M. QUAD'S MAN WHO KICKS.

Some Particular Instances of the

Benefits of Kicking.

I admire the kickers—likable enough, I must say. I have long held that the man who undertakes to do this work must be thoroughly imbued with a spirit of service. I have never met a man who did not obviously possess this attribute. The service is of the highest order, and the kickers are to be commended.

I have known a number of them, and they have all been of the highest character. I have had occasion to watch them at work, and I have always been struck by their efficiency. They are not only skilled in their work, but they are also able to carry out their instructions with precision. They are always ready to help, and I have never known one to refuse a request.

In conclusion, I must say that the kickers are an valuable asset to the community. They are a necessary part of the machinery of government, and I hope that their service will continue for many years to come.
Tuesday, October 12th.

We should not have been surprised if a dozen persons had entered to take the next stage. I have no doubt that this is the case. The majority of the people are in favor of the action of The Lantern.

P.S. If I may be permitted to say, I hope we shall not have these same persons in the city any more. The city is not a place for them. They are a nuisance and a hindrance. We do not want them here. We do not want them in the town. We do not want them in any place where they can do harm. We do not want them anywhere.

I am glad to say that the city is now safe from their presence.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Cassetts, who have been in the city all day, will leave on Monday morning.

The Crop Shortage.

The continued drought has damaged the cotton crop severely. Farmers, accustomed to high yields, are faced with the prospect of a poor harvest. The New York Sun states that the crop will fall about 4,000,000 bales short of expectations.

The Washington Post reports that the cotton market is bolstered by the situation. The cotton buyers are confident that the crop will be adequate to meet the demands of the market. The Post also notes that the cotton market is bolstered by the situation.
