2-15-1898

The Lantern, Chester S.C.- February 15, 1898

J T. Bigham

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/chesterlantern1898

Part of the Journalism Studies Commons, and the Social History Commons

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/chesterlantern1898/13

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the The Chester Lantern at Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Chester Lantern 1898 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@mailbox.winthrop.edu.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs had a full discussion on the resolution of Senator Aldrich, which provided that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The committee, in its report, recommended that the resolution be adopted and that the bill be introduced. The report stated that the resolution was essential to the national interest and was necessary for the defense of the country. The committee also expressed its concern about the situation in the Canal Zone and the need for action by the United States to secure its rights in the area.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was also considering a resolution introduced by Senator Aldrich, which proposed that a bill be introduced "for the purpose of securing to the United States the remaining property and interests in the Canal Zone, and for other purposes." The resolution was introduced in response to the recent developments in the Canal Zone, including the demands made by the Panamanian government for the return of the property and interests that were taken over by the United States during the construction of the Panama Canal.
A Brief Trip.

Our trip to the country last week was very pleasant. The weather was mild, where Mr. Pickering found it balmy and spring-like. Our first stop was with Dr. John Bingham, who occupies a comfortable cottage in the vicinity of Blackstock. It was his daughter's birthday, and we were entertained with all the decencies of the occasion. Although it was the last days of winter, the house was perfectly comfortable, and we spent the evening in reading and discussing the various points of the case. We left at daybreak the next morning, having enjoyed a pleasant time in their company.

The next morning we took breakfast at the Blackstock House, where we enjoyed a hearty breakfast, consisting of bacon and eggs, toast and jam, and coffee and tea. We then proceeded to the town, where we found the streets clean and the inhabitants polite and friendly. We called on the Mayor, who gave us a cordial welcome, and we were shown around the town by the Town Clerk, who was very kind and obliging. We then proceeded to the courthouse, where we were shown into the chambers of Mr. J. B. Bingham, who was presiding at the bar. We had a pleasant conversation with him, and we were shown around the building and the grounds.

We left Blackstock at noon, and proceeded to Charleston. We arrived at the hotel, where we were met by Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hardin, who gave us a cordial welcome. We spent the afternoon in visiting the various points of interest in the city, and we had a pleasant time.

The next day we went out to the country again, and we had a pleasant time in the country. We visited the farm of Mr. W. J. Lathan, who is a farmer, and we found him to be a most genial and hospitable host. We had a pleasant time on the farm, and we were shown around by the farmer, who was very kind and obliging. We left the farm at noon, and proceeded to the next point on our journey.

We arrived at the hotel at four o'clock, and we found it well stocked with good things. We had a hearty dinner, consisting of bacon and eggs, toast and jam, and coffee and tea. We then proceeded to the theater, where we saw a very good play, and we had a pleasant time.

The next day we returned to Blackstock, and we spent the day visiting the various points of interest in the town. We found the town very pleasant, and we enjoyed a pleasant time.

The next day we returned to Charleston, and we spent the day in visiting the various points of interest in the city. We found the city very pleasant, and we enjoyed a pleasant time.

The next day we left Charleston, and we proceeded to the railroad station, where we took the train for home. We arrived at home at night, and we found it well stocked with good things. We had a hearty dinner, consisting of bacon and eggs, toast and jam, and coffee and tea. We then proceeded to the theater, where we saw a very good play, and we had a pleasant time.

We spent the night in our hotel, and we found it well stocked with good things. We had a hearty breakfast, consisting of bacon and eggs, toast and jam, and coffee and tea. We then proceeded to the theater, where we saw a very good play, and we had a pleasant time.

We spent the afternoon in visiting the various points of interest in the town. We found the town very pleasant, and we enjoyed a pleasant time.

The next day we returned to the farm, and we spent the day visiting the various points of interest on the farm. We found the farm very pleasant, and we enjoyed a pleasant time.

We left the farm at noon, and proceeded to the railroad station, where we took the train for home. We arrived at home at night, and we found it well stocked with good things. We had a hearty dinner, consisting of bacon and eggs, toast and jam, and coffee and tea. We then proceeded to the theater, where we saw a very good play, and we had a pleasant time.
Dr. M. B. Heymah, of New York, and Columbia, returned home Saturday for Washington city, where he is expected to reside. He gives a good report of farming in his section of the county now—77 years of age.

Miss Alice McDonald went to Columbia on Thursday night with her aunt, Mrs. W. H. Wylie.

The friends of Mr. Dick Thompson, who have been making commercial excursions to the vicinity of Knox county, have been very much enjoyed by the Buckhead community.

Prof. Wade Brown, of the college of Charleston, was in town yesterday and will reside in this place in the near future.

Mr. F. H. Cash, Mr. J. W. S. Talley, and Mr. H. M. Hillyard, are in the city on business for their firm of Cash, Talley & Hillyard.

Mr. A. J. McCoy, real estate dealer in Towson, Md., and the well-known and respected citizens of Towson, Md., have been making considerable efforts to induce Mr. McCoy to settle in this place and make a start in the real estate business.

Mr. A. J. McCoy, real estate dealer in Towson, Md., and the well-known and respected citizens of Towson, Md., have been making considerable efforts to induce Mr. McCoy to settle in this place and make a start in the real estate business.

Mr. A. J. McCoy, real estate dealer in Towson, Md., and the well-known and respected citizens of Towson, Md., have been making considerable efforts to induce Mr. McCoy to settle in this place and make a start in the real estate business.

Mr. A. J. McCoy, real estate dealer in Towson, Md., and the well-known and respected citizens of Towson, Md., have been making considerable efforts to induce Mr. McCoy to settle in this place and make a start in the real estate business.

Mr. A. J. McCoy, real estate dealer in Towson, Md., and the well-known and respected citizens of Towson, Md., have been making considerable efforts to induce Mr. McCoy to settle in this place and make a start in the real estate business.

Mr. A. J. McCoy, real estate dealer in Towson, Md., and the well-known and respected citizens of Towson, Md., have been making considerable efforts to induce Mr. McCoy to settle in this place and make a start in the real estate business.

Mr. A. J. McCoy, real estate dealer in Towson, Md., and the well-known and respected citizens of Towson, Md., have been making considerable efforts to induce Mr. McCoy to settle in this place and make a start in the real estate business.
It would be impossible to describe my state of anxiety and nervous tension. Guilt and remorse were my constant companions. The thought of the consequences of my actions consumed all my waking hours and haunted my dreams. I was consumed with the idea that I had done a wrong and that I could never atone for it. Every time I closed my eyes, I saw the face of the woman who had been wronged. She was always there, and her ghost would not let me rest. I was tormented by a sense of guilt and a fear of being found out. I was a prisoner in my own mind, and I knew that I could never escape from the clutches of the past. The weight of the guilt was too much for me, and I knew that I would never be able to live a normal life again. I was marked for life by the burden of guilt that I had carried with me for so long. I was aching with the weight of it all, and I knew that I could never be free from it. I was a lost soul, and I was destined to spend the rest of my days in this torment. I was a failure, and I knew it. I was a failure, and I knew it.