8-19-1898

The Lantern, Chester S.C.- August 19, 1898

J T. Bigham

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/chesterlantern1898

Part of the Journalism Studies Commons, and the Social History Commons

Recommended Citation
Bigham, J T., "The Lantern, Chester S.C.- August 19, 1898" (1898). The Chester Lantern 1898. 66.
https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/chesterlantern1898/66

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the The Chester Lantern at Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Chester Lantern 1898 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@mailbox.winthrop.edu.
None of the text is clearly visible or legible due to the quality of the image.
FRIDAY, AUGUST 19, 1898.

Now since the campaign meeting at Anderson Vesuvius is also in eruption.

"Catechism of Keowee:" An Indian story.

Vote for the man whose name you would take without security, whose word you would take without an oath, whose character you would trust with the character of your boys and your girls, and whose region is exempted in his daily walk and conversation.

Mr. Thomas L. Lattke, widely known as an earnest politician, was in the city yesterday. He thinks his division is second to none, and the second race for governor will be between Governor Effie and Mr. Pathfinder, with the odds in favor of the latter.

It might be appropriate for the candidates for adjutant and inspector general to illustrate their progress before the voters, but we can see no good reason why candidates after sixth in the line of educational should enter into a competitive examination in publicism.

It seems that the main surrender on the Catechism approach was included, and now the question before the authority for the covers on the Washington Chronicle, or the whole of the island in terms of the surrender.

The Orangeburg company was mustered in at the Chester company, although the latter had the most men. Of course, do not know all the circumstances, but this is not likely. It is evident that the Crawford company ought to have been in the field.

The war department has granted concessions allowing South Carolinians' second regiment to be mustered in with the main force. This is more than expected, and will enable us to complete very soon, as many more recruits are wanted than could have been obtained at all.

Our lawn swings are the "thing" for a hot evening. They make a breeze equal to an electric fan.

One two-story six-room cottage.

The Dispensary appears to be doing for the health of the city, and this year it has paid $6,000 into the city treasury. Back $10,000 for the new buildings and additions and additions. The Dispensary is in credit in town and owes only half that amount.

Pretty good business that for "practical prohibition." We must congratulate the citizens on the law that by "inducing around.""

Mr. Robson is more notoriety in this town. He has been told on a few days ago that his "Catechism of Keowee." Cracker," as Mr. Hum probably calls himself, and indeed, may very well.

With a face attractive and intelligent, Mr. Robson has been a great deal of comfort and some little success, he has been quite successful. But it is not the attention at the summit of a mountain that would have succeeded before they reached the top, but rather the strength and effort that can be accomplished by several mountains to hear "Solvay's," the summit of a mountain.

From this lofty point the scenery is almost enchanting. To the west the cotton fields are low, the clouds surmounted by still lighter clouds. But the valley is a rich vegetation. Looking down on the little narrow gauge railroad track and the Cabaret, one could almost imagine the famous French stream the final song of the road can be seen as far as the eye can see. Side by side with this is the mountainous terrain of the mountain.

However delightful and refreshing the scene, the people turn with marked interest to the "Catechism of Keowee." Mr. Hum readily called himself, and indeed, may very well.

The market at the depot in Yorkville ready to join the excursionists, but when the train reached the southern end of the town, they found that the railroad was not extensively used. When Hickey was reached the railroad was no longer in use, and the train could not longer be seen as the city was surrounded by the town. The hills were much more in this point, as one glance from the window would clearly show the situation of the town. Not every direction, but as it is surrounded by all hills and small hills, this scene could be seen for miles.

For several hundred yards before reaching the Cliffs point, the view is entirely obstructed by overhanging timbers. Suppose we could not see South Carolinians would call them.

The railroad runs on the hillside, and through the town, as far as the eye can see. The cotton and cotton. A man skilled in the art of the hand can make it into a picture. The view is wide open, as far as the eye can see.

The picnic at Elberton was in the afternoon, and at a distance of two miles from South Carolina. The refreshments were served by the members of Elberton. The entire process was an organ for the organ of the town. Mama Emma Wilkes and Mrs. Mary Sue, two west Chester's popular young ladies, who have been together for some time, went to Roanoke to visit friends. What are you going to do now, when the war is over. You can't do anything, when the war is over, you can't do anything. You have to go to the fair, and enjoy it.

Mr. Robert L. Hayes paid us a visit on Saturday last. He was very kind and cordial. We all enjoyed the visit, and have a great many good friends.

Miss Lily Hough spent three days in Lancaster last week. Her visit to Lancaster was long anticipated, her cousin, Miss Fanny Celestine, was delighted.

The protracted meeting service will begin at Elberton next Sunday. Mr. T. C. Hough, of Charleston, will preach the service, and that much good may be done.

Mr. B. C. Hough spent several days in Lancaster last week.

Mrs. Hough is visiting her cousin, Miss Celestine, in Lancaster.

The Dispensary is in liquidation.

The above named stallion is a valuable animal for the race track. He is of the best of the breed, and is considered by most of the experts to be the best stallion in the county.

The protracted meeting service will begin at Elberton next (kindly.)

They are the "thing" for a hot evening. They make a breeze equal to an electric fan.

The above named stallion is a valuable animal for the race track. He is of the best of the breed, and is considered by most of the experts to be the best stallion in the county.

The Dispensary is in liquidation.

The above named stallion is a valuable animal for the race track. He is of the best of the breed, and is considered by most of the experts to be the best stallion in the county.

The Dispensary is in liquidation.

The above named stallion is a valuable animal for the race track. He is of the best of the breed, and is considered by most of the experts to be the best stallion in the county.
To all who attended Columbia yesterday, accompanied by Rev. W. M. Grier, we are deeply grateful for the pleasure and happiness that your enjoyment brought to us. The special theme of the sermon was "The Second Team and the Stuyvesant Cornet". These 'gals' whose voices were carried in the air, were dangled over their foreheads, around their necks, and the ladies of the Stuyvesant gossip group were most delighted with the performance.

Mrs. M. L. McCrory has been invited by the Columbia University Board to give the audience a most excellent sermon on "The Gift of God to Man." The ladies of the Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary were very pleased with the sermon, and expressed their appreciation to Rev. W. M. Grier for the fine work he has been doing.

The Union Central is proud of the new officers who have been installed in the organization. Mr. W. J. Brawley, principal of the Atlanta University School of Law, has taken charge of the school at Columbia, N. C., and C. H. Williams, of the New York Times, has been appointed to the position of assistant editor.

The Faculty has been enlarged. Special attention to English, Elocution, and Debating has been given. The Akron Bldg. of the Northern Baptist Theological Seminary, separated from all other buildings, connected with the main building by a bridge, is very comfortable and roomy. The new probation system has been adopted, and the class of 1922 is well prepared. In charge of President and his wife, who do not own or rent, the new system has been adopted.

The Mountaineer, Jan. 20th, 1919.

Now is your chance again... Mr. Brandt is now in New York buying new stock. Everything new and up-to-date.

R. BRANDT, The Jeweler.

Under Tower Clock, Chester, S. C.

Tobacco! Molasses! —EVERYTHING CHEAP AT—

Wm. LINDSAY & SON'S

Just received car load of NEW ORLEANS Molasses, in new barrels, which we will let go as fast as possible, so come and see.

We will sell you good TOBACCO so you can make money on it. Don't forget us.
And here let me make some remarks as to the real evils of the present system. Self-righteousness is often deceiving, and self-righteousness is the big evil that would be conquered.

The brain that originates it.

He may never be heard from again.

Look for them, in an age of progress. The only capture, the Spaniards had. A short disorganized evil would be conquered. No other evil would be conquered. No other.

There can be no palliative.