An Explanation

What the Merchants Say About Chester Wholesale Grocery Company.

They sell goods so cheap; they are continually raising the cotton seed market; they are now bulling the cotton market; cutting the price on wagons and bargains. This may all be true, but we cannot see how this will hurt our customers. We do not think they are hurt, and we are not running a hospital for wounded merchants.

We will sell bagging and ties cheaper than any one in Chester. We carry almost everything. We want every buyer to investigate these charges and if true, save money on what you buy. We will guarantee everything as represented or money refunded.

The Rally Was a Great Success

Tremendous Crowds. Plans to Eat and Good Cheer on Every Hand.—Speeches

Order clear and alive and with the best of wishes to Counsellor Layn as he went Wednesday. Residence of a long-term nature and the experience of many years. The success of the day was a great joy to the officers, members, and friends of the Association. The grey capital speech, just the right length, and the address of building and loan were well delivered. The address of building and loan was delivered by a young lady, and her best and her words were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

One of the best things to be said about the speech was that it was a natural one. Chester's hospitality and good nature is a great delight.

Sunday's work in the streets and squares was truly a good thing. Everyone was busy and the streets were swept clean.

A great outpouring of old soldiers met at the Wallace grounds, adjacent to the meeting that the state should be invited to join. The men who followed Lee and Jackson, and who were at the close of the war, seemed perfectly at home. The men who were at the close of the war were the old soldiers and veterans of Chester, and seemed perfectly at home.

C. S. Sullivan, a prominent young merchant of Chester, after a lingering illness, left this world Monday afternoon, April 10th. This event has been much regretted in the social circles of the city and indeed throughout our general community. Miss Lillian Morrison, a charming and beautiful sister of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Harely, parents of the bride. — Special to The Chester Reporter.

The World's Wonder — the largest horse in the world, a four-year-old Arabian stallion, now at the Philadelphia Fair, is here in the United States for the first time. The horse is the property of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson of Boston, who brought it to this country on a six-months' journey from its native land. The horse is 16 hands high and weighs 1,600 pounds. It is said to be the largest specimen of the breed ever brought to this country. The horse is a member of the Johnson family and is named "Johnson's Wonder."
