An Idea of Prayer.

There is a story of religious eloquence which deserves to be kept well in mind, especially by those who are deeply interested in the welfare of others. It is told of an officer who received a letter from his wife, asking him to find some way to make her smile again. He thought a moment and then wrote:

'Go and pray!'

The idea appeals to me. It is so commonplace, so unpretentious, yet so rich in power. It is true that when a person or a cause is a subject of prayer, it is likely to be more likely to smile. It is true that when a person or a cause is a subject of prayer, it is likely to be more likely to smile. It is true that when a person or a cause is a subject of prayer, it is likely to be more likely to smile. It is true that when a person or a cause is a subject of prayer, it is likely to be more likely to smile.

Many people are interested in the welfare of others, and many of them are interested in the welfare of others. It is true that when a person or a cause is a subject of prayer, it is likely to be more likely to smile.
