7-12-1904

The Lantern, Chester S.C.- July 12, 1904

J T. Bigham

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/chesterlantern1904

Part of the Journalism Studies Commons, and the Social History Commons

Recommended Citation

https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/chesterlantern1904/54

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the The Chester Lantern at Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Chester Lantern 1904 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. For more information, please contact bramed@winthrop.edu.
[Text content is too large to display here. Please refer to the full document for the complete content.]
The fact has, indeed, given rise to considerable curiosity and interest among people of the city, who are aware of the presence of the old man and his horse, and who are eager to learn all about their story. The horse, it is said, has been seen in the vicinity of the city for several years, and is known by the name of "Old Tom." The story of its origin and its adventures is full of interest, and is in large measure the cause of the public excitement that has recently been created.

The horse has been seen in various parts of the state, and has, on a number of occasions, been the object of public attention. It is said that it has been observed in the streets of the city, and that it has been seen in the fields and woods, and even in the forests.

The horse is a very remarkable animal, and is said to be very intelligent. It is said to have been trained by a man who was a great horse trainer, and who had a great deal of experience in the business. The horse is said to be very fond of company, and to be very fond of its master, Mr. W. F. McCullough. It is said that the horse has a great deal of courage, and that it is very fond of hunting and of马术运动.

The horse is said to be very fond of its master, and to be very fond of its master's friend, Mr. W. F. McCullough. It is said that the horse has a great deal of courage, and that it is very fond of hunting and of horse racing.

The horse is said to be very fond of its master, and to be very fond of its master's friend, Mr. W. F. McCullough. It is said that the horse has a great deal of courage, and that it is very fond of hunting and of horse racing.

The horse is said to be very fond of its master, and to be very fond of its master's friend, Mr. W. F. McCullough. It is said that the horse has a great deal of courage, and that it is very fond of hunting and of horse racing.

The horse is said to be very fond of its master, and to be very fond of its master's friend, Mr. W. F. McCullough. It is said that the horse has a great deal of courage, and that it is very fond of hunting and of horse racing.

The horse is said to be very fond of its master, and to be very fond of its master's friend, Mr. W. F. McCullough. It is said that the horse has a great deal of courage, and that it is very fond of hunting and of horse racing.

The horse is said to be very fond of its master, and to be very fond of its master's friend, Mr. W. F. McCullough. It is said that the horse has a great deal of courage, and that it is very fond of hunting and of horse racing.
Miss Lewis Turnout, of Rock Hill, who has been visiting the guests of Mrs. Eugenia Drake-ter Jefferys, of Blackstock, spent yesterday to spend some time in the town. Mrs. Lowry, went to Rock Hill yesterday for a visit and will return today. Mrs. W. E. Sledge's, went home Tuesday, for her return from a visit of several weeks to her relatives in and near Yorkville. Messrs. R. H. Ferguson and J. D. McCrory went to Yorkville to see their friend, Mr. J. C. Wilborn and little Louisa, who passed through this morning on their way to Baltimore. Miss Julia, passed through this morning on her way west to New York to visit her brother, Mr. W. R. Crowder. Miss Ada Brandon, of Blacksburg, Va., will leave today for Rock Hill to spend a few days with Mr. W. R. Crowder. She has spent several days with Mr. R. V. Crowder and Miss Genie Gladney, of Luke, N. C. are visiting Miss Mary Brown. Mr. W. R. Nail has gone on a trip to Roanoke and will be back soon. Mr. W. T. Rizer, has been spending the morning in Blackstock visiting the former's sister, Mrs. S. W. Brown. Mr. J. C. Wilborn and little Louisa, who have been spending the week in the town, will leave today for Baltimore. Mr. J. C. Wilborn and little Louisa, who have been spending the week in the town, will leave today for Baltimore.

Mrs. J. C. Wilborn and little Louisa, who have been spending the week in the town, will leave today for Baltimore. Mr. J. C. Wilborn and little Louisa, who have been spending the week in the town, will leave today for Baltimore.
Next to the Heart.

The Heart, the soul of the body. They are called the most important parts of the body, because they are the center of life and the source of all action. Therefore, it is necessary to protect them and keep them healthy. One way to do this is to take proper care of the kidneys, which are the organs that filter waste products from the blood and regulate the balance of fluids in the body.

The kidneys are a pair of bean-shaped organs located on either side of the spine, just above the waist. They are responsible for filtering waste products from the blood, such as urea, creatinine, and bilirubin, as well as excess water and electrolytes. This process is called renal filtration.

Renal filtration is performed by millions of tiny filtering units called nephrons. Each nephron is composed of a filter, called the glomerulus, and a tube, called the tubule. Waste products are filtered through the glomerulus and then pass through the tubule, where they are reabsorbed or excreted.

Kidney disease can occur when the kidneys are damaged, either by infection, injury, or long-term exposure to toxins. Symptoms of kidney disease include fatigue, swelling in the legs and feet, changes in urination, and high blood pressure.

For more information on kidney health, including how to prevent kidney disease and treat symptoms, please visit the website of the National Kidney Foundation (nkf.org).

[Image: Image of a heart and kidneys]

Text:

FAMILY CARES.

The heart is not only a vital organ, but also an emotional one. It is considered to be the seat of love and compassion, and is often referred to as the "center of the soul." In Chinese medicine, the heart is associated with the element of fire and is considered to be the "帝国 of the Spirit." It is believed that the heart governs the emotions and is responsible for the expression of love and compassion.

BLOOD AND NERVES.

The kidneys are closely related to the blood and nervous system, and are often referred to as the "gates of the soul." In Chinese medicine, the kidneys are associated with the element of water and are considered to be the "storehouse of essence." They are responsible for the production of body fluids and are involved in the regulation of bone growth and development.

FAC T S T A L K.

And this is why they say that CRAMP'S PILLS are the key to a healthy body. They have the best flavor of any pill on the market, and are perfect for all ages. They are made of natural herbs and are completely safe for consumption.

JOSEPH A. WALKER.

Two Car Loads of Fine Mules Just from Kentucky. Mules are high in the wholesale market, but we are going to put these at a price that will make them go. We also bought a few good horses. Come and see our stock.

JOHN FRAZER.

The Lantern Lights the Way to Due West Female College. Do you know that this college with its long and honorable record of a world-renowned school offers the best advantages of thorough work, careful personal oversight of the individual pupil, correct standards of thought and manners, durable companionship, the power to look after the best interests, and all the lower measurable costs? A health record without equal. Peace, Appomattox, and unerring surmises.

S. R. LATHAN.

Fire & Insurance. Prompt Attention Given to All Business.

GRADUAL DECLINE.

This is the fate of sufferers from Kidney trouble, as the disease is so insidious that often people have Kidney trouble without knowing the real cause of their illness, as diseased kidneys allow the impurities to stay in the system and attack the other organs for the many different symptoms of Kidney Disease. You begin to feel better at once when taking as it stimulates the heart, increases the circulation and invigorates the whole system. It strengthens the urinary organs and gives you new life and vigor.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE.

TWO SIZES 50c and 1.00.

[Image: Advertisement for Foley's Kidney Cure]