WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 22.

In his speech at the several council meetings, the President reviewed the administration's policy that will be followed by the administration in the control of the camps and regiments. It was held that the departments of regiments and commanders of regiments were held responsible for the conditions of the suffering of their men, and will be required to report their cases to the Secretary of War. The Secretary of War says, the greatest trouble seems to have arisen from the neglect of sanitary regulations, and will hold that the commanders of regiments did not do their duty, and commanders of regiments were not held responsible for the neglect of sanitary regulations, and that the duty of the commanders of regiments was to blame for the neglect of sanitary regulations.
