U.S. Needs New Modern Navy

New York, June 8—A lead of aright-minded leaders of the country yesterday, which was published in the New York Times, is that the United States needs a new modern navy.

The loss of the maiden voyage of the transatlantic liner, the Lusitania, has been a great blow to Great Britain, and the United States is not immune from the consequences of the world's war.

The U.S. is in a position to provide the necessary means for the construction of a new navy, and it is to the credit of the country that it is ready to do so.

Loss of Earl Kitchener Was Great Blow to Great Britain

London, June 8—The death of Field Marshal Earl Kitchener has been a great blow to Great Britain, and the United States is not immune from the consequences of the war.

Field Marshal Kitchener was one of the most prominent figures in the British military establishment, and his death will be a great loss to the country.

The United States, as a neutral, is not directly affected by the war, but it is in a position to provide the necessary means for the construction of a new navy, and it is to the credit of the country that it is ready to do so.

Nothing To Be Added To The Maxwell

YOU will never want to add anything to your Maxwell.

The purchase price includes everything you will ever need or desire for luxurious motoring.

You won't want to disguise the hood or buy a new body or put in another carburetor or ignition system or install electric lights or a self-starter.

You won't want a new radiator or springs or new spark plugs or shock-absorbers or a new top.

You need nothing for comfort, reliability, beauty, economy or convenience. If it is a Maxwell, your car, your experience and your investment are complete.

That is the way that Maxwells are designed, manufactured and sold.

Question the owners of other motor cars—any other motor cars—and see if they are equally satisfied with their motoring investment.
