10-1-1979

The Johnsonian October 1, 1979

Winthrop University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/thejohnsonian1970s

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/thejohnsonian1970s/219
Board to visit WC

The sixth Winthrop Board of Visitors will arrive on campus October 3-5. The board is composed of twelve members authorized by the Winthrop trustees. The Board of Visitors will continue their visit from their observations of Winthrop to the trustees after their visit.

Two representatives from each congressional district in the state were appointed to the board. Named to the boards are: District 1—Sharon Mims and Virginia Gourdin of Charleston, District 2—Tim Driggers and Jan Flint of Anderson; District 3—Edith Davis of Abbeville and Jan Flint of Anderson; District 4—George Funderburk of Greenville and Jan Flint of Anderson; District 5—Lynn Horsey of Rock Hill and Rep. David McNees of Florence and District 6—N.W. Rosenfeld of Florence and Sen. John Waller of Mulfina.

The carryover member from last year’s board is Martha Isbell of Beaufort.

The board will check into the Winthrop Lodge between 8 and 9 p.m. on October 4. At 9 p.m. they will have breakfast and listen to a presentation by President Vail. At 10 a.m. the visitors will attend a slide presentation in Jones Center for Continuing Education. From 9:45-10:30, they will tour Thurmond and Maccafe Nursey. At 11:00, there will be a series of presentations in the Art Building. They will have lunch with the Winthrop Trustees at noon. The group will return to the Winthrop Lodge at 1:00.

District 1 representative Sharon Mims teaches first grade at Netnemna Elementary in Charleston county. A Winthrop graduate, Mims holds a Master of Education from USC. She received the 1979 Young Careerist Award from the Tobacco Business and Professional Women Club.

Virginia Gourdin, the second District 1 representative, has held positions at Harvard, University of California at Berkeley, and University of South Carolina. She is now retired and enjoys the hobby of historical research. She is Listed in Who’s Who of American Women. Tim Driggers of District 2 has been a self-employed attorney for the past 6 years. He holds a B.A. from the University of South Carolina.

A.T. Butler, also of District 2, is Chairman of Behavioral Science Division at Allen University. Butler has served as Executive Secretary for the Palmetto Education Association and was recognized for Outstanding Accomplishment in Community Improvement in 1975. District 3 member Edith Davis is owner of Edith’s Decorating House in Abbeville. A Winthrop graduate, Davis worked as a stewardess for Eastern Airlines and taught for 5 years in the Brooklyn-Cayce Schools in Columbia and one year at Abbeville High School.

George Funderbruck of District 4 has been an attorney in Greenville since 1974. Funderburk did his undergraduate work at Furman and attended law school at USC. He served as an administrative assistant to Congressman James B. Mann.

Rep. J.C. Duncan is the other District 4 representative. He has served two previous terms in the House of Representatives, 1969-1972 and 1975-1978. He received his BS from Wofford in 1951, and was awarded his MS from Furman. Lynn Horsey of District 5 received her BA from Winthrop in 1970. She is a delegate to the White House Conference on Libraries and Information Services in November 1979.

Rep. David McNees has been a self-employed attorney in District 5 for 14 years. He received a BA from UNC, and holds a LLB-JD from the USC law school. He is a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, and a member of the House Rules Committee, a member of the Sumter Lions Club, and a charter member of the Air Force Reserve.

Information about District 3 representative Lynn Horsey of District 5 and District 6 representatives N.W. Rosenfeld of Florence and Sen. John Waller of Mulfina was not available.

Catch it on the radio

If you can’t see a particular Winthrop College basketball game in person this season, don’t fret—you can catch it on the radio.

Rock Hill radio station WRHI 1340 AM will carry all men’s games, both at home and on the road. WRHI will also broadcast six women’s games, one on the road.

Dave Burrage and Frank Snyder will be handling the broadcasting duties. Burrage, that station’s sports director, will broadcast the basketball games in winchester. Snyder, the station’s sports director, is a Winthrop Alumnus and served as Wofford basketball coach Niel Gordon from 1966-70 at Newberry College, and is executive director of the York County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

The station will follow the Eagles throughout the schedule and will be with Winthrop when they participate in the NAIA District 6 playoffs.

The reckless and the repose

Two contrasting student postures illustrate the range of interests in the sphere of Winthrop life. Two male residents of Richardson dorm sample the trials of danger, throwing frisbees from an eighth-floor ledge. Meanwhile, junior Beth Tucker finds a more secure occupation to fill her free hours, catching some w’s while posing as a model for art students. (Photos by A.J. Copeland and Tim Harris)
False alarm!

Twice in the past week, the Rock Hill Fire Department was called on false alarms. Twice they sped to the scene with the best equipment on the scene, the same as what is required by York County Hospital. And twice, after investigating the alarm, returned to their posts, unneeded.

Certainly, the firemen must have been relieved that no fire posed a threat to lives or property. However, I'm more than a little disgruntled that all their efforts at speed and efficiency were in vain. Let's hope along with President Vail that, like the boy calling "Fire!" the Rockefeller will not encourage a slower response from the fire department.

Vail expressed his concern at the first meeting, September 25, of the President's Liaison Committee, a recently organized group of students and administration heads, designed to facilitate communication between college officials and student groups.

According to Vail, someone, possibly a practical joker, pulled the fire alarm across the street from Rockridge Building on Wednesday, September 21. The fire department responded to the false alarm. The location of the alarm was particularly upsetting because McLaurin, a nearby building, is made of wood and the furniture is quite flammable.

Early Saturday morning, September 22, another alarm was pulled, this time in Richardson dorm. A fire engine arrived Quickly, and after 45 minutes, its driver radioed back to Vail: The room was on fire, but it was a small fire, not spreading.

An actual fire took place at the Winthrop Lodge, Tuesday, September 25, but due to fire-fighting students and a quick response from Rock Hill Fire Department, only a curtain was destroyed.

In closing, I'd like to add that I hope everyone enjoys their fall break. This is a good time to get caught up in studies before it's too late, but take some time for yourself too. Yes, deserved.

Bonnie Jablan

Letters

TO THE EDITOR:

This letter is written in relation to the announcement in last week's edition of the discontinuance of the student bar at Winthrop College. I found this announcement shocking.

First of all, I know these stupid jokes. Most of them are stupid words thrown out in the shape of songs which are meant to stick out in shoppers' minds. Generally the tunes are simple and they focus their appeal on the average age of the product user. For example, Bell Telephone Company uses a mellow, lonesome song "Someone from Home" to get the young people who have just moved out on their own to call home from a feeling of loneliness. Pepsi's rock-n-roll "Pepsi Generation" is similarly aimed at young people.

However, Nestea's "Pea-on-tea" commercial is absolutely unappealing and meaningless unless it is already ingrained in the viewers' heads. Along with jingles, commercials throw facts and testimonial

Don't insult my intelligence

Beth Tucker

Advertisements today are the absolute pits, especially those on television. Catchy jingles and slogans are some of the tactics the companies use to lure viewers to buy all kinds of junk. Most commercials usually end up wasting my time, taxing my patience, and insulting my intelligence.

First of all, I know these stupid jokes. Most of them are stupid words thrown out in the shape of songs which are meant to stick out in shoppers' minds. Generally the tunes are simple and they focus their appeal on the average age of the product user. For example, Bell Telephone Company uses a mellow, lonesome song "Someone from Home" to get the young people who have just moved out on their own to call home from a feeling of loneliness. Pepsi's rock-n-roll "Pepsi Generation" is similarly aimed at young people. However, Nestea's "Pea-on-tea" commercial is absolutely unappealing and meaningless unless it is already ingrained in the viewers' heads.

Along with jingles, commercials throw facts and testimonial

Don't insult my intelligence

Beth Tucker

Advertisements today are the absolute pits, especially those on television. Catchy jingles and slogans are some of the tactics the companies use to lure viewers to buy all kinds of junk. Most commercials usually end up wasting my time, taxing my patience, and insulting my intelligence.

First of all, I know these stupid jokes. Most of them are stupid words thrown out in the shape of songs which are meant to stick out in shoppers' minds. Generally the tunes are simple and they focus their appeal on the average age of the product user. For example, Bell Telephone Company uses a mellow, lonesome song "Someone from Home" to get the young people who have just moved out on their own to call home from a feeling of loneliness. Pepsi's rock-n-roll "Pepsi Generation" is similarly aimed at young people. However, Nestea's "Pea-on-tea" commercial is absolutely unappealing and meaningless unless it is already ingrained in the viewers' heads.

Along with jingles, commercials throw facts and testimonial

Dont infant my intelligence

Beth Tucker

Advertisements today are the absolute pits, especially those on television. Catchy jingles and slogans are some of the tactics the companies use to lure viewers to buy all kinds of junk. Most commercials usually end up wasting my time, taxing my patience, and insulting my intelligence.

First of all, I know these stupid jokes. Most of them are stupid words thrown out in the shape of songs which are meant to stick out in shoppers' minds. Generally the tunes are simple and they focus their appeal on the average age of the product user. For example, Bell Telephone Company uses a mellow, lonesome song "Someone from Home" to get the young people who have just moved out on their own to call home from a feeling of loneliness. Pepsi's rock-n-roll "Pepsi Generation" is similarly aimed at young people. However, Nestea's "Pea-on-tea" commercial is absolutely unappealing and meaningless unless it is already ingrained in the viewers' heads.

Along with jingles, commercials throw facts and testimonial

Dont insult my intelligence

Beth Tucker

Advertisements today are the absolute pits, especially those on television. Catchy jingles and slogans are some of the tactics the companies use to lure viewers to buy all kinds of junk. Most commercials usually end up wasting my time, taxing my patience, and insulting my intelligence.

First of all, I know these stupid jokes. Most of them are stupid words thrown out in the shape of songs which are meant to stick out in shoppers' minds. Generally the tunes are simple and they focus their appeal on the average age of the product user. For example, Bell Telephone Company uses a mellow, lonesome song "Someone from Home" to get the young people who have just moved out on their own to call home from a feeling of loneliness. Pepsi's rock-n-roll "Pepsi Generation" is similarly aimed at young people. However, Nestea's "Pea-on-tea" commercial is absolutely unappealing and meaningless unless it is already ingrained in the viewers' heads.

Along with jingles, commercials throw facts and testimonial

Dont insult my intelligence

Beth Tucker

Advertisements today are the absolute pits, especially those on television. Catchy jingles and slogans are some of the tactics the companies use to lure viewers to buy all kinds of junk. Most commercials usually end up wasting my time, taxing my patience, and insulting my intelligence.

First of all, I know these stupid jokes. Most of them are stupid words thrown out in the shape of songs which are meant to stick out in shoppers' minds. Generally the tunes are simple and they focus their appeal on the average age of the product user. For example, Bell Telephone Company uses a mellow, lonesome song "Someone from Home" to get the young people who have just moved out on their own to call home from a feeling of loneliness. Pepsi's rock-n-roll "Pepsi Generation" is similarly aimed at young people. However, Nestea's "Pea-on-tea" commercial is absolutely unappealing and meaningless unless it is already ingrained in the viewers' heads.

Along with jingles, commercials throw facts and testimonial

Dont insult my intelligence

Beth Tucker

Advertisements today are the absolute pits, especially those on television. Catchy jingles and slogans are some of the tactics the companies use to lure viewers to buy all kinds of junk. Most commercials usually end up wasting my time, taxing my patience, and insulting my intelligence.

First of all, I know these stupid jokes. Most of them are stupid words thrown out in the shape of songs which are meant to stick out in shoppers' minds. Generally the tunes are simple and they focus their appeal on the average age of the product user. For example, Bell Telephone Company uses a mellow, lonesome song "Someone from Home" to get the young people who have just moved out on their own to call home from a feeling of loneliness. Pepsi's rock-n-roll "Pepsi Generation" is similarly aimed at young people. However, Nestea's "Pea-on-tea" commercial is absolutely unappealing and meaningless unless it is already ingrained in the viewers' heads.

Along with jingles, commercials throw facts and testimonial

Dont insult my intelligence

Beth Tucker

Advertisements today are the absolute pits, especially those on television. Catchy jingles and slogans are some of the tactics the companies use to lure viewers to buy all kinds of junk. Most commercials usually end up wasting my time, taxing my patience, and insulting my intelligence.

First of all, I know these stupid jokes. Most of them are stupid words thrown out in the shape of songs which are meant to stick out in shoppers' minds. Generally the tunes are simple and they focus their appeal on the average age of the product user. For example, Bell Telephone Company uses a mellow, lonesome song "Someone from Home" to get the young people who have just moved out on their own to call home from a feeling of loneliness. Pepsi's rock-n-roll "Pepsi Generation" is similarly aimed at young people. However, Nestea's "Pea-on-tea" commercial is absolutely unappealing and meaningless unless it is already ingrained in the viewers' heads.

Along with jingles, commercials throw facts and testimonial

Dont insult my intelligence

Beth Tucker

Advertisements today are the absolute pits, especially those on television. Catchy jingles and slogans are some of the tactics the companies use to lure viewers to buy all kinds of junk. Most commercials usually end up wasting my time, taxing my patience, and insulting my intelligence.

First of all, I know these stupid jokes. Most of them are stupid words thrown out in the shape of songs which are meant to stick out in shoppers' minds. Generally the tunes are simple and they focus their appeal on the average age of the product user. For example, Bell Telephone Company uses a mellow, lonesome song "Someone from Home" to get the young people who have just moved out on their own to call home from a feeling of loneliness. Pepsi's rock-n-roll "Pepsi Generation" is similarly aimed at young people. However, Nestea's "Pea-on-tea" commercial is absolutely unappealing and meaningless unless it is already ingrained in the viewers' heads.

Along with jingles, commercials throw facts and testimonial

Dont insult my intelligence

Beth Tucker
An air of expectation

I promised I wouldn’t let myself do this. But here I sit... ever closer. Most of you, I imagine, are not into classical music. Aside from those who have taken Music Appre, most of you probably know very little about it. Same here. I occasionally go to the library to listen to certain pieces which I like. I do it for therapy as much as for listening enjoyment. Searching through the racks, I find something which simply “feels” right. Today, it’s part of the reason the dreaded deadline. The 4th movement of Beethoven’s 5th Symphony, Strauss’s “Thus Spoke Zarathustra,” and Copland’s “Fanfare for the Common Man.” The 4th movement, also called the song of the “2000,” is a bountiful and uplifting number; “Zarathustra” is better known as the theme song to the movie “2001,” which I’m sure needs no introduction; “Fanfare” is a short piece written by one of America’s greatest composers, and was recently recorded by Emerson, Lake, and Palmer on their album “Works: Volume One.” (Emerson does better than the original — his extended organ solo is superb.) All of these compositions are uplifting, even inspirational.

Reflecting afterwards, I was surprised at the choice of songs. I did not feel particularly uplifted in mood. For that matter, I did not feel depressed either, and in need of upbeat music. Why, then, did these particular songs feel right?

I read an article in the Observer the other day that showed something about the anti-nuclear rally in New York. 200,000 attended a gathering which featured Ralph Nader, Tom Hayden, and Jane Fonda, among others. This was the largest anti-nuclear rally ever held. The speakers and musicians — such as Pete Seeger and Jackson Browne, who are helping to finance the movement — called for action to stop the arms race and to oppose nuclear power.

A group within the Clean-Shield Alliance — an umbrella organization opposed to nuclear power — is planning a force of 20,000 to occupy the Seabrook Nuclear Plant in New Hampshire. They plan to set up shelter, solar power units, and some means of providing food for these thousands, and to train them how to peacefully resist arrest. This group plans to occupy Seabrook until construction of the plant is forever discontinued.

There are other stories. Other examples of determined efforts to stop the race of our beautiful planet, to halt the ever-escalating arms race, and to stop the spread of nuclear power.

I began to realize why those songs felt right. There is a feeling in the air, just the barest whisper so far, but growing, an undercurrent of excitement, of expectation. The spirit that drove the Movement in the 60’s and ’70’s is coming back. That may sound premature. But wait and see. I’ve heard it said that the revolution of the 60’s sold out and joined the middle class rat race, the “me” decade. That is an exaggeration. Many of them did join the “Establishment.” Now, nearly a decade later, many of them are bureaucrats, politicians, and other publicly-oriented professionals, who are gradually coming into a position to effect change from the inside. (The environmental lobby is a good example.) After lying dormant for nearly a decade, the Movement is beginning to wake up.

In the nick of time. Neo-conservatism is sweeping the national mood. People are tired of inefficient social programs, oppressive taxation, and government waste. Conservatives are taking advantage of this mood. They are pushing for billions more to feed the war machine, more tax cuts and subsidies for Big Business, and a to-be-neglected-environmental attitude in an effort to keep the oil companies dominant over the energy scene.

You may think this is a too-radical idea. You may equate the 60’s with drugs, rock music, and anti-war demonstrations. But it was, and is, much more than that. The foundation of “the 60’s” is a philosophy of love, a belief that Man can live in harmony with Nature and with each other. The next few years will see a reawakening of that philosophy.

Bob Ford
Dying Winthrop traditions

By Michele Haultter

Rat Week will no longer be observed at Winthrop in cooperation with the new hazing policy set by the Board of Trustees in the Nov. 4, 1978 meeting. Hazing is considered any action by students that may adversely affect another student's physical well-being, personal dignity, or the ability to meet the academic requirements of the college.

Classes Night is also a part of Winthrop's past. Student interest and participation has decreased greatly in both Rat Week and Classes Night, according to Dean Mann. "Being a member of a certain class is no longer true significance," said Mann, "but being active in school-oriented activities is." Mann said that he has not received any complaints about the dismissal of Classes Night or Rat Week.

Rat Week can be traced further back than 1947, where it was dreaded by all first year students and anticipated by upperclassmen. Freshmen were kept busy with such duties as cleaning rooms, carrying books, writing letters, being agreeable to upperclassmen, and serving upperclassmen as upperclassmen saw fit.

The beanie of Winthrop garnet and gold was a required part of apparel as freshmen wore them sleeping, eating, bathing, and even while combing their hair. The beanie was known as the "official badge of the lovely" to keep the freshmen in their place. Any violators were subject to appear before the "rat council" to receive "just punishment."

Rat Week began as a way for freshmen to become acquainted with upperclassmen, but it gained a totally different aspect, according to Jimmy Williamson, SGA vice-president. "Many people were out to get the freshmen, and last year during Rat Week some people were physically hurt," said Williamson.

Williamson said that there are many other ways for students to become involved, like SGA, Dinkins Program Board, fraternities, sororities, and sports.

Williamson noted that Winthrop isn't just losing the old traditions of Rat Week and Classes Night for no reason, but that Winthrop is growing, changing, and has new needs. "We are trying to keep the best of the old, and we are challenged to meet the needs of the new," he said. SGA, according to Williamson, is working on an Activities Night on the same order as Classes Night. Activities Night would be opened to all charter organizations rather than just classes. Also SGA is considering some special events for Eagle homecoming, which is Feb. 5.

Take a trip to Africa, South America, a planetarium, or see the 1800 live animals, a free film and more

MUSEUM OF YORK COUNTY

MON.-FRI.-9-5 SAT, SAT. & SUN.-1-5
MT. GALLANT RD., ROCK HILL, S.C., PHONE: 366-4116

KEYNOTESpeaker during the convention will be the Rev. Dr. Frank Stagg, well-known New Testament scholar, Louisville, Ky.; Rev. Dr. Glenn Igleheart, director of Southern Baptists' work with non-evangelical groups; and the Rev. Henry Finch, pastor of Oakland Baptist Church.

Much of the program time will be used for 15 separate conferences on contemporary topics of interest. "The Christian in Politics" will be led by Martha Epley, member of the S.C. House of Representatives from Horry County; "The Christian View of Homosexuality" by Jim Whitlow, professor at Anderson College; and "Religious Cults on Campus Today" by Glenn Igleheart.

All students are invited to attend the convention, whether active in BSU or not.
"Penthouse" charges CIA with infiltration

The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency is deeply involved with American universities and professors, and is fighting hard to resist efforts to cut off the spy agency from academics, PENTHOUSE magazine charges in its October issue.

"According to intelligence sources, at least 860 academics are working for the CIA on more than 100 American campuses," the magazine says. "They form a link with the CIA that has become so pervasive that there is some doubt whether a complete break between the two can ever be achieved."

According to journalist Ernest Volkman, the CIA operations on campus include using professors as researchers and spies during trips abroad, and recruiting both American and foreign students as spies during trips abroad, and recruiting both American and foreign students as agents. Third World students studying in the United States are special targets for recruitment, and the CIA would like to have foreign leaders on its payroll.

President Carter's CIA director, Adm. Stansfield Turner, has declared: "If we were reelected, I would have been put under FBI surveillance because he had been on the faculty of the university's Center for Chinese Studies for many years, and the CIA has been involved in recruiting both American and foreign students as agents. Third World students studying in the United States are special targets for recruitment, and the CIA would like to have foreign leaders on its payroll.

President McNamara, who is campaigning for re-election, told the HARFORD COURANT to "Call me a conservative, but not a reactionary" for his statement. He said he objected to the speech "as an American and an anti-Communist," but that he wouldn't pressure the college to cancel the speech.

When he has done, according to a woman at the college's program council, says the school "We're spending tickets like crazy. Nobody knew Fonda was coming before. It's been great for us. We expect to have a full house."

She said that 500 seats had already been sold just three days after the mayor's criticism, and that some people seem to really hate Jane Fonda for some reason.

McNamara is campaigning for re-election, told the HARFORD COURANT to "Call me a conservative, but not a reactionary" for his statement. He said he objected to the speech "as an American and an anti-Communist," but that he wouldn't pressure the college to cancel the speech.

When he has done, according to a woman at the college's program council, says the school "We're spending tickets like crazy. Nobody knew Fonda was coming before. It's been great for us. We expect to have a full house."

She said that 500 seats had already been sold just three days after the mayor's criticism, and that some people seem to really hate Jane Fonda for some reason.

When he has done, according to a woman at the college's program council, says the school "We're spending tickets like crazy. Nobody knew Fonda was coming before. It's been great for us. We expect to have a full house."

She said that 500 seats had already been sold just three days after the mayor's criticism, and that some people seem to really hate Jane Fonda for some reason.

McNamara is campaigning for re-election, told the HARFORD COURANT to "Call me a conservative, but not a reactionary" for his statement. He said he objected to the speech "as an American and an anti-Communist," but that he wouldn't pressure the college to cancel the speech.

When he has done, according to a woman at the college's program council, says the school "We're spending tickets like crazy. Nobody knew Fonda was coming before. It's been great for us. We expect to have a full house."

She said that 500 seats had already been sold just three days after the mayor's criticism, and that some people seem to really hate Jane Fonda for some reason.

McNamara is campaigning for re-election, told the HARFORD COURANT to "Call me a conservative, but not a reactionary" for his statement. He said he objected to the speech "as an American and an anti-Communist," but that he wouldn't pressure the college to cancel the speech.

When he has done, according to a woman at the college's program council, says the school "We're spending tickets like crazy. Nobody knew Fonda was coming before. It's been great for us. We expect to have a full house."

She said that 500 seats had already been sold just three days after the mayor's criticism, and that some people seem to really hate Jane Fonda for some reason.

McNamara is campaigning for re-election, told the HARFORD COURANT to "Call me a conservative, but not a reactionary" for his statement. He said he objected to the speech "as an American and an anti-Communist," but that he wouldn't pressure the college to cancel the speech.

When he has done, according to a woman at the college's program council, says the school "We're spending tickets like crazy. Nobody knew Fonda was coming before. It's been great for us. We expect to have a full house."

She said that 500 seats had already been sold just three days after the mayor's criticism, and that some people seem to really hate Jane Fonda for some reason.

McNamara is campaigning for re-election, told the HARFORD COURANT to "Call me a conservative, but not a reactionary" for his statement. He said he objected to the speech "as an American and an anti-Communist," but that he wouldn't pressure the college to cancel the speech.

When he has done, according to a woman at the college's program council, says the school "We're spending tickets like crazy. Nobody knew Fonda was coming before. It's been great for us. We expect to have a full house."

She said that 500 seats had already been sold just three days after the mayor's criticism, and that some people seem to really hate Jane Fonda for some reason.

McNamara is campaigning for re-election, told the HARFORD COURANT to "Call me a conservative, but not a reactionary" for his statement. He said he objected to the speech "as an American and an anti-Communist," but that he wouldn't pressure the college to cancel the speech.

When he has done, according to a woman at the college's program council, says the school "We're spending tickets like crazy. Nobody knew Fonda was coming before. It's been great for us. We expect to have a full house."

She said that 500 seats had already been sold just three days after the mayor's criticism, and that some people seem to really hate Jane Fonda for some reason.

McNamara is campaigning for re-election, told the HARFORD COURANT to "Call me a conservative, but not a reactionary" for his statement. He said he objected to the speech "as an American and an anti-Communist," but that he wouldn't pressure the college to cancel the speech.

When he has done, according to a woman at the college's program council, says the school "We're spending tickets like crazy. Nobody knew Fonda was coming before. It's been great for us. We expect to have a full house."

She said that 500 seats had already been sold just three days after the mayor's criticism, and that some people seem to really hate Jane Fonda for some reason.

McNamara is campaigning for re-election, told the HARFORD COURANT to "Call me a conservative, but not a reactionary" for his statement. He said he objected to the speech "as an American and an anti-Communist," but that he wouldn't pressure the college to cancel the speech.

When he has done, according to a woman at the college's program council, says the school "We're spending tickets like crazy. Nobody knew Fonda was coming before. It's been great for us. We expect to have a full house."

She said that 500 seats had already been sold just three days after the mayor's criticism, and that some people seem to really hate Jane Fonda for some reason.

McNamara is campaigning for re-election, told the HARFORD COURANT to "Call me a conservative, but not a reactionary" for his statement. He said he objected to the speech "as an American and an anti-Communist," but that he wouldn't pressure the college to cancel the speech.

When he has done, according to a woman at the college's program council, says the school "We're spending tickets like crazy. Nobody knew Fonda was coming before. It's been great for us. We expect to have a full house."

She said that 500 seats had already been sold just three days after the mayor's criticism, and that some people seem to really hate Jane Fonda for some reason.
News briefs

Winhecon

Winhecon, a Home Economics club, will be meeting Oct. 2 at 6:30 p.m. in Thurmond 209 to discuss this year's theme, "Taking a new look at Home Economics," according to club reporter, Mary Dunlap.

Dunlap said that there will be four speakers for the meeting: Mr. Allen Houston, Textile, Clothing and Interior Design; Dr. Betty Stout, Home Economics Education and two graduate students.

"The purpose of the speeches will be to view future homemakers as professional and not just housewives," Dunlap said.

The membership drive for Winhecon is still in progress. Students should contact Mary Dunlap, 322-3127, for added information.

Phi Alpha Theta

The national honorary organization of Phi Alpha Theta will hold a meeting Tuesday, October 2 at 8:00 in Kinard. Attendance is invited to initiate new members and plan activities for the fall, Bruce McDaniell, president, announced.

Qualified members must have completed 12 hours in history and have maintained a 3.0 GPR in all history courses and an overall GPR of 3.0. All candidates must be approved by vote of Phi Alpha Theta members. Interested students should contact Bruce McDaniell, president at Ex. 4768.

Superintendent's Association

Dr. Jack Boger, Dean of Education, has announced a Full Conference Program for the South Carolina Association of School Superintendents, to be held at Winthrop College from Oct. 7 to Oct. 10 to discuss current issues in public education.

"This will be the first time the Superintendent's Association has met at Winthrop," said Boger. "This is done in connection with the 90th year celebration of the organization, which was founded by former Winthrop College President, D.B. Johnson."

Boger said that the four-day conference will host numerous speakers and present mini-workshop sessions in public education.

ASPA

ASPA will have a business meeting Monday, October 1, at 6:00 p.m. in the 1st floor conference room in Kinard, according to Richard Archer, president.

Archer said they will discuss the superior merit awards, future programs, and future meetings.

"All interested members are urged to attend," said Archer. "Members also need to bring their dues in order to meet the national deadline for chapters."

Psychology Club met

The Psychology Club met Monday, Sept. 23 to organize fall plans, according to advisor Dr. Sharon Tkacz.

Tkacz said that among topics discussed were Halloween Happening, trips, t-shirts, research and club officers.

"Our next meeting is Wednesday, Oct. 10 at 8:00 in 209 Thurmond,"

Pi Delta Phi sponsors trip

The Pi Delta Phi Honor Society will sponsor a trip to Queens College on Oct. 4 to attend a talk on the book PASTORIAL SYMPHONY by Andre Glide, according to Tom Shealy, faculty advisor.

Shealy said the bus will leave Dinkins Student Center at 7:00 p.m. The transportation is free. Any member of the society or any other student interested in the trip should contact Shealy as soon as possible.

Schorb Papers at archives

Ron Chepesiuk, archivist, announced that the John E. Schorb papers will be available for study in the Archives by anyone interested in one of the first commercial photographers in the United States.

The collection includes personal letters, newspaper clippings, and memorabilia about Schorb. "There are 187 tin-type, glass plate negatives and daguerreotype prints," said Chepesiuk.

According to Chepesiuk, Schorb began traveling as a photographer in 1842 through New York, New Jersey, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and South Carolina. "He was a chemist, mathematician, astronomer, poet and musician," Chepesiuk said.

Schorb studied at Hamilton College in Clinton, N.Y. under chemist/instructor Dr. Avery Avery, interested only in the chemistry, learned how to make photos from Daguerre of France. Schorb, assisting Avery, learned Daguerre's method of making prints by the sun.

Schorb settled in Yorkville (now Rock Hill) and in mid-1850 set up a studio. According to THE STATE newspaper, Columbia, S.C., 1960, his camera, if not the first, was one of the first used in America. Schorb's prints include common people, dignitaries, and many Civil War soldiers.

The Schorb papers were donated by Mary Kell Wade of Fort Lawn. Chepesiuk added that the collection may be used for research in the reading room of the Archives in Dacus Library.
OCTOBER 1, 1979

Rev. Moon marries off follower

New York, September 17 - Reverend Sun Myung Moon, head of the controversial Unification Church, in an apparent attempt to keep one of his devotees from being returned to her family, quietly married her off, violating his own strict rules concerning courtship and marriage, it was disclosed today in the current issue of McCALL'S, just published.

The newly married couple, Wendy Helander and Frank Fastiggi, do not live together.

In an exclusive, copyrighted interview in October McCALL'S, Mrs. Caroline Helander, mother of the bride, said that she had received a surprise phone call from her estranged daughter, telling of the marriage. "She didn't sound like herself," Mrs. Helander said. "It was Wendy, but it wasn't our Wendy." The Helanders have not seen their daughter, outside of a courtroom, for 8½ years.

Wendy Helander, whom Rev. Moon has publicly referred to as "a very important person, important because she is a symbol of our freedom and our rights and our cause," became engaged May 14 of this year. Just four weeks earlier she told a McCALL'S reporter that she was not "ready" for marriage since she was "preparing herself for growth to perfection." Wendy, then 28, was two years younger than the 24-years strictly required by the Rev. Moon to marry or become engaged. One month later she told the same reporter that she was now ready because Rev. Moon told her she was.

The controversy over the Moonie convert began in 1975 when her parents, Caroline and Elton Helander, attempted to retrieve their daughter from the cult after Wendy, then 18, quit school and gave away her possessions in order to join the Moon organization. The Helanders visited Wendy at that time and told McCALL'S that they had experienced firsthand "in a state of utter shock. Not only did we find complete suppression of thought, but we observed one young man leaving (a) lecture hall only to be chased after by five leaders and bodily dragged back into the room.

The Helanders twice attempted to "deprogram" their daughter, but failed. On one occasion Wendy escaped from her parents' home on a pretext and rejoined her "family." Presently she is the plaintiff in a $9 million lawsuit against the deprogrammers. Her parents are also named in the suit in order to restrain them "from further interference with the exercise of her civil rights and civil liberties."

Wendy Helander described McCALL'S the horror she felt at the hands of the deprogrammers. "They used filthy, absolutely filthy words. They kept me up thirty or thirty-five hours. ..." They brought in a big kitchen knife and said, "Wendy, you're killing yourself slowly, why don't you just get it over with?" Like they were taunting me. My parents didn't know this was going on. And if I told them they wouldn't believe me."

The Helanders told Ted Patrick, the deprogrammer, "Ted told us he used awful words. I wouldn't have approved if I knew he was going to say those things. But on the other hand he had to use shock treatment. Wendy isn't used in that kind of language, and he wanted to shock her into thinking, get her mad, try her anger, bring her out of it." According to Mrs. Helander, despite the deprogrammers, they had Wendy back. "Their home they were terribly harassed and threatened by members of the Unification Church." Moonies telephoned them at strange hours, they told McCALL'S. They received intimidating letters, and Moonies vans "freeently cruised past (our) door."

USAF may deceive

The U.S. Air Force Academy is engaged in a massive deception aimed at recruiting high school students, a former cadet charges in the October issue of McCALL'S.

To the surprise of most cadets and to many civilians, cadets do not routine- ly learn to fly planes despite Air Force Academy catalogues that claim "the mission of the Air Force is to fly. Since the total mission is based on flying, the aviation training you receive as a cadet is a significant part of your career preparation."

So disappointing is the reality of the Academy — in contrast to promises that "40% of the Class of 1980 has dropped out, says E.M. Porrazzo, who was cadet captain for his senior year when he dropped out.

"It costs $100,000 of the taxpayers' money to put each cadet through the Academy," he says. "Can we afford to allow the Air Force to continue with its present false advertising campaign?"

Porrazzo says that "Academy cadets don't learn to fly any aircraft in the Air Force inventory. In fact, the Academy will not let a cadet touch a clock on any flying machine — from a Curtis Jenny to a hang glider. "Tradition training" consists solely of demonstration flights aboard Demka aircraft.

A cadet who wishes to learn to fly must pay $1,000 to $3,000 of his own money to obtain a pilot's licence from a private school.

Promises of free time off the Academy grounds — or to roam the 18,000-acre campus of the Academy near Colorado Springs, Colo. — are routinely broken. In fact, cadets are routinely restricted to the 1,000-acre Academy campus area. Overnight absences from the Academy are severely limited. The result of false advertising and recruitment claims, writes Porrazzo, is an enormous drop-out rate at taxpayer expense.

"Remember that it costs $100,000 of your money to send each and every cadet through the United States Air Force Academy," he writes.

TJ/NEWS
Soccer team bows to powerful Carolina

BY DAVID JACKSON

After their blazing start of opening week, the Winthrop Eagle soccer team ran into some tough competition and suffered their first two losses of the season.

The Eagles lost to South Carolina 4-0 and Wilmington of Ohio 2-0 in their second week of play.

The word for the South Carolina loss was "disappointing." Although the Eagles were hardly expected to beat the highly regarded Gammeocks, the loss should not have been as lopsided as it was.

According to Coach Casada, three of USC's goals were gifts which resulted from defensive mistakes on the part of Winthrop.

South Carolina outshot Winthrop 24-11 and generally controlled the game throughout. The Gamecocks got three of their goals out of All-American Bryan Winstead.

Winthrop had several good opportunities to score in the game, yet were thwarted each time by good Gamecock goalkeeping.

The real difference between these two teams, according to Coach Casada, was passing. "Their passing game was much better than ours. We are going to have to concentrate more on our passing." Indeed, one poor pass led directly to South Carolina's first score.

Things got no better for the Eagles later in the week as they made a six-hour trip to Athens, Tennessee for the Superior Soccer Classic. Unfortunately, this tournament never took place. Rain on Friday, September 21, forced the cancellation of Winthrop's first round match with highly-rated Tennessee Wesleyan.

The next day, Saturday, September 22, Winthrop played Wilmington of Ohio, a team which had defeated the University of Alabama at Birmingham the day before in a match played before the rains came.

Wilmington, which is ranked 8th in NCAA Division II and has a record of 8-0, defeated Winthrop 2-0 in a game marred by miserable field conditions. The field was considerably muddy and sank into puddles of several inches in certain places.

The shots on goal during this game were even at 17, yet, according to Casada, the Eagles dominated the flow of the match. However, a lack of aggressiveness prevented them from scoring.

Both players and coach were disgusted at what could be considered a wasted weekend. The lousy weather (six recorded inches of rain) and the suspension of the tournament completely spoiled the trip.

Winthrop must not let these two losses get them down since defensive mistakes on the part of the Eagles are what led directly to South Carolina's success.

Winthrop will be in next week's line-up against Presbyterian and tough district matches. On Tuesday, Oct. 2, they will play Wofford at 3 p.m. (Photo by A.P. Copley)

Soccer co-captain Peter Fall gets ready to make his move on a Newberry defender. The soccer team returns home Tuesday, Oct. 2, to play Wofford at 3 p.m. (Photo by A.P. Copley)

Baptist will be in next week's line-up against Presbyterian and tough district matches. On Tuesday, Oct. 2, they will play Wofford at 3 p.m. at the Shack. The next day, they will host powerful Central Wesleyan at 5 p.m.
Hockey team has tough week

BY DAVID JACKSON

Ann Ellerbe suffered a frustrating debut week as Winthrop field hockey coach as her Eagles lost three straight shutouts.

The field hockey team was beaten by Catawba, 1-0; Virginia Tech, 4-0; and Davidson, 0-4.

Obviously, the big problem for Winthrop was defense. In the first game they did not even get off a shot. In the last two games, they have only managed to take four game shots and seven penalty shots (called "corners" in field hockey jargon). "We just can't seem to get the ball up the field," lamented Ellerbe.

The Winthrop defense (particularly goalie Lisa Ward) has played well except for one thing — they have committed too many penalties. In the three games of the other week, Winthrop's opponents were awarded 89 penalty corners. The Eagles suffered their first loss on September 14 at the hands of Catawba, 1-0. The Indians outshot WC 21-0 and got to take 25 penalty corners on the Winthrop defense. The one bright spot for Ellerbe's team was the play of goalie Lisa Ward, who had ten saves and seven penalty shots stopped.

Things got no better for the Eagles the next day, as they returned home to host Virginia Tech. The Gobblers raced on the Eagles 4-0, outshooting Winthrop 34-1 and establishing a 2-0 advantage in corner shots. Ward had nine saves, but could only do so much in the face of such an offensive barrage.

Winthrop lost its third game of the week on Monday, Sept. 24, as they fell to Davidson 0-4. The Wildcats led in shots on goal, 17-3, and penalty corners, 10-5.

"We're young and inexperienced, and it's going to take some time to get things together," said Coach Ellerbe. "But we're not discouraged, and we'll start to win soon."
WINTHROP BASEBALL TEAM TIES TWICE

BY DAVID JACKSON
Coach Horace Turbeville's Winthrop baseball team opened its fall exhibition season two weeks ago with a pair of ties.

The Eagles tied Spartanburg Methodist Junior College 8-8 in 14⅔ innings and the University of South Carolina Gamecocks 6-6 in 13 innings.

These exhibitions are being played just like a regulation game except that each team uses more pitchers and substitutes than it normally would.

The Spartanburg game was played out at the Shack on September 19. The game only went 14⅔ innings, thus Winthrop did not receive a final at-bat.

Turbeville used six pitchers in this contest, the most effective of which were starters Jamie Holt, Greg McLaurin, Kent Hoppenworth, James Pegler, and Jeff Gaskins (who faced six batters and struck out four of them).

The Eagles got good offensive production out of second baseman Tommy Nagel, who had a home-run and a triple; Todd Lewis, who went two for four; and designated hitter Lee Muse, who had two hits in three trips to the plate.

The next day, September 20, Coach Turbeville's club traveled to Columbia to take on the South Carolina Gamecocks, a team which has finished as NCAA runner-up in two out of the last five seasons.

Winthrop wound up in a 6-6 tie with Carolina after 13 innings. However, during the time in which the starters played (the first seven innings), the Eagles built up a 5-1 lead. After the regulation nine innings, the score was 5-3.

Offensively for Winthrop, third baseman Brian Brangi hit a two-run double in the Eagles' big four-run third inning. In addition, right fielder Russell Gady had four hits in six at-bats.

The seven Eagle pitchers included starter Bob Steer, Joe Nash, Buddy Thompson, Jamie Holt, James Pegler, Jeff Gaskins, and Kent Hoppenworth. Together, these seven yielded only one earned run to the Gamecocks.

This leads to Winthrop's big problem regarding this scrimmages—poor defense. The Eagles defense committed seven errors which contributed to five unearned South Carolina runs. This will have to improve before the regular season opens next March.

This week, Winthrop has only one game on tap. This afternoon, Oct. 1, they will host South Carolina in a rematch scheduled for 2:30.

—The intramural report—

SOFTBALL

The Saints, coached by Gary Stone, pushed to the lead of the National League Men's softball intramurals as they defeated both the PIKA's and Jim's at the Shack on Sept. 20 and 25, according to Mr. Evans Brown, director of intramural sports.

The Saints, 3-0 on the early season, overwhelmed the PIKA's 26-1 and edged Jim's 10-9 in the bottom of the last inning.

In other National League action, the Sixers trounced the PIKA's 24-17 to give them a 1-1 seasonal record.

In American League play last week, the Imported Ham's took the divisional lead with a 12-1 victory over the Staff which put the Ham's in front with a 2-0 seasonal record.

The Third Resurrection made its debut Sept. 7 as they overpowered the Connection 20-14.

The Pounders evened their record at 1-1 when they doubled the staff's offensive production with a 19-8 victory on Sept. 19.

The results and standings are as follows:

FALL SOFTBALL STANDINGS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>INTRAMURAL</th>
<th>AMERICAN LEAGUE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Saints</td>
<td>3-0 Connection</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PIKA</td>
<td>1-2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jim's</td>
<td>0-1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Staff</td>
<td>0-0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

THIS WEEK'S RESULTS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>3rd Resurrection: 20</th>
<th>Connection: 14</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Saints: 26</td>
<td>PIKA: 1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saints: 10</td>
<td>Jim's: 9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sixers: 24</td>
<td>PIKA: 17</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NATIONAL LEAGUE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>WOMEN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Saints: 8-0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sixers: 1-1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PIKA: 1-2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jim's: 0-1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

THIS WEEK'S RESULTS

| Saints: 26 | PIKA: 1 |
| Jim's: 9   |       |

SOUTHERN WOMENS SERVICES, INC.

"A Women's Health Agency"

- A Full Range of Women's Gynecological Services
- Free Pregnancy Testing
- Problem Pregnancy Counseling
- Abortion Counseling and Services
- Birth Control Services
- Trained Counselors
- Speakers Available for School & Civic Groups

24 Hour Answering Service
Call Toll Free 1-800-922-8750

Southern Womens Services
1614 Two Notch Road
Columbia, SC 29204

Local Phone 264-4368
Behind the scene

BY CYNTHIA SMITH

"While I was single, I used to fix students' dinner or let them come over and fix their own when they had time," comments Ronnie White as he takes a short break from his job as one of the cooks in Thomson cafeteria. Mr. White, fondly known to a number of students as Ronnie, is the head cook for dinner, which many students consider the main meal of the day.

Ronnie began as a cook's helper in Thomson 11 years ago. He trained under two men who were employed as cooks at the time, developed his culinary talents, and has since been promoted to the position of head cook.

Even though dinner is not served until 4:30 p.m., Ronnie has to begin preparation for the evening meal before noon. He states, "My hours are just like second shift." These hours are often extended, however, when there is an influx of students on days when "specials" are served. In his eleven years at Winthrop, Ronnie has grown accustomed to life as a full-time cook for two thousand students and does not seem to react under pressure. Even when the crowds seem to be unending, Ronnie just thinks of it as a race against time. "I always time myself when cooking," said Ronnie, "Focusing yourself helps to relieve pressure and makes the atmosphere more relaxed and easy going."

There's no doubt, Ronnie seems to be just as easy-going outside of his job as within it. With the increase in enrollment, however, Ronnie feels that not only has work become a little harder, but it is harder to get to know the students. "I used to get a chance to get out in the dining room and meet them (the students), but now it's steady work," said Ronnie. "I still meet a lot of brothers and sisters through their older brothers and sisters that were once here."

In these "short" eleven years Ronnie has seen many big changes occur on the campus. The biggest was coeducation.

"Before coeducation we were feeding around eleven hundred but since coeducation the number we feed has gone up something like a thousand," said Ronnie.

For Ronnie coeducation not only meant more mouths to feed but the expansion of Winthrop's athletic programs. Being an outdoorsman and a sports fan himself, Ronnie is a follower of the Winthrop Eagles. "Without our athletic program, I don't believe there would be as many students here," commented Ronnie. "I can't play the game (basketball), but I love to watch it," he added. Ronnie is also an avid baseball and golf fan. He feels only having to work one day of the weekend gives him more time to pursue these interests.

How do we feel about Ronnie? Ask your stomach! How does Ronnie feel about Winthrop? He summed it up in one short statement, "If I had to compare it to something, I've been here eleven years."
Seminars for small businesses

ROCK HILL — Seminars designed for small business owners and prospective owners will be held at Joyner Center for Continuing Education on the Winthrop College campus in October.

"Pre-Business Planning for the Small Business" is designed to answer basic questions before opening a business. Cash requirements, sources of assistance, bookkeeping, and specific topics of interest will be covered. The seminar will be held Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 1-2, from 7:00-8:30 p.m. at Joyner Center. The fee is $15.

"Basic Accounting and Record Keeping for the Small Business" will focus on developing accounting statements and effective accounting practices. Other topics will include managing receivables, payables, inventory, controlling cash flow, handling income taxes, and calculating their effects on business decisions. This seminar will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 3, from 7:00-8:30 p.m. in Joyner Center. The fee is $15.

OIL PRODUCTS
Gasoline is made from 18.2 gallons of every 42-gallon barrel of crude oil with tires and plastics being made from 1.51 gallons.

LARGEST EMPLOYER
The United States largest employer in a single location is the Los Angeles International Airport with 101,688 jobs.

SEMESTER IN SPAIN
Beginner or advanced. Study Spanish in beautiful Seville, Spain. Earn 2 full years college credit for about the same cost as a semester here.

Come experience the Old World with us in Spain. Fulfill your college requirements and have the time of your life in a tropical climate. Whether you're a beginner or advanced, you'll learn Spanish much better than you could in a conventional setting. Standardized tests prove it. Spanish isn't all you'll learn. You'll experience the culture, make lifetime Spanish friends, and see this part of the world. Our enthusiastic alumni write and tell us their semester in Spain was the highlight of their college career. Call us collect. We'll give you their names, addresses, and phone numbers to contact for yourself.

SEMINER IN SPAIN, 2442 East Collier S.E., Grand Rapids, Mich. 49506
Call (616) 942-2541 collect - - A program of Trinity Christian College

Let's Get Down to Bass Tacks

You'll feel your feet relax the minute you put them on. Soft leather in burgundy, dirty buck, or saddle, lots of other styles and a complete range of sizes. Bags, too. Be sure to ask about our new layaway plan.

the Cobbler's Bench

Step by Town Center Mall, Rock Hill
Ten thru Six Daily, Friday nights till Nine or CALL 323-2305

OCTOBER 1, 1979

News briefs

Drama auditions

Auditions for twenty-one roles in "Dr. Vanilla" and "Superchef," two separate plays, will be held October 3rd and 4th from 4:00 until 6:00 p.m. at John Hay Auditorium, said Dr. Christopher M. Reed, associate professor of drama.

"Superchef" is a framework of two of George Bernard Shaw's plays: "Devil's Disciple" and "Man and Superman." In "Superchef," Shaw himself is portrayed along with his company of actors, and they perform the two plays in condensed form, said Dr. Les Reynolds, associate professor of English. Les Reynolds wrote the framework for this show but stressed that it would be a collaboration of efforts by himself, Christopher Reynolds, and Blair Beasley, chairman of the drama department, along with help from the student director class.

"Auditions are open to all students, not just drama majors," Mr. Reynolds said.

Photo exhibition

"Perspectives," an R.J. Reynolds Industries photography collection, opened today at the Winthrop Art Gallery along with a picture series of the Cologne Cathedral in Germany, according to Edmund D. Lewandowski, chairman of the art department.

"The 64 Reynolds Industries photographs were selected and purchased from a collection of 1700 entries from throughout the United States; a very significant collection of 20th century photography," Lewandowski said.

The catalogue photographs commemorate the 100th anniversary of its completion, he said, a noteworthy occasion because it took 200 years of construction before the cathedral was finished.

The two shows will be on display through Oct. 24th.

Art students to tour museums

Forty art history students will visit two Greenville museums Thursday, Oct. 4, according to Paula Bradley, assistant professor of art history. The students, from Bradley's Renaissance-Baroque class, will tour the Bob Jones University Museum and the Greenville Museum.

"I feel it is very important for students to see original works of art when studying art history," said Bradley. The class will leave Rutledge at 8:00 and return at 5:30.

Winthrop Heritage Club

Winthrop Heritage Club, a club open to children and grandchildren of Alumni members, had a meeting Sept. 19 to introduce new members with the club and the old members, according to president Carrol Bruns.

"The Heritage Club is an organization that brings people with similar characteristics together," said Brunson. "Members were informed of the club's future projects. A Halloween booth and the Phonathon are two of the club's two projects." Miss Rauch, director of Alumni House, spoke to the club about the history of the Alumni House and the Heritage Club, said Brunson.

Brunson said, "The meeting went well with 50 students attending and 70 expressing an interest in the club."

If a student did not receive a notice for membership or didn't have time to save, she should come to Germany, according to Edmund D. Lewandowski, chairman of the art department.

"The 64 Reynolds Industries photographs were selected and purchased from a collection of 1700 entries from throughout the United States; a very significant collection of 20th century photography," Lewandowski said.

The catalogue photographs commemorate the 100th anniversary of its completion, he said, a noteworthy occasion because it took 200 years of construction before the cathedral was finished.

The two shows will be on display through Oct. 24th.

Winthrop Heritage Club

Winthrop Heritage Club, a club open to children and grandchildren of Alumni members, had a meeting Sept. 19 to introduce new members with the club and the old members, according to president Carrol Brunson.

"The Heritage Club is an organization that brings people with similar characteristics together," said Brunson. "Members were informed of the club's future projects. A Halloween booth and the Phonathon are two of the club's two projects."

Miss Rauch, director of Alumni House, spoke to the club about the history of the Alumni House and the Heritage Club, said Brunson.

Brunson said, "The meeting went well with 50 students attending and 70 expressing an interest in the club."

If a student did not receive a notice for membership or didn't have time to save, she should come to Germany, according to Edmund D. Lewandowski, chairman of the art department.

"The 64 Reynolds Industries photographs were selected and purchased from a collection of 1700 entries from throughout the United States; a very significant collection of 20th century photography," Lewandowski said.

The catalogue photographs commemorate the 100th anniversary of its completion, he said, a noteworthy occasion because it took 200 years of construction before the cathedral was finished.

The two shows will be on display through Oct. 24th.

Phi Upsilon Omicron

Phi Upsilon Omicron, a national honorary Home Economics club, chose the Rock Hill Attention Home for the club's national project for the 79-80 year, according to vice president Linda Baker.

Baker said that this home is for children with family problems. "There are children who have not been exposed to this home until the problem is worked out or until the child is placed in another home."

Baker said, "The club as a whole is very involved with this project and everyone seems to find it rewarding." Phi Upsilon Omicron's next meeting will be Oct. 15 in Thummond 210 at 6:00 p.m., said Baker. There will be a guest speaker.
Veterans eligible for benefits

Half of all veterans who served during the Vietnam War are still eligible for GI Bill education benefits, according to Veterans Administration statistics released today. Although 85 percent of the 9 million plus veterans of the Vietnam Era have used the GI Bill, VA estimates that more than five million are still entitled to some or all of the training they earned.

The estimate is based on the number of veterans who have not reached the tenth anniversary of their separation from military service when, by law, their GI Bill education rights expire.

"VA is eager that veterans know that training must be completed within this ten-year period," Administrator of Veterans Affairs Max Cleland said. "It is a waste to allow this valuable entitlement to slip by."

VA predicts that 887,000 veterans will lose their eligibility during the twelve-month period starting October 1, fiscal year 1980 for the federal government.

This is eligibility that could mean up to:
- 4.5 months of financial assistance for school or college, farm or on-the-job training, or a combination of school and job training;
- $725 in earnings a semester through VA's work-study program if the veteran is in college full-time;
- $825 tutorial assistance if the veteran is deficient in a required subject; and,
- $2,500 in low-interest direct loans an academic year, based upon financial need.

VA predicted the total number of trainees under the active WD will surpass the WWII number early in fiscal year 1981.

Fifty percent of WWII and 42 percent of Korean Conflict veterans used their GI Bills, VA estimates that by the end of 1984 more than half the veterans eligible today will have passed the ten-year benefit limit.

"While many have reached their educational goal and more than one million will train this year," Cleland said, "we urge veterans with entitlement to start a program early enough to complete it before time runs out."

Veterans in the midst of training lose their right to VA payments ten years after their separation dates and all activities under the current bill cease Dec. 31, 1989.

BRIEFS

Students who had material in the 1979 Student Art Show are requested to pick up their work 9:00-4:30, Mon.-Fri. in Rutledge.

The Psychology Club will meet Oct. 10 at 8:00 in 209 Thurmond to plan for the Halloween Happening.

ENERGY. We can't afford to waste it.

MONDAY-WEDNESDAY EACH WEEK!

15% OFF

ALL PIZZAS WITH COLLEGE ID

Comin' in for good...

Good Taco Pizza

Pizza Hut

1158 CHERRY RD. PHONE 366-1078
TOWNCENTER MALL
ROCK HILL
COMING SOON
Restaurant
and Discotheque
Let's go ride White Lightning

Put on your Whitshop t-shirt and join ten surrounding colleges in an "All College Day" at Carowinds on Saturday, Oct. 13 from 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Pass the dock and see students from Davidson, Wingate, and Barber-Scotia riding the "Carolina Streamliner." Look up and see students from UNCC, Queens, and Johnson C. Smith College riding the "Skytower." Look to the "Log Flume" and see drenched students from UNCC, Belmont Abbey, Sacred Heart, and Gaston Community College.

Spend the day on rides, playing games, browsing through gift shops, and listening to various college groups perform, but save some energy for the disco dance contest at 6:30.

Don't pass up this fun-filled day for only $4.50. Advanced ticket sales will continue through Oct. 13 at Dinkins Information Desk.

Iranian Cuisine

The Short Courses committee has scheduled a course in Iranian Cuisine on October 2. The class will meet in 200 Dinkins from 7-8. According to Amy Nichols, Short Courses chairperson, the class is free to the first 23 people with a WCID.

The instructor for the course is Foreign Student Advisor Tom Shewky, who according to Nichols, can cook "some interesting and delicious foreign foods. This course is one which any student interested in food should take."

Registration for the course is at the Dinkins Desk.

Disco Dancing

Short Courses is sponsoring a course in Disco Dancing. According to Short Courses chairperson Amy Nichols, the course will begin October 11 and finish November 16. "The course will cost $25 for singles and $35 for couples, and there is a 30 person limit. However, there is still plenty of room for more people, so please sign up," Nichols said.

The class will be taught by Jamison School of Performing Arts. Interested persons can sign up at the Dinkins Information Desk.

Carl Rosen

Carl Rosen returns to ATS on October 3 and 4. DSU President Ronnie Laffitte urges all students to "come to ATS around 9 p.m. and listen to Rosen."

Playing Top 40 and Disco, Rosen also includes many of Billy Joel's songs in his performance. Rosen is a member of the Charlotte based band "Wizard."

A Word From DSU

Do you want to have some fun and learn something at the same time? Why not sign up for a short course. According to Amy Nichols, Short Courses chairperson, there is a list of short courses for this semester at the Dinkins Desk. This list includes such courses as CFE, Counted Cross-Stitch, and Christmas Crafts, to name a few.

Nichols is concerned about the small response to many of the classes. "Many of the courses are free with a WCID, and those that have a fee are usually inexpensive. Don't say there is nothing to do until you have checked the list. Take a short course for fun."

The DSU staff urges students to participate in all the activities. There is almost always a short course or tournament or performer every week, sometimes several, according DSU wants to "Put U in the Union."

Two-Minute Warning

In just two terrifying minutes the lives of 91,000 people were changed forever!

TWO-MINUTE WARNING

DATE: October 1
TIME: 9:15 p.m.
ADMISSION: 50c WCID, $1 Guests
LOCATION: Amphitheater
is having a
GRAND OPENING PARTY
Wednesday, October 3rd
11 a.m. TO 11 P.M.
FREE DRAFT BEER WITH MEAL
FREE HOUSEWINES WITH MEAL
FREE TEA & SOFTDRINKS
LIQUOR--2 for 1!

ALONG WITH THESE SPECIALS
YOU CAN ALSO ENJOY ANY SANDWICH FOR $1.99
COME IN AND INSPECT SUCH SPECIALTIES AS:
THE ROOFER’S REUBEN  THE EARTH MOVER  THE SUB-CONTRACTOR  THE CONSTRUCTION
YOU TURKEY  PASTRAMI  BACON SLAB  SPAGHETTI  PIZZA  STEAKS
...AND MUCH MORE

BEST HAPPY HOUR IN TOWN
4-7

WE OFFER A 10% DISCOUNT TO ALL WC STUDENTS FROM 3–6 (on food only)