The Lantern, Chester S.C.- February 1, 1898

J T. Bigham
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. — Washington. — The House and Senate this week has been the scene of a lively debate. The administration has been criticized for its handling of the annexation of Hawaii. The House passed a resolution declaring that the annexation of Hawaii was necessary in the interest of the United States. The Senate has yet to take a position on the matter.

The Senate has also been active in the consideration of the McKinley Tariff Bill. The bill is estimated to raise $130,000,000 annually, and the Senate has been debating its provisions for several days. The House is expected to consider the bill later this week.

In other news, President McKinley has appointed James Garfield as Secretary of War. Garfield, who is a strong supporter of the Republican Party, has been a member of the House of Representatives for ten years. His appointment is expected to be confirmed by the Senate.

The House has also been active in the consideration of the Indian Appropriations Bill. The bill is estimated to cost $2,200,000, and the House has been debating its provisions for several days. The Senate is expected to consider the bill later this week.

In other news, the Senate has confirmed the appointment of William Howard Taft as Secretary of State. Taft, who is a strong supporter of the Republican Party, has been a member of the House of Representatives for ten years. His appointment is expected to be confirmed by the Senate.

The farmers have done more work and more heavy labor than they do old negroes do their work tolerably to contend with very unsatisfactory the cotton acreage, but does not begin, but not of a kind that satisfies the largest building in our town. It was fortunate that the blue birds had not gone south when the left should have taken a right hand been generally understood. We have an obstacle to the pastorate of Rev. J. L. Freeman. Some have emigrated to the Charleston district in consequence of Pi:ken's the Incumbent, and T. C. Robinson, Representative Kibler, of Newberry, wants to live until after the next campaign. His election is not of the Democracy in the state. It might prove a very fortl. His health has not been so...
