Students victims of senseless shooting

BY KELLY GORDON

“We were crossing the Sandwich Construction parking lot, and I sort of noticed a car out of the corner of my eye. I heard somebody holler, ‘Hey, boys,’ and when I looked over, I heard a boom and saw a flash of light.”

The “boom”: Steve Arnold heard and the flash of light he saw late last Friday night, Nov. 9, were accompanied by a volley of shotgun pellets which struck him on his upper body and face. Stray pellets also struck John Imholz, who was walking back to the Winthrop campus with Arnold.

Both of the Winthrop College students knew they had been shot at. Imholz said he started running around the building to escape more possible shots. Arnold, who was knocked down by the impact of the pellets, got up and started running back to campus to get some help. Arnold only made it to the other side of Cherry Road before he collapsed.

Both students were rushed to the emergency room of York General Hospital. Imholz did not have to be hospitalized and was released at 2:30 that morning. Arnold remained in the intensive care unit until Monday, and is now listed in satisfactory condition. Arnold sustained injuries in his left arm, a lung, and his face, particularly in his right eye. Dr. L.D. Bartel, Arnold’s ophthalmologist, is still uncertain if he will lose the eye.

Eighteen-year-old Raymond Boyd and 20-year-old David Dextile Robinson, both of Rock Hill, are charged with two accounts of assault and battery with intent to kill. They are also charged with three firearm-related incidents which took place shortly before the wounding of Arnold and Imholz at 11:30 p.m.

They are charged with malicious injury to an animal in the 11:15 p.m. shotgun killing of a German Shepherd.

They are also charged with assault with intent to kill for firing a shotgun at the window of Coleman’s Superette on Carolina Avenue at 11:35 p.m.

The third of the firearm charges occurred on the Winthrop campus shortly before the Arnold and Imholz wounding. Boyd and Robinson are charged with pointing a shotgun at Scott Johnson.

(Continued on page 20)

Soccer team district champs

BY DAVID JACKSON

The Winthrop Eagle soccer team had an incredible week as they captured the District Six championship and won the semifinal game of the NAIA Area V regional tournament. The 2-0 district championship victory over Erskine on Saturday, Nov. 10, was particularly remarkable in that it was played less than 12 hours after the shootings of Eagle players John Imholz and Steve Arnold (see opposite story).

Furthermore, this game was scoreless through 190 minutes of regulation and overtime and needed a professional-style shootout to resolve the issue.

The Eagles’ season did not end with the Erskine win as last Wednesday they defeated Berry College of Rome, Georgia, 2-1 in the NAIA Area V semifinals. Now with an overall record of 16-4-1, they were scheduled to play at the University of Alabama last Saturday.
Safety is your responsibility

The recent shooting incident of two soccer players, Steve Arnold and John Imbue, is further evidence, although in unfortunate fashion, of Winthrop's growth.

In my editorial in the Oct. 16th issue I lauded our good luck in that we lack the crime that usually comes with growing. I wonder what it would be like to avoid parties for fear of being shot.

I have been so much aware that thinking from such a secure position is foolishly. We all need to be on the lookout for a potential disaster.

The stunt worked well. I didn't need my warning. Driving around campus after dark recently, I noticed wary eyes turned my way with every student I approached. Although, I don't mean to stigmatize anyone, I believe that regarding each car as a possible danger is a wise defense against the unknown and unpredictable.

The real thing we can be thankful for is that Security is on the job. Two cars and one walking officer keep up a constant patrol of campus. The two students approached Friday evening near the Power Plant also thought my friend's suggestion prior to the shooting on Cherry Road were lucky that Security was around, but next time this may not be the case. The best defense is a good offense.

If you must cross campus after dark, please follow this advice offered by Chief Robert Williams of Security:

1. Go in pairs.
2. Carry a whistle.
4. Get the license plate number of a car which seems to be following you, or from which people are talking or shouting to you.

A Winthrop student who placed on Cherry Road probably could have not prevented it. It was a freak. But the fact that the same car from which the shots reportedly were fired was seen earlier on Winthrop campus should warn all students to be prepared in case of an emergency. Security's number is 2201. You may be thankful someday for remembering it.

Bonnie Jerdan

Just one big gripe session

Beth Tucker

I sure hope you guys appreciate this. It's not easy writing an editorial while my Dallas Cowboys lose.

I tell you, I can't get any respect around the homefront. I put in a good 8 hours of work every day, and expect to relax once I get home. But No-o-o, Seems like every T.V. program I want to watch conflicts with my mom's favorite show. Or else my stereo is too loud (L5 on a scale of 10) and my dad, who can't hear me when I'm right in his face, yells from the other end of the house to turn it down.

Anyway, there have been days when I could find no do at work was clean out my desk drawer and separate all the large paper clips from the small ones. Even so, I still have to sit there and an-

No-o-o, you see the point.粉末

To the Editor:

After reading Mr. Jackson's latest column, I began to wonder, if there could possibly be two Dr. Mary Roland Griffins at Winthrop College. After about one sec-

Dr. Mary Roland Griffin has been at Winthrop College for 13 years. She is a Winthrop grad-

In conclusion, Mr. Jackson, I would like to ask you several questions:

Did you speak with Dr. Griffin before this article was written?

Are the quotes you used genuine?

Where did you get the fig-

The Johnsonian published the article from which Jackson's quotes were taken. He arrived at his conclusions by Polishing his source, along with letters and speaking to friends of this college.

In conclusion, Mr. Jackson, I don't believe you've had this privilege. If you had, you certainly could not write such a column.

In conclusion, Mr. Jackson, I would like to ask you several questions:

Did you speak with Dr. Griffin before this article was written?

Are the quotes you used genuine?

Where did you get the fig-

The Johnsonian published the article from which Jackson's quotes were taken. He arrived at his conclusions by Polishing his source, along with letters and speaking to friends of this college.

In conclusion, Mr. Jackson, I don't believe you've had this privilege. If you had, you certainly could not write such a column.

In conclusion, Mr. Jackson, I would like to ask you several questions:

Did you speak with Dr. Griffin before this article was written?

Are the quotes you used genuine?

Where did you get the fig-

The Johnsonian published the article from which Jackson's quotes were taken. He arrived at his conclusions by Polishing his source, along with letters and speaking to friends of this college.

In conclusion, Mr. Jackson, I don't believe you've had this privilege. If you had, you certainly could not write such a column.

In conclusion, Mr. Jackson, I would like to ask you several questions:

Did you speak with Dr. Griffin before this article was written?

Are the quotes you used genuine?

Where did you get the fig-

The Johnsonian published the article from which Jackson's quotes were taken. He arrived at his conclusions by Polishing his source, along with letters and speaking to friends of this college.

In conclusion, Mr. Jackson, I don't believe you've had this privilege. If you had, you certainly could not write such a column.

In conclusion, Mr. Jackson, I would like to ask you several questions:

Did you speak with Dr. Griffin before this article was written?

Are the quotes you used genuine?
Previewing the war of 1979-80

Bob Ford

Okay. You can set aside all the unimportant stuff. The Iranian situation, tension in the Middle East, the recession, and the energy crisis can all take a back seat for now. Let trivial matters fade into the background.

It's time to talk about Atlantic Coast Conference basketball.

The most noticeable aspect of the ACC this year is the overall strength of the league. The ACC is awesome in its power, this is largely due to the great recruiting of 1976 and 1977 (Mike Gminski, Gene Banks, Mike O'Koren, Al Wood, Hawkeye Whitney, Clydie Austin, Frank Johnson, Jeff Lampe, Lee Baker, Albert King, and Billy Williams - a group which should produce several All-Americans in the next two years - were all recruited in those two years). North Carolina and Virginia are legitimate national title contenders, with Duke only a good bench away. N.C. State, Clemson, Wake Forest and Maryland lost three starters between them and probably could all win 20+ games playing in another conference.

As usual, television coverage will be excellent, especially when the conference schedule begins in January. An average of three or four ACC games a week will be shown winter.

Following is a team-by-team analysis of the ACC:

NORTH CAROLINA STATE: The Wolfpack has suffered disappointment since David (it's a bird... it's a plane...) Thompson graduated in 1975. Norman Sloan can recruit - evidence is the signing of Thurl Bailey, Sidney Lowe and Derent Whitberry - but defections, early graduations, and a lack of team play and team spirit have weakened the Wolfpack. Over the summer, most State Returnees stayed in Raleigh to work together. Listening to the players, it sounds like the team has returned to N.C. State. Look for them to make the NCAA.

Clemson: The "other" Bill Foster has a whole panel of players and a jumbled lineup. What is clear is that the Tigers have three superb guards in Clydie Austin, Joey Holmes, and Larry Johnson. Foster must get his act together.

Georgia Tech: Georgia Tech's first year as a full-fledged member of the ACC. Coach Larry Nance has lost his two best players and experienced a sorry recruiting year. Well, fellows, welcome to the ACC.

Virginia: Everyone knows about the Richmond and the Richmond. Cavanaugh and the Bulldogs are not to be underestimated. Jeff Lamp and Lee Baker, both back from All-ACC seasons. Lamp led the league in scoring and is a cinch to make All-America. Bounding out the ACC in 1979, and perhaps the NCAA.

Georgia Tech's first year as a full-fledged member of the ACC. Coach Larry Nance has lost his two best players and experienced a sorry recruiting year. Well, fellows, welcome to the ACC.

"Friends, getting a good education, and away from home.

Rosie Milligan-sophomore
Soccer team district champs—

(Continued from page 1)

for the area championship and the right to advance to next week's eight-team national championship tournament in Illinois.

The soccer team's epic week had started back on Friday, Nov. 9, with a 1-0 victory over Coastal Carolina in the district semi-final.

Tim Peay (with an assist from Carter Gonzales) scored the game's only goal with only five shots on goal.

Goal Patrol held the Chanticleers dominated by defense, partially Wimthrop's, as the No. Goal Patrol held the Chanticleers to only five shots on goal.

The Eagles went to bed that night eagerly anticipating the next day's final against Erskine, who had won their semi-final game 4-3 over WoFord.

However, this anticipation was broken by the mid-morning shootings of Imbolt and Arnold. Several of the players had early morning trips to the hospital, most of them did not get to bed until late and even then they did not get a whole lot of sleep.

A team meeting was held 11 o'clock Saturday morning and it was there that the unanimous decision to play was made.

The play they did, and it was quite a performance defentively. However, the offense could not manage to score and the game stayed deadlocked at zero through regulation and two overtimes, or 150 minutes worth of soccer.

Thus, the championship had to be decided by a shootout - a tie-breaking mechanism in which five players from each team alternate going one-on-one with the opposing goalie.

Keith Botvinik and Bahman Tehran of the Eagles had the first two shots for Winthrop while Bob Bowen blocked the Erkine attempts. Frankie Griffin and Tim Peay both missed their shots for Winthrop.

Bobby Aycock of Rock Hill, a former member of the Erkine and current member of the Winthrop Singers, was watching from the audience. He and his wife Marie noticed the smoke and went backstage. In the meantime, Steve Fox, a senior from Fort Mill who was once a Winthrop student fire marshal and is now a member of the Erkine, and Gill Davis, graduate student assistant for the Chanticleers, both left the stage and pitched in to help Aycock.

However, this anticipation was broken by the mid-morning shootings of Imbolt and Arnold. Several of the players had early morning trips to the hospital, most of them did not get to bed until late and even then they did not get a whole lot of sleep.

A team meeting was held 11 o'clock Saturday morning and it was there that the unanimous decision to play was made.

The play they did, and it was quite a performance defensively. However, the offense could not manage to score and the game stayed deadlocked at zero through regulation and two overtimes, or 150 minutes worth of soccer.

Thus, the championship had to be decided by a shootout - a tie-breaking mechanism in which five players from each team alternate going one-on-one with the opposing goalie.

Keith Botvinik and Bahman Tehran of the Eagles had the first two shots for Winthrop while Bob Bowen blocked the Erkine attempts. Frankie Griffin and Tim Peay both missed their shots for Winthrop.

Bobby Aycock of Rock Hill, a former member of the Erkine and current member of the Winthrop Singers, was watching from the audience. He and his wife Marie noticed the smoke and went backstage. In the meantime, Steve Fox, a senior from Fort Mill who was once a Winthrop student fire marshal and is now a member of the Erkine, and Gill Davis, graduate student assistant for the Chanticleers, both left the stage and pitched in to help Aycock.

However, this anticipation was broken by the mid-morning shootings of Imbolt and Arnold. Several of the players had early morning trips to the hospital, most of them did not get to bed until late and even then they did not get a whole lot of sleep.

A team meeting was held 11 o'clock Saturday morning and it was there that the unanimous decision to play was made.

The play they did, and it was quite a performance defensively. However, the offense could not manage to score and the game stayed deadlocked at zero through regulation and two overtimes, or 150 minutes worth of soccer.

Thus, the championship had to be decided by a shootout - a tie-breaking mechanism in which five players from each team alternate going one-on-one with the opposing goalie.

Keith Botvinik and Bahman Tehran of the Eagles had the first two shots for Winthrop while Bob Bowen blocked the Erkine attempts. Frankie Griffin and Tim Peay both missed their shots for Winthrop.

Bobby Aycock of Rock Hill, a former member of the Erkine and current member of the Winthrop Singers, was watching from the audience. He and his wife Marie noticed the smoke and went backstage. In the meantime, Steve Fox, a senior from Fort Mill who was once a Winthrop student fire marshal and is now a member of the Erkine, and Gill Davis, graduate student assistant for the Chanticleers, both left the stage and pitched in to help Aycock.

However, this anticipation was broken by the mid-morning shootings of Imbolt and Arnold. Several of the players had early morning trips to the hospital, most of them did not get to bed until late and even then they did not get a whole lot of sleep.

A team meeting was held 11 o'clock Saturday morning and it was there that the unanimous decision to play was made.

The play they did, and it was quite a performance defensively. However, the offense could not manage to score and the game stayed deadlocked at zero through regulation and two overtimes, or 150 minutes worth of soccer.

Thus, the championship had to be decided by a shootout - a tie-breaking mechanism in which five players from each team alternate going one-on-one with the opposing goalie.

Keith Botvinik and Bahman Tehran of the Eagles had the first two shots for Winthrop while Bob Bowen blocked the Erkine attempts. Frankie Griffin and Tim Peay both missed their shots for Winthrop.

Bobby Aycock of Rock Hill, a former member of the Erkine and current member of the Winthrop Singers, was watching from the audience. He and his wife Marie noticed the smoke and went backstage. In the meantime, Steve Fox, a senior from Fort Mill who was once a Winthrop student fire marshal and is now a member of the Erkine, and Gill Davis, graduate student assistant for the Chanticleers, both left the stage and pitched in to help Aycock.
Iranian students defend their country

BY PENNY THERRELL

"The Shah is not human; he's animal."

This was a statement made by Shahab Lavasani in an interview that he and Bagher Sebteahmedl, a fellow Iranian student, had with the Rock Hill Evening Herald on Nov. 9 concerning the Iranian and U.S. conflict.

"Why does President Carter care about one foreigner when he should be concerned with his own people?"

Lavasani, who had with the Rock Hill Evening Herald on Nov. 9, said that they couldn't believe the Shah when he was killing the people, so now they should support the Iranian government and help them to get justice.

Lavasani and Sebteahmedl said that they couldn't believe the Iranian students were holding the Americans hostage in exchange for the Shah being sent out of the United States. However, they also said they felt it was probably the best thing. They said it would show the world how much contempt the people of Iran felt for the Shah.

When asked why they felt it was probably the best thing, they replied that it would show the world how much contempt the people of Iran felt for the Shah. Lavasani said that American television does not give a true picture of the Shah, the Americans do not really know what he is like.

"The Shah is not human; he's animal," added Sebteahmedl in disgust.

When asked if they felt that the Shah was an evil man who had robbed and killed many people and deserved to be sent back to face the people and his punishment, both men replied that they didn't feel that there were enough of them on the campus to group together and that the American students didn't watch the news and weren't well informed on world matters to cause any trouble.

Lavasani is from the city of Tehran and has been in the United States for 23 months. Sebteahmedl is from Sveh and has been in the states for 18 months. There are 19 Iranian students presently enrolled at Winthrop.

Omega Psi Phi holds achievement week

The Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Psi Kappa Chapter, held its first annual Achievement Week Nov. 5-11, according to Dr. Mary Jeffers, member of the fraternity.

On Tuesday Kelley Alexander Jr., NAACP National Board Member, spoke to a group of approximately 15 students and faculty, said Teasdell. Alexander spoke on the accomplishments and ambitions of black Americans, his personal encounters in the line of peace and equality, and what the students could do today to better help themselves. He also urged students to exercise their right to vote. Special guests at the program were Dr. Mary Littlejohn, Professor of Men's Studies, and Reverend Risher at the program.

Teasdell said, "The most coveted award of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity would like to thank all students, faculty and friends for their support in making its first Achievement Week a success."

PARTS PLUS

name brands you trust

FULL LINE OF REPLACEMENT PARTS FOR YOUR CAR-TRUCK-TRACTOR SMALL ENGINE
WE ALSO HAVE PARTS IMPORTS

CHERRY ROAD AUTO PARTS, INC.
366-3105
1459 CHERRY RD.
ROCK HILL, S.C.

10% discount to Winthrop students & employees with WC I.D.
Ensemble series to be held

BY BECKY ALLEN

The Winthrop Concert and Jazz Ensemble will perform in Byrnes Auditorium at 6:00 Thursday, Nov. 29th, as part of the School of Music Ensemble Series.

The program will be in two parts. The Concert Band, conducted by William Malamert, will play the first half, and Dr. David Franklin will direct the Jazz Ensemble in the second half. Admission is free and open to the public.

Malamert encourages all students on campus "to come and hear their band," and promises a "program of quality."

The Concert Band will play five selections including a piece guest conducted by Major Jim Smith of the United States Army Reserve and director at Spartanburg Senior High School. Smith was past president of South Carolina Music Educators Association.

The first half of the program will feature JERICHO RHAPSO-DY by Morton Gould. This piece features the trumpet section playing antiphonally and is based on JOSHUA FIT THE BATTLE OF JERICHO.

Franklin is very pleased with the progress of the Jazz Ensemble. "This semester began with a number of freshmen in the group," said Franklin.

The Ensemble program includes current and classic pieces in jazz and big band styles. "What we try to do with the band is perform not only contemporary big band literature but provide classic historic literature for the education of the people in the band and the audience as well," said Franklin.

SALE!

2 for $1.00

Health and Beauty Aids

Shampoo  Nail Polish  Lotion  Mouthwash

Any 2 for lighter fluid only $1.00

NOW at the Winthrop College Store

Dinkins Student Center
N-dump closures threaten to halt nukes

"We don't have any problem now because we only ship this stuff twice a year," says Paul De Luca, a research scientist at the University of Washington. "But in six months, we'll have a problem."

He's not alone. Universities all over the country that do nuclear research or use radioactive materials have no place to dispose of their nuclear waste since two of the nation's three commercial nuclear dumps were closed last month.

Dumps at Hanford, Washington and Beatty, Nevada, were closed in the wake of a joint letter from Washington Governor Dixie Lee Ray, Nevada Governor Robert List, and South Carolina Governor Richard Riley to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC). The letter warned they'd close the dumps if the NRC didn't clamp down on packaging and transport of radioactive waste.

Ray and List carried out their threats in October. Now Riley of South Carolina has threatened to close the dump at Barnwell, S.C.

The closing at Barnwell would only make a bad situation worse, since the Hanford and Beatty closings have already left most schools without a place to dispose of their nuclear waste.

Most campuses report they have some limited room to store waste until the dumps re-open, but many research efforts have been slowed to cut down on waste production. Thus far only one research program has been severely restricted by the closures.

"Right now we're stopped," Paul De Luca of the University of Wisconsin told the CHRONICLE OF HIGHER EDUCATION. "We've been stopped for three or four weeks, and if something doesn't happen pretty soon, I'm not sure what we'll do."

De Luca, a physicist, has been involved in cancer research using a "fast" neutron generator, the only one of its kind in the nation. De Luca's work was stopped when the University of Wisconsin's quota of tritium -- a radioactive isotope -- had been filled. The NRC regulates the amount of radioactive material any university may have at one time.

But De Luca's problem is unusually severe. Most campus research projects are being continued, even though some are concerned about incoming storage problems.

At Purdue the disposal of radioactive trash is contracted out to Atomic Disposal Co., an Illinois firm that sent Purdue's last shipment of waste to the Hanford site in Washington.

"We can hold out about three months," Dr. Richard Vetter, assistant radiological control officer at Purdue said. "Then we will have to go back to the university for more space."

Dr. Vetter explained that Purdue ships out about 400 cubic feet of radioactive trash every three months, at a cost of about $10,000 a year to the university. Most of the waste is blood, bone, syringes, and animal carcasses, all of which are stored in a Quonset hut a mile from campus.

"I don't perceive this as a technical problem. It seems to be more of a political problem," Vetter observed, "if the NRC can insure safe disposal and transport, I think Washington and Nevada will open right up."

The big concern at health-related nuclear programs is that patients needing radiological treatments will soon be turned away.

"If an of these things fall into place," Governor Ray replied, "then I think we can say we will make the site available, particularly for nuclear medicine waste."

Governor Ray did announce last week that she may open the Hanford site if federal officials crack down on sloppy waste shipment practices.

Chairman Joseph Hendrie said the NRC is stepping up inspections of interstate waste shipments, and will be "pressing enforcement and inspection responsibility very hard."

If all of these things fail into place," Governor Ray replied, "then I think we can say we will make the site available, particularly for nuclear medicine waste."

If you missed Bob Lacey and Moira Quinn, you can catch a glimpse of them at Winthrop on the Nov. 28th and 29th PM Magazine. (Photo by Tim Hartis)

The Sandwich Construction Company

Winthrop students bring your ID and get 10% off any sandwich Monday-Saturday and also receive your choice of soft drink, draft beer or house wine FREE.

Now you can also enjoy your 10% discount during Happy Hour! 4-7 p.m., Monday-Saturday. 10-12 p.m., Friday & Saturday. Come and enjoy the best food, beverages, and atmosphere at Rock Hill's newest, most unique restaurant!
P.E. professor receives honor award

(FAO Release)

Martha Sue Taylor, associate professor of physical education at Winthrop, has received the 1979 Honor Award from the South Carolina Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation (SCHAFFER).

Taylor was the only recipient of the award this year. SCHAFFER presents the award to members who have exhibited outstanding service in the field of physical education, health, and recreation. Recipients are selected by the board of directors.

Self-study surveys

BY TIM HARTIS

Two self-study surveys, institutional goals inventory (IGI) and student reactions to education, will be submitted on campus the week following Thanksgiving, according to Dr. Bill Murdy, professor of psychology and chairman of the Self-Study Survey Committee.

IGI, conducted at random by mail, will involve 160 Winthrop employees from the areas of Arts and Sciences, professional schools, Board of Trustees, Academic Administration and Services Administration.

"The Institutional Goals Inventory is an instrument designed for colleges and universities to help them define their educational goals, establish priorities among these goals, and give direction to the present and future planning," said Murdy.

The survey suggests 90 possible institutional goals which are rated on a five-point scale. It will be conducted by the Self-Study Survey Committee, consisting of Dr. Murdy, Dr. Bill Sheperd, assistant professor of business administration-management, and Dr. Gerald Perslasy, associate professor of business administration-management.

SRC will be conducted on 250 freshman, sophomores, juniors, seniors, and grad students by the Student Development Committee and the Student Advisory Committee under the direction of Dr. Carol Anfinson, assistant professor of elementary education and chairperson of the Student Development Committee.

The purpose of the SRC is to help administrators and faculty members understand the needs and wants of students so that programs and services may be made more responsive to those needs," said Murdy.

Four principle student life areas will be covered by the SRC: processes of instruction, program planning, administrative affairs, and out-of-class activities.

College graduates

BECOME A LAWYER’S ASSISTANT.

- Program approved by American Bar Association.
- Day or evening classes available.

A Representative from The National Center for Paralegal Training’s Lawyer’s Assistant Program will be on campus on Friday, Oct. 5, from 9:00 a.m. to noon at the Placement Office to meet interested individuals. For more information, contact the Placement Office or The National Center for Paralegal Training, 3336 Peachtree Rd., NE, Suite 430, Atlanta, Georgia 30326, (404) 269-1063.

Please send this information about a career as a lawyer’s assistant.

Name
Address
City
College
Year Grad.

CSPRING Day
SUMMER Day
CFTAL Day

May 19 - May 20
June 21 - July 10
July 11 - Aug. 10
Aug. 11 - Sept. 10
Sept. 11 - Oct. 10
Oct. 11 - Nov. 10
Nov. 11 - Dec. 10
Dec. 11 - Jan. 10

THE NATIONAL CENTER FOR PARALEGAL TRAINING
3336 Peachtree Rd., NE
Atlanta, GA. 30326
404/269-1060

Science

Fast, accurate typing of term papers, reports, resumes, letters, and much more for only pennies per page!

ALL PAPERS ARE TAILORED TO YOUR SPECIFICATIONS.

Weekends: Call anytime.
Weekdays: Before 9:30 a.m. or after 5:30 p.m.

Phone 328-0763 today
Springs show under fire

BY TIM HARTIS

The controversial 21st Annual Traveling Art Show opened Thursday, Nov. 15, in the Rutledge Art Gallery, according to Edmund D. Lewandowski, chairman of the Art Department.

The 40-piece exhibition by Carolina artists was selected by Ira Licht, director, Lowe Art Museum at the University of Miami and Jane Livingston, associate director of the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., from 864 amateur and professionals' works.

Mike Kampen, Charlotte Observer art critic, recently directed criticism at Springs Mill's show saying that "the judges have created a highly questionable collection that will be generally accepted as the best art being produced in the Carolinas."

Livingston responded in the Observer saying that "Ira and I came to an honest agreement. The show is varied, arresting and lively; in short, it is not boring."

Since the first Springs Art Show in 1959, drawing 147 entries and offering a $500 first prize, the show has grown to more than 1300 easel paintings, graphics, paintings and drawings on paper, mixed media and sculpture in 1977 competing for $6000.

Of this year's best-of-show easel painting, "Joseph Detective: With Rainbow And Moon" by Paul Hartley, East Carolina University art professor, Kampen said, "I do not find it sufficiently imaginative to be included in the traveling show, much less cany the best-of-show honors."

Winthrop art faculty have expressed similar, but milder, views toward the show. "This exhibition is a highly personal selection of work expressing the art taste of the jurors. It fails to show a more comprehensive range of work currently being done by the established artists of the Carolinas," said Lewandowski.

David Freeman, associate professor of art, said, "I feel that it is an extremely unusual and varied exhibit. The jurors selected a few very fine pieces, but I feel that the inclusion of a large number of pseudo-primitive works weakens the quality of the exhibition as a whole."

The Springs Traveling Art Show can be seen Monday-Friday, 9:00-4:30 and Sun. 2:00-5:00 through December 1.

News briefs

Registration time near

Early Registration for second semester 79-80 will take place in McBryde Hall November 28, according to Jane Tucker, director of Records and Registration.

Each presently enrolled undergraduate and graduate student excluding December graduates will receive registration packets the week of November 10.

December 1979 graduates should go to the Admissions Office if they intend to return to Winthrop for further study.

Tucker said that students needing assistance in planning their programs should consult their advisors November 12-16, or at times set up by their respective academic divisions.

Greek show to be held

A Greek show featuring various sororities and fraternities on campus will be held Wednesday, November 28, at 6:00 in front of Byrnes Auditorium, according to Janet Adams, president of Zeta Phi Beta, the sorority sponsoring the event.

"The purpose," said Adams, "is to bring the Greek organizations together." Adams said that the show is open to the campus and will feature pep songs, sweetheart songs, and "steps" of the participating sororities and fraternities.

BSU presents musical

"Part the Waters, Lord," a musical by Charles Brown will be presented Thursday, November 29 at 6:00 at the Baptist Student Union, said Dena Lucy, Baptist Student Center secretary.

"The choir consists of Baptist Student Union members who enjoy singing contemporary sacred music," said Lucy. "The choir will be directed by Sandra Tapp, a junior majoring in social work. The program is open to all Winthrop students."
A BUNFUL OF WAYS TO SAVE A BUNDLE AT RAX

TWO FOR ONE
Buy one Rax roast beef sandwich at the regular price and get your second sandwich free with this coupon.

30¢ OFF BIG RAX
Buy a Big Rax roast beef sandwich and save 30 cents.

30¢ OFF RAX 'N FRIES
Buy a Rax roast beef sandwich and an order of our crispy fries and save 30 cents.

SAVE 50¢ ON A RAX PLATTER
Order our delicious Rax roast beef sandwich, crispy fries and our endless salad and save 50 cents. Offer not good at pick-up window.

SAVE 30¢ ON BARBECUE AND FRIES
Buy a wowie Barbecue sandwich and our crispy fries and save 30 cents.

We couldn't make our delicious Rax specialties any better tasting. So we made them better buys. As you'll discover when you redeem these coupons in the restaurant or at our speedy pick-up window. Rax. You said a bunful. And now you'll save a pocketful, too.

RAX. YOU SAID A BUNFUL.

RAX RESTAURANTS
Eagles gear up for their sophomore season

BY DAVID JACKSON

As the Winthrop Eagles embark upon the second season of existence, there is only one thought on each member's mind — Kansas City. Kansas City is to NAIA (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics) basketball players what Mecca is to a Moslem. It is the holy grail of NAIA basketball, the place where 31 district champions and a wild card team go every year to play for the national championship.

Last year, the Winthrop Eagles came within two games of the national championship game. Winthrop, the No. 1 team in the country, was defeated by Francis Marion University 75-74 on a buzzer-beater in last minute of last season. That loss went down in history as the biggest upset in NAIA basketball.

For a close up review of this season, here are some comments we recorded from the coach and players together with a complete statistical review of last season and a 1979-80 schedule.

A talk with Coach Gordon

Editor's Note: In order to get an overall perspective on the upcoming campaign, The Johnsonian took its tape recorder to the office of head coach Skip Goley.

TJ: First of all, what is your opinion on the controversial last minute of last year's district championship game?

GORDON: In the confinement, I honestly didn't hear what had taken place. After sorting out everything the next day, I found out that the basket we scored at the end (Ronnie Creamer's dunk) could have counted, but it was the judgment of the official that we had taken a time-out before the basket was made. Therefore, I accept that as all part of the game.

TJ: Mentally getting over this season, are you going to change anything about the style of play this year?

GORDON: Yes, we're going to go into a delay game. I want my players to do what they did last year. I think the intensity of the guards will enable me to concentrate on the basketball season. Also, having my assistant coach, Skip Goley, helps me tremendously. Without him, I couldn't go with the teams which have proven themselves like USC-SPARTANBURG, USC-Alumni, and the College of Charleston.

TJ: Do you like being the favorite?

GORDON: Yes, I definitely would rather be cast as the role of the No. 1 team because it is a tribute to our program and our players realize they will have to perform at their very best each and every night they play.

TJ: Finally, does being athletic director district you from your basketball coach?

GORDON: I try not to let it be a distraction. If anybody tells you that there is not a lot of work involved with trying to do these two jobs at once, they've never done it before. However, having a good staff of people working within the Athletic Department enables me to concentrate on the basketball season. Also, having my assistant coach, Skip Goley, helps me tremendously. Without him, I couldn't go with the teams which have proven themselves like USC-SPARTANBURG, USC-Alumni, and the College of Charleston.

TJ: Are you worried about the pressures of the first season?

GORDON: No, I think the pressures of the first year were so great that I'm really looking forward to a more relaxed ball club this year. Those pressures had a lot to do with our inconsistent play of last season. That shouldn't happen this year.

TJ: One thing to worry about is injury and it has already taken its toll. Are you worried about theItemization of last season? That shouldn't happen this year.

TJ: One thing to worry about is injury and it has already taken its toll. Are you worried about theItemization of last season? That shouldn't happen this year.

TJ: Finally, does being athletic director district you from your basketball coach?

TJ: One thing to worry about is injury and it has already taken its toll. Are you worried about theItemization of last season? That shouldn't happen this year.

TJ: Finally, does being athletic director district you from your basketball coach?

GORDON: I try not to let it be a distraction. If anybody tells you that there is not a lot of work involved with trying to do these two jobs at once, they've never done it before. However, having a good staff of people working within the Athletic Department enables me to concentrate on the basketball season. Also, having my assistant coach, Skip Goley, helps me tremendously. Without him, I couldn't go with the teams which have proven themselves like USC-SPARTANBURG, USC-Alumni, and the College of Charleston.

TJ: Are you worried about theItemization of last season? That shouldn't happen this year.

TJ: Finally, does being athletic director district you from your basketball coach?

GORDON: I try not to let it be a distraction. If anybody tells you that there is not a lot of work involved with trying to do these two jobs at once, they've never done it before. However, having a good staff of people working within the Athletic Department enables me to concentrate on the basketball season. Also, having my assistant coach, Skip Goley, helps me tremendously. Without him, I couldn't go with the teams which have proven themselves like USC-SPARTANBURG, USC-Alumni, and the College of Charleston.

TJ: Are you worried about theItemization of last season? That shouldn't happen this year.

TJ: Finally, does being athletic director district you from your basketball coach?

GORDON: No, I think the pressures of the first year were so great that I'm really looking forward to a more relaxed ball club this year. Those pressures had a lot to do with our inconsistent play of last season. That shouldn't happen this year.

TJ: One thing to worry about is injury and it has already taken its toll. Are you worried about theItemization of last season? That shouldn't happen this year.

TJ: Finally, does being athletic director district you from your basketball coach?

GORDON: No, I think the pressures of the first year were so great that I'm really looking forward to a more relaxed ball club this year. Those pressures had a lot to do with our inconsistent play of last season. That shouldn't happen this year.

TJ: One thing to worry about is injury and it has already taken its toll. Are you worried about theItemization of last season? That shouldn't happen this year.

TJ: Finally, does being athletic director district you from your basketball coach?

GORDON: No, I think the pressures of the first year were so great that I'm really looking forward to a more relaxed ball club this year. Those pressures had a lot to do with our inconsistent play of last season. That shouldn't happen this year.
Donnie Creamer, one of the famous twins, is a 6'10" Center from Williamston (or Anderson), S.C. He was Winthrop's only all-district performer last season, averaging 17 points and 8.8 rebounds per contest.

Ronnin CREAMER, a 6'11" junior from Gable, S.C., will start at the other guard. Last season, Ronnie averaged 12.0 points a game to become one of the team's three double figure scorers along with Donnie and Ronnie Creamer. His great performances during the playoffs last season made him an all-tournament selection along with Riese. Bennie was also one of four regulars to hit over 50 percent of his shots from the field.

TJ: You started most of last year except for a period during which you were replaced by Gerald McAfee. Did not starting bother you?

R. CREAMER: It's true.

TJ: Do you feel like your summer in Australia has helped your game significantly?

R. CREAMER: Yes and no. It helped my talent, but no, I played a lot this summer that I got a little tired of basketball. I've got to get my enthusiasm back.

TJ: In what specific areas do you feel like you've improved?

R. CREAMER: Fouls shooting is the most. Also, not fouling as much. I also think I'm going to cut down on my turnovers this season.

Gerald McAfee is the fourth of Winthrop's very talented guards. A 6'2" sophomore from Charlotte, N.C., who played center for North Mecklenburg High School, McAfee started 11 games at guard last season and averaged 6.1 points per game (including 14 in one game against Coker). His 56.2% field goal percentage was the team's second best, while his 52.2% mark from the free throw line led all Eagles.

TJ: You're the only left-hander on the squad. Does being a southpaw give you any special advantages?

McAfee: Yes, one main advantage is that I can play a little better defense and get a few more blocks on right-handed players because I don't have to reach so far over to check them.

TJ: You started at one of the guard spots for Winthrop, just as he did for most of last season. Not a big scorer (only a 6.8 average last year), Riese was the team leader in assists (5.2) and steals (4.0) per game. He and guardman Bennie Bennett were on the all-tournament team during the District playoffs last March. As evidenced by this interview, Riese is not a big talker.

TJ: Do you have any special secrets to your playing defense and coming up with so many steals?

Riese: Well, Bobby Griffin helped me a lot with it back at Newberry.

TJ: How many shots per game do you anticipate taking this year?

Riese: Oh, about in the 30's or 40's this year.

TJ: No problems.

Riese: No, probably about 5 or 6.

TJ: Does it bother you that the offense is so big man oriented?

Riese: Sometimes, but that's the way the coach wants it.
RAXTER: We only started one game last year. What are your feelings about coming off the bench?

RAXTER: Well, it's an advantage in that you can come in fresh and take advantage of some other guys. But it hurts you because you're kind of stiff. You've just got to be ready to play at all times.

HUSBAND: I'm 6'5" and that's not good, but I've improved. I've also worked on my passing and going strong to the boards for rebounds.

RAXTER: I've worked on my shooting. I wasn't too good of a shooter last year and I'm still not that good, but I've improved. I've also worked on my passing and going strong to the boards for rebounds.

HUSBAND: I'm 6'5" and that's not good, but I've improved. I've also worked on my passing and going strong to the boards for rebounds.

RAXTER: I've worked on my shooting. I wasn't too good of a shooter last year and I'm still not that good, but I've improved. I've also worked on my passing and going strong to the boards for rebounds.
Last Year's Results & Statistics

Overall record: 25-10; Home 13-5, Away 12-5; District 21-9

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NAME</th>
<th>G/GS</th>
<th>MIN/AVE</th>
<th>FG/FGA</th>
<th>PCT.</th>
<th>FT/FTA</th>
<th>PCT.</th>
<th>REB/AVE</th>
<th>FF/D</th>
<th>A</th>
<th>BK</th>
<th>TS/AVE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>R Creamer</td>
<td>25-24</td>
<td>1022-29</td>
<td>276-594</td>
<td>472</td>
<td>45-72</td>
<td>.625</td>
<td>308-8.8</td>
<td>139-14</td>
<td>117</td>
<td>38</td>
<td>597-17.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D Creamer</td>
<td>32-31</td>
<td>935-29</td>
<td>199-467</td>
<td>488</td>
<td>45-80</td>
<td>.562</td>
<td>266-8.3</td>
<td>101-4</td>
<td>65</td>
<td>22</td>
<td>493-13.8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bennett</td>
<td>34-27</td>
<td>992-29</td>
<td>169-332</td>
<td>501</td>
<td>73-101</td>
<td>.722</td>
<td>115-3.3</td>
<td>86-1</td>
<td>157</td>
<td>17</td>
<td>411-12.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schmieding</td>
<td>24-15</td>
<td>522-21</td>
<td>77-171</td>
<td>450</td>
<td>23-10</td>
<td>.656</td>
<td>75-3.1</td>
<td>58-2</td>
<td>55</td>
<td>17</td>
<td>179-7.3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>35-33</td>
<td>946-27</td>
<td>95-189</td>
<td>502</td>
<td>48-70</td>
<td>.685</td>
<td>109-3.1</td>
<td>102-4</td>
<td>184</td>
<td>19</td>
<td>238-6.8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Raxter</td>
<td>14-46</td>
<td>531-16</td>
<td>79-172</td>
<td>459</td>
<td>29-35</td>
<td>.828</td>
<td>72-2.8</td>
<td>51-0</td>
<td>69</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>175-6.1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>McAfee</td>
<td>28-11</td>
<td>591-18</td>
<td>72-139</td>
<td>656</td>
<td>5-18</td>
<td>.277</td>
<td>81-4.0</td>
<td>32-0</td>
<td>29</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>93-4.6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gibson</td>
<td>20-14</td>
<td>326-16</td>
<td>44-104</td>
<td>423</td>
<td>28-47</td>
<td>.595</td>
<td>45-1.7</td>
<td>37-1</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>102-3.9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Feemster</td>
<td>26-1</td>
<td>279-10</td>
<td>37-76</td>
<td>480</td>
<td>33-49</td>
<td>.573</td>
<td>101-2.9</td>
<td>28-0</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>127-3.7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ours</td>
<td>32-2</td>
<td>356-10</td>
<td>47-110</td>
<td>427</td>
<td>29-43</td>
<td>.674</td>
<td>61-1.9</td>
<td>33-1</td>
<td>64</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>95-2.9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hampton</td>
<td>26-0</td>
<td>198-7</td>
<td>35-58</td>
<td>.569</td>
<td>6-14</td>
<td>.271</td>
<td>28-1.0</td>
<td>9-0</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>74-2.8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hudson</td>
<td>35</td>
<td>51-4</td>
<td>0-1</td>
<td>.000</td>
<td>2-9</td>
<td>.222</td>
<td>3-0.2</td>
<td>9-0</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>2-0.1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adcock</td>
<td>3-0</td>
<td>6-2</td>
<td>0-1</td>
<td>.000</td>
<td>0-0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0-0</td>
<td>0-0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0-0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Statistics and photos courtesy of Sports Information Director, Andy Solomon, and the Public Affairs Office (PAO)
Tour a foreign country

BY LORI RIDGE

Have you ever wanted to tour a foreign country, like France, for instance? Sure it's expensive, and maybe you don't speak a second language, but don't put the idea completely out of your mind. There is a way you might enjoy the various sites of France without learning French and with little or no comprehension of the language.

Winthrop's Modern and Classical Language Department is presenting a series of 15-minute filmstrips, shown every Tuesday in the third floor language lab (327-A) of Withers, between 4 and 5 p.m. One filmstrip per week is repeated four times during the hour, and each filmstrip, narrated in French, provides some insight to aspects of the French culture.

Two more filmstrips will be shown before the end of this semester. They are entitled, "Voila les Parisiens," to be shown November 27, and "Noel," being shown December 4.

The language lab is run primarily by student language majors. Freshmen Fred Powell and Joyce Davis, both French majors, claim that their jobs as language lab assistants have proven to be academically beneficial, "This is my way into the Language Department," Fred says, "It can get pretty hectic, there's almost always something to do. One of the biggest advantages is that we can always listen to our lessons on tape while we're working."

Joyce explained what it is that lab assistant does, "We run audio-visual equipment and change recordings on tape," she said. "Basically, we are just responsible for calling for anything from operating expensive equipment to running errands to insuring equal athletic opportunity for women's sports apply only to scholarships, but not recruiting, equipment, travel, and publicity budgets, as HEW has proposed.

ACE Vice President Robert Atwell told the organization's convention here that Harris would make HEW's proposed equal per capita spending rule for women's sports apply only to scholarships, but not recruiting, equipment, travel, and publicity budgets, as HEW has proposed.

Atwell's suggestion is the latest cease-fire proposal in this war over how to apply Title IX of the Higher Education Amendments of 1972, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of gender to intercollegiate athletics.

The debate has been intensifying this year as the date of HEW's long-awaited "policy interpretation" approaches. The interpretation will, in effect, regulate the ways colleges run athletic departments.

HEW has asked several groups for comments before it makes up its mind. The U.S. Civil Rights Commission, in a reversal of its own prior opinion, reported in August that it favored mandating equal per capita spending.

Harris is also thought to favor the spending approach to insuring equal athletic opportunity to women.

Claire Guthrie, an ACE attorney, says ACE is trying to convince Harris "to take a look at a different emphasis. We'd ask that universities be held strictly to a standard of equal per capita financial aid." For male and female athletes. The areas would be "comparability but necessarily matching spending dollar for dollar."

Guthrie speculates that Harris favors the new compromise. But it may not be up to Harris after all. Atwell says Harris will withhold any policy announcement on the controversial sports issue until other legislation clears Congress.

By the time Congress passes current higher education legislation, however, the new U.S. Department of Education may be operational. In that case, the matter would be referred to the new department.

HARRIS weighs compromise on spending

Have you ever wanted to tour a foreign country, like France, for instance? Sure it's expensive, and maybe you don't speak a second language, but don't put the idea completely out of your mind. There is a way you might enjoy the various sites of France without learning French and with little or no comprehension of the language.

Winthrop's Modern and Classical Language Department is presenting a series of 15-minute filmstrips, shown every Tuesday in the third floor language lab (327-A) of Withers, between 4 and 5 p.m. One filmstrip per week is repeated four times during the hour, and each filmstrip, narrated in French, provides some insight to aspects of the French culture.

Two more filmstrips will be shown before the end of this semester. They are entitled, "Voila les Parisiens," to be shown November 27, and "Noel," being shown December 4.

The language lab is run primarily by student language majors. Freshmen Fred Powell and Joyce Davis, both French majors, claim that their jobs as language lab assistants have proven to be academically beneficial, "This is my way into the Language Department," Fred says, "It can get pretty hectic, there's almost always something to do. One of the biggest advantages is that we can always listen to our lessons on tape while we're working."

Joyce explained what it is that lab assistant does, "We run audio-visual equipment and change recordings on tape," she said. "Basically, we are just responsible for calling for anything from operating expensive equipment to running errands to insuring equal athletic opportunity for women's sports apply only to scholarships, but not recruiting, equipment, travel, and publicity budgets, as HEW has proposed.

ACE Vice President Robert Atwell told the organization's convention here that Harris would make HEW's proposed equal per capita spending rule for women's sports apply only to scholarships, but not recruiting, equipment, travel, and publicity budgets, as HEW has proposed.

Atwell's suggestion is the latest cease-fire proposal in this war over how to apply Title IX of the Higher Education Amendments of 1972, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of gender to intercollegiate athletics.

The debate has been intensifying this year as the date of HEW's long-awaited "policy interpretation" approaches. The interpretation will, in effect, regulate the ways colleges run athletic departments.

HEW has asked several groups for comments before it makes up its mind. The U.S. Civil Rights Commission, in a reversal of its own prior opinion, reported in August that it favored mandating equal per capita spending.

Harris is also thought to favor the spending approach to insuring equal athletic opportunity to women.

Claire Guthrie, an ACE attorney, says ACE is trying to convince Harris "to take a look at a different emphasis. We'd ask that universities be held strictly to a standard of equal per capita financial aid." For male and female athletes. The areas would be "comparability but necessarily matching spending dollar for dollar."

Guthrie speculates that Harris favors the new compromise. But it may not be up to Harris after all. Atwell says Harris will withhold any policy announcement on the controversial sports issue until other legislation clears Congress.

By the time Congress passes current higher education legislation, however, the new U.S. Department of Education may be operational. In that case, the matter would be referred to the new department.
Historic Withers

BY MICHELE HAULTER

Sarah Craig and Elizabeth Stowe of York County nominated Withers Building, located on the Winthrop College campus, to the National Register of Historic Places, which is the national official list of Cultural Resources Worthy of Preservation, on Oct. 30, the opening meeting of the York County Historical Society at the Police John Center.

According to Stowe, the Historical Society crowded into the Center with such large numbers extra seating was needed to accommodate all present.

"A nomination is no easy matter," said Stowe, "for the register blank is quite complicated and extremely detailed." The bulk of the research was done by Sarah Craig and Elizabeth Stowe, both formally of the Winthrop Training School. Lewis Cook and Walter Schra-der also contributed much time and effort to complete the register blank.

Withers, previously known as the Winthrop Training School, was named after Miss Sarah Withers who was the principal of the training school from 1903 to 1917.

Withers, said Stowe, is subdivided into three sections, with its middle part being the oldest building on campus, dating back to 1892. The Tower gymnasium, in back, was one of the earliest built gymnasiums in South Carolina. It was later renovated in 1951 and is still in use today. The front part, modeled after Hampton Court Palace, in England, is Tudor Gothic structure. The front was completed in 1912 with its massive tower rising 110 feet above ground level.

The Winthrop Training School began in Columbia, S.C. in 1896 by David Bancroft Johnson as an answer to his dream of educating women to become qualified teachers, said Stowe. The training school's first home was a small one-room carriage house in Columbia and loaned to Johnson by the Columbia (Presbyterian) Theolog-ical Seminary. In 1896, the building was brought brick by brick to Winthrop and now is located behind the music hall.

Johnson, after receiving some financial assistance, began looking for a city in which to build his training school. Rock Hill outbid several other cities, including Greenville and Spartan-burg, by offering money, land, and brick.

The training school was a major factor in establishing the Winthrop Normal and Industrial College of South Carolina. The training school officially opened in 1913 with the purpose of practical training of teachers for South Carolina schools. The Winthrop Training School, according to Stowe, was the first place South Carolina and Southeast superintendents came to employ teachers.

The training school was a part of Rock Hill school system through it was operated by Win-throp College. The school consisted of grades starting at kindergartens and ranging to the twelfth grade (which was added in 1948-49). The Trustees in the 1912 annual report said, "The training school is the very heart of professional and practical training for which the Normal School exists as to strengthen and perfect the work of the college." The training school also served as a preparatory school for those women unable to enter college due to the lack of school facilities in their communities.

This institution was the first college for women in South Carolina and one of the first in the Southeast, according to Stowe. The training school discontinued grades seven through twelve in 1955-56. The school was later closed in 1968 when it was converted into a classroom building. Dr. Charles S. Davis, then president of Winthrop, said of the conversion, "the expanding number of students engaged in the practice of teaching, of which only a small proportion can be accommodated at the training school, has made it necessary for such steps.

According to Freeman, the course will consider the food situation from several perspectives including nutritional needs, environmental aspects of food production, implications of population growth, effects of political decisions, economic policies and historic developments, the present status of U.S. food policies and the ethics of food assistance and choices.

Students interested in further information about course content and organization may call Dr. Freeman at 323-2111 and students interested in information concerning registration and costs may call the Winthrop Admissions Office at 323-2191," Freeman said.

Korean martial art

Winthrop will offer a new course this spring, "Introduction to Tae Kwon Do, the Korean Martial Art," according to Ron Chepesluk, head of Special Collections, Dacus Library.

"Tae Kwon Do is a sophisticated combination of Karate, Aikido and Jeet Kun and emphasizes endurance, discipline and self-control," Chepesluk said. A preregistration demonstration will be held in room 106, Peabody Gym, Nov. 26 at 6:30 p.m.

The one-hour credit course, numbered PE 205, will be offered through the Kim School of Tae Kwon Do, Mr. Ju Ilun Kim, 7th degree black belt, director.
Campus rapes appear to be increasing

BY HELEN CORDES

(CPS)—The assailant got in through an open ground floor window of the building and confronted the 22-year-old University of Alabama woman in her bedroom. He finished, tied her arms with her bathrobe belt before forcing her out of the apartment and into a nearby university storage building. He raped her, and ran off into the night.

That August rape was, depending on who is talking about it, either the first or the 15,000-student Tuscaloosa campus since 1971, or just the most recent in a dramatic upsurge of sexual assaults. University Police Chief Twin Fields calls it an abhorrent campaign against — the growing pulses, and even the concern through an open ground floor window of the dorm apartment.

The University of Alabama said in 1976-77. Rape statistics would therefore suggest that the UD campus is a relatively secure one, though a good walk home at night might have other feelings. Richard Tarrer of UD Security adds that, and are certain not to thoroughly publicized as rape. The distinction does little to alleviate the risk to, or ease off minds of, female students.

At the University of Delaware, where conservative estimates of the problem, and rape are not the same. Sexual assaults are not tallied in the FBI Index, and are certainly not as thoroughly publicized as rape. The distinction does little to alleviate the risk to, or ease off minds of, female students.

A wide variety of rape prevention tactics have also been employed, as of recent. They include posters urging coeds to walk in pairs, and only in well-lighted places. Escort services. Such programs were immediately after attacks, but soon seem to wane. Escort services on some campuses have closed up this fall for lack of calls.

Female students seem to be less enthusiastic about student-inflicted or student-run protection measures. More frequently are they presuing universities themselves to provide adequate security. "Take Back The Night" demonstrations have now occurred on both coasts. There have been petitions asking that student fees be diverted to security.

And before the August rape in Tuscaloosa, another Alabama student had successfully sued the Wesley Foundation, a religious organization near campus that rents its houses to students. The woman was raped by a person who had entered her apartment through a locksmith window. Her attorney, Joel Sogol, says the foundation knew about the absence lock, but concealed it from the victim.

Decisions to file charges for rapes are usually based on the July, 1976 suit filed by singer Connie Francis, who was awarded $2.5 million because a Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge had been negligent in providing security that might have prevented her rape.

On November 19, 1979

PAGE SEVENTEEN
Professor of the week: Sharon Tkacz

BY LORI RIDGE

If you are taking any courses in psychology, chances are that you have heard of or have taken a spatial ability test that was used by a Winthrop professor in her dissertation and research. The professor is Dr. Sharon Tkacz, instructor of psychology, and this is her first semester at Winthrop.

Originally from Cleveland, Ohio, Tkacz attended Bowling Green State University in Ohio where she earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology and Math, plus a Masters and Ph.D. in Psychology. She specializes in Cognitive Performance and Sex Differences, particularly in light of Spatial Ability, a topic she says is interesting but hot; a lot of people misinterpret the data. Spatial Ability is the measurement of an individual's ability to perceive and recognize objects at different orientations in space, and the test results tend to show a correlation with stereotyped masculinity and femininity.

Tkacz currently teaches Introduction to Psychology, undergraduate Development, and graduate Development courses. Next semester, instead of teaching graduate Development, she will conduct a course entitled Psychology of Women. Tkacz said, "My work is a big interest to me. It is not difficult to keep up with it to learn about any new developments and findings." She also said that while she is here at Winthrop, she would like to continue her research "to find and explain the reasons for the apparent sex differences in spatial ability and cognitive development.

Tkacz believes that motivation plays a key role in understanding and applying study material. Referring to students in general, she said, "I can see that some people don't apply what they learn and learn to think about how they think and study. People can be motivated, but they can exert their energy the wrong way." Tkacz also said that in her opinion, "some people going to college don't know why they're there. I think that once you get out of your parents' home you need to motivate yourself."

In applying this principle to herself and to her career, Tkacz said she thinks that if she hadn't entered the teaching profession, she would have devoted herself to research in the same field. "I think you should have a job that is interesting and fun," she said, "and not necessarily one that pays more. Psychology teachers can learn more about myself as well as about others."

Aside from her career and research, Tkacz enjoys "sewing, macrame, crochet, knitting... and all the things I just don't have time for," she says nonchalantly.

Tkacz has previously taught at Bowling Green State University and at Central Piedmont Community College in Charlotte. She is currently serving a temporary contract with Winthrop. Tkacz said that she was influenced to come to Winthrop because her husband, who is also a psychology professor, worked here. "It isn't often that a college or university has positions on its staff that are filled by a married couple," she said. "We're very lucky and happy to be working here together."

In conclusion, Tkacz said that if anyone is interested in doing some research for credit in psychology, they should contact her in the afternoons on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, office 500-K Thurmond, extension 2117.

ANTIQUE & GARDEN SHOPPE

USED FURNITURE—ANTIQUES—COLLECTIBLES

609 CHERRY ROAD  327-4858  ROCK HILL, S.C.
Campus Days...

"I spent my freshman year looking for a parking space."

The Joseph Schlitz Brewing Company certifies Schlitz to be a beer of uncompromising excellence, expertly brewed using only pure water, the very finest barley malt, and select hops and grains. Every drop carefully aged and chill-lagered for superior quality.

Schlitz makes 'em great.
Winthrop picked to win district

BY DAVID JACKSON

GREENWOOD—The Winthrop Eagles, in their second year of existence, have been chosen to take this year's NAIA District Six Championship. The poll was held in a poll conducted among the league's coaches.

Andy Holston, the district secretary and publicity chairman who doubles as Sports Information Director at Winthrop, made the announcement at the district's annual pre-season basketball press conference Sunday.

Last season, Niel Gordon's Eagles finished with a 20-10 record and came within a single point of winning the district's championship, losing in the final seconds to Central Wesleyan, 76-74. Every player from that WC team returns this season.

Winthrop is followed in the poll's Top 10 by, in order of votes received, Lander, Coastal Carolina, Newberry, USC-Allen, Francis Marion, Central Wesleyan, Limestone and the College of Charleston (which tied for seventh), Presbyterian and Erskine. Allen, USC-Alken, Coastal Carolina and Lander received no votes and Wofford also received votes for the district's initial Top 10.

With the exception of the College of Charleston, all of the above teams appear on Winthrop's 1978-80 schedule.

Most of Sunday's press conference was devoted to short previews of columns of this season's district teams by the individual coaches. A portion of the program involved a meeting between the league's coaches and the district's referees in which various rules changes were discussed and referee assignments for the coming season were handed out.

A recent theme heard from the league's coaches was the tremendous improvement of play which the district has experienced since it was formed in 1969. The loop's dean of coaches, Erskine's Mack Wallace, went so far as to say that "this will be the best, biggest, and most competitive year we have ever had in District Six." He was backed by Coastal Carolina's Ross Bergman who added his opinion that "there are at least 10 teams that could win the district this year."

One of the major reasons for this year's show of strength is the fact that so many teams are returning veteran ball players. For example, in addition to Winthrop, Francis Marion, Presbyterian, Wofford and USC-Alken return all of the players from last year's team. Presbyterian and Wofford defeated Winthrop last year.

In addition, five teams (Lander, Erskine, Newberry USC-Alken (all of whom defeated the Eagles at least once last season), and Coastal Carolina) lost only one or two players from last season's squad.

Another major factor behind the district's rise in quality of play is the improvement in the league's coaches. Bergman commented that this year's district has "the best coaches we've ever had in the league since I arrived five years ago. The super job they have done in recruiting and coaching is comparable to any league or conference in the nation."

The district's new found optimism, confidence and enthusiasm was dramatically brought out by Francis Marion's Lewis Hill who boldly said that "we have finally caught up and passed many other schools in the country, including District 26 in North Carolina," (which sent four different teams to the NAIA national finals four years during this decade).

Gordon echoed Hill's sentiments by claiming that "the Daniel Ratlings (which are used to determine District 6 standings) still put us about 10 points behind."

The Winthrop basketball team will get a chance to prove this comparative thesis when it participates in the Charlotte WBTV Classic, Dec. 5-8, with nine other North Carolina small college teams.

Among the exciting players which the district is banking on to make this a banner year include Winthrop's Ronnie and Donnie Creamer and Rick Elise; Central Wesleyan's Kenny Walton; Don Dixon of Erskine; Francis Marion's Robert Moore; James Hill Clinton Cobb and Alfonso Harrison of Lander; Newberry's Dwayne "Snake" Nisollar; Presbyterian's John Turner and George Crippen; USC-Alken's Jack Norris and Terry Frazier; USC-Spartanburg's Wendell Gibson; Voorhees' Mark Hilton; Wofford's Ronnie Harris and Allen's Calvin Davis.

Sunday's press conference also served to introduce the district's three first-year coaches: Charleston's John Kresse, Limestone's Gene Hastings and Larry Wall of USC-Alken.

Kresse comes to the College of Charleston with impressive credentials, serving several years in assistant coach to Lou Carnescente with the old ABA's New York Nets and St. John's University which advanced to the NCAA quarterfinals last season.

Wall, who will be in his first year at USC-Alken, is also an interesting study. He had a very successful nine years as coach at North Greenville College, taking several teams to the National Junior College Tournament. Last year, he won 23 games in his only season at Cumberland College in Kentucky.

At Erskine, Wall inherits a team that returns seven people from last year's playoff team which lost in the district quarterfinals by a basket to eventual champion Central Wesleyan. In addition, he has added four men who had played for him two seasons ago at North Greenville, including Stickland, a Junior College All-American. However, the most significant addition at Alken will be a toughie—the Lancers host league favorite Winthrop on Saturday, Nov. 17.

For more information about this upcoming season, turn to our special section.

Sharon Dixon reaches up to return one during a recent volleyball match. The Eagles recently finished second in the state AIAW Division II championship tournament. (Photo by Tim Hartis)

Winfield's Bobby Stratton of the NAIA District Six Championship the next day.

Richardson, another Winthrop student.

Police Captains Howard Dover said that Boyd and Robinson face maximum 20-year sentences on each charge of assault and battery with intent to kill.

Coincidentally, both Arnold and Imholz are members of the Winthrop soccer team which was scheduled to play the NAIA District Six Championship the next day.

Several members of the team said that right before the game began, Coach John Cassada told them Arnold had heard that the team had considered cancelling the match. Cassada said that Arnold had telephoned and said he wanted the team to play and "play to win." The team began the game with tears in their eyes and three hours later were signing the game ball they had won to present to Arnold.

(Continued from page 1)

Due to the overwhelming success of the Nov. 7 Q Party, Rockbeater's presents at the request of WROQ yet another WROQ PARTY with J.B. and Q-ROO.

Wednesday, Nov. 28, 8 p.m.
$1.95 cover charge
25¢ special beverage
J.D. Hughes again on display (with beard) 9-10 p.m.

CATCH A GOOD HOLIDAY!
Volleyball team grabs second

BY DAVID JACKSON

The Winthrop volleyball teams experiences against the College of Charleston this season have been awfully frustrating. Twice during the regular season, they lost to the Cougars in matches that were really not that close and in which the Eagles did not play well at all. Winthrop also played Charleston last weekend in the South Carolina AIAW Division II championship tournament in Florence. They played much better in these two matches, yet again lost each. However, it was not a totally lost weekend for Elaine Mozingo's volleyball Eagles. They won five other matches and finished second behind Charleston in the tournament, thus still earning a trip to the AIAW Division II Southern regionals in Martin, Tennessee.

The Nov. 9-10 weekend's work upended Winthrop's seasonal record to a very impressive 37-4. All four losses have been at the hands of the College of Charleston Cougars. As for her team's performances against Charleston, Mozingo said, "We played very good against them in the tournament, both matches went to three games. We know we can beat them, because we have beaten them three games in the matches we've played against Charleston." Winthrop may well get another shot off Charleston in the regional tournament.

Winthrop opened up the AIAW Division II championship pool play on Friday, November 9, and recorded three easy wins.

*They whipped the Presbyterian Blue Hose 15-3, 15-7; South Carolina State 15-5, 15-7; and Baptist College 15-3, 15-7.

*Three times they put them into the championship pool the next day.

The Eagles opened up its play on Saturday with a tough match against Francis Marion. Then came Charleston.

The Eagles lost this first match to Charleston 10-15, 15-10, 15-6. However, they rallied to beat Francis Marion 15-11, 10-15, 15-3 to clinch at least second place. They could still win the title if they could beat the Eagles. But it was not to be as Charleston came out to a 2-0 lead in the third. These three wins put them in the championship pool the next day.

The Eagles opened up its play on Saturday with a tough match against Francis Marion. Then came Charleston.

The Eagles lost this first match to Charleston 10-15, 15-10, 15-6. However, they rallied to beat Francis Marion 15-11, 10-15, 15-3 to clinch at least second place. They could still win the title if they could beat the Eagles. But it was not to be as Charleston came out to a 2-0 lead in the third.

Winthrop opened up the state tournament with pool play on Friday, November 9, and recorded three easy wins.

*They whipped the Presbyterian Blue Hose 15-3, 15-7; South Carolina State 15-5, 15-7; and Baptist College 15-11, 15-10.

*Three times they put them into the championship pool the next day.

The Eagles opened up its play on Saturday with a tough match against Francis Marion. Then came Charleston.

The Eagles lost this first match to Charleston 10-15, 15-3, 15-7 over host team Francis Marion. Then came Charleston.

The Eagles lost this first match to Charleston 10-15, 15-3, 15-7 over host team Francis Marion. Then came Charleston.

The Eagles lost this first match to Charleston 10-15, 15-3, 15-7 over host team Francis Marion. Then came Charleston.

The Eagles lost this first match to Charleston 10-15, 15-3, 15-7 over host team Francis Marion. Then came Charleston.

The Eagles lost this first match to Charleston 10-15, 15-3, 15-7 over host team Francis Marion. Then came Charleston.

The Eagles lost this first match to Charleston 10-15, 15-3, 15-7 over host team Francis Marion. Then came Charleston.

The Eagles lost this first match to Charleston 10-15, 15-3, 15-7 over host team Francis Marion. Then came Charleston.
COOL IT!
RENT A
REFRIGERATOR

Larger Capacity
Choice of Sizes
Immediate Service or Exchange

CALL AND RESERVE YOURS TODAY!

HALF YEAR  FULL YEAR

TO ORDER:
CALL SGA, Ext. 2179
1-5 P.M.

RENT AT PRORATED RATE
Christmas crafts short course

With the season to be jolly just around the corner, Short Courses is offering a class in Christmas Crafts. Taught by a member of the Rock Hill Department of Parks and Recreation, the class will meet November 19, 26, and December 3.

The class will last from 7-9 p.m. and will be held in 220 Dinkins. There is a $2.50 fee which will cover materials. All interested persons must have a WCID and sign up at the Dinkins Information Desk. A 20-person limit has been set for the course.

Josh White concert

The Dinkins Program Board proudly presents Josh White, November 28 in Tillman Auditorium. Admission to the 8 o'clock concert is a WCID, $1 for guests. According to Ronnie Laffitte, DSU president, White is one performer "you won't want to miss. He has a unique style which makes you want to see him again and again."

Laffitte said White's music is a mixture of folk, pop, blues, and gospel, all accompanied by six- or twelve-string guitars. A powerful yet sensitive performer, White blends his vocal and instrumental abilities with unique comedy to produce a concert of quality beyond compare.

Laffitte also announced that the questionnaires handed out at the door will serve a dual purpose—to evaluate past concerts and dances in hopes of learning how to allocate money in the future, and to serve as a raffle ticket. The raffle portion will be used to select a door prize winner. The S25 prize will be awarded after the concert. Only one questionnaire per person will be accepted.

ATS presents Martha Holder

ATS will move to the sounds of Martha Holder, a Winthrop graduate from Fort Mill, on November 30 and December 1. DSU president Ronnie Laffitte claims that Winthrop should be proud to have a performer like Holder as "one of our own."

Holder performs popular music by performers like Janis Ian, as well as her own compositions, from laid back to light and breezy. This former Windthropian can be seen for a mere WCID.

ATS presents Martha Holder

Time:
9:15 p.m. Date: Nov. 26

Place:
Tillman Auditorium

Price: 50¢ with WCID,
$1 for guests

9 P.M.
Nov. 30-
Dec. 1
The Budweiser Ski Sweater

(Top drawer all the way!)

Presenting the official red Budweiser Ski Sweater. A warm, soft, washable 100% Orion acrylic creation that looks and feels like a million bucks. But it's just $30.00 postpaid.

Allow 4 weeks for delivery. Void where prohibited by law.

BUDWEISER SKI SWEATER
Anheuser-Busch Gifts • P.O. Box 24297 • Houston, Texas 77029

I want to buy a Budweiser Ski Sweater.

Enclosed is $30.00 (check or money order) for each Budweiser Ski Sweater indicated below:

Mock turtle neck only style available.

(Texas and Florida residents add applicable sales tax.)

S (36-38) □ M (40-42) □ L (44) □ XL (46) □

NAME
ADDRESS
CITY/STATE □ ZIP

(Allow 4 weeks for delivery. Void where prohibited by law.)