Louise, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Youngblood of Yorkville, who was seriously burned last Saturday is getting along nicely and is now considered to be out of danger. Miss Sallie McConnell of McConnellville was seriously injured last week when she slipped and fell while climbing the back stairs in her home. A number of ligaments in her thigh were dislocated. She is still confined to her bed, and it is feared that it will be several weeks before she will be able to be out.

There is a possibility that it may be necessary to temporarily close the graded school on account of the epidemic of measles now prevalent and which is increasing in its spread. Twelve or fifteen new cases have been reported this week and it is practically certain that the disease will spread to scores of others.

Dr. J. Lee Spratt has been appointed trustee for the large mercantile firm of Mills & Young of Fort Mill, which was recently adjudged bankrupt. A meeting of creditors of the firm will be held in about two weeks when the members composing the firm will submit a proposition to the creditors for the settlement of the business.

The home of Mr. C. H. Smith on Yorkville No. 4 came near being destroyed by fire Tuesday evening as the result of the explosion of a lamp. The lamp was turned too high and when Mr. Jeptha Winter entered the room, a curtain had caught fire from it. Mr. Smith beat out the fire with his hands and threw the lamp into the yard where it exploded.

A third sitting of the coroner's jury of inquest into the finding of the body of a white baby girl in a branch near the Neely cotton mill were held in the courthouse here Tuesday evening. Coroner J. H. McManus, presiding. After some little deliberation the jury returned a verdict to the effect that the child came to its death from causes unknown. Although the efforts of the authorities to solve the mystery have thus far proved of no avail, they are determined to keep on working on the case and it is quite possible that there will be developments later on.

The above is a map of the highway in Chester county which will be improved in case the County bond issue carries.
