OUR LAST ISSUE

Inasmuch as this is the last in- process of an opportunity, the present staff has the pleas- ance of taking this opportunity of thanking the staff for their cooperation, which has been such a main factor in making this paper possible for us to establish the student publication. Although we were unable to publish this issue, the wish to thank all those who have contributed to the welfare of the paper. However, we feel that the present staff has not yet discovered their talents. Remember that the only way to be ready for your efforts, the new staff must have a clear understanding of the duties and responsibilities of the position. Let the students make the best of these opportunities, and cooperate harmoniously for the benefit of the institution and The Johnsonian.

To the incoming staff we wish to extend our every good wish for a successful term. It is our hope that you will continue to give them our whole-hearted support, for then The Johnsonian will be made a paper of our own.

WHY NOT WINTHROP?

Few colleges in South Carolina are now offering courses in journ- alism, though educational pro- grammes are beginning more and more to include this field. In this field it has recently been shown that women are equally as capable of giving the desired results as men. These women are beginning to take an active part in the press of the present generation. This movement has proved to be exceedingly interesting as well as fascinating. Practical experi- ence in writing can be best ob- tained by the accomplishment of courses in journalism in our college. In order to make our education to make our college possible for a chosen work in an efficient manner? Since every one of you aims for training in this field of work is growing day by day, and we know that you may find a home at Winthrop College to add a course in journalism to her regular curriculum. If so, this will be possible for Winthrop College to add a course in journalism to her regular curriculum.

The following is a reminder to future generations of the outstanding valor of the 13th Massachusetts, which was engaged at Gettysburg and other battles of the Civil War, and which during the Civil War met to maintain the integrity of the Union.

The 13th Massachusetts, which was organized in 1861, was a volunteer regiment that fought in several major battles, including Gettysburg, where it played a significant role in the defense of Cemetery Hill. The regiment was later mustered out of service in 1865.

It is important that we remember the sacrifices made by our forefathers and that we honor their memory.

BRIG. GEN. COLE TELLS OF OLD FRENCH PORT

In a recent letter to the editor of the Illinois State Journal, Brig. Gen. Cole, a veteran of the Civil War, described his experiences in the old French port of Arcachon. He stated that the port was once a thriving center of commerce, but that it had since fallen into disuse.

"In the days of my youth," he wrote, "Arcachon was a bustling port, with ships coming and going from all over the world. But in recent years, the port has fallen into disuse, and it is now little more than a relic of the past."

The letter was signed with the words "Brig. Gen. Cole, U.S.A."
