Towards Letter.

Edgar L. Sayre, the publisher of the New York Times, said in an editorial this week, "We believe that had the whiskey sale been continued, the liquor dealers would have been able to sell all their stock at a profit of 50 per cent or more, but that the system of prohibition has prevented them from doing so."

The Legislature.

The legislature is now in session and the bills introduced so far indicate that the session will be a busy one. The bills to be considered include those relating to education, taxation, and railroads. The most important bill is the proposed extension of the railroad from Chester to Columbia. It is expected that this bill will pass in the House but may face opposition in the Senate.

Railroads.

The railroad companies have been in a state of flux recently. The result of this flux is that the roads are not always maintained in good condition. The railroad commissioners have been working to improve the condition of the roads, but it will take time to bring them up to the standard required.

Education.

The state education board has been meeting and has been discussing the matter of cooperating with the local school boards. It is hoped that this cooperation will result in better schools and better educational opportunities for the children of the state.

Business of the Week.

The business of the week has been relatively quiet. There have been no major developments, but the usual activity has been going on. The banks have been busy making loans, and the merchants have been making sales.

Local News.

Richard Carroll.

Richard Carroll had a splendid audience last night and his speech was worthy of the occasion. He was entirely at his best, and he was good. It is not surprising that there should be a great deal of interest in the speech of a man who has the reputation of being a public speaker.

Mr. R. B. Towner returned this morning from Kershaw County, where he was called Saturday on account of the illness of his father, who died before he reached his bedside.

Dr. J. B. Brown went to Woodward yesterday afternoon to see the little girl, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Briscoe, who is ill with bronchial pneumonia. Mr. Brown spent last night with Mrs. A. M. Atkinson, of Loganville, and was raised in that community.

The news from the United States—Spartanburg Journal.

The announcement of his defalcation created a profound surprise. It was quite a little town at the site of the Broad River dam, which is about four miles from the city. The Air Line train at 1 o'clock Saturday morning was delayed, and it is feared that some time may be lost.

Bath in the Liquor Business.

The question is being raised in a fresh wave of public opinion, and the liquor business in this city is being attacked by the public. There has been a good deal of discussion on this subject, and it is feared that the liquor business will be greatly interfered with by the electric power companies.

Items From News and Herald.

Mrs. N. R. Madden left Monday for Paris, where she will visit her son, Mr. Willie Crawford.

Mr. E. C. Johnson, of Camden, was operated on for appendicitis last week, and his case was successful. The operation was performed by Dr. J. C. Carver, of Charleston, and the patient has made a rapid recovery.

Mrs. Priscilla Ketchen has returned from a visit to her daughter, Miss Priscilla Ketchen, who is a student at Columbia University.

The cost of the installation of the new telephone service over all the lines in the city is estimated to be approximately $1,000. The only remedy for the situation is to change the telephone service from the present metallic circuit, and about this the telephone people are insisting for the reason that they claim the results received from the present system do not warrant the expense of the change.

The Interment was yesterday afternoon at the regular preaching place of the church, and the service was conducted by the Rev. A. T. Lindsay, and several members of the congregation were present.

Mrs. Amanda Bethea, of Charleston, is in the city today on her way to visit relatives. She has been here for some time, and there is little hope for her recovery.

Ellis were called to Union last week to respond to a telegram informing them of their father's last illness. Mr. Jones was a member of the First Presbyterian church and was ready for the bright home above. She was about 76 years old.

Good Men in the Liquor Business.

The question is how the liquor dealers feel toward the liquor business since the passage of the Carey-Christman law. To our mind there is not one particle of change in this respect. No good man can afford to be connected with the sale of liquor. His attitude must be such that he will not sell to individual, state or county. The facts are, good men are not going into the liquor business for the money. They are in it because they believe that it is right. The public is now more aware of the danger of drinking too much. People are beginning to realize that alcoholism is a disease. The war has shown us that we cannot afford to have drunks as soldiers. The public wants sober men in every branch of the service. The public demands a change in the liquor laws. The public wants good men in the liquor business.

Supreme Court Decisions.

The supreme court has affirmed the judgment of the lower court in the case of Sutten vs. the Southern Power Company. The verdict of the court was for the plaintiff in the sum of $1,000.00. The verdict of the court was for the plaintiff in the sum of $1,000.00. The defendant, R. W. Johnson, was ordered to pay the plaintiff $1,000.00.
