Washington, March 9 — The Republican Party Committee is at present preparing a tariff bill which is expected to be submitted to the House of Representatives in the near future. The bill, which has been prepared by a committee of experienced men, is said to be a measure of the utmost importance to the Republican Party in the South. It is expected that the bill will be introduced in the House on the first day of the next session. The committee is said to have given much thought to the matter and to have been inspired by the knowledge that the future of the South depends largely on the success of this bill. The committee is composed of the following men:

Chairman: Mr. J. W. Ellison, Chester, S. C.

The committee is said to have been working for months on the preparation of the bill. They have been studying the tariff laws of other countries and have been consulting with experts in the field. They have been considering the needs of the South and have been trying to prepare a bill that will meet the needs of the South.
