Obituary.

Died—At her residence in Charleston, on the 31st of December, 1864, Mrs. Elizabeth Eleanor West, mother of H. J. West, Esq., aged 32 years, 1 months and 15 days.

The disease which terminated the mortal existence of our sister, was Pulmonary Consumption, which for a long time had been making its insidious advances upon her.

This was cut off in the midst of her days and just when her maternal kindness and mildness were most needed by her children, whose good she had given. She bore her long and depressing illness with patience and resignation to the will of God. Death is her, and to her she calmly relied on the mercy of God to Christ Jesus, for salvation. She did not leave her or forsake her, in her hour of trial.

She died in the arms of her eldest son, E. Church, South of which she had been an acceptable and useful member for some years. She leaves a husband, two children, and a large circle of friends to grieve her early loss.

“Blessed are the dead, who died in the Lord.”

Died—On Thursday, Nov. 20th 1863, at the residence of his parents, in the Borough of Charleston, H. J. S. Jefferys, son of James & Elizabeth Jefferys, aged 19 years, living 5 days. He volunteered in 1861 in Company H. 17th S. C. V., was most in his left knee. The great day of April 1865 was most in his left knee. He was most in his left knee. His left knee was most in his left knee.
DEATH OF JAMES JEFFREYS, ESQ.

The death of this year’s notable citizen, which occurred at his residence, 106 Locust Street, on the 5th of August, 1850, was felt as a loss to the community of which he was a prominent member. Mr. Jeffreys was born in the town of Aldeney, in the English Channel, on the 6th of August, 1816, and lived through the full term of his life, being 46 years old at the time of his death. He was a member of the Congregational Church, and was highly respected by all who knew him. He was a man of high character, and his death was felt as a great loss by his family and friends.

Mr. Jeffreys was a successful businessman, and his death was a great loss to the community. He was a man of high character, and his death was felt as a great loss by his family and friends.
JEFFREYS—James Jeffreys was an Englishman by birth, was born Aug. 6th, 1800, and died Feb. 24th, 1883, in his 83rd year. He came to this country in May, 1817, landed in Philadelphia. After repeated efforts to find a suitable location for a home, he finally located on the outskirts of York, near the outskirts of Chester, on the road leading to Yorkville and the other to Chester, he paused, and selected the location and direction of York. He was deeply impressed with the beauty and grandeur of the scenery, the hospitality of the inhabitants, and the prospect of a future full of promise. He was a man of strong religious integrity, and in all things he was consistent with his creed. He lived a life of integrity, and his name is remembered with respect and affection by those who knew him. He was a model for his grandchildren, and his memory lives on in the hearts of those who were privileged to know him. His funeral was a fitting tribute to a life well-lived, and his memory will always be cherished by those who loved him.
To a departed sister by her brother

Thomas on his birthday.

Sweet sister, thou never canst be forgotten:
For thou art evermore with memories of love, and all unspoken tenderness
That times they in our hearts most cherished fold.
And though thy step is silent, though thy form
Is no more seen among us, though no more
The voice of thy laugh is heard at home.
Then in my mind, most line, forevermore
Ever as there art, a thought of loveliness
Thou art a budding flower of living antimony sheltered
A gem of rarest value—lost to earth.
Sister, farewell! Then will not wait as long.
The path that from a thousand avenues
Leads us to a single bow: the second birth.
For many years are past, we all must tread
Their love and loving ones shall meet again.
Farewell dear sister—like them—like them—farewell.

February 5th 1846
DEATH OF CAPT. T. S. JEFFREYS.

Capt. Thomas S. Jeffreys, one of the best known citizens of Yorkville, died at his home in this place last Saturday morning at 3:30 o'clock, of heart disease, aged 67 years 2 months and 16 days.

Capt. Jeffreys was a son of the late James Jeffreys, one of the earliest settlers of Yorkville, was born in this city, February 6, 1827, and resided here continuously up to the time of his death. His first experience in business was in the store of his father, which he entered as a clerk when about fourteen years of age. Though he had had but few educational advantages, he acquired a good knowledge of book-keeping, and after a number of years' experience as a clerk, he went into business on his own account. His capital, however, was too limited to acquire much success in that line and time, and he soon went to clerking again, which he continued until 1859, when he formed a partnership with the late Peyton B. Darvelo in another mercantile enterprise. This business was continued until the breaking out of the war.

Captain Jeffreys served through the war as a clerk in the conscription department in Columbus, and for general efficiency, was commissioned as captain in 1864.

After the war, Capt. Jeffreys engaged in insurance, the fertilizer business, machinery business, and was also connected with the Citizens' Savings Bank. In 1877, he established a bank on his own account, and conducted the business for a number of years.

MAGNUS JEFFREYS

Born Dec. 25, 1868

Died Oct. 4, 1952

DEATH OF MRS. J. B. JEFFREYS.

Mrs. Nancy Clem Jeffreys, wife of our esteemed townscan, Mr. J. B. Jeffreys, died at her home in this place, last Friday night, after twelve weeks of patient suffering, aged 67 years.

Mrs. Jeffreys was a daughter of the late John Floyd, and was married to Mr. Jeffreys in 1848, since which time she has continuously resided in Yorkville. She was all that goes to make a pure good woman. She was a kind mother, an unselfish, charitable neighbor, and during her long weeks of suffering, gave the home circle and the numerous friends who gathered at her bedside, the most beautiful evidence of her Christian hope and faith.

Strangely realizing, some time before her last illness, that the threads of life had almost unwound their length of the thread, she had prepared with her own hands the robes in which she was to be buried, and carefully laid them on the ground where they should be needed.

Mrs. Jeffreys had been a member of the Yorkville Methodist church since 1850, and her funeral services were conducted from that church, last Sunday, by Rev. G. H. Wilder, the pastor. The remains were followed to the grave by her husband and seven children, together with a large concourse of sorrowing friends. The grave was covered with floral tributes.

DEATH OF CAPT. T. S. JEFFEYS

Capt. Thomas S. Jeffeys, one of the best known citizens of Yorkville, died at his home last Saturday morning at 5:15 o'clock, of heart disease, aged 67 years 2 months and 15 days.

Capt. Jeffeys was a son of the late James Jeffeys, one of the earliest settlers of Yorkville, and was born in this place February 6, 1827, and resided here continuously up to the time of his death. His first experiences in business was in the store of his father, which he entered as a clerk, and about 14 years of age. Though he had had but few educational advantages, here he acquired a good knowledge of book-keeping, and after a number of years' experience as a clerk, he went into business on his own account. His capital, however, was too limited to acquire much success in that day and time, and he soon went into clerking again, which he continued until 1859, when he formed a partnership with the late Peyton B. Darwin in another mercantile enterprise. This business continued until the breaking out of the war.

Capt. Jeffeys served through the war as a clerk in the comissary department in Colored troops, for general efficiency, was commissioned as captain in 1864.

After the war, Capt. Jeffeys engaged in insurance, the fertilizer business, machinery business, and was also connected with the Citizen's Savings Bank. In 1877 he established a bank on his own account, and conducted the business for a number of years until the panic of 1873, when he, with others, established the Exchange Bank of Yorkville, which a few years ago went into liquidation.

For the past few years, Capt. Jeffeys has been in very poor health, and with the exception of some time given to insurance and his own private affairs, has not devoted himself to business. He has, for many years, been a prominent member of the Methodist church in this place, and was a most liberal contributor toward the erection of the handsome building now owned by the Methodist congregation in Yorkville.

The funeral took place last Monday morning at 11 o'clock from Trinity church. The casket was draped in black mourning, and the bier was almost buried in a grove of flowers contributed by the numerous friends of the family of the deceased. The services, which were short and impressive, were conducted by Rev. Dr. S. A. Webster, assisted by Rev. J. H. Noland and Rev. W. G. Neely, and were attended by a large concourse of people, including a number of friends and relatives from different parts of the State. The services at the graves were conducted under the auspices of the Masons, of which organization the deceased had long been a member.

Capt. Jeffeys was twice married. He leaves a widow and three grandchildren—two sons and one daughter of the late Mrs. John R. Ash, who was his second widow and mother by his first wife. His estate is estimated to be worth about $45,000. By his will he gave to his widow his late residence in Yorkville, together with all the furniture and other articles of household keeping connected therewith and belonging thereto, and all other personal effects as may belong to, or be connected with, the premises devised.

The remainder of his estate he gives one half to his wife and the other half to his three grandchildren—Thomass Jeffeys, John Bainey and Mary Cawson Ash—his interest or income of which is to be expended for their benefit until they attain their majority, when the proportionate part of each is to be paid to them.

J. Jeff Jackson, 75, of 326 Walnut St., Rock Hill, died Tuesday, August 22, 1972 at York General Hospital.

Funeral services were held at 5 p.m. in the Allison Creek Presbyterian Church. The Rev. S. Gault Robinson officiated, assisted by Dr. John L. Land, burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Jackson was a son of the late David Foster and Margaret Bigger Jackson. He was a retired self-employed carpenter and was a member of Allison Creek Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are: two sisters, Mrs. Sam Harper and Mrs. Roy Sadler, both of Rock Hill.

Active pallbearers were: Jack Cook, J. W. Alexander, Miles A. Bigger, Clarence Covington, A. R. Gurr, and Boyd L. Newman.

Honorary pallbearers were the Board of Deacons of Allison Creek Presbyterian Church.

Bass Funeral Home was in charge.

DEATH CLAIMS: T. L. HYNDMAN

Funeral Services For Sloan Paper Company Official
Were Held Last Week.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 30 — Thomas L. Hyndman, treasurer of Sloan Paper company, died October 24 in a private hospital after suffering a heart attack. Mr. Hyndman lived at 2216 Grady avenue, Decatur. Ga. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Hyndman was born in York, S. C. He moved to Atlanta with his family about 1906 and attended Atlanta schools. He later became associated with Sloan paper company in 1923.

Mr. Hyndman was a member of Decatur First Presbyterian Church and was an active member of the Board of Directors of the National Association of Paper Confectioners and Georgia Association of Credit Men.

Surviving Mr. Hyndman are his two sisters, Mrs. A. M. Weatherby, Jr. of Atlanta and Mrs. P. C. Seitz of San Antonio, Texas, and a son, Dr. T. L. Hyndman, Jr., of Atlanta.

Mrs. H. E. Ferguson of Balmont and Miss Isabel Jackson and Mrs. William Poplin Jackson and Mrs. Mabel Jackson of Rock Hill, S. C., cousins of Mr. Hyndman, attended the funeral services.
Yorkville, where he arrived about nightfall, one day in the middle of November, 1827. As the evening broke, he visited the Tolomac & Miller's store, where, he was a citizen, Mr. Samuel Wright, who was already employed, to do the work of a cabinet-maker; Mr. Wright furnished the shop and materials, and bade Mr. Jefferys, giving him a share of the profits one-half of the gross sales. Mr. Jefferys remained with Mr. Wright for the time agreed upon, and at the expiration of the partnership he commenced business on his own account on the lot now occupied by Dodson & Parish. Here he remained until 1835, when he bought a lot on the opposite side of the street, where he continued the cabinet-making business until 1838.

In connection with his business of cabinet-making, however, he commenced merchandising in 1824, not relinquishing his regular mechanical occupation until 1838, from which year until 1862, he was in the mercantile business continuously. On the lot to which he removed in 1835, he remained until his death, with the exception of a few months required to rebuild his residence, which was destroyed by fire in 1870.

Mr. Jefferys accumulated a handsome property, which at the breaking out of the war was intact, and a good portion of which, by prudent management, he retained at the close of hostilities.

Mr. Jefferys never held political office. Though such was the confidence reposed in him by his fellow-citizens that he was induced to accept the appointment of magistrate, which position he held from 1838 to 1862, when he resigned. During this period he disposed of about 2,000 civil cases, besides a large number of State cases.

His reminiscences of a long life of usefulness have always been interesting to his listeners, and especially his recollections of his first years in Yorkville. When he first came here the population of the town was not more than two hundred, and nearly all the houses were built of logs.

As we have intimated, Mr. Jefferys was born at the early manhood. Soon after he located here he took an active part in the cause of the church, and was one of the eight persons who organized the first Methodist Episcopal congregation in the town. His wife was also one of the original eight. The church was then attached to the Lincoln District, and for the first few years of its existence, dating from its organization, had the ministrations of Rev. Wm. Griffin.

Mr. Jefferys also organized the first Sunday-school in Yorkville, in the year 1829, and for many years was a zealous and active worker in this cause. He was, in every sense of the term, an exemplary Christian—one of whom none could say ought—and he died as he had lived, without an enemy in the world. Besides his sterling integrity he was a man of good business
