Contest Set For April 21 On Campus

Roberts Says Annual Music Meeting Planned Despite Restrictions

Because of transportation difficulties, the annual State High School Music contest held at Winthrop will be postponed until later this month. Miss Minnie Dunn, director of music, has announced that April 21 is the new date for the contest. The contest is open to all schools in South Carolina.

TheJones Prize, which will be awarded to the school with the highest number of points, will be made available to any school that registers and sends two students, one of whom must be a senior. The contest will be held in three parts: vocal, instrumental, and mixed. The contest will be judged by a panel of judges, including Dr. Robert F. Smith, professor of music at Winthrop College, and Dr. J. Edgar H. Smith, professor of music at Emory University.

The contest will be held on Thursday, April 21, at 3:00 p.m. at the College Auditorium. The public is invited to attend the contest and to enjoy the music of the participants.

Winthrop Art Would Be Exhibited In High Schools

By Ida Marie Townsend

A new plan to exhibit Winthrop art works in high schools has been announced by Miss Minnie Dunn, head of the music department. The plan is intended to encourage the study of art and to promote the appreciation of art among students in high schools.

The plan involves the selection of art works from the collection of Miss Dunn, which includes paintings, sculptures, and other works of art. These works will be exhibited in high schools throughout the state, and will be accompanied by explanatory labels and descriptive literature.

The plan is expected to be of great benefit to students in high schools, as it will provide them with an opportunity to see and to study works of art that are not usually available to them. It will also provide a means of promoting the appreciation of art among students who may not have had the opportunity to study art in their schools.

Winthrop Facultyty Offers Summer Session’ Attendance Plan For Next Fall Term

Recommend at Special Meeting That Teachers Handle All Absences Present Cut System—Action Awaits Approval of President Phelps

Beginning Monday of this week, a new student regimentation and a special Fall Term attendance plan will be introduced at Winthrop College. The new system will be designed to provide an opportunity for students who are unable to attend classes, due to illness or other reasons.

The new system will be based on a revised regulation, which will be effective starting with September 1. The regulation states that a student who is absent from class for three or more days in any one block of five days shall be excused from all classes for that block.

This new system, according to President Phelps, is intended to provide a more flexible and effective way of handling absences, while at the same time reducing the burden on the faculty. The new system will be presented to the faculty at a special meeting, and their approval will be sought.

Sofos Will Entertain High School Seniors For Next Week End

Because of the success of the high school weekend last week, at which time over 75 high school seniors came to the campus and were entertained by the freshmen of the class and by the students of the college, the Winthrop college administration has decided to continue this program for the next week.

The New Attendance "Plan"

If the recommendations on attendance the faculty adopted Monday night are approved by the Student Senate, the attendance policy will become a matter between student and teacher. The idea is both simple and sound. That is, if a student is absent, his absence will count for the new regulation. There are no devious ways of getting around the various aspects of it. Simply and sincerely it will be an accurate reflection of how hard a student is working or to what happens when a student misses class.

It is because of the simplicity of the idea, because it puts the problem of attendance in the hands of the student, that we support the regulation. It sounds as though that some teachers will have to be careful not to be led astray. The idea is not sound because it permits teachers to demand a certain amount of last minute attendance, and we need nothing more than that. A student can, without injury to his grades, miss Monday's class and be there for Tuesday and Friday. Not many students are perfect, and there are a lot of reasons why.

Spring Is Everywhere—Almost

Spring is here, and the flowers and grass and trees are green everywhere... that is, almost everywhere. The warmer weather has brought a revival of writing editorials on the condition of the campus lawn. It is rather hard to believe in the past we don't recall when last the grass was so long, but the growth is good enough to hold on to again.

Take the front lawn of North dormitory. It began long ago, but since the arrival of the cadets it's become much worse. It isn't growing in its natural state, but begins to science begins to hurt us when we think that the grass might have grown so much, we are quite likely to go to meals, or going to and from classes. The grass here, there, take a look! You'll see what we mean.

On Attending Vespers

If you go to Vespers on time, then you know how annoying and disturbing it is when a guy throws a watermelon into the balcony while the speaker tries to hold on. You can imagine how many people are turned off, and the students try to concentrate.

You're familiar with the Miss-Hi-Miss Thing. It happened in the last number. If you go to Vespers on time, and fill it up, you could find that you'd be less than likely to go to the place you're in, you've wondered why nobody had told you what was going on, for knowing the embarrassment you could have. You know that the discomfort of the speaker must be a great deal more than yours...

Miss-Hi-Miss Time Again

It's become another Winthrop custom and tradition. It began 56 years ago, and with each successive year has grown in popularity and importance, not only to Winthrop students, but also to the alumni.

You're familiar with the Miss-Hi-Miss Thing. It happened in the last number. Spring in the Campus

by MARIA MESS

The sun is bright and the weather is warm, making it a perfect day for a picnic. However, we aren't quite sure if the cadets have received the memo about having a picnic. It seems as though they are having a picnic, but it's still fun.

There are a couple of other spots around the campus that are being used as well. But a few more shortcuts and the lawn is being strolled with little pathways. And that is what we are trying to do.

Winfthrop Delegates Attend 'Y' rot
Six Winthrop girls represented the local Y.W.C.A. at the last meeting of the National Advisory Board for the University of South Carolina campus this past weekend. Miss Cesena, who was in charge of the event, was the guest speaker and gave a report of the meeting on the campus.

The Winthrop group had the assistance of the board members, but no member of the local group was able to attend. The group decided that this year the students should be given as much statistical information as is possible. It was also urged that the students be managed, declared the famous consumerist.

Believing that most of the present problems of the school are on the administrative or financial level, the student organization was formed by a student group, rather than to talk on many matters of concern to the student body. Instead, other problems of the school are to be worked out in the future.

Most Debates Youth

Taking part in the debate in the youth group was Miss Cesena. The discussion was centered on the war and its effect on the youth of America. The group decided that the youth of America have a right to voice their opinion, and that they should not be afraid to express it.
