Scope and Content Note: Eliza Ragsdale Wylie (1878-1964) was a genealogist and historian from Chester County, South Carolina. The Elizabeth Ragsdale Wylie Papers consist of personal correspondence, business correspondence, financial papers, legal papers, papers relating to colleges and universities, medical papers, miscellaneous personal papers, historical printed materials, magazines, and photographs collected by the Wylie family. Genealogical papers of the Ragsdale and Wylie families include correspondence, legal documents, research notes, charts, narratives, newspaper clippings, and photographs. Also included are various genealogical papers relating to allied families, general correspondence and notes, county histories, and publications, and printed materials. A newspaper subject file contains clippings concerning a variety of subjects but primarily includes articles concerning South Carolina events. The majority of these papers concern the ancestry of the Ragsdale and Wylie families although extensive research is evident on the Caldwell, Crawford, Dargan, Harrison, Thorn and Wall families. Valuable information on Chester County and surrounding areas is also included. The lineage of the Ragsdale and Wylie families has been traced throughout the Southeastern part of the United States. The collection consists primarily of correspondence and research notes although many original documents are included. For an alphabetical list of family names included in this collection see Appendices 1-3.

Transfer of Items: Newspapers have been transferred to the Newspaper Collection, Acc. 218. See the Disposition Record in the Donor Control File for a complete listing of newspapers and dates. The Psalms of David has been transferred to Special Collections and assigned the call number of
