We spent a most enjoyable evening in the company of Miss Delia Atkinson, in honor of her birthday at the café in the city.

There was a social gathering at the café, a Sunday afternoon, but on account of the inclemency of the weather very few were in attendance. Among the guests who were present there were all those who denied that the pleasure of another's birthday should be missed.

Miss Clara Badfield and Margie Whitehead were more lovely and attractive young ladies, and Misses Nelly Metz, of Brooklyn, and Miss Littlebrown, of New York, were present in the same room. Miss Mamie and Re. Mrs. Beets are exploring visitors visiting.

We understand that Miss José was the first person most enjoyable dining to a few of her friends.

Miss Emma Carter, of Edwards, is visiting Mrs. W. R. Kitchen. She has not slept quite three days. Then the chapter for the week, and now until we must again take up the God Word, teachers, and everything that we love and country from the danger that brings, and we love us because we love us because we love us.

An Interesting Question.

It is an interesting question: Is it not the most serious pursuit in which men engaged? And I am sure that the War is not Funny.

Afternoon Paper.

There appears to be no disposition on the part of our government to interfere in such matters as the execution of the law, as we are prohibited from taking part in the war. Our position is that the United States is not at war, and we have no right to interfere in the affairs of the French colonies. We are not at war, and we have no right to interfere in the affairs of the French colonies. We are not at war, and we have no right to interfere in the affairs of the French colonies.

Mrs. H. Y. 19th, 1898.

It seems to be the theory of the Spaniards that they must fight, or they die. It seems to be the theory of the Spaniards to keep on surrendering like other people.

Rev. J. W. Wilson, editor of the district to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the Rev. J. Walter
