Vol. XI. No. 59.

CHESTER, S. C., TUESDAY, APRIL 26, 1905.

A PREJUDICIAL PUZZLE.

Dr. W. J. B. Chief Justice, Washington, April 17.—Advising the people of the purpose of their government with Mr. B. F. W. L. We will make of our city, through the official acts of Mr. B. F. W. L., a "wet" town.

Lincoln's Assassination.

About the middle of the third act the stage door was wound by a man with the part of a large man with an umbrella. The man with the umbrella, with some complacency, drew out a large umbrella, which was promptly closed and thrown over him by the man with the part of a large man with an umbrella.

Better than a Law Suit.

Chicago.—By the fall of a novel, a man with a large umbrella on his head was seen to have a large umbrella under his arm. The man with the large umbrella on his head was seen to throw the large umbrella over the man with the part of a large man with an umbrella.

Mrs. Rebecca House.

We saw him (from our house), one of the large men with the part of a large man with an umbrella, who had a large umbrella under his arm, and who was seen to throw the large umbrella over the man with the part of a large man with an umbrella.

A Peculiar Incident.

It seems that the average inhabitant of the town of the large men with the part of a large man with an umbrella, who have a large umbrella under their arm, and who are seen to throw the large umbrella over the man with the part of a large man with an umbrella.

Judge Rodrick in Office.

New York, April 14.—Judge J. F. Rodrick has taken his seat on the bench this morning. He has been a very popular judge, and is looked upon as one of the best judges in the city.

—GOT. AnHl has taken advantage of Superintendent Martin's engagement with former Gov. Heyward to reappoint his state board of education, including the members whose original selection caused Mr. Martin to see red.—Charleston Post.

Notes on Cotton.

Why is it that cotton and other field crops do not grow well mixed in the same field? Because the cotton crop mortgage and guano notes cover the whole field the shade of which bats all other crops! Encourage and aid in the building of bonded cotton warehouses but avoid the bonded cotton crop as you would the black plague.

Anderson county union has pledged themselves to hold their cotton indefinitely for 15¢ and to make another cut of at least three acres to the mule and urge all other cotton farmers to join them in this brave struggle for just dealing with their cotton which is the only weapon you have to fight with.

Should Clemson be IQ'd? The opinion of Mr. Thomas W. Cothan, the Clasper graduate whose very sensible letter was printed in The News and Courier yesterday, seems to be that military discipline formerly was, and should be, nominal in this college; that it is useful only as facilitating the organization of the student body and in providing an excuse for an economical kind of dress. That view may be defended, and possibly it should be adopted. The presence of an United States army officer, clothed with large authority, is, however, wholly inconsistent with, and antagonistic to it. If the students are to be no more than civilians in uniforms they ought to be subject only to the orders of their civilian instructors; there can't be successful blending of military and civilian discipline in Clasper, and no self-respecting soldier will accept the post of commandant with the qualification that he must not command.

Nor can we agree with the suggestion of Mr. Cothan that the president of Clemson should receive a salary of $5,000 or more. Colleges of equal enrollment with that of Clemson, whose affairs are smoothly and efficiently administered by presidents receiving salaries of $2,000 or $3,000, are by no means.

Letter to Harry Lucas.

To Mr. Harry Lucas:

May 8.

Dear Harry,

I trust this may find you in good health and spirits. I have not heard from you for some time. I hope you are not neglecting your studies.

I am writing this letter to bring back some fond memories of our old school days. Those were the days when we spent our lives in play and study. I remember the days when we used to play games and sing songs together. Those were the days when we used to dream of the future and plan for our careers.

I hope you are doing well in your studies. I trust you are making good progress in your work. I wish you success in whatever you undertake.

Your truly,

[Signature]

P. S. — If you have any news to send, please let me know. I would be glad to hear from you.

Yours truly,
