ON THE CASUAL
SIDE

1939
Elizabeth Rogers

I decided that a chance of getting a letter was worth even getting embroiled in the ten-thirty post office maze.

The letter was fine, but now I doubt if it was worth the effort.

I dutifully joined in the throng winding in the back door. I got to the door, took a deep breath, and plunged into a mob of turning, twisting, mentering, wedged-together females who definitely had forgotten that they were supposed to be "little ladies".

Sometime after an elbow into my rib, a flying fist collided with my front chest, a pencil-well sharpened—"Juged" into my solar plexus.

Desperately fighting my way out, I tripped over several hopefuls with their eyes glued to the bottom row of boxes.

Now, I'm no architect, but I think it might help matters to remove the partition and let us expand into the hall. Of course, the removal of support might cause the auditorium to sink into the P. O. But at the moment, I'd rather be crushed all at once, than little by little in that post office jail session.

We looked at the clock in the hall and decided since it was ten to eleven we might as well start to church. We reached front campus, looked at the tower clock, and nearly lost our Sunday morning calm. It was eleven fifteen.

The other day we went to the library at 11:30 to read a few magazines. Glancing up after awhile, Staggers were startled to see that it was after one o'clock. We gathered up our pencils and dashed off the way across the campus to get ready for dinner. Imagine our panting chagrin on learning that the library clock was an hour fast.

It's no joke to start to class with five minutes to spare, to get there, and find that we're five minutes late.

Isn't there some way to regulate the clocks? Some regulation—operation—or something is needed.

'Cause at present our sed state is that of "clocks, clocks, everywhere; and not a one alike".

Psychology is a great thing. So is food. And food ledges out psychologically is tops.

It seems that this feed idea is really taking hold on the campus.

Everyone's doing it. Food. But invite the ones that need it.

Thought Pi Theta plays to cook breakfast at home one morning before play practice.

Lots of teachers—at least one or two—have invited their classes to informal picnics and tea. The jazzassin every week has pots of hot coffee and boxes of crackers (cheese is sometimes provided, but you spread your own) for the lunching reporters.

Food will soothe the weary worker. In fact, all dieting aids, there's no better way to get us to work than to let us eat.

Mystery Play To Be Given By Masquers

Clarkson and McArthur Take Leading Roles

"The Mystery of the Masked Girl," a three-act thriller by Helen Mansell, will be presented by Masquers, campus dramatic organization, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Johnson hall auditorium. No admission fee will be charged.

Written by Dorothy Caven and Margaret Tidmarsh, will be Ann Clarkson in the role of Judith Atkins, an ambitious young university student, and Lucy McArthur, who plays the role of Ann Bradley, Judith's best friend.

The scene of the play is laid in a house near a university campus, and as the curtain goes up, the characters are found in a somewhat baffled state of mind as to who is the masked murderer of Walter Eanes, a chemist who has recently discovered an important formula.

Members of the supporting cast are as follows: Kate Wheeler as Mrs. Moss in whose boarding house the scene is laid; Adele Faris as Moira Moss, her daughter; Elizabeth Mansfield as the maid, Hilda; Jean Winter as Rose Lunn; Marguerite Tidmarsh as Katherine Tremaine; Caroline Riley as Miss Plinden; and Reba Smith as Miss Connie.

This play is under the supervision of Miss Florence Mims, assistant professor of spoken English and public speaking.

Girls are invited to bring their dates to the performance.

SOCIAL CAMPUS

Dinners for visitors, receptions for students, buffet suppers for classes—these were features of this week's social campus.

BETA ALPHAS was treated to coffee, candies, and nuts at a party given by Mrs. VERA BRUCE, Miss AGNES ERICKSON, and Miss MARINA ARNEY Monday afternoon. The party was given in the Commerce office which lent the atmosphere for this unbusiness-like occasion.

On Friday three same hostesses entertained at a similar affair for the N. Y. A. Girls in the commerce department office.

Entertainments and more entertainments were given for Miss MARIE WHITE of Washington who was a visitor on the campus last week. A dinner party in Joyce hall was given by Misses SARAH CRAVEN, with PRENTISS and Miss PHILLIPS, DEAN MARY HARRON, DEAN HOWAY G. PARKER, and Miss LILLIAN HOOPER.

The faculty of the home economics department gave a dinner for Miss White on Wednesday night.

Sausages baked in rolls was the chief delight of a banquet supper given by Miss MAE HALL for her MERRION'S CLASS at her home last Sunday night. The perfect end to a perfect party was a chat-session around the open fire. Girls at the party were RUTH KING, MARY REDAN, MILDRED PRICE, SARAH LA FOY, ALICE BRYAN, LOIS McCONNELL, MAY FOLK, HARRIET CULLER, and RACHEL NEUBAUM.

ARCHIBALD RUTLEDGE, post-laureate of South Carolina, is visiting Miss D. B. JOHNSON this weekend. He will speak tonight at the Over the Tea Cup club.

Beta Pi Theta To Give Comedy Thursday Night

"L'Ecole des Belles-Meres", a one-act comedy by Brice, will be presented by Beta Pi Theta, honorary French fraternity, Thursday at 8 o'clock in Johnson hall auditorium.

Leading roles in the play, which is directed by Miss Lois Black, assistant professor of modern languages, are played by Elizabeth Hooper as Fifi, and Eddie Gentry as Andre. A modern domestic problem is portrayed in the comedy.

Elizabeth Rogers, rising senior from Florence, has recently been appointed associate editor of The Johnsonian by Sarah Rosenfeld editor.

Elizabeth has been a member of The Johnsonian staff for three years, is associate editor of The Tailor, and is a "distinguished" student during her freshman and sophomore years, and is a member of Secondary Education club, the Pierians, and the Brush and Pakite club.

Twins from Syracuse* Given by Eta Sigma Phi

Eta Sigma Phi, national honorary classic organization, presented "The Twins from Syracuse" by Plautus Wednesday night in Johnson hall auditorium.

Other parts in the play were Judith Rogers, Gertrude Terry, Neil Estes, Corinne Castlemann, Patricia Walker, Alice Blake, Catherine Taylor, Amelia Verone, and Helen Dickson.

The characters were dressed in Greek costumes and comic masks. Between the acts a quartet composed of Ross Wilcox, Adelaid Faris, Sadie Battle, and Mary Sellers sang, two hit songs from "The Boys from Syracuse", stage play now showing in New York.

Reed & Barton's Silver Chest Contest

YOU CAN EASILY WIN THIS GORGEOUS 100-PIECE STERLING SILVER SERVICE

Free

Stunning portrait of a beautiful young girl in a limited group of the leading women's colleges will be awarded a complete solid silver service of 100 pieces—and it can really cost YOU! It's simple as writing for money. Nothing to buy, just write a couple of sentences telling your reasons for selecting, at your first choice in sterling silver, one of the rare Reed & Barton pieces shown. The 100-piece service will be won by the pattern chosen by the winner and will be awarded in a genuine mahogany silver and glass chest. In addition, a lovely set of Sterling Silver Coffee Spoons by Reed & Barton will go to the writer of the best statement to each of the colleges. Don't lose any time in going after these silver treasures. Read the simple rules, send the ten beautiful Reed & Barton patterns, then mail your entry today.

Prizes The judge will be a client and member standing during service in the Reed & Barton Silver Chest. Contest should carefully study the Reed & Barton patterns from which a selection is to be made. It is important, however, to be sure you are not giving away your secret. It is to be expected that the entries will be numerous, so the more you enter, the greater your chance of winning.
