CHARLOTTE POST TELLS OF REVIEWS OF MUSIC AT FAIR FROM SOUTHERN STATES.

The Charlotte Post, in its recent issue, has publish a delightful review of the music presented at the Fair from Southern States. The article, written by Miss Edith Bayley, describes the various musical events that took place during the Fair. Miss Bayley mentions several notable performers, including Miss Millicent Clarke, who performed with great distinction in the presentation of the music. The article highlights the rich musical heritage of the Southern states and the talent of the performers who participated in the Fair's musical events.

DUBOSE HEYWARD PLEASURES AUDIENCE.

Dubose Heyward, the distinguished African-American playwright and author, was an audience favourite at The Winthrop College. Heyward's works, which often explored themes of race, identity, and social injustice, were particularly relevant at the time of his visit, a period marked by the civil rights movement. The Winthrop students and faculty enthusiastically welcomed Heyward's insights on the role of art in addressing societal issues.
