GREAT CROWD
HERE FOR CIRCUS

Big Tent Was Crooked both Day and Night. It Was a Good Show.

Long live the circus, please and be patient. We all have to work, and they can't all be horses.

There was a circus last night, and there was a toodaiizeci reception reached Chester during the week. There were many people in the early hours of the city, and some who arrived early by a party of prices. H. T. McPherson is the manager of the circus. There were many people in the city who had seen the circus and the performance.

While there was a great deal of activity in the city, there were many people in the circus who were not attending the performances.

The circus was held in the city,

Goodyears Enlarged 20 Per Cent

Nearly half the cars using small tires are changed to large ones. This is the reason why Goodyears have been enlarged 20 per cent. The facts are stated by W. R. Davenport of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company. The enlargement is not only an increase in size, but also an improvement in rubber and construction. There is no better tire than the Goodyear. The new sizes are designed to meet the demands of customers who want a larger tire at the same price.

GERMANS SUFFER
SERIOUS CHECK

The greatest single factor in the present war is the fact that the German people are suffering a serious check in their war effort. This is due to the fact that the German government has been unable to mobilize the necessary manpower and resources for the war effort. The German people are suffering from lack of food, clothing, and other necessities. The German government has been forced to ration food and other necessities in order to meet the demands of the war effort.

The Women of the South.

Every city and town of the South has a story to tell of the women of the South, and so it should. The women of the South have been the backbone of the South for generations.

It is said that when the South was in dire straits, the women of the South would stand up and take matters into their own hands. They would work tirelessly to support their families and their communities.

The women of the South are known for their strong work ethic, their dedication to their families, and their ability to persevere through difficult times.

The women of the South have always been a force to be reckoned with. They have been the ones who have held the fort when the going got tough.

Today, the women of the South continue to be a force to be reckoned with. They are still working tirelessly to support their families and their communities.

The women of the South are an inspiration to us all. They have shown us that with hard work and determination, anything is possible.

The Women of the South are a true example of what it means to be a woman in the South.
Eugene Robinson, veteran traveling salesman of Baltimore, and well-known all over South and North Carolina, died here Sunday morning following several weeks’ severe illness from diabetes. His body was laid to rest in Oakwood Cemetery, here, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Dorothy Robinson who had been here for several days. His body was taken from New York by special train for burial.

All appropriate arrangements on the subject of the funeral have been made by Mrs. Robinson at the request of the decedent. Miss Ruth B. Mansfield will conduct the service at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

flannel ecotji. The body heat releases vapors that are inhaled with every breath, opening the air passages, loosening the mucus and healing the raw surfaces, or deep chest cough. First apply hot wet towels to open the pores. Vicks is then absorbed through the skin, taking out that tightness and adhesiveness. A very convenient vapor treatment is good application of Vicks “Vap-O-Rub” Balsalve over the throat and chest, covered with a warm cloth.

Mr. Claude Westfall, of Charlestown, W. Va., applied an application for Mutual Benefit insurance on July 17, 1915, and paid the first quarterly premium of $6.10 to the agent, taking in exchange the Company's binding receipt. He made an application for insurance the following day, but his wife, for whose benefit the policy was to be taken, tried to dissuade him from applying. The agent, however, finally prevailed upon him to be examined and on July 22nd examination was made. It proved satisfactory. The application, which was for a fifty-acre farm land, was approved by the Medical Board and placed on the policy list. Policy was issued and mailed on August 5, 1915.

In the meantime, on July 5th, Mr. Westfall was taken sick and his trouble was diagnosed as acute peritonitis. On August 5th he died. It will be noted that this was the same day that his policy was approved. Mr. Westfall, if the first premium he had prepaid the insurance was in force, although the policy itself was never delivered to the insured. The proceeds were paid to the widow on August 13th. Prepayment of the quarterly premium saved the beneficiary.

The success of this association will depend not only on procuring a capable manager but also upon the co-operative support of every member.

FRED W. HOFMANN,
Market Agent, Clemson Agricultural College.

On July 19 about twenty of the asparagus growers met in an informal way at Columbia with W. W. Long, director of extension at Clemson. The meeting was in the nature of a round-table discussion, and the growers took it as an opportunity to exchange their ideas and experiences. It developed that, with a few exceptions, the growers were operating at a loss. The consensus was that the growers' system of marketing was wrong.

The growers next invited the market agent at Clemson College and C. £. Bassett of the Office of Markets and Rural Organization, U. S. department of agriculture, to attend an informal meeting of asparagus men at Ridge Spring and another at Trenton. At the Ridge Spring meeting it soon developed that the growers had not sorted for market.

The revenue derived from the State Income tax in 1915 was double that of 1914, according to a statement issued by Carlton W. Sywyer, comptroller general. The total this year was $37,126,876. The total for 1914 was $15,803,317. There was a tax on all incomes in excess of $2,500. Chester county showed a decrease in 1915 the amount being $257,185 against $303,551 in 1914.

The success of this association will depend not only on procuring a capable manager but also upon the co-operative support of every member.
