Scope and Content Note: This collection consists of records related to the National Association of Teacher Educators of Vocational Home Economics (NATEVHE). The collection consists of Constitution and Bylaws, minutes, reports, correspondence, committee lists, program notes, newsletters, financial records, and membership records. The NATEVHE was founded “to facilitate colleague relationships among home economics teacher educators. Serve as a forum for discussion of professional concerns of home economics teacher educators and provide a setting for consensus relative to issues confronting home economics teacher educators.” The organization was formerly known as the National Association of Teacher Educators of Home Economics, an affiliate of the American Vocational Association. The name changed in 1980. Throughout the following series description, papers before April 1980 are referred to as NATEHE. In addition to financial records and membership lists, the collection contains a limited quantity of membership lists, reports, program notes, and newsletters.

For related records: See manuscript card catalog heading under (1) Home Demonstration Work, (2) Home Economics, and (3) Home Economics. Also see Archives record group W423.4, School of Home Economics.
