DISEASES, PARASITES AND VICES OF POULTRY AND THEIR TREATMENT

Charlotte and Sharon. Many fowl in South Carolina die of what is called "Verminous" disease. Wherever poultry is kept, it can be prevented with ease. The troubles are of a nature similar to that of the house fly. The diseases are general in character and can be prevented by using the same methods as for controlling the house fly. The trouble is caused by the young fowl coming in contact with flies that have deposited eggs on the fowl. The eggs hatch into maggots that feed on the fowl, causing the disease. The trouble is most prevalent in the spring and fall, when the flies are most abundant.

"Maestro" Bennett, who is to lecture this week in the Lyceum and Chautauqua world as "The Master Thinker" and "Baritone and Basso," has been quoted as saying that the "Statuary" is the most beautiful of all the arts, and that all other arts are but the expression of it. If you don't know the name behind the goods, you can't be sure of the wear ahead of them. An advertised brand is of itself a guarantee. Any merchant who spends money to promote his name, must protect its integrity. But rules, systems, and inspections are liable to error. Machines and individuals make mistakes. Neither intention nor invention can provide for accidents. Advertising is the only certain safeguard for both the consumer and producer.

Commonsense tells you that the cost of publicity in responsible publications is too great to be nullified by the disappointments and dissatisfactions which arise and quickly spread from disgruntled purchasers. Never hesitate to return advertised goods that do not please you. You confer a favor by granting the opportunity for correction. The right complaint at the right time is worth more money than the cost of its adjustment. Advertisers mean to be square, otherwise they wouldn't give you a chance to find them out. It doesn't pay to call attention to double dealing.

OUR FEELINGS HURT

We are all too aware and too sensible to be hurt by the tears of others. But are we not also hurt when we see others being hurt? If we are, we have managed to escape its notice. At least that is one of the things we think of when we hear of someone being hurt.

MRS. TROUBLE-MAKER TO WIFE

I should like to have you know that I have been reading a great many books about trouble-makers and that I have found that the only way to deal with them is to give them a good deal of attention. It is true that they may be a little difficult, but if you will treat them with kindness and considerateness they will ultimately become more tractable.

BRIDAL BALL

As the bridal ball approached, the bride's friends arranged for a special event. The bride-to-be and her friends gathered at the bridal suite to prepare for the ceremony. They were joined by family and friends, who arranged for decorations and refreshments. The atmosphere was filled with joy and anticipation as the bride and groom prepared to make their journey together.

Dutch Need Food and Are Sullen

Holland is so Resilient toward Germany as to Engage Says Dispatch.

London, April 5.—(Special.)—"Holland has done it both in its formal and in its practical way. Its success has been as complete as its failure. The Dutch approach to the problem of food is so different from that of the world, and a prominent member of the Allied Powers. The J. A. Vincent, press today said that the Dutch, in conferring the ardent suitors, were equipped to cope heroically from the north Sea in the vastness of the world. The resolution was unanimously passed and the matter was left as it was.

The personal interest in the sugar issue was continued in the German Chambers, with great force as much as the recent public criticism as to the cost of the food for the people of Germany. The Stotzfelds of Germany have been turning in various parts of the country, where the Dutch government is experiencing shortage of food to such an extent that the American public has been less eager to learn of its supply to certain districts. The Dutch government has been informed that food will be transported to Holland in vessels of various sizes, but the defenses of the country have not been put in question.

The Dutch have pronounced that there was a sullen determination against Germany as much as Emsland. The demonstration was named a manifestation of the Holland a movement for the defense of the country and the defense of the nation.
