EDITORIAL

The foreign Cotton auction gatherings had a most interesting feature in the shape of the anti-Cotton Louse League. There was in the market a drop of 2.25 cents, which was new and hopeful. The cotton growers in the South have always had a good market, and the prices have been fairly even. This week the prices were fairly good, and the farmers were happy. The farmers were glad to see the high prices, and they were glad to see the low prices.

Most of the farmers in the South have always been happy, and they have always been glad to see the high prices. This week the prices were fairly good, and the farmers were happy. The farmers were glad to see the high prices, and they were glad to see the low prices.

State Prohibition.

SOUTH CAROLINA V. McCLAIN: Pursuant to the law, there has been announced that he intends to introduce a wine prohibition bill at the next session of the legislature, with a provision that retaining the local option, the bill would become law by the vote of three-fifths of the members present.

The state superintendent of taxation, who has power to appoint and dismiss tax assessors, has been given the power to suspend them at any time, and it is understood that this power has been exercised in some cases.

Retiring the local option of the county of York, and retaining the state option for the sale of wine in that county, will be before the legislature at its next session.
