Two thousand three hundred (2,300) members of the Christmas Savings Club of the Peoples National Bank will receive checks from their year's savings in the Club, aggregating $85,000.

With practically all manufacturing industries in York County running full time, December payrolls amounting to several hundred thousand of dollars, added to the amounts of the two sources above men-

How fine it is to know that the people of York
County are sticking to their home merchants more now than ever before. They are fast learning that the taxes paid by business concerns and industries into the town, county and state treasuries go a long ways toward maintaining our schools and colleges, employing hun-dreds of teachers, both men and women. These business concerns, industries, Duke Power Company, and railroads traversing the County pay into the tax treasuries large amounts for our streets, highways and public expenses.

Let us be loyal to our York County and South Carolina merchants and industries who are having such a large part in making all of these things possible. We cannot help others without helping ourselves a good thing to remember when shopping time comes.

Seniors Prefer B. S. Degrees; Y and Church Secretaries Conduct Majority On High School Level

The majority of the 1939-40 seniors prefer a B. S. degree d choose to teach on the high school level, a study from the Registrar's office shows. Commerce is the favorite subject of those seeking the B. S. degree and English is the choice of the candidates for an A. B. degree, the study reveals.

Commenting on the trend toward high school level preferences, Superintendent O. M. Mitchell points out three reasons why students may prefer such a place in the teaching field: (1) higher salaries, (2) more prestige in the town. (8) the greater case of teaching one or two subjects as compared with the broader field in the elementary school.

The following tables make up the complete tabulation made by the Registrar's office:

Rockefeller and College authorities, students, aliumnea, and State, fell far short of the lowest construction bid, which called for a "building located on the upper end of the campus above the science building; the building to be three stories high, conta.n a fairly large auditorium, and dormitory space on the third floor for the use of alumnae returning to visit their Alma Mater".

Necessarily, the attempts at co struction were abandoned until a year later when, by the combined additional gifts of Mr. Rockefeller, the General Assembly, and friends of the College, a sum of $127,000 was raised for the construction of a building with plans greatly mod-a building with pairs greecy ified.

At commencement in June, 1920, the "student activities building", which, by request of Mr. Rocke-feller, was to always be the home of the YWCA on the campus, was dedicated Johnson hall. This name was taken from what is r w Bancroft dormitory.) The build-

Gal, you'd better hie yourself over to the library this very afternoon and start reading. If you mean to be "in the know" or at least in almost any conversation during the holidays, if you don't want to feel like last week's corsage or like a blank ignoramus, you'd better sit in that library and read and read. Read with a purpose. Read to find out what's been happ ing in the world outside of thron's calm acres.

You'll be surprised that your moth er and father have their dinner coffee, or take it with them, in order to hear H. V. Kaltenborn give his interpretations of this week in Europe. They'll talk of other news commentators whose voices have come to mean so very much to them in the last few as if they were family friends. And the boy from a military school who takes you to a New Year's Eve dance will undoubtedly refer to his views or theories on the present European situation before the night is far advanced. You are going to feel most inadequate and ineffectual in the face of the problems and possibilities these persons closest to you will bring to your attention. then, you're going to college. What time do you have for such matters?

Winthrop girls are all too inclined to rock peacefully, placidly along, absolutely protected from anything that might interrupt the serenity of their schedules. We often refuse to concern ourselves with the troubles of the world which we have temporarily left. But the world has a way of waking us up whether we like it or not. The sooner we realize that these are serious times demanding straight, hard thinking by us all, the chance there is that we will meet the gloom of it all with accurate mowledge of facts and a philosophy to carry us through.

The silly, sentimental, giddy-headed college girl is no longer in style. Fashions of 1989 are demanding wellinformed young ladies who are keenly aware of what is happening to them and why. Want to be a good date for Christmas? Read, gal-
