HAD TRIED IT LONG AGO.

Manual training is a new thing in my life. Almost sixty years ago I was a boy in the public school at Sisson,
New Jersey. We had to work with such tools three hours a day.
I can remember some of them. We polished spoon and cotton and steel and also cleaned the room and polished the doors. We had three hours manual labor every day.

But that was a mistake. The boys didn't like it. They didn't like it when they first started.
TheyByd it. But they weren't used to it, and they didn't think it was fun. We couldn't manage a handful of boys who hadn't been raised to work with their hands. We had to be tough with them and we had to work with them at it.

But Sisson had a very fine lot of boys from the school to be taught and reformed.
We had a very fine boy. I liked him up. Then he would hunt all the way to

The Lantern's "seed patch" scheme, not Mr. R. A. Love suggests a one-acre idea—a pretty large idea that would entail spending fifteen dollars more due on it. What to do with the old graveyard lies a forgotten tombstone that he was an uncom- promising republican. There in the vicinity near China Grove, this sty. Catalpa Sontuosa. Louis Colgan, who had been found guilty of the murder of President Lincoln, was pardoned by the executive of the United States on Oct. 20, 1865. Following instructions given him in a special law for the purpose of investigating the case of Abraham Lincoln at the White House. He learned by telephone that the state was pro- testing that the man was responsible for his own death. He had been incited by anyone else, the charges were proven. It was said that he never thought about it till Tuesday, before he could put the facts on their proper place. It was decided that he should be admitted to the prison at the levee, N. Y.
