THE LANTERN.
By Way of Explanation.

The author of the article is explaining the reasons behind the results of the election in North Carolina. He mentions that the lack of a certificate affected less than two hundred voters, and that the people voting in North Carolina have more freedom at the polls than in the southern states.

He also discusses the importance of elections and the need for a free press. The author points out that the democratic party has always had a democratic flag and that it is up to the people to follow their leaders. He suggest that the democratic party has been driven by false pretenses.

He concludes by saying that it is up to the people to choose their leaders and to follow their own consciences. He encourages the reader to do their own research and to make their own decisions.
Mr. J. C. Craig, of Blackstock, visited the former's sister, Mrs. J. S. Daniel of Greenville, after some business matters.

A Personal Matter.

Wells up to my knowledge that there were rumors in circulation that I was a candidate for an appointment at Powderm ey in Newerly. It was brought home to me by a public notice of this rumor and by the possibility when- ever opportunity offered.

This brought home to me the absurdity of the fact that the rumor was repeated at various intervals, and that I was given to understand that I was a candidate.

I have not at any time been a candidate for a position at Powderm ery, for I have never been given to understand that I was a candidate.
