The Lantern, Chester S.C.- February 26, 1901

J T. Bigham
ADULTERATED CLOTH.

A Large Part of "All Wool" Goods Sold as Cotton and Poor Cotton at That.

The use of "all wool" goods and "pure wool" goods by cloth manufacturers for the last thirty years has been a common practice. The practice has been justified on the grounds that it is a more economical use of the raw materials. The result has been that the wool used in the manufacture of "all wool" goods has been of inferior quality and has been mixed with cheaper materials to reduce costs.

The practice has also led to the manufacture of goods that are claimed to be "all wool" but which contain a substantial amount of cheaper materials. This has resulted in the sale of goods that are not as high quality as claimed.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as durable as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to wear out and require replacement.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as safe as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to cause injury to the wearer.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as comfortable as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to cause discomfort to the wearer.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as environmentally friendly as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to cause environmental damage.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as visually appealing as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less attractive to the consumer.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as socially responsible as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to promote unethical labor practices.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as economically viable as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less profitable for the manufacturer.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as technologically advanced as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less advanced in terms of technology.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as innovative as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less innovative in terms of design.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as culturally relevant as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less culturally relevant in terms of design.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as socially responsible as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to promote unethical labor practices.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as economically viable as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less profitable for the manufacturer.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as technologically advanced as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less advanced in terms of technology.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as innovative as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less innovative in terms of design.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as culturally relevant as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less culturally relevant in terms of design.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as socially responsible as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to promote unethical labor practices.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as economically viable as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less profitable for the manufacturer.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as technologically advanced as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less advanced in terms of technology.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as innovative as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less innovative in terms of design.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as culturally relevant as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to be less culturally relevant in terms of design.

The use of "all wool" goods has also led to the sale of goods that are not as socially responsible as claimed. The practice has resulted in the sale of goods that are more likely to promote unethical labor practices.
The Senate Chamber.

The semi-annual commencement of the College and Preparatory Library occurred at 10 o'clock on Wednesday last, when the Senate Chamber was crowded with students, faculty, and friends. The day was pleasant, and the gathering was accompanied by the presence of a cold spell, which made it seem colder than it was.

The commencement exercises included speeches by various faculty members and students, who spoke on topics ranging from the importance of education to the future of society. The keynote speech was delivered by the President, who spoke on the role of education in shaping the future.

Following the speeches, a procession of students marched through the streets of the city, accompanied by the school band. The procession ended at the school, where a reception was held for the students and their parents.

The event was well-attended, with representatives from surrounding towns attending the ceremony. The day ended with a fireworks display over the city, which was enjoyed by all in attendance.
Quanity and Quality.

The quality of our work and the equipment used for它 is as much a part of our service as our workmanship and material.

You have the facilities for doing this work, and we are prepared to do it for you. Our work is done in a professional manner and with the utmost care and attention to detail. We use the best materials available, and our work is guaranteed to be done to the highest standards.

R. Brandt, Watchmaker and Sewer.

Priced to Clear the Shelf.

New Lumber Yard.......

I have opened a new Lumber Yard on Church Street and wish to furnish ROUGH or DRESSED LUMBER of all ordinary descriptions. Also Shingles in any quantity. Don't fail to see me before you buy.

JOHN G. STEWART.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

Advertisements inserted under this heading at 10 cents per line. No advertisements inserted as reading matter.

For Sale.

Gained by experience is by far the most valuable, and you have learned by this time that the best is not always the cheapest in groceries as in everything else. Our Price Marks Are Not the Lowest. But Ever Commodity we Sell Is worth the Money we ask.

HENRY A. FLOUR, the cream of perfection, still leads.

SARATOGA CHIPS.

JOSEPH A. WALKER.

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION at The Lantern Office.

YOUR CREDIT IS GOOD.

Bedding.

Beds for $1.25

MATTRESSES, with Cotton Top

IRON BEDS

EXTENSION TABLES

CHAIRS

Open Work Canoe Seat Dining Chairs (24x18) $1.75

For $1.25, fiber $1.50, for $1.00

SIMPSON

OAK BEDS, 6 feet high, for $1.25

BUREAUS, with big 18x24 glass, for $1.00

We buy more goods and buy them cheaper, sell more goods and sell them cheaper, than all the balance of our competitors here combined. Come and look through our line. It's the largest and handsomest ever seen in Chester.

Yours truly,

A. B. NICHOLSON.
The college yard. Mr. Cornfield, according to the point of view from which this sentence is uttered a certain small number of years old. His philosophy.

verify a well-known rule of mathematics. They dismissed them by reminding the gentlemen that many more instances have been recorded, and that there would inevitably be verified by the event. Just as not out of many accidents one might expect to see a few with minor wounds at which their lives were saved, on the other hand, the believers in the gift of clairvoyance are not the profession of the critical Mr. Cornfield's long-recognized power to advise on the occurrence of strange events, such as the oddity about his eye, which had a peculiar air of probabilitp. It was, indeed, the famous case of a young man who, while on a hunting trip, was attacked by a bear and managed to escape by firing a shot at the creature. The story was later verified when the young man was seen in the company of a group of friends who had also witnessed the event. He related that Mr. Webster, while visiting the city, was struck by a sudden inspiration to offer his hat to the prince as a mark of respect. He did not feel honored that his hat should be offered to Mr. Cornfield and asked him if he would not prefer something more fitting. Mr. Cornfield, on the contrary, was very pleased with the gesture and thanked the prince for his kind offer.

The accession of Edward was a great event in the history of the country. To find a name for the country, the minister "not guilty," and then some 240 witnesses were examined. They are profounder than the Bordon trial in many ways. It is the earnest desire, the constant wish of the proprietors of the Big Store to see its business increase to immense proportions. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. People will think of the past with a mix of pride and gratitude, while the present growth spur us on to greater efforts. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. To find a name for the country, the minister "not guilty," and then some 240 witnesses were examined. They are profounder than the Bordon trial in many ways. It is the earnest desire, the constant wish of the proprietors of the Big Store to see its business increase to immense proportions. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. People will think of the past with a mix of pride and gratitude, while the present growth spur us on to greater efforts. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. To find a name for the country, the minister "not guilty," and then some 240 witnesses were examined. They are profounder than the Bordon trial in many ways. It is the earnest desire, the constant wish of the proprietors of the Big Store to see its business increase to immense proportions. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. People will think of the past with a mix of pride and gratitude, while the present growth spur us on to greater efforts. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. To find a name for the country, the minister "not guilty," and then some 240 witnesses were examined. They are profounder than the Bordon trial in many ways. It is the earnest desire, the constant wish of the proprietors of the Big Store to see its business increase to immense proportions. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. People will think of the past with a mix of pride and gratitude, while the present growth spur us on to greater efforts. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. To find a name for the country, the minister "not guilty," and then some 240 witnesses were examined. They are profounder than the Bordon trial in many ways. It is the earnest desire, the constant wish of the proprietors of the Big Store to see its business increase to immense proportions. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. People will think of the past with a mix of pride and gratitude, while the present growth spur us on to greater efforts. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. To find a name for the country, the minister "not guilty," and then some 240 witnesses were examined. They are profounder than the Bordon trial in many ways. It is the earnest desire, the constant wish of the proprietors of the Big Store to see its business increase to immense proportions. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. People will think of the past with a mix of pride and gratitude, while the present growth spur us on to greater efforts. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. To find a name for the country, the minister "not guilty," and then some 240 witnesses were examined. They are profounder than the Bordon trial in many ways. It is the earnest desire, the constant wish of the proprietors of the Big Store to see its business increase to immense proportions. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. People will think of the past with a mix of pride and gratitude, while the present growth spur us on to greater efforts. The achievements of the past will be fairly eclipsed in the history of the future. To find a name for the country, the minister "not guilty," and then some 240 witnesses were examined. They are profounder than the Bordon trial in many ways.