Chester, S. C., Tuesday, October 26, 1867.

To the Honorable Judge.

We, the Grand Jury of Chester County, do hereby present the following report:

We have examined the county books and have been enabled to find that the total amount of all taxes payable this year over the amount of taxable property returned is about two thousand dollars (2000$). We have examined the books and reports of the county officers and found the same to lie in the county treasury.

Sixth Circuit.

We have examined the county books and found the county officers and found the same to lie in the county treasury.

The Great Municipal Contest.

Numerous straw votes have been taken in New York to forecast the result of the election of the most particular candidate of the citizens, in the very field of the county. The result is so clear that it can only be described as a triumph for the candidate whose name is placed first on the list. The county officers have been examining the books and have found the same to lie in the county treasury.

Dr. W. F. Strait has returned from the Pasteur Hospital, at Buffalo, N. Y., where he had been ordered to remain for several months. He reports that Dr. Oats is getting along very well, indeed, and that the result of his treatment is proving very satisfactory.

A rabbit's skin is a very valuable product, and one of the most important of the native furbearers. The skin of a rabbit is very simple, and a very important source of income for many people. A rabbit's skin is very valuable, and one of the most important of the native furbearers.

The Columbia Register must be careful how it publishes a matter of local news that Senator Tritton has been sent to the Senate Assembly for trial. The Register says that "his physicians felt a desire to discharge the patient" before the trial.

Brown (exempted reporters) — Lay James, the head of the newspaper office has called for the report of that list. It is finished.

James (office messenger) — All those knowing themselves, in any way, can suit all tastes.

Venerable Mules.

Today we heard of two remarkable events: the Greens, of Saffold, the subject of a personal acquaintance, and the Oppenheimer sisters, of Long Beach, the subject of a personal interview. If the Alliance can be given the impression that the individual continues to approach within a hundred yards of the line the train, and to keep their eyes open and down, with every mental faculty at the disposal of the person who keeps them.

Hateful Old Man.

And when your wheel begins to wobble you have a right to say it all yourself; but you have not had proper treatment.

"I did," answered the typewrite properly.

"It seems mighty funny to me, then," he continued, "that you have not had proper treatment, and that they have kept you out of it."

"They have had proper treatment," he said, "now that they have left the Palmetto State."

The Union New Era has become a weekly paper, and is now being published every Thursday.

The State has been enlarged from six to seven column sizes. The State is an entertaining newspaper, particularly on the lighter side.

The headman of the Abbeville Press and Savannah notices that he will not engage with the Post-Journal in an open feud.

EXTREMELY MORTAL.

The Greenville Morning Post.

The Columbia papers state that insanity is on the increase in the Pine Belt, South Carolina. When we consider the number of people who are to-day insane, it is wonderful that lunatics are not more numerous.

An Englishman claims to have invented a process by which every shade and tint of color in the original can be reproduced in a photograph, without an exhibition in London which seems justly to claim the honor.

Our readers will not be surprised to know that there is a new edition of the Daily Times to-day.

WALTER M. MORGAN.

The Times.

The Times has received a copy of Chester's new paper, The Law Times. This paper is well printed and composed, and its pages are covered with the most recent and newest news.

The Times also encourages the purchase of the New York Times.

The Sheffield Globe.

The Sheffield Globe contains an article by a Mr. Weir, bishop of the British mission, on the subject of the contract for the artesian well at S. C. H. I. 1897.

Lancaster Enterprise.

The county Democratic executive committee have selected Saturday, November 19th, as the day for holding the primary election to select a successor to the late L. K. Armstrong, strong member of the Legislature.

The committee was in session here Monday.—Yale Times.

Columbia Record.

The primary election is to be held here Monday, November 29th.

Lancaster Ledger.

Mrs. Coffey, a lady of the British mission, was taken to the hospital for the last time Tuesday. Mr. J. A. W. was discharged on Saturday last.

Sheriff Shurtleff.

Sheriff Shurtleff's Lyceum concerts are taken to the hospital for the same reason, but he is expected to recover.

Celanese Oil Company.

Celanese Oil Company is now ready to be bought by any one interested in the oil business.

The Greenville Morning Post.

The Greenville Morning Post is in favor of submitting to a primary the question of prohibition, disposition or high license.

Dr. Fisterer announced to his friends that the new Baptist church will be dedicated the first of January.

The dedication ceremony will be delivered by Dr. W. H. Milliken, president of the State Agricultural College, Louisville, Ky.—Greenwood Journal.

A correspondent of the Greenville Journal wrote from Ninety-Six the other day.

On yesterday one of our ministers preached on the subject of predestination, Pious and Religion is a vital point in the church's pastoral work.

The South Carolina Public Press, 43.

The Newberry Observer believes that we should all be in the hands of peculiar, self-denying, and disinterested men, and desires to diversify its character by the last fact, that “mutilates characters the highest sacrifices in the church, and concludes with this unalterable principle:

"We think it wise in the present condition of the church, and that all the questions that arise about the position of a minister, to take the matter entirely from the church and place it in the hands of such men, if ever, upon a religious subject, that it can be always done.

The last issue of the Central Presbyterian says that the iron mine that was discovered at Tuscaloosa in the Tuscaloosa mines, is to be of immense size, larger than any other discovered up to the present time. A large number of men are now working on the mine, and it is expected that it will be completed this fall.

Miss Waters, of the Rodman Hotel, is in the process of securing a stamp for the weekly "Rock Hill & Chester Enterprise." The stamp, which is being sold for 10 cents per line, is being used to advertise the hotel and its services. The hotel has been in operation for several years, and is known for its comfortable accommodations and friendly service. The management prides itself on providing a welcoming atmosphere for visitors and residents alike.

The late Ex-governor T. J. Heath was a well-respected figure in the history of the state. A dedicated public servant, he served as governor for several terms, working tirelessly to improve the lives of the people. His legacy continues to inspire generations of leaders in the political arena.

In other news, Mr. James A. Walker, the esteemed editor of the "Rock Hill & Chester Enterprise," is preparing to publish the first edition of the new volume. Walker has been with the newspaper for many years, and is known for his insightful commentary and thoughtful analysis of local issues. His dedication to journalism is deeply admired by his colleagues and audience alike.

In closing, we wish to extend our thanks to all of our loyal readers and advertisers. Your support is what makes this publication possible, and we value the trust you place in us. As we move forward into the new year, we look forward to continuing our mission of providing accurate and informative news to our community.
The Ways of the World.

Melody Snowball, a colored lady from Kansas City, has been engaged to perform at the Melody Snowball Opera House in St. Louis. The house has a capacity of 1,000, and the engagement is for three weeks.

The weather continued to be fine, and the opera house was packed every night. The performances were a great success, and the audience was enthusiastic.

The Richmond Dispatch, after the performance, said:

"Mrs. Snowball's performances have been a great success, and the audience has been enthusiastic. The acting was excellent, and the music was beautiful. The house was packed every night, and the performances were a great success."

The official added further that frequent train robbers had compromised the express companies' ability to transport money safely, and that the solution was to use more secure methods of transportation.

Since the announcement of the new train schedule, little has changed. The express companies are still using the same methods of transportation, and the problem of train robbery continues.

The possibility of a human being being "ground up in the stuff" has not been ruled out, although no serious attempts have been made to stop it.
