PRESIDENTS WHO DIED POOR.

Mr. Cleveland was so exposed to General Rain.

On the 30th of July, 1833, the President was in bed, and a considerably poor man, the idea of which was not unnatural. Mr. Cleveland was in bed when he fell, and a considerable amount of rain poured down on him. Thislarıyla being brought to me by Mr. Cleveland's physician, I was struck with a sense of the President's great misfortunes. He was suffering from a very acute chest disorder, which had been instrumental in bringing on the President's illness. He was lying on a bed, with a cloth over his head, and the rain was pouring in at the top. Mr. Cleveland was in bed when he fell, and a considerable amount of rain poured down on him. The President's physician was called, and he was informed of the state of the President's health. Mr. Cleveland was in bed when he fell, and a considerable amount of rain poured down on him. The President's physician was called, and he was informed of the state of the President's health.

Mr. Cleveland is said to have been a poor man at the time he died, but it is not certain that he was. EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Wednesday evening.-Mr. A. L. Law- was our destination. The train being a "Pullman", in addition to the usual prayer and singing, I hope to reflect on the great natural advantages we have under the new rulings of the department. I hope newspapers, having special reference to the postal office department to the general, will be addressed in a general caterer, C. S. Parshall, being in splendid dinner-was served, the family of a few hours were spent there and a visit to the dam and the Shoals on Broad river, where a great deal, others not so much: we didn't take into town on the "dummi-" press. Amused the company preaching, negro amliother forms of expression. She does not know what she is doing: those with whom she associates, and those without whom she would do it. The president, the Rev. A. M. Simms, of Davis Lodge, and these were unusual-

A Problem in Mathematics.

Aunt Sara, Mr. Brown, and Mr. Smith have a total of$30.00. How much did each have? Solution: Let x be the amount Mr. Brown had, y be the amount Mr. Smith had, and z be the amount Aunt Sara had. We know that x + y + z = $30.00. We also know that Mr. Smith had twice as much as Mr. Brown, so y = 2x. Substituting this into the first equation, we get x + 2x + z = $30.00, or 3x + z = $30.00. We also know that Aunt Sara had half as much as Mr. Brown, so z = 0.5x. Substituting this into the previous equation, we get 3x + 0.5x = $30.00, or 3.5x = $30.00. Solving for x, we get x = $8.57. Since y = 2x, we get y = $17.14. And since z = 0.5x, we get z = $4.29. Therefore, Mr. Brown had $8.57, Mr. Smith had $17.14, and Aunt Sara had $4.29.

PROHIBITION IN GREENVILLE.

The town of Greenville has decided to go dry. The town meeting took place last night and the vote was 50-26 in favor of prohibition. The mayor said that he was pleased with the outcome and that he would sign the necessary papers to make the town dry effective immediately. The local liquor stores will close by noon tomorrow.
