Clean the Streets.
A lady, not a very old one, called our attention to the very dirty appearance of the business part of town, and suggested that we urge the council to take some action against it.

The Lantern's action in bringing attention to the matter shows that we are not so indifferent as some might suppose.

We understand that there is an ordinance against throwing garbage out of windows and allowing it to accumulate in the streets.

We believe that such matters are better handled in the hands of a public body. We will say, however, that we have been grading a good deal of this matter very well for some time.

We understand that there is an effort to bring about a change in the ordinance, and we hope that it may succeed.

It is, however, still in the very dirty stage. We hope that, when it is fully enforced, it may be entirely disregarded.

The Clinic correspondent of The State describes an interesting experiment which was made between 8 o'clock and 11 o'clock on a recent day. At 8 o'clock, there was a complete absence of rubbish on the streets, but by 11 o'clock, it had been completely swept. Whatever the cause, the streets were unswept.

We hope that this will be repeated, and that the council will be able to give us an explanation of the cause that unexpectedly swept the streets.

President McKinley and a party of his friends were yesterday on a trip to the Pacific.

The grand lodge of Odd Fellows, held its annual meeting at Greenville, closed with a banquet Thursday night.

Mr. W. H. Stovall, of Newberry, was re-elected grand master.

Major B. B. Bratton, of Newberry, was elected grand officer of the lodge.

Mr. Jones Byrd, of Newberry, was elected grand secretary.

Mr. A. J. Bowers, of Newberry, was elected grand treasurer.

The streets of Newberry are in a very dirty condition. It is well to give the ladies a chance to see our town as it is, and to let us try to civilize ourselves.

In well regulated cities it is not at all necessary to have scavenger wagons along the streets at night. The advantage of this system is that no matter which way the wind may blow, the wind will do the work for us. This work is scarcely appreciable. The streets of Newberry are not in a condition that the ladies can see them.

We have been thinking a great deal about the condition of the streets. The streets ought to be raked or swept, and let us try to do it.

Of course, on some streets, scavengers must be used. It is well to pay for the service, and let the council do this.

Many garbage accumulates on the streets. A great deal of garbage has been swept up with brushes made for the purpose. The streets of Newberry are not in a condition that the ladies can see them.

There is a column in a man named a man to the editor, and we hope that the city council will take the matter up, and let us have the streets in a condition that the ladies can see them.
