never justifiable unless the constitution is so unworkable that it prevents the governed from making adjustments to changing needs. Secondly, I want Winthrop students to know the status and sportsmanship of their Faculty committee. I hope that they will find some of showing the committee members their appreciation of the latter.

Elementary Ed Club Visits Indian Reserve

Members of the class on Principles of Elementary Education, instructed by Miss Sadie Goggans, professor of education, visited the Catawba Indian Reservation last Wednesday to observe how group dependent on the state lives.

Ann Thomas recited the notes of a song sung for the group by an Indian girl. The music will be transcribed for the piano and given to the tribe.

Dean Mowat G. Fraser accompanied the group.

Two-Year Certificates Discontinued

Awarding of two-year commerce certificates will be discontinued after this year, according to John G. Kelly, registrar, and T. W. Noel, head of the commerce department. Students who are now taking the two-year course must complete the requirements for the certificate not later than June, 1941, as no certificates will be awarded after that date.

In the future, those who enroll in the commerce department and plan to remain in college only two years will be advised to elect short-hand in their first and second years. At the end of the second year these students will have completed short-hand, typing, introduction to business, and accounting, and will be prepared to take positions as office workers. Their background of general education will be superior to that now provided in the two year commerce curriculum.

These students, in case they wish to continue in college, may take the junior and senior years of the commerce curriculum without semule adjustments.

Student Body To Vote on New Y Code

The revised constitution of the Y will be voted on by the student body at a meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in Main auditorium, according to Ann Tilghman, president of the Y.

The constitution, which has been in effect since 1919, was revised by a committee composed of Elizabeth Cottingham, chairman, Edna Holmes, and Meta Smith. Copies have been placed on the bulletin board in each dormitory and on the Y bulletin board.

Changes made in the revision include a definite provision concerning elections. Also the advisory board, formerly composed of four faculty members elected by the Y cabinet, will now be composed of these four with the addition of advisors for each committee.

The objectives of the organization are not set forth in the constitution.

An executive committee was formed which will be composed of the officers of the Y and members of the advisory board chosen by the cabinet.

Changes were also made in several aspects to conform to the new rules of the National Y association.

Last Payday Announced

Tuesday, March 21, will be the last chance for down-payments on The Tattler, according to Elizabeth Kennedy, editor. No extra Tattlers will be ordered after that date.

Photographers were on the campus Thursday to complete The Tattler picture set-up.

1939-'40 Leaders To Be Elected Tuesday

McKeithen, Riley, and McAliley Candidates for Y

Two rising seniors, Mildred McKeithen, Florence, and Christine Riley, Denmark, were announced by Anne Tilghman, present Y president, as candidates for presidency of the Y, for 1939-40, at a meeting of the student body Monday night in Main auditorium. Stump speeches were made by the nominees.

Macl Aliley from Chester, was also nominated for the office by a petition signed by 25 students.

Mildred is secretary of the Y, treasurer of the Music club, vice-president of the College Glee club, a member of the Setette, and the Elementary Education club. She was secretary of her class her freshman year and was a freshman counselor her sophomore year. She is also president of the Presbyterian Student Association.

Christine is now chief freshman counselor. She was vice-president of her class during her freshman year. She is a member of the Setette and the College Glee club.

Macl is a marshall, chapel proctor, member of the Y cabinet, according to Ann Tilghman, a member of Le Cercle Francais and the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Nominees for this office were applied for a committee composed of Ann Tilghman, Meta Smith, Ruth Benson, Elizabeth Cunningham, Margaret Pant, and Mary Catherine Littlejohn.

Election of the officers will take place Tuesday from 9:30 o'clock to 4 o'clock. All students are urged to vote.

Four Run for Head of Student Government

Harriet Culler and Edith Gentry, rising seniors, were announced by Ruth Benson, president, as nominees for Government association for the Student Government association for the year, and the Athletic association Monday night in Main auditorium. Platform speeches were made by the two candidates.

Sally Lathrop and Lucille Heustess were also nominated as candidates for the office by a petition signed by 25 students.

Harriet, from Wolfon, is president of the Junior class, and was also class president her sophomore year. She is president of the Methodist Student Movement of the Methodist-Episcopal church in the South, and is a member of Masquers and the Secondary Education club. She is chairman of the Handbook committee, Y publication.

Edith, from Greenville, is a marshall, vice-president of "Le Cercle Francais", a member of Beta Pi Theta, Secondary Education club, Ring committee, chairman of uniform committee, a Journalism reporter, and a senator.

The decision of the judges is final and entries will be published in this paper around the middle of May.

SPORTS

By EDITH GENTRY

Hooy! Miss Lea's gun worked and the two swimming meets were shot off to a record-breaking start and finish—actually breaking an established 50-yard relay record!

Superlatives of the two meets were the diving of Catherine Esterlin and Virginia Simmons; the form swimming of Mamie Katherine Ritchie; the speed of Connie and Mickey Smith, Margaret Dempsey, and Alice Blake; and the excellent timing of our illustrious Judge, Nease. Luck, Gore, and Chapell.

We are to compete with Duke and University of Georgia telegraphically. Look to you—Winthrop swimmers!

The mighty seniors played a beautiful game against the freshmen as did the soph more, but those freshmen put up fine, clean fight worthy of a whole battery of applause.

The soph trimmed the juniors neatly by pulling out an endless number of well passing tricks. The juniors, however, fought hard; which is a big something to anybody's credit.

High lights of the first two games were the clean-as-a-whistle free shots of Margaret Brito, the clicking mass of the senior forwards, the fine sportsmanship of the freshmen in taking out one of their players when the seniors were playing short, and the red faces of the gasping juniors.

Bravo! The faculty members—that is some of the faculty members—are spending evenings in the gym keeping fit with exciting games of badminton, shuffleboard, etc.

The basketball tournament will be completed next week. Remember—you'll get a big kick out of supporting your class team from the sidelines.

Sincere congratulations to the three best-all-round athletes for 1938-39—Grace Funderburke, Frances Legare, and Mary Edna Kneec.
